'Midnight Alley' Cancelled

MT. A TO GUN FOR RECORD

A group of brash and overly optimistic Mt. A. students, are hoping to duplicate UNB's publicity stunt by holding a "Bedpushathon" to launch their winter carnival on Feb. 16. They are attempting to best UNB in the bed pushing department and set a new world's record. The proposed route is the 135 miles from Fredericton to Sackville. Mt. A. will publish plans later this week.

Bed pushing is fast catching on in Canada with 4 teams having vied for the title within the last month. The craze was inaugurated by the University of Natal, South Africa, with a push of 20 miles.

The distance record of 102 miles set by the UNB Red Rollers last Wed. stood for less than 24 hours as the University of Western Ontario set a new world distance and speed mark of 105 miles in 10 3/4 hrs. the next day for an average of almost 10 mph.

Although the Brunswickan is in no position to sponsor another attempt it will do anything possible to publicize and help organize such a feat. It is hoped that many interested parties will arise to this blatant challenge from the Tantramar. Most of those physically engaged in last week's stunt have indicated they are not ready for a new attempt . . . just yet. So it will largely be up to others to join the ranks of the Red Rollers and carry UNB colours in this fast rising competition.

For any interested parties who may want publicity, contact Jim Doleman or Doug Baggs at Jones House.

Standings to Date:

University of Western Ontario	105 miles—10 3/4 hrs.
UNB	102 miles—14 1/2 hrs.
University of Waterloo	71 miles—8 1/2 hrs.
UBC	42 miles—12 3/4 hrs.

NOTICE

Senior class meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 7 at 5:00 in the amphitheatre of the Chemistry building.

The two UNB teams entered in the tournament fared rather poorly as Jim Murphy-Bob Smythe finished 7th after a second place finish on Friday while Steve Hart and Gord Howse ended up a distant 11th.

The only girl playing in the tournament was Judy Davidson from Mt. Allison. Miss Davidson, an Associate Editor of the Argosy weekly and her partner Bob Tadget finished a commendable 8th.

President of the University of New Brunswick Drama Society, Walter Learning released a statement on behalf of this organization last Sunday. The statement deals with the proposed production of Midnight Alley and Mr. Learning definitely states that the Society has decided to produce another play for the festival. (See editorial page 2).

The statement is as follows: "Because of the strong suggestion of the administration, it had been decided to cancel the proposed production of Midnight Alley and withdraw it as our entry in the New Brunswick Drama Festival.

But at an emergency meeting of the Society on Thursday last it was unanimously felt that every effort should be made to have

Drama Society Starts New Play

Just a week before opening night the University of New Brunswick Drama Society has had to call off its production of Midnight Alley. With only three weeks to go before the New Brunswick Drama Festival opens in Fredericton, they are starting on a new show.

This would seem to many an impossible feat, considering that a professional summer stock company has at least three weeks of rehearsal before opening a show. Courage and determination like this should not go unnoticed or unpraised and every student and member of faculty should do whatever they can to help the Drama Society in this new endeavour.

VARIETY IS CARNIVAL THEME

This past weekend UNB staged its 6th annual Winter Carnival. It was well publicized and it seemed that this would surely be the largest and most successful Carnival ever.

The excitement came to a climax on Thursday, February 2nd, At 7:30 hundreds of students from UNB, Mount A, Dalhousie and many other universities gathered on the parliament green to witness the fireworks display. After this the torchlight parade began to wind through the streets to the Coliseum.

There the carnival participants were treated to the highlight of the weekend — The Brothers Four.

At intermission the 1961 Winter Carnival Queen was crowned. She is Miss Marilyn Crummey who was representing the law faculty.

On Friday the events continued. At noon the snow sculptures were judged with Forestry winning the faculty division and Jones House winning the residence division.

Friday night Stan Wilson gave the second of two performances in the Fredericton High School Auditorium. Mr. Wilson who had been the star of the Carnival two years ago, made a triumphant return and captivated the crowds which filled the auditorium on both Wednesday and Friday nights. Also at the UNB gym the Red Raiders played the Mount A Hawks in a very tight basketball game which they eventually won 63-58. This game was followed by a sock hop.

Saturday morning saw the famous float parade in which each faculty and residence is represented. The float parade was won by Forestry in the faculty division and by Jones House in the residence division.

The annual UNB vs. Mount A hockey provided the thrills to approximately three thousand fans who packed the Lady Beaverton arena on Saturday afternoon.

Saturday night there were two dances on campus. Both were very successful despite the absence of the main attraction the Limerickers who were unable to attend because of the weather.

The last day of Carnival—Sunday saw the activities move out to the ski hill at Royal Roads where there was a sports car rally and ski events.

this play produced. Action on this decision was being initiated but was cancelled when the following letter was received by me (Mr. Learning) from the author of the play."

February 4, 1961

Mr. Walter J. Learning, President, UNB Drama Society, University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N.B.

Dear Mr. Learning,

The current situation relative to my play, Midnight Alley, has, of course, been brought forcibly to my attention.

I can see no reason why either my work or myself should be subjected to calumny distorted beyond all sense of proportion. Giving this play to the UNB Drama Society was a good will gesture on my part, a gesture which I now feel was not returned in kind.

Understand, I do not blame your president, Dr. Mackay, for his action in the face of seeming insurrection. Had the true facts involved been brought to his attention in a more diplomatic manner, he may very well have reversed his tentative decision.

However, I do not intend to offer a defense for my past, my present, my actions, beliefs, experiences or creative efforts. Anyone who would place that much significance on a single instance of this sort would be a coward.

The future of Midnight Alley, rest assured, does not stop here. It will now go to my agent for production in other areas where I shall hope its plea for tolerance, compassion and humanity may be more evident.

I must, therefore, regretfully inform you that permission to perform this play is herewith unconditionally revoked.

With all good wishes,
Cordially Yours

Leslie Charles (signed)

Mr. Learning's statement then continued, "In the light of this and because we have an obligation to 1600 students, 200 season ticket subscribers, and the New Brunswick Drama Festival, we are going into rehearsals of another play immediately.

The first performance of this play will be on the opening night of the Festival, March 1st, we hope then to bring it up the hill in order to fulfill our other obligations. We regret any inconvenience this might cause and ask for your continuing attendance."

Beavers Clean Up

In a prelude to the Quebec meet, the Beavers Swimming team warmed up in the LBR pool Friday afternoon with a 67-56 win over a surprisingly strong Halifax Y team.

Winner of the Winter Carnival trophy for the best swimmer of the meet was co-Captain Herb Mitton, winning first places in the 100, 200 and relay breast-stroke events. He also copped top spot in the Individual Med-

"Midnight Alley"

Why has Midnight Alley been cancelled one week before it was to be presented and after two months of rehearsals? The overt reason is Mr. Charles' recent withdrawal of original permission allowing the Society to perform the play. Yet this permission was only revoked following the Administration's strong suggestion that the Drama Society not present the play. This suggestion was given apparently slightly more than a week prior to the scheduled performance.

The effects of this cancellation are not insignificant. Not only are UNB students not going to see the play originally intended for their entertainment and consideration but the Drama Society is also cast into the awkward position of having to withdraw their entry from the Regional Drama Festival. In a laudable attempt to represent UNB in the Festival they are immediately beginning rehearsals on another play. Whether this "face-saving" endeavor will be worth the overwhelming amount of time and work remains to be seen. Unfortunately they are beginning with two strikes against them — they will be competing against players who have been rehearsing their production for three months or longer. They will also be working on somewhat less than a shoestring budget since $700 has already gone into the production of Midnight Alley.

Do the reasons behind the cancellation justify its negative effects? What are the reasons behind the cancellation — is the play at fault? This seems unlikely — would the 20 students concerned in its production spend eight weeks, rehearsing four nights a week, for five hours a night for a play that would only bring denunciation with its presentation? Would a minister who has read this play give his approval and praise if it were not worthy of it? Would other highly respected persons of this campus who have seen the script commend it, if its merits were debatable? We will never know as we shall not be seeing it. Perhaps when and if it is produced elsewhere the truth shall be known. However, the adjective "controversial" when applied to a play was never one to imply its immediate condemnation and end.

Not without significance is Ryerson's recent campus production of Sartre's controversial play "No Exit" — a play whose characters are undoubtedly immoral but who through the structure of the play portray a belief that cannot be judged on the basis of its characters. The value of a play cannot be estimated by the moral excellence of the characters who are portrayed in it. What they do or supposedly have done — their character good or bad by our society's standards — is incidental. The play as a whole, complete only in its presentation must speak for itself and is the only basis for judgment. And we can only hope that Midnight Alley was not denied this basis in its recent evaluation.

Festival Adjudicator

Adjudicating plays presented in both English and French during the same Drama Festival could prove to be a sticky problem for many a veteran of the theatre. But for bilingual Roland McNicoll it is no problem. He is not only bilingual but he has been acting in both English and French since he was 12 years old.

Mr. McNicoll will be the adjudicator for the New Brunswick Drama Festival, scheduled for the Fredericton High School auditorium March 1, 2, 3, and 4. His task will be to pick the best play from among five — three of them in English and two in French. The two French plays are "Un Inspecteur Vous Demande" by J. B. Priestley, which will be presented by Sacred Heart University, and "Antigone" by Jean Anouilh, presented by College Notre Dame d'Acadie, Moncton. University of New Brunswick, Mount Allison and Stage Door 56, Moncton, will present English plays.

Mr. McNicoll has been an active member of the Ottawa Drama League, now the Ottawa Little Theatre, for about 35 years. He has been artistic director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Athletic Association's drama group and has acted in that group. He was also musical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's mixed choir and has been decorated with the medal Silver in elocution by Ottawa University.

THE COLUMN

by Ed BELL

This is a brief brief. It will not be presented to the Liquor Commission. It will not contribute to a change in the Liquor laws. In fact, it will do little more than fill up space in this newspaper. I am not a reformer out to make New Brunswick an alcoholic's Paradise, . . . nor am I a straight-laced conservative trying to implement total prohibition. In discussing the Liquor laws, the emphasis in this article will be on the "laws", since my interest in the "Liquor" is little more than negligible.

The Liquor laws, as they stand at present, are wrong . . . Wrong because they are unfair . . . unfair because they are unrealistic. Because the laws are unfair and almost impossible to totally enforce . . . and because law enforcement agencies and the judiciary realize this, they are sometimes enforced, sometimes ignored and always condemned. This brings up a fine point of legal ethics. Should a law which is half-right . . . half-wrong be allowed to stand? Under such a law, some infractions are prosecuted and others overlooked. Would it not be better to have a good or bad law totally enforced than to have a mediocre law half-enforced?

Under the present laws everyone, including those with particular interests, agrees that justice is not being done. "Offenders" break the laws, in full knowledge of what they are doing and of the laxity of enforcement. Some law enforcement officers deliberately overlook the infractions to the full degree with decorum and duty will permit. Others persecute to the full extent of the law, acting upon a genuine sense of duty. Can you blame any of these three people for their action?

This "brief" is a series of questions . . . about regulations which are questionable. The use and misuse of liquor and its sale and distribution is a serious matter . . . especially since the topic is political dynamite, with pros and cons being put forward by every type of organization imaginable. I have little concern with what is done about the liquor . . . but something must be done about the law. Enforce it or implement a new one. An unenforced law is no law at all . . . leaving obedience to it a matter of personal morality and good taste. An enforced, uniform law does what laws are meant to do . . . it provides security for all the people and promotes respect for all laws. Can we afford less?

ODDS 'N ENDS

—Is UNB in the throes of growing pains in the form of unnecessary red tape. It has been said that the window of a Dean in Carleton Hall got stuck in the open position . . . he called the janitor to bring a chisel and put it down . . . but the janitor could not take action until it was checked through Maintenance . . . and Maintenance had to check with Administration . . . while the Dean got thoroughly frozen. Might not be true . . . but if it is, we are getting the same "triplicate" disease as the Pentagon.

—A week ago there was a fire scare up the hill . . . the electricity went off in every building . . . and the clocks in Carleton Hall are still three hours slow . . . Please-e-e-e, Janitors . . . mornings are tough enough as it is.

Editor Expelled

SHERBROOKE (CUP) — The editor of Campus Estrien, the University of Sherbrooke student newspaper, has been expelled from university for failing three term examinations, but the paper says that his academic record was not the only consideration in his expulsion.

Maurice Giroux a third year student in law was advised of his expulsion Jan. 9, and a students' council (AGES) meeting last Thursday agreed with the action. The staff of the paper resigned leaving one member who is now the editor. In the past Giroux had opposed the council on certain measures.

In the Jan. 18 issue of the Campus, Jue Lavoie, news editor, stated that the Council of the Faculty of Law does not follow a set of rules in dealing with failing students. Each case is dealt with individually. "Furthermore, adds Lavoie, it is no secret that the authorities of the faculty have never approved of students in extra curricular activities."

Then, the article continued, there was the fact that Giroux had his own ideas on the issue of a site for the new faculty of Law. He wanted it to be on campus while the majority of professors and administrators of the faculty wanted it to remain near the courthouse in another section of the city. Lavoie did state this in the article but it was implied from the overall content.

Asked if the expulsion was subject to appeal, Albert Leblanc, dean of the Faculty of Law stated that he did not usually answer such questions by journalists. He refused to say whether or not Giroux had the right to appeal.

Giroux said he would continue to work as a journalist, and perhaps study abroad next year.

Seminar Planned

OTTAWA (CUP) — The stress and strain imposed upon the individual by society will be the main topic of the fourth annual NFCUS national seminar, officially entitled "The Individual and Society". The seminar is to be held at McMaster University from Sept. 1-8.

Any university student who is a member of the NFCUS may apply. The federation's secretariat warned today that applications must be submitted to local NFCUS chairmen by Feb. 15.

All applications will be considered by local boards consisting of three faculty members and two students. Good academic standing and interest in the theme of the seminar will be considered in the choice of delegates.

The federation will pay the expenses of the delegates with the exception of a registration fee which will not exceed $30.

Michael Phillips, associate secretary of the federation said today that "more than 100 students from across Canada will be in attendance". "These seminars which began four years ago,

H. A. Hanson, Q.C.:

How To Raise Campaign Funds

This is taken from the text of a speech given by Horace A. Hanson, Q.C., a financial lawyer in Fredericton, at a meeting of the Progressive Conservative Club on January 31.

Mr. Hanson stressed that not many people know everything about this subject. The CBC had a discussion on this subject which produced very little information. Panelist M.P.'s appeared very reticent. However, he said, there is no reason why we should bypass the source of political funds. It should be open to public knowledge.

Mr. Hanson compared politics to horse racing; that is, in competition and advertising. They both require money and lots of it. In racing money is put up by the bettors but in politics money is put up by the people. Some candidates in the past put up their own money. For example, R. B. Bennett (leader of P.C.'s and P.M.) paid his own way but he was a rare exception. Most candidates have to fight their way up the ranks and at times they have to divest themselves of personal businesses.

The candidate who fights his own way financially is somewhat of a detriment. The concept of paying your own way is quite out of date. Candidates who ask for support are now the thing. People flock to them because in this way they are putting themselves in the campaign and thus are more interested in the candidate.

Election expenses in the past were very small. Today in federal constituencies the cost can be upwards of $50,000.

Money is received in the form of gifts from individuals or corporations. These gifts are presumed to be voluntary. In the case of corporations they may be very large. Macdonald got $25,000 from CPR, although at the time there were objections to this large amount.

Construction corporations, "I would believe," are the largest donors. In Canada there are tenders and thus money has little or no political patronage. "In the provincial arena the above is not the case." The corporation is billed a 10% tax which goes into the party treasury. This is one of the methods in Provincial politics. We should not hide the fact but speak boldly about it. A method used in England by David Lloyd George was the selling of peerages.

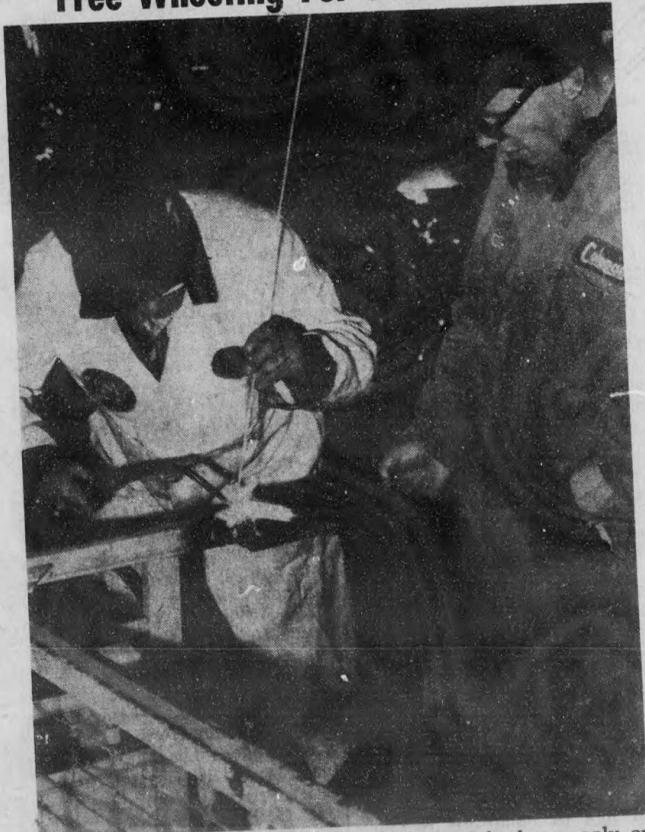

Concerning the New Party, Mr. Hanson says that it still represents labour. Labour is accustomed to the deduction of dues. The New Party will require the political checkoff of a 25-50% deduction estimated to raise $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. This is plus the union dues.

A worker may "contract out" if he does not wish to support the Party but this is not good for the individual as he is considered on management's side and a "yellow dog" by the union man. This method does not apply to the old parties.

Concerning the national funds for campaigns, Hanson remarked that at the constituency level there is a grant from the national organization. If they do not send anything they have written off the constituency. If there is a little it can be interpreted as some encouragement and if there is a lot they are quite interested in holding the seat.

Although CBC had a program on this subject the above material was not aired despite the fact that the panelists knew about it. They were Members of Parliament and were in a position to be aware of the situation but they did not reveal any of the above material.

Red Raiders Capture NB-PEI Championship

by DAVE HYNDMAN

The Red Raiders, led by Don Morgan with 17 points, won their sixth consecutive carnival game downing Mt. A. Hawks 63-58, last Friday night.

The Raiders got off to a fast start and never looked behind as they built up an 18-point lead early in the game.

The win gives the Red Raiders the N.B.-P.E.I. championship and the right to play the N.S. winner (likely Acadia Axemen) for the Maritime Intercollegiate championship.

With big Herbie Mays, superstar of the Hawks being held to 2 points in the first half, the Raiders had no trouble building up an early lead, and then hanging on to win.

Fouls were the rule of the second half as 49 were called on the two teams sending five men to the bench. Roy Miller got the nod with ten minutes to go and was soon followed by four of the Hawks first line.

Ted Tomchak and Wayne McKay, both hitting in the double figures, were picked Most Valuable players of the two teams.

McKay was the all-round man for the Hawks as he constantly came through when the chips were down and ended up with 17 points while Ted, beginning to show his talents at long last, was a constant threat on the Raider offense and defense.

RAIDERS: Miller 8, Tomchak 13, McHugh 16, Morgan 17, Baber 3, Lay 6, Browne, Wiseman, Collin, Harvey. Total 63.

Hawks: Hayden 9, Blair 8, Mays 13, McKay 17, Cuthbertson 3, Clewdenny 4, Kelly 4. Total 58.

RED BLOOMERS WIN

Paced by Joanne Carr with 19 points and Barbie Barnes with 15, the girls licked the Mount Allison Varsity Girls team by the decisive score of 56-27. Judy Delong was high scorer for Mount A. with 18 points.

The game proved that foul shots are all important as the Bloomers grabbed six out of 11 and Mount A. only 3 out of 12.

The two stars of the game were UNB guard, Gardner and Mount Allison's Delong.

Grads Beaten by JV's

Last Saturday afternoon before a crowd of about 500 people, the JV's beat the Grads 67-58. By the end of the first half the JV's led by 36-31 and held off the determined effort by the Grads in the second half. Mousie McLennan bagged 29 points to come out as top scorer. There were 49 fouls called, in what appeared to be a rather clean and hard-driving game.

LINEUPS

JAYVEES: McLennan 29, Foster 4, G. Jones, McCordick 12, Campbell 4, Scott 7, Appleby 9, A. Jones 1, Darling 1, Iretton.

GRADS: Rylander 4, Kirkpatrick 6, Calkin, Casey 8, Gorman 10, Thrope, Hyndman 9, Whiteman 4, Denike 6, Gorman 1, Kelly 6, Doiron 4.

HOCKEY

The UNB Junior Varsity hockey team whipped the Royal Canadian Dragoons from Camp Gagetown 6-2 in an exhibition game played at the Lady Beaverbrook last Saturday night.

Wayne Nugent led the J.V.'s with two markers, one an unassisted effort in the third period that salted the game away for hustling UNB squad. Basile, Bodtke, Poole and Barteaux fired home goals while Campbell and Whalen scored for the sold-

CURLING

With the additional time allowed the UNB Curling Club by the Fredericton Curling Club, there is now enough ice time to run off four leagues. The top one or two, intramural (depending on ice time) in each league will then play off to determine the winner.

In the league standings there are three columns, win, loss and default. If a team has two defaults they are eliminated. This is necessary as ice time is valuable and a default causes inconvenience for the team that shows up. Skips are reminded to watch the main bulletin boards for the schedule which is usually posted Wednesday morning.

The final playoff for the Varsity team will be played this coming Sunday. The winner of this series will represent UNB in the MIAU bonspiel March 9 and 10, the playoff will be between Bednarski and Fowler (last year's varsity skip).

Skips are reminded that all players must play 50% of their games or they are not eligible for playoffs.

Twelve penalties were called in the scrappy fixture, 7 to the Dragoons and 5 to UNB. Five minute majors for fighting were received by Nugent (UNB) and Campbell (RCD) late in the third period.

"Spots" Lewis made 17 stops in the UNB nets while Martin handled 20 shots.

RED FALCONS RETAIN TITLE

The UNB Red Falcons retained the Maritime Intercollegiate Athletic Union ski title at a meet held in Antigonish, N.S. Teams representing UNB, Saint FX, Mount Allison and Dalhousie were entered in the two day tournament. UNB and St. FX were the only team with entries in the cross-country and jumping.

The powerful aggregation from UNB gained perfect points in the cross-country and jumping by winning the top three positions in these events. Led by Grant MacKenzie, Saint Agathe, Que., the cross country team completely outclassed their opposition by taking the first four positions, with the last man from UNB coming in five minutes ahead of his nearest rival from Saint FX over the 3 1/2 mile course. MacKenzie was followed by Anvik, Jacobsen and Samulson in that order.

Gerry Lemon from UNB led the way in the jumping events with the three longest jumps of the day. Gordon Page and Grant MacKenzie placed second and third respectively with Guy Morris of Saint FX grabbing 4th spot.

In the Downhill and Slalom races held on Saturday, UNB and Saint FX shared the honors. In downhill, Norm Crutchfield nosed out Flynn of Saint FX for the top honours while in slalom Norm was forced to take second place behind Guy Morais of Saint FX.

In total points for the four events, Grant MacKenzie was top man with Guy Morais of Saint FX following closely. After the meet prizes were awarded for 1st and 2nd positions in each event with UNB skiers taking all but two of these prizes.

MOUNTIES LUCKY IN 4-3 WIN

by JIM DOLEMAN

The Mount Allison Mounties gained a stronger hold on first place in the NB-PEI Intercollegiate Hockey League last Saturday afternoon by virtue of a 4-3 squeaker over the Red Devils at the LB Rink. According to big Mountie defenceman John Pike, "There were too many individuals on the Devils to form a good attack".

Before a large standing room crowd UNB outplayed Mt. A. in every period, outshooting them by the decisive margin of 34-19. Only phenomenal play by goalie Lyle Bryson kept Mt. A. in the game.

Play opened to a slow start in the first period with the Devils line of Jarrett, Soward and Bolitho doing a superb job of containing Mt. A.'s big first line. But the ice finally broke at the 14:37 mark when Al Norrena snared a loose puck at center ice to skirt the UNB defense and skate in on Dave Inch all alone. He beat Inch cleanly to put the Mounties ahead. UNB's Clark evened the count minutes later in a goal-mouth scramble.

UNB lost the game in the first half of the second period. With a few notable exceptions they disappointed the home crew by showing no hustle at all. Mount A. took the opportunity to capitalize with three more scores. Flashy Al Norrena put on an amazing burst of speed to sidestep MacGillivray and blink the light from a critical angle. McKeown and Henderson followed in that order to round out the Mountie scoring. The Devils picked up in the latter half to put on a concerted effort. Bryson had to count his blessings from then on to stem the attack with innumerable key saves.

The game ended on a note of suspense in the finale when goals by Morrow and Marchant put the Devils within tying distance. Morrow's tally was a spectacular effort and sparked the Devils. He swerved in on Bryson with a Mountie defenceman draped over him to poke the puck in the net. UNB later came close on drives by Clark and 'Bomber' Andrea but could not dent the solid Mountie defence.

Rick Clark of the Devils continued his fine season for the Devils in being presented an award as the UNB star by pretty Marilyn Crummey. Al Norrena gained like laurels for the Mounties.

Two other standouts for the Devils were dependable Don Mahoney and Norm Bolitho, who had to wear a special face mask on account of his injury in a game last week. "Cha-Cha" Mahoney has demonstrated a lot of drive and uncanny puck carrying ability in recent contests. His hustle is a real crowd pleaser.

Beavers Clean Up

lay event. Another high man was Gil Leach with backstroke wins. Doug Sitland of Halifax turned in record-breaking times in the crowd-pleasing butterfly events.

UNB 58, CMR 31, MacDonald College 22, Loyola 26 were the readings on the score sheet following the six-team meet in Quebec Saturday afternoon. Sir George Williams College missed the bus and U of Montreal withdrew.

Top strokers for the Beavers were Gil Leach, Wayne Barry, Preston Thom, Herb Mitton and Steve Jones. The third straight clean-up by the Beavers of Quebec teams led to some optimism over UNB's chances for top Canadian honours but with U of Toronto's win over McGill Saturday, UNB's hopes dimmed.

McGill should defeat UNB on first place points, but with the depth enjoyed by the Beavers, continued second and third place wins at Montreal later this month may see the home squad with yet another win under their towels.
