BROOK TROUT.

The fish which affords the most delight, both to the epicure and sportsman, of any which are found in the waters of our State, is the brook trout.

Another cause of their decrease, besides that of their being so much sought after, is the establishment of tanneries and saw mills upon the banks of the streams which are inhabited by them.

At the conclusion of the match, Mr. R. Malcolm addressed the players, congratulating them on the style of their pitching, saying that he believed that game was the best ever played in Canada.

THE BLACK TONGUE.

Reports from the agricultural districts surrounding Hamilton, Ont., state that a cattle disease of a peculiarly dangerous nature, known among stock raisers as the black tongue, is spreading rapidly among the cattle of the township of Seneca and the South Riding of the County of Wentworth.

Subjoined is a recipe for mixing drinks and medicines for the sick animals. Stock raisers living in other parts of the country should clip this out as it may come handy should the disease spread to their neighborhood.

Make an infusion of raspberry leaves, to which add a small quantity of borax or alum. Wash the mouth and tongue with the same by means of a sponge.

The following antiseptic drink will then complete the cure: Make a tea of raspberry leaves by steeping two ounces in a quart of boiling water when cool, strain and then add: Powdered charcoal, 2 oz.; powdered bayberry, 1 oz.; honey, 2 tablespoonfuls.

The diet should consist of scalded meal, boiled turnips, carrots, etc., to which a small portion of salt may be added.

LION HUNTING.

I was looking at the magnificent constellations of the southern hemisphere, among which the Southern Cross stood out pre eminent in all its beauty, when my eyes fell upon my favorite gun, which had been placed against the fence within reach of my hand, and I noticed that the boy whose duty it was to do so had omitted to oil it, and to wrap something around the nipples to keep off the dew—always very heavy during this season of the year.

As soon as I could see the brute was really dead, I went to look after the man who had been seized, and who was still lying moaning where he had been dropped, and, on examination, I found that it was one of the boys who came into the camp that evening.

A MOSQUITO HELMET.

The Forest and Stream thus describes how a mosquito helmet was made, and since if our readers who purpose taking their holidays in the bush this summer would do well to read the paragraph carefully.

"We took a spare rubber blanket and cut out a cap in shape similar to the soldier's havelock, with oval opening large enough to allow plenty of room for the face, and with a flap about eight inches long.

KILLING VERMIN IN DOGS.

Mercurial ointment I found the most convenient and certain destroyer of vermin in the many other preparations I have tried. For a small dog—say under sixteen pounds—about the size of a pea rubbed at the root of each ear on the outside, and allowed to remain a night, will destroy every parasite on the skin.

EVERYTHING.

A pigeon match took place between Capt. A. H. Bogardus, champion of America, and George Rimmel, at Hendon, England, on July 7th.

THE CHOK-BONE GUN IRON. In reference to this contest the London Field remarks as follows: "In conclusion, we cannot refrain from recording our dissenting opinion, arrived at after the long and exhaustive trial we have gone through, that the new system beats the old one, in its pattern and penetration, by at least 20 per cent., without the slightest drawback."

THE USE OF TANNIN. The Journal des Connaissances Medicales states that the French agriculturists have followed the example of the English ones, and prepared tannin with tannin. These republicans have obtained enormous quantities of small quantities of tannin, which they used at night to try a vast quantity of tannin on the ground.

weak and thin on account of their winter starvation. We would urge, consequently, the adoption of such legislation as will confine the catching them to a later and shorter period.

Another cause of their decrease, besides that of their being so much sought after, is the establishment of tanneries and saw mills upon the banks of the streams which are inhabited by them. Tanners utilize the mountain streams by converting them into sewers to carry off their refuse. Lime and ammonia, which are largely used in the process of tanning, are both virulent poisons to the fish. The result is, that wherever upon our trout streams a tannery is once established, the fish very rapidly disappear. This destruction is wanton and unnecessary, as by making surface pools or by sinking webs in a manner similar to that which our trout-miners adopt, in order to get rid of the sulphurous mine water, it is possible for these tanneries to so conduct their operations as to leave the water of the stream unpolluted by their refuse, and thus enjoy their rights without infringing upon those of others. We constantly recommend the enactment of a statute that will make it illegal for proprietors of tanneries to pollute with their refuse, not only trout streams, but any of the waters of the Commonwealth.—[Report of the Pennsylvania Fish Commissioners.]

A LADIES' RIFLE MATCH.

Who says the days of chivalry are past? An effort is being made by several prominent riflemen to relieve the monotony of rifle shooting at Creedmoor by organizing a match to be designated "the ladies' match." No date has yet been determined for the match, as it will be necessary to secure a certain number of subscribers. The entrance fee will be $5, and competitors will be required to be accompanied by a lady on the occasion of the contest. The money thus raised will be expended in the purchase of fans, opera-glasses, etc., which will constitute the prizes to be shot for, and each competitor will be required to present the trophy won by him to the lady who accompanies him. The distance covered will be 200 and 500 yards, two sighting and ten scoring shots. Competitors who have previously been winners of first prizes in any of the matches of the National Rifle Association will be handicapped, three points at each distance at which they may win such prizes and winners of lesser prizes will be handicapped one point at such distances. The novelty of the contest has induced a large number to subscribe, and the match will probably take place next month.

ANTELOPE SHOOTING IN MANITOBA.

A gentleman who has spent a season in Manitoba, thus discourses on Antelope shooting:—"The best way to insure a good shot is to arouse their curiosity—otherwise it is difficult, almost impossible, to get a good shot at him. I saw him, because you would probably select the buck, who has perhaps four or five—I have seen seven—does feeding with him. When you first view him, unless you see him standing on a high peak or in some commanding position, he is generally lying down—that is, if you come on him over the brow of the hill and he has not wended you from the other side. He jumps up and is off like a shot for about 500 yards, when he turns to look at you, takes another run, turns again, stares at you finally from the brow of a hill some three miles away, and slowly disappears over the summit. This is extremely annoying, but if, on the other hand, in one of his halts you can arrest his attention, the whole of his inquiring nature is aroused, and he determines at all risks to satisfy his curiosity. To arouse curiosity you may turn a somersault, lie on your back and elevate your legs in the air, or a variety of things very undignified and to the last degree fatiguing, but I think the best plan is to provide yourself with a small red flag fastened to a pole. It is not always easy to procure a stick when you want one on the prairie, and if you tie it to your rifle you must lower it when you fire. Well, plant the flag in the ground and lie down beside it; the chances are he will gradually draw nearer until you chance a shot. You should be careful to get him well in range, for more than one you will never get if you miss, and before the smoke is cleared away he will be almost out of sight.

A shooting club has been formed at Peterborough.

Prince of Guelph to A. J. Stone, Highgate 80
8 head of females and bull calf, to Isaac Gardiner, Morpeth 1200

Total amount realized.....$1,700

Lady Dufferin, one of the above sold to Mr. Gardiner, which at the age of two years and six months, and previous to calving, turned the scales at 1650 lbs, keeping pace with Lord Dufferin, one month younger, which weighed when on exhibition at the Spring Fair, Ridgetown, 1655 lbs. These two animals were frequently weighed, keeping within a few pounds of each other during their growth of two and a-half years. Mr. Mason deserves credit for the taste and judgment manifested in the selection of his herd. For neatness of symmetry, docility, and fast-growing properties, they were unsurpassed, and highly deserved the commendatory remarks of the press when on exhibition at the Western Fair, London, last Fall. We wish those who purchased every success in their enterprise, and they are well deserving of the support and encouragement of their neighbors.

SUBTERRANEAN FISHES.

In boring artesian wells in the desert of Sahara very small fishes resembling the white bait, not unfrequently occur, which inhabit the waters of the subterranean bed of the desert. They are identical with a species from the waters of the Biskra. The male differs from the female in being transversely barred, so that some authors have regarded it as a distinct species. The eyes are well formed, although these fishes live a part of the time in obscurity. It seems that as far back as 1849 the governor of the oases of Thebes and Gabe, in Egypt, stated that an artesian well about 105 feet deep, which he had cleaned out, furnished for his table fishes which probably came from the Nile, as the sand which he had brought up from the artesian well was identical with that of this river. In the Sahara, as in Egypt, these fishes were carried away by the waters which filtered into the soil down to the subterranean sheet into which the artesian well opens. Gervais claims to have established the fact that these subterranean fishes are essentially fluvial, and that some like them are found in the rivers of Senegal and Mozambique, of Syria and Egypt, of the Iberian peninsula, and over America. Their fossil representatives are not found in deposits of marine origin, and all that we know occur in lacustrine formations. The existence of these fishes cannot, then, serve as an argument for the presence of the waters of the Mediterranean on the soil of the north of Africa.

A VICIOUS HORSE CURED BY KINDNESS.

At a meeting of the Farmers' Club of the American Institute in New York City a letter from President Ely was read, as follows: I have received a communication containing a story about a horse which I think ought to be read and published in the report of the club meetings: "A horse in Farmington, formerly driven in a meat cart, was bought by its present owner, at a very low price, because reputed vicious. He would bite, rear, kick, run away; was utterly uncontrollable. Soon after changing masters the people who had called the purchase a foolish one were surprised at the difference in the horse's conduct. He would go fast or slow as desired; stop instantly at "Whoa!" follow his master come at his call and rub his head on his shoulder. What had made the change? Not force; the poor horse had been beaten, kicked and starved before, and grown more and more stubborn. No; he was well fed, well bedded, well watered; not overdriven or overloaded; never whipped, kicked or scolded. Kind words were given him, and now and then an apple or a lump of sugar. No gentler, safer, more faithful horse went on the road. But, Indian fashion, he forgot neither benefit or injury. Occasionally, when in harness, he saw his former master. Then, invariably, all the fire of his nature was aroused. His eye rolled, he champed his bit and showed an intense desire to get hold of his enemy. Only the voice and caressing hand of his kind new owner could quiet him. What a power is kindness—the power that even the Almighty loves best to use!"

THE BLACK TONGUE.

Reports from the agricultural districts surrounding Hamilton, Ont., state that a cattle disease of a peculiarly dangerous nature, known among stock raisers as the black tongue, is spreading rapidly among the cattle of the township of Seneca and the South Riding of the County of Wentworth. The disease is rapid and sure in its effects, and has caused consternation among the farmers generally. The disease is undoubtedly the black tongue, as the first symptoms are the stopping of the cud, fixed stars of the eyes, frothing at the mouth, and swelling of the lips and gums, accompanied by a blackness of the tongue. No remedy yet tried by the farmers has had any effect upon the disease whatever. Several cattle have died in Seneca, and last week as a farmer drove through Ryckman's Corners, three magnificent cows were being buried there. The farmers are greatly alarmed, and call upon the authorities to use the most stringent measures to prevent the disease from spreading. They should see that no diseased meat be brought on the market for sale, and that no diseased cattle be brought into Hamilton or out of the neighborhood to which they belong.

Subjoined is a recipe for mixing drinks and medicines for the sick animals. Stock raisers living in other parts of the country should clip this out as it may come handy should the disease spread to their neighborhood.

Make an infusion of raspberry leaves, to which add a small quantity of borax or alum. Wash the mouth and tongue with the same by means of a sponge. If there are any large fistules open them with the point of a pen knife. After cleansing them sprinkle with powdered bayberry bark or bloodroot. Rid the system of morbid matter by injection and physic.

The following antiseptic drink will then complete the cure:

Make a tea of raspberry leaves by steeping two ounces in a quart of boiling water when cool, strain and then add: Powdered charcoal, 2 oz.; powdered bayberry, 1 oz.; honey, 2 table-spoonfuls.

The diet should consist of scalded meal, boiled turnips, carrots, etc., to which a small portion of salt may be added. If the glands under the ears and around the throat are sympathetically affected and swollen they must be rubbed twice a day with stimulating liniment. The disease is supposed by some veterinarians to originate in the tongue, but post mortem examination leads to determine otherwise. Mr. Yonatt says the "post mortem examination shows intense inflammation or even gangrene of the tongue, oesophagus, paunch and fourth stomach." The food in the paunch has a most offensive smell, and that in the manypus is hard and dry. Inflammation reaches to the small intestines which are covered with red and black patches in the caecum, colon and rectum.

GAME PRESERVATION.

The Quebec Mercury, advocating the protection of game in Canada, says:—"Of the various kinds of deer which the Dominion affords none is so worthy of protection as the caribou, for the following reasons: The habit of this animal in its wide range extends so far north of the agricultural regions of this country that it furnishes food for man where cattle will not live. Its diet moreover takes nothing from the food of human beings, or the fodder of ordinary stock, and it is to be hoped the greatest care will be taken to prevent the seemingly impending extinction of this noble animal in western portions of the Dominion."

clouds and tufts of grass with claws. Seizing another gun, I fired again right and left as quick as I could, and then catching a little small-bore rifle, I emptied it also, thus expending my whole battery. Shouting to the hunters to fire, I hurriedly commenced loading, glancing meanwhile to see what had become of the men. There was a cluster of some dozen round the trunk of the fir-tree, impeding each other in their eagerness to place themselves in safety, while its branches were as crowded as it appeared possible they could be. My reiterated cries of "fire" were at last responded to by a solitary shot from some hunter, who not completely overcome by terror, had taken his gun up with him, and the lion who had never ceased its violent struggles, nor ceased to roar, answered by regaining its legs and tottering towards the tree. The men around it rushed frantically away into the darkness; but as I watched, while I rammed my bullet home, I could distinguish the dark outlines of two figures crouching at its roots, with the dying flick of the fires gleaming on their gun-barrels. The lion staggered on, weak but vindictive, and seemed to me to have almost reached them, when two flashes of red light blazed out, and he fell without a movement, shot simultaneously through the heart and brain, while the two hunters, uncertain of the effect of their bullets, bounded away in opposite directions.

As soon as I could see the brute was really dead, I went to look after the man who had been seized, and who was still lying moaning where he had been dropped, and, on examination, I found that it was one of the boys who came into the camp that evening. They were, as I have said, Amaraoga; and as there is no love lost between them and the Zulus, of whom and of neighboring kindred tribes my men were principally composed, they had been compelled to sleep by themselves on the outside of the rest, and thus the unfortunate had become the man-eater's prey. We carried him into camp, and examined his injuries. The lion had merely bitten him; had not used his claws at all; but what a bite it was! It had held him by the neck and shoulder, and literally crushed the whole of the side of the chest in, and had probably damaged the spinal cord, for he never recovered consciousness, and breathed his last a few hours later.

A MOSQUITO HELMET.

The Forest and Stream thus describes how a mosquito helmet was made, and some of our readers who purport taking their holidays in the bush this summer would do well to read the paragraph carefully.

"We took a spare rubber blanket and cut out a cap in shape similar to the soldier's havelock, with oval opening large enough to allow plenty of room for the face, and with cape about eight inches long. Then we took a witch-hopper stick, bent it round, and sewed it in the rim of the opening. We should have used wire if we could have obtained it, but did not have time to run down to the store for it, as it was about sixty miles from us. Then with some hoop skirt wire, which some unfortunate female had left in our shanty, we bowed out a piece from the forehead to the chin and then transversely, sewing it firmly in its place; then over this a covering of mull, or netting, and your cap is complete. This is the only thing that I have found to keep off insects and insure a good night's sleep. You can lie in any position, it is not uncomfortable, and serves also as a night cap. The cape should be securely tucked under the coat collar, and tied snugly around the throat. By using a very fine veil over the opening of your cap the punkies can be excluded in the same way. I think oil silk would be better than rubber cloth."

LARGE TURTLE.—Captain Campbell, light-house keeper at Burlington Beach, Hamilton, while rowing towards Martin's wharf, observed a very large turtle on about two feet of water. On pushing down the oar, instead of escaping from him as it could easily have done, the turtle seized it with his mouth and by it was hauled to the surface, retaining its hold, allowing a cord to be fastened around its leg and thus making it a prisoner. It shows marks of age, being covered with a coat of green moss. The turtle is at the moment on the premises of the captain, who, we believe, proposes to invite the Aldermen of the Ambulance City to refresh their inner man with turtle soup.

KILLING VERMIN IN DOGS.

Mercurial ointment I found the most convenient and certain destroyer of vermin. For a small dog say under sixteen pounds—about the size of a pea tubbed at the top of each ear on the outside, and allowed to remain a night, will destroy every parasite on the skin. Next day wash the dog with soap made in the following manner: Take a pound of white soap, pare it down into slices, put it in a pot with a tumbler of water, and boil and stir till the soap is dissolved, adding more water if necessary. I give it a slight tinge, stir well so as to mix thoroughly, and pour into moulds, such as cups, saucers, &c. When cool it can be cut to any size, and will be found deadly to vermin, and cleansing to the skin and coat. Mercurial preparation have a very powerful effect on dogs, and when the ointment is applied externally, they must be kept dry and warm.—Fanciers' Gazette

EVERYTHING.

A pigeon match took place between Capt. A. H. Bogardus, champion of America, and George Runcel, at Hendon, England, on July 7th. The conditions were to shoot at fifty birds each, thirty yards rise, from six traps. Bogardus had an easy victory, killing 80 to his opponents 80. There was a large attendance and great enthusiasm. Bogardus finding that he can knock over blue rocks as easy as he can our own home wild pigeons, has issued a challenge to all England. A match has been arranged between the Captain and Edward Thornton, England's crack shot, for £500 a side, at 100 yards, thirty yards rise, under Hurlingham rules. The match will be shot in August. It looks as if the doughty Captain will sweep the English board, and return to us crowned with an unbroken string of victories.

THE CHOKK-BORR GUN TRIAL.—In reference to this contest the Lord's Field remarks as follows: "In conclusion, we can not refrain from recording our deliberate opinion, arrived at after the long and exhaustive trial we have gone through, that the new system beats the old one, both in pattern and penetration, by at least 50 per cent., without the slightest drawback. 2nd, that it may be modified to any extent desired by the shooter, either permanently or by changing the wads. 3rd, that the gun bored on its plan are durable and free from leading if used with hard shot. 4th, that the uniformity of shooting they equal if they do not surpass the cylindrical bore."

THE USE OF TOADS.—The Journal des Connaissances Medicales states that the French horticulturists have followed the example of the English ones, and peopled their gardens with toads. These reptiles are determined enemies of all kinds of snails and slugs, which, it is well known, can in a night destroy a vast quantity of lettuce, carrots, asparagus, &c. In Paris toads are sold at the rate of fifty cents a dozen. The dealers in this unwholesome article keep large tubs, into which they plunge their hands and arms, without any fear of exposing themselves. Toads are also kept in vineyards, where they devour during the night millions of insects that escape the pursuit of nocturnal birds.

The other day a man in Milwaukee found four boys playing cards in the hay when one of them spoke up and said "We warn't playing keards. Tom Lester's mother is dead, and we were up here showing the pictures on the keards so he would feel so lonesome."

DONATION.—Mr. J. H. ... manager of the gala celebration at the Queen's Birthday in London has invited Mr. James Smith, the Treasurer, the sum of $25 for the benefit of the Protestant Episcopal Home. That sum was derived from the sale of an article called for articles. One of the articles was also bequeathed to the Home. The Home's managers will be thankful to receive the donation of the institution we not doubt.

The proprietors of the SPORTING TIMES are desirous of securing correspondents in all the leading cities and towns in the Dominion. A weekly letter will be required and only one correspondent will be appointed in each city or town. Gentlemen wishing to occupy this position will please communicate with this office when full particulars will be forwarded. Several advantages are connected with the position.

CLOSING OF HANDICAPS.

The owner of a good race horse must be considerably annoyed—and not without reason—when, having taken his horse perhaps two or three hundred miles, involving not only great risk, but considerable expense, he finds on the announcement of the weights, that he has hardly a chance of a place in the race. He declines to start, and finds that he has paid railway fare for himself, his horses and grooms all for nothing, besides running a considerable risk of injuring his horse. On the other hand, parties who have seen the names of good horses among the published entries, are very apt to think there is an intention of fraud somewhere if they do not start. All this is very undesirable, and so far as Summer and Fall Meetings are concerned, easily avoided. Early in the season the handicapper wants to know something about the ability of the horses starting. He wants to know what the new ones can do, and how the old residents have wintered, so it is only fair that he should have as much time as possible in which to note their performances. At this portion of the season, however, it is different. Nearly all the running horses now upon the turf have shown their form and capabilities, either in Canada or elsewhere, and in cases where they have not a delay of a week, is not likely to go very far in helping the handicapper in arriving at a decision. Let the entries for handicaps close before those for ordinary races, and as soon as possible after the entries are closed let the weights be announced, and then the owners of the horses nominated will have an opportunity to decide about their acceptance or non-acceptance of the handicap and still have plenty of time left in which to get their horses to the track if they elect to go.

THE VETERINARY COLLEGE.

By the following correspondence it will be seen that the report circulated in the daily press to the effect that the Veterinary College was to be removed to Guelph, is unfounded. The many friends of Dr. Smith will be pleased to learn that no change is contemplated, but that the Toronto establishment will remain as it is.

To the Editor of the Mail.

Sir,—I observe that in the telegraphic summary in this morning's Mail it is stated that certain members of the Council of Agriculture met at Guelph on Thursday, "for the purpose of selecting a site for the new Veterinary College, and making the necessary arrangements for its erection."

Allow me to say that this is an error. There is to be no new Veterinary College at Guelph. There is to be a Veterinary Department there in connection with the Agricultural College, in which the principles of the veterinary art will be taught by lectures, for the benefit of the agricultural students, in the same manner that chemistry or other branches connected with scientific agriculture is taught. For this purpose a small building is to be erected in connection with the main college buildings, to be used as a class-room. There is no intention of teaching the veterinary art as a profession at but, in fact, so far as the grading is concerned, nearly completed. The field seems to have been especially adapted by nature for the purpose to which it has been at length devoted. A few fine trees are scattered about here and there which add greatly to the beauty of the landscape without in the smallest degree obstructing the view of the track, while a beautiful little grove of trees on the west turn, will doubtless afford a delicious shade where the gallant contestants for the laurels of the turf can "cool out" between heats and snatch a few moments of quiet rest, removed from the disturbing and exciting influences of the noisy crowd. Out beyond the low strip of land that encloses Ashbridge's Bay the broad lake with every ripple gilded by the summer sun stretches away to the horizon, while on the other side a pastoral landscape of surpassing loveliness runs off northward as far as the eye can reach.

The track which was surveyed by Messrs. Wadsworth, Unwin & Brown is exactly a mile long, measured three feet from the pole on the stretches and three and a half feet from the pole on the turns. It should be added, however, that on the turns the inside rail will have an outward inclination at the top of something over six inches, while the measurement referred to is from the bottom of the posts. It will therefore be seen that the three and a half feet for the turns is really no more than three feet from the point at which the horse's side would graze the pole. On the homestretch side the grading is 90 feet wide, and on the turns and backstretch, 70 feet. The track is of the usual elliptical form, with two straight stretches and two curves, each of which is exactly a quarter of a mile in length. The stands will be placed on the north side of track (next the road), the judges' stand inside and the others outside of the course. The wire from the judges' stand will be just three-sixteenths of a mile from the east curve, thus giving the horses that distance of straight side in which to finish, and one-sixteenth on the same side in which to get away from the score before reaching the first turn. Directly opposite the judges' stand and flush with the outside of the course will be the reporters' stand, and the grand stand and club stand will occupy positions a little back from the edge of the track, and just east and west of the reporters' stand, the latter standing immediately between the two. These stands will not be exactly parallel with the fence, but will face slightly up the stretch, so that all in the stands can see the horses come in without rising from their seats, while the close proximity of the west turn will give them plenty of chance to watch the horses as they get away from the score. In the north fence there will be two handsome entrance gates, one just east of the club stand, which is the most easterly of the stands, and the other almost at the first turn and considerably west of the grand stand.—All these buildings will be nicely finished and painted, and the usual refreshment rooms under the grand and club stands, and the weighing room under the judges' stand will be well finished and found to contain all the necessary appointments.

On the straight sides the track will be level from edge to edge, but on the turns the outer side will rise two feet higher than at the pole. The soil of which the track is composed (no foreign matter being necessary) is a light clay loam, and certainly nothing better could be found to furnish smooth elastic footing. It will also be a course that will recover quickly after a heavy rain, while it does not seem likely to become baked and hard in any weather, as the soil is far from being sticky enough for that.

In short every thing seems to point to the conclusion that Woodbine Park will become one of the most popular tracks in the country, and it is to be hoped that the grading will elevate the character of the truly noble sport to which it is devoted.

A FIRST-CLASS VETERINARY ESTABLISHMENT.

From our own Correspondent.

During our stay in Montreal we paid a visit to the new veterinary establishment of C. J. Alloway, corner of Metcalf and Burn side Sts., erected last winter, and now completed and ready for occupation. It is most admirably situated on high rising ground, and in the very centre of the most fashionable and healthy portion of the west end. The front building is a remarkably handsome cut stone house, three stories high, the ground floor of which is the Doctor's Office, Surgery, etc., the latter having an entrance from the corner of the two streets. In rear of the above is a brick stable, 52 feet long, containing 14 stalls—6 box, and 8 ordinary stalls. In the interior of the stable the fittings are all of iron of a new and handsome pattern, and being painted a light oak color, the place bears a bright and healthy appearance seldom seen in an institution of the kind. Dr. Alloway has paid special attention to ventilation and drainage, that which is so essential and of so much importance in the treatment of any animal when in a state of disease. We were shown some rare specimens of the thoroughbred, mostly of Kentucky stock and of the Dr's own importing. No expense seems to have been spared in making the establishment complete in every particular, and it is well worthy of a visit from any recent graduate in the veterinary art, or any one desirous of seeing what the comforts of the equine race are and really ought to be. The office and surgery too are most tastefully and neatly fitted up and we recognized copies of the latest colored engravings from paintings by such masters as Herring, Sturges, and others.

CORRESPONDENCE.

TRAINING STABLES IN AURORA.

Editor Gentleman's Journal,

DEAR SIR,—Our little town has got the credit of having some of the finest green horses training in the Dominion, and great enterprise is displayed by their owners in having nothing but real good stock, and having the benefit of a splendid half-mile track and the experience in training of one of the best American trainers, viz., Mr. E. R. Palmer, of Ithica, N. Y., there should be no reason why we should not be able to turn out some of the best trotters in the Dominion of Canada. I was through Mr. Palmer's stables a few days since and found everything in first-class order for the care and comfort of the horses under his charge, everything being done to ensure the health and safety of the animals.

The following are the names of some of the horses in training here:—

"Kendall," a splendid stallion 5 yrs., sired by the famous Alhambra and bred by C. S. Dole, Esq., of Crystal Lake (Ill.) Kendall has already made 2:40, and the trainers assure me he is improving every day and will make much better time after a little more handling.

"Duncan Ross," 4 yrs., sired by Bashaw, a promising sorrel, owned by Mr. Lumbleson. This horse, although only a short time in Mr. Palmer's hands, already has shown 8:21, promising in a short time to show much better time.

"Netty Irwin," a black mare, 9 yrs., sired by Toronto Chief, the property of Mr. Irwin, a gentleman well known in this neighborhood and who takes great interest in securing good stock.

"Ivor," a chestnut mare, 5 yrs., owned by the Messrs. Wells, of this place) and half sister to the renowned Kitty Wells, whose death a short time since leaves a serious blank in Mr. G. Lemon who owns a first-class thorough-bred mare named "Yellow Rose," who dropped a fine horse foal this spring which is sired by Erin Chief. Mr. Lemon has been offered by a well known sporting gentleman the sum of $200 which he has refused. This fact must establish that the prospects are first class as to this colt making a real good trotter.

We shall shortly have some trotting races amongst the green ones to see the best they can perform, I will then send you a full report of the proceedings.

OVRDRAW.

Aurora, July 15, 1875.

RACING AT ELLIOTT'S.

The half-mile heat race, 8 in 5, and the hurdle race, handicaps, attracted rather a good crowd on Saturday last, at Mr. John Elliott's Newmarket Course, Don and Davenport Road. Jim Christie had the call at even up against the field in the heat race, which he cleverly won, although the third heat was captured by Galvantrass. In this heat there was some very suspicious riding on the stretch, to the prejudice of Christie, whose high hind leg showed marks of the collision. His rider made no appeal of foul, and the judges overlooked the matter as it did not have the appearance of being premeditated. No time was given, as the distance run was considerably over what was stated, and it would mislead the public, who to some extent base their opinion of the capabilities of a horse by this standard.

Frank Ross proved an easy winner in the hurdle race, being capably ridden by Mr. Bond. We hope this is the turning point of luck in the career of Ross, and that the colors of his plucky owner will more frequently be seen in front. The summaries of both races follow.

ELLIOTT'S COURSE, July 17, 1875.

TURF ITEMS.

RACING PROSPECTS.—On the 5th of August a match race will be trotted between Miles Hart's Brigham Young Jr., and Mr. Stories' Nigger Jim. The race will be trotted over the Dresden Driving Park, and is made for $100 a side; mile heats, best 8 in 5, in harness.

THE Port-Burwell Races will take place in August.

THE attention of any gentleman wishing to purchase a fine timing watch is directed to an advertisement in another column.

VARCOE.—This Canadian trotter will take part in the Buffalo Races being entered in the 2:38 class.

JACK VANDAL has been disposed of by Mr. Boyle to a gentleman in this city. He has retired from the legitimate turf, and will now do duty across country with the hounds.

Since the Meeting at Blue Bonnets, Montreal, nearly all the horses have gone to different parts of the country. Harry Brown left for Saratoga on the 13th inst., taking with him Prodigal Son and Moonbeam.

A fine saddle horse is advertised in our columns to-day. He is good-sized, well tempered, and a beautiful color; very speedy, and carries a lady. He is by Jack the Barber out of a Sir Tatton mare, and will be sold cheap, as the owner has no use at present for him.

I will back the man London, of Toronto, for from one hundred up to one thousand a side, to row against any man in Canada a half-mile race, in best-and-best boats, in two weeks' notice. Any person wishing to accept this challenge, can be accommodated by calling at the "Pearl," No. 6 Richmond St. west.

FRED. W. GOLMER.

To the Editor of the Sporting Times:—

Sir,—Having been informed of Mr. Loudon's challenge to row any man in Canada one half mile, I would say in reply that I will row Loudon one mile (as that is a short enough distance for any man who professes to row), for any amount from $100 up to $1,000.

If my challenge is not accepted by any man in Ontario, I will claim the Championship, and will be prepared to back my claim at any time, at from one to four miles, for any amount up to $1,000.

EDWARD HANLON.

PIGEON SHOOTING.

A Pigeon shooting match took place at the Half-mile track on Tuesday, between Mr. H. M. Miller and Mr. Geo. Renardson, for $50 and the Champion Amateur Cup; 81 birds, H. & T. ground traps, 21 yards rise, 80 yards boundary. Renardson was the victor by a score of 29 to 27. Mr. Charles Pickering was referee.

ALL SORTS.

At the shooting tournament at Grand Rapids, Mich, on Thursday, Mr. James Glenn, of that city, formerly of London, Ont., won the first prize, $125; Hawkins, of Cleveland, second, $100; Thayer, of Grand Rapids, the third, $50; and Hall, of Toledo, fourth, $25.

A mile race took place at Montreal on Saturday, between Kerarouwe and Ouard (a St. Regis Indian), resulting in the victory of the former by about a yard, in 4:40. If the distance was full and the time taken correctly, the race was pretty fast.

A foot race of 100 yards, for $25 a side, took place on Saturday, at Galt, between James Smith and George Morrison, both residents of the substantial stone burgh. Morrison won by about a yard. A large crowd was present and considerable money changed hands.

An eleven of the Hamilton Cricket Club leaves for a tour down the St. Lawrence and to Ottawa. They play Port Hope, Colborne, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and Ottawa. The names of the team are Messrs. Kennedy, Woolverton, Hebert, R. K. Hope, A. H. Hope, Park, Elmstie, Wynyard, Irving, and Kerr. We wish the team a pleasant trip.

McKee Rankin, son of Col. Rankin, who has obtained considerable celebrity as an actor in New York city, is at present making his home on Bois Blanc Island. He is well known as an impersonator of "Rip Van Winkle."

TOMATO TRELLISES.—The cheapest and most convenient trellis for tomatoes is to make a four square frame for every hill, of four pieces of hard wood, two feet long and one inch square, for the four corner posts. Let three pieces of lath, each one foot long be nailed on each side; such trellises will cost only a few cents each, and they will save four times their cost in tomatoes. Let such a trellis be placed over each hill before the plant has begun to bend sideways, then the fruit will be kept off the ground. If made of durable timber, and carefully stored during Winter in a pile on one side of the field, this kind of a trellis will last half a score of years or more, especially if they are dipped in a kettle of coal tar before they are placed over the tomato hills.

BOATING.—On Friday a boat race in which Messrs L. W. Mossop and R. Ballard, rowed against time came off. The route was from the foot of Yonge street to Parkinson's wharf and return, to be accomplished within thirty minutes. Owing to the roughness of the water and the force of the wind being dead against the oarsmen on their return, the race lasted thirty-one minutes and a half.

The celebrated horse Jack the Barber has been sold to Mr. Chas. Crawford, of Emily, for $500.

TROTTING IN ENGLAND.

Slowly, but surely, trotting horses are working themselves into notice in England, and trotting, as an amusement is attracting attention among the aristocratic classes. The letter, which we publish in another column from a gentleman well-known and highly esteemed in the most respectable turf circles in America, gives a very gratifying account of the success that has attended the trotting meeting recently held on a course fitted up by the Alexandra Palace Company, and makes some pertinent suggestions as to what is needed to bring this amusement in England up to the pitch of popularity which it has attained on this side of the Atlantic. We have long been of the opinion that the time will come when there will spring up an active demand in England for American trotting horses. Without a doubt, our system of breeding trotters during the past half century has created a race of gentlemen's driving horses superior to anything that has been produced in any other part of the world. In style, speed, and endurance, we now have the very perfection of a road race; and their breeding and exportation to foreign countries, and especially to England, is destined, before many years, to become an important branch of industry in the United States. In this connection we will make the suggestion that the National Association for the Promotion of Trotting in America could not do a better or more graceful thing, nor one that would result in conferring a more lasting benefit upon the trotting interests of America than to make a present of a pair of first-class trotters to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The Prince could not receive a present from a private citizen, but coming from such an influential and respectable body as our National Trotting Association, headed by a gentleman of such well-known character and social position as its President, Governor Sprague, the present could not fail to be an acceptable one. Such an act, in our opinion, would do more to direct the attention of the wealthy classes of England to the excellence of our American trotters, and to create a demand for them from that quarter than anything else that can be done. We submit this suggestion to the National Association, as one worthy of their serious consideration. They are presumed to be conservators of the interests of the breeders of trotting horses in America, and any action which can, with propriety be taken by them to attract the attention of foreign countries to the superior qualities of our trotting horses, is a legitimate exercise of their powers and duties.—Wilkes.

THE DEATH OF CRUISER.

The bay horse, Cruiser, bred in England by Lord Dorchester, and imported to America by John S. Rarey, is dead. He was foaled in 1852. His sire was Venison, and his first dam was Little Red Rover; second dam Eelat, by Edmund; third dam Squib, by Soothsayer. Venison was by Partisan, out of Fawn, by Smolensko. When Mr. Rarey went to England and drew attention to his system of controlling equines, the horse Cruiser was brought to his notice. The son of Venison was regarded as the most vicious stallion in England. He was a good favorite for the Derby in Wild Dayrell's year, 1855, but broke down before the race. As his temper was not mild at that time it is said that his trainer, John Day, was glad enough to get rid of him. When started for Bawcliff, Day told the man who led him on no account to put him into a stable, or he would never get him out. This injunction, adds a writer to a London paper, was of course disregarded, for when the man wanted some refreshment, he put him into a country public-house stable, and left him, and to get him out, the roof of the building had to be pulled off. At Bawcliff, he was always exhibited by a ticket-of-leave, bludgeon in hand, and few were bold enough to venture into his yard. When Mr. Rarey got hold of Cruiser he quickly brought him under control. Three hours after his first interview with him, he as well as Lord Dorchester, mounted him. The following morning Rarey entered London, leading the vicious horse behind an open carriage. The enthusiasm for Rarey became intense. All London sung his praises. On the day that Cruiser was exhibited for the first time, a crowd, including ladies of the highest rank and almost every distinguished horseman and hunting man in the three kingdoms, filled the streets, and patiently waited for the doors to open. Mr. Rarey's fortune was made. Large numbers of gentlemen flocked to him for instruction. When he returned to America in 1861, he brought Cruiser with him. The reception which he received was full of warmth. His name was in everybody's mouth, and vast crowds attended his exhibitions. Rarey was still a young man, being in the thirties, and his future seemed bright. But death removed him before he realized some of his fondest hopes. His figure was well proportioned, and of medium height. He was wiry and active, rather than muscular. His appearance and manners were gentlemanly. He was born in Ohio, and from his earliest years was fond of horses. He took delight in breaking the colts which ran on the farm. He haunted the circus

Breckenridge, and his dam Molly Stark. As the Venison stock was both stout and speedy in England, therefore no reason why the produce of Cruiser mare, should not do well on our turf. Wednesday, July 7, the celebrated "wild horse" died in the prison where he had spent so many so many miserable years. He was foible the last few months of his life, and his teeth were so worn that food had to be prepared for him. Few horses have created a greater sensation in the world than Cruiser did. His death revives old recollections.

FUNERAL OF GEORGE BROWN.

There were quite a number of flags floating at half-mast in Halifax on July 12th, and on nearly all the vessels in port. On every hand, it was noted that this was "the day of George Brown's funeral" and for him the fast on earth. All the morning, parties were going from the city to Herring Cove in vehicles, boats, yachts, and steamers, and it is likely that there were nearly a thousand persons congregated in the little fishing hamlet in the afternoon. Of the proceedings since the body was taken there, nothing particular is to be said. The mother, sisters and other relatives of the deceased, have received unaffected expressions of sympathy, by letters and personally, from many sources, and seemed mournfully grateful at these tokens of the almost affection in which the son and brother were held by scores of firm friends throughout his aquatic career.

There was to be service at the house in the afternoon by the Church of England clergyman, Brown belonging to that denomination. The remains would then be taken to the Protestant cemetery, which is but a short distance from the residence of the deceased. In a short time a handsome monument will mark the resting-place of whom we may style "Nova Scotia's greatest oarsman," for there are many who are saying to themselves and to each other:

"He was a man, take him for all in all, I shall not look upon his like again."

The dullness of the day, and the threatened rain, prevented a very large attendance at the funeral. Had the weather been fine there would probably have been two or three thousand citizens present.

HORSE NOTES.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

SALE OF SKARCHER.—Mr. P. Lorillard purchased yesterday at Long Branch, from Messrs Robinson, Morgan & Co., bay colt Searcher, 3 yrs. old, by Equiper, dam by imp. Bonnie Scotland. He was sold, with all his engagements, for $2,500. Searcher was bred and raised by Joseph B. Roues, of Lexington, Ky. He has been a very successful horse. As a two-year old he appeared but once, at the Lexington (Ky.) Fall meeting, 1874, in the Colt Stakes, three-quarters of a mile, won by Belle Bruce, in 1.17, in which he was not placed. As a three-year old he has appeared five times, winning four of his five engagements. At short distances it is thought that Searcher will hold his own as cock of the walk.

SHARP PRACTICE.—After the mare Cora had won the 2:40 race at the Driving Park, Scranton, Penn., on Tuesday, 6th inst., Mr. A. Miller, of Rittersville, entered his protest against her receiving the purse, as she had, on a former occasion, he said, made faster time. Cora was accordingly "ruled out," according to the rules of the National Trotting Association, and she was taken out of town. The same evening there was a flutter among the sporting fraternity, owing to the fact that Mr. Miller's Gypsy Bill and Mr. Thomson's Luther, who had been on the course during the day, were seized by Mr. A. H. Winton, under an act of Assembly, passed Feb. 17, 1820, making horse-racing illegal, and forfeiting to the county all horses found to be used in violating the act. The proceeding, it is thought, is instigated by the owner of Cora, who is considerably incensed at his mare being ruled out the day previous. It would seem rather sharp practice all round.

GRAFTON.—This slashing trotter, owned by Richard Pennistaw, of Kentucky, was originally used as a saddle horse, and had a racking gait. He was purchased by Mr. Penistaw last fall, for $4,000, and by the aid of toe-weights and patient handling he has been transformed into a trotter that is able to go from wire to wire, about as fast as the best ones on the turf, as his record of 2:24, and much faster private trials attest. He is handled by Gus Glidden, of Rush County, Ind. Glidden also has a six-year-old gelding, by Blue Bull, that is a good one. Grafton was got by Vaumeter's Waxy out of a mare by Kavanaugh's Gray Eagle.

DEATH OF LONG BRANCH.—This fine, large Canadian-bred chestnut, seven-year-old trotting gelding, the property of C. W. Barker & Son, of Thirty-ninth Street and Broadway, died on Sunday, 11th inst., of pneumonia. Long Branch trotted at five years old, the fifth heat in a race, at Watertown, N. Y., in 2:42, and was thought, at one time, to be the coming horse. He was valued at $1,500, by his owner.

LADY MAUD TO THE FRONT.—The beautiful young mare Lady Maud, by Gen Knox, that created such a sensation by her turf career of two years ago, when she made a record of 2:24, has come out in fine condition this season, after her two years' retirement, and, it is said, has shown some marvelous trials in private. She verified some of those reports, by making a record of 2:20 on last Thursday, at Detroit, and it is thought she could have won the race easily over Fullerton had not the dread of a record below 2:20 had influence, in some mysterious manner, upon her speed.

GALOPIN AND LOWLANDER.—It is reported that a weight-for-age match between these famous horses is very likely to be arranged. The distance will probably be a mile, and as both like a hill, the Cambridgeshire course is spoken of as the battle ground.

DEATH OF A VALUABLE HORSE.—A fine horse, named Billy Logan, owned by Mr. David Forsythe, and valued at $5,000, died in Wilmington, Ill., July 10, of inflammation of the stomach, after an illness of twenty-six hours. He was got by Logan out of Kansas Girl.

RED CLOUD.—Mr. J. S. Wade, the owner of Red Cloud, thinks he will be able to trot him this fall. Some six weeks ago Red Cloud struck himself on the inside of one of his hind legs, which caused him to be let up for four weeks. Mr. Wade says he is all right, and never looked better.

HORSES KILLED.—Mr. Oliver Abbey, of the 3rd Con. of the Township of Morris, Co. Huron, had a valuable team of horses killed by the morning express, going east, on Wednesday of last week. Much sympathy is felt for him in the neighborhood where he lives, as they were his only working team, which he had bought at a high figure last fall, and is not well able to bear the loss. Reports have it that there was neglect on the part of the train officials.

GOOD FISHING.—Mr. Thomas Lyle, of Ashburnham went down to Rice Lake on Friday of last week for a fishing excursion.

coming from such an influential and respectable body as our National Trotting Association, headed by a gentleman of such well-known character and social position as its President, Governor Sprague, the present could not fail to be an acceptable one. Such an act, in our opinion, would do more to direct the attention of the wealthy classes of England to the excellence of our American trotters, and to create a demand for them from that quarter than anything else that can be done. We submit this suggestion to the National Association, as one worthy of their serious consideration. They are presumed to be conservators of the interests of the breeders of trotting horses in America, and any action which can, with propriety be taken by them to attract the attention of foreign countries to the superior qualities of our trotting horses, is a legitimate exercise of their powers and duties.—Wilkes.

THE DEATH OF CRUISER.

The bay horse, Cruiser, bred in England by Lord Dorchester, and imported to America by John S Rarey, is dead. He was foaled in 1852. His sire was Venison, and his first dam was by Little Red Rover; second dam Eclat, by Edmund; third dam Squib, by Soothsayer. Venison was by Partisan, out of Fawn, by Smolensko. When Mr. Rarey went to England and drew attention to his system of controlling equines, the horse Cruiser was brought to his notice. The son of Venison was regarded as the most vicious stallion in England. He was a good favorite for the Derby in Wild Dayrell's year, 1855, but broke down before the race. As his temper was not mild at that time it is said that his trainer, John Day, was glad enough to get rid of him. When started for Bawcliff, Day told the man who led him on no account to put him into a stable, or he would never get him out. This injunction, adds a writer to a London paper, was of course disregarded, for when the man wanted some refreshment, he put him into a country public-house stable, and left him, and to get him out, the roof of the building had to be pulled off. At Rawcliffe, he was always exhibited by a ticket-of-leave; bridgion in hand, and few were bold enough to venture into his yard. When Mr Rarey got hold of Cruiser he quickly brought him under control. Three hours after his first interview with him, he as well as Lord Dorchester, mounted him. The following morning Rarey entered London, leading the vicious horse behind an open carriage. The enthusiasm for Rarey became intense. All London sung his praises. On the day that Cruiser was exhibited for the first time, a crowd, including ladies of the highest rank and almost every distinguished horseman and hunting man in the three kingdoms, filled the streets, and patiently waited for the doors to open. Mr. Rarey's fortune was made. Large numbers of gentlemen flocked to him for instruction. When he returned to America in 1861, he brought Cruiser with him. The reception which he received was full of warmth. His name was in everybody's mouth, and vast crowds attended his exhibitions.

Rarey was still a young man, being in the thirties, and his future seemed bright. But death removed him before he realized some of his fondest hopes. His figure was well proportioned, and of medium height. He was wiry and active, rather than muscular. His appearance and manners were gentlemanly. He was born in Ohio, and from his earliest years was fond of horses. He took delight in breaking the colts which ran on the farm. He haunted the circus ring, and gained many of his ideas with regard to training from Dan Rice. His perceptions were quick, and he soon put the odds and ends of various systems together, and framed a method of his own. When on his death-bed Rarey willed that Cruiser should be taken care of as long as he lived. He was never to be sold. A pen was built for him, with shelter at one end, and in this the horse was confined. In that contracted paddock, on the farm at Groveport, near Columbus, the horse led a lonely misanthropic life. No groom ever touched him, no farrier trimmed his feet. His paddock was nothing but a filthy jail. In the Winter it was muddy and miserable, and in the Summer no blade of grass gladdened his eyes. Cruiser's food was pitched to him, and he was left to eat it like a hog. It is a matter of wonder that the horse, treated as he was, lived as long as he did. We should have thought he would have died of neglect and melancholy, if nothing else. They called him mad, and took the very course to keep him so. When first taken to Ohio Cruiser did some work in the stud, and the majority of the colts which he got showed no signs of mental derangement. They were simply sensitive, highly strong. Molly Stark, out of Imp Lady Sykes, is the name of one of his daughters. She is a member of the Oak Forest breeding stud. She is docile in disposition, and her owner, Walter A. Dun, thinks much of her. The four-year-old horse, Judge Thurman, is a grandson of Cruiser. His sire was John C.

DION BROS.—We are in receipt of advices from the Brothers Dion, from London, England, up to the 24th inst. They have had a generous reception from the English experts, but find London not particularly attractive in a billiard way. They report that Cook is not a little afraid of young Roberts, and freely acknowledges that he is a very strong player. Everything in England is pool, which to a foreigner, is nothing. The rooms, as a whole, are badly kept; the tables miserable. No one knows where his balls is going, when it starts, as the angles are most erratic. Messrs. Burroughs & Wain are making a table 5x10 for the Dions, and as soon as completed, they will give exhibitions which promise to be very remunerative. The Dions speak in high terms of London, but think it a trifle slow compared to New York. They will proceed to Paris in a few weeks, where they hope to create more of a sensation. Both experts are in fine health, and as soon as their table is ready will show Londoners some big billiards. It is not at all probable that they will be able to get on a match in London, even at odds.

TORONTO Races

WILL TAKE PLACE OVER THE Newmarket Course,
ON MONDAY & WEDNESDAY,
August 16 and 18

WHEN LIBERAL PREMIUMS WILL BE OFFERED. PROGRAMME NEXT WEEK

A THIRTY-THOUSAND DOLLAR RACE.

A letter has been received by A. J. Bryant, president of the Pacific Jockey Club, stating that Bowers, a noted horseman of Sydney, will start this week for this city with two of the best Sydney race-horses, which he brings over especially to enter for the $30,000 four mile race to be given by the club next fall. One of them, named "Jump" is a very fast horse of great endurance, has beaten everything that has contested with him in the Colony, and latterly had to handicapped in order to get a race. The other is also a fast and game horse, but his prowess has not been so fully demonstrated. The Sydney horses are recognized by turfmen as among the best in the world for long races, and trouble is apprehended from these two by our horsemen. W. H. Shear, who was sent to England by the Jockey Club to inspect an English racer for this great contest, writes to Bryant that there are any number of fast horses for sale, but he finds great difficulty in inducing the owners to send out a horse on their own account. This he desires to do, believing that by this means a better horse will be obtained than by purchase.—San Francisco Examiner.

REMARKABLE FRECK OF NATURE.—The Cambridge Herald, of the 16th inst., has the following: A very uncommon freak of nature was shown in this village some days ago. The object was a young pig, having a head somewhat resembling that of a human being. The forehead bore a striking analogy to that of a child's, being very high, and not very unlike it in development. The ears were somewhat pointed, but were placed low down on the head, occupying about the same position that these appendages do on the human head. The eyes were those of a child. The absence of an upper lip gave the object an untoward appearance; and the snout, so prominent in the swine, was also noticeable here. The head gradually shelled from the ears to the top, and was covered with very fine hair. The being was a rare curiosity, and would have been well worthy of preservation.

DESERVED.—The numerous friends of Mr. John Bailey, London, now one of the oldest conductors on the G. W. R., will be pleased to learn that the General Superintendent has given him the accommodation train to run, in the place of Mr. Fisher, who resigned some six weeks ago. Mr. Bailey's long services on the road justly entitled him to the promotion, which was sought for by no fewer than thirteen applicants. Seniority and faithful service in the person of Mr. Bailey secured the position however. May he live long to enjoy it.

On the 25th ult., a squirrel hunt took place at Benne's Corners. Eighteen competitors were chosen on each side, with Messrs. John Suedden and Robert McKenzie acting as captains. At the conclusion of the contest it was found on summation, that the game killed on both sides amounted to over 2,500; Mr. Suedden's party having killed the largest share. Mr. James Cochrane bagged 164 squirrels, being the highest individual score.

JIM HARRIS, of Woodstock, as well known as the "Cleveland Boy," won all the foot races in which he competed at Kalamazoo, Mich., recently.

MOOSE DEER.—Mr. Alex. Reeves, of Eganville, has just returned home after a visit up the Gatineau, and has brought with him a young moose deer, which he intends to domesticate and use as a horse. It is a male, and is about two years old, standing about 14 hands high, is perfectly tame, grazing freely with the cattle around the fields. It was captured last winter by a party of hunters about two hundred miles up the Gatineau.

RYER POACHERS.—The Ingersoll Chronicle says these gentry "are plying their trade on the river Thames, west of London, by stretching seines across the stream, and bagging all that come up." It is reported that these men often catch 1,000 good fish at a haul, valued at from $4 to $7 per cwt. They have made from $100 to $600 a month at this work. The effect has been to destroy the fishing above the village of Cashmere.

The Pictou Gazette says a sly half-humani, half-reptile—belonging to the 15th Battalion, while the staid Rochester was at the wharf, crawled to the curious onlookers about the dock and on the boat, by inserting a dead living snake about 12 or 13 inches down the throat, when it was allowed to remain a short time, and was then withdrawn. The creature after this performance was safely deposited in the cartridge box of the volunteer, who began withdrawing when occasion required. A queer companion, surely!

A female gymnast employed as a waiter in a first-class saloon was recently insulted by one of the passengers, when she knocked him down and lost her place.

HORSE NOTES.

D. J. Bannatyne has sold The Ghost to A. G. Campbell, Esq., St. Hilaire, to be used for the saddle and cross country riding. He promises well, and perhaps will be used for breeding purposes. No price named.

EPIDEMIC AMONG HORSES IN PHILADELPHIA.—A disease of an epidemic character prevails to a large extent among the horses in the vicinity of Philadelphia. With some it has taken the apparent form of surfeit, with pimples and blotches over most of the body; with others pimples on the tongue, mouth, etc., making the use of the bit almost impossible; with others a kind of strangle, or ordinary distemper, accompanied by a slight cough and discharge at the nose.

A Vermont horse jockey, boasting the other day of the speed of his horse, gravely asserted that he could trot seventeen miles an hour. "Seventeen miles an hour!" said a bystander. "I guess as how that's a thumper." "My dear fellow," replied he of the Green Mountain, "seventeen miles is not great for the creature now, for when he was but two years old the lightning killed the old mare and chased the colt all around the pasture without getting within ten rods of him."

VALUABLE HORSE KILLED.—Mr. Isaac Fraser, of Ernestown, had a splendid team of chestnuts which were his pride, and for which he had often been offered large amounts. He drove one of the span to Napanee on Saturday, and on Sunday tied it to the fence at Mr. H. Spencer's, where he was visiting. Becoming uneasy the animal essayed to jump the five-foot high fence, but the halter was not sufficiently long enough to admit of this, and he fell upon one of the pickets, which pierced its body to a great depth, severing completely the main artery from the heart to front legs. The poor horse must have suffered intensely, and he died in a short time from loss of blood.

HORSE KILLED.—Mr. Geo. Patterson bought a valuable horse at the Elora fair yesterday, bringing it down to Guelph and putting it into Mr. Geo. Lees' stable from which it escaped during the night, and wandered on the G. W. R. track near the R. C. cemetery, where the train, going south this morning ran over it, killing it instantaneously.

ANOTHER ONE.—It is being whispered about that there is a red-hot green 'un at the Rochester, N. Y., track; that a 2:20 clip is merely a good steady rate for him, and that even a quarter in 38 seconds don't tangle him a bit. He is a chestnut, over 16 hands, with a high-bred appearance about him, which plainly shows that he comes, as he does, from almost thoroughbred sire. Well, we hope that he will go on and carry out this great promise, for he is owned by one of Nature's noblemen, a true lover of the grand sport and an ardent devotee to the magic ring.

A NOVEL RACE.—It is stated from Vienna that the Jockey Club there are organizing a race to Paris between six of the Vienna facies or hackney coaches, and prizes to the amount of £2,000 have been subscribed for the purpose. Four facies have already entered the competition. Should more than six offer themselves, a selection will be made by ballot. The time fixed from Vienna to Paris is sixteen days. With every second carriage there is to be an umpire. They are to go for ten hours a day and rest the remaining fourteen.

NEW MILE TRACK AT CINCINNATI.—The new mile track at Cincinnati is to be known as the Chester Trotting and Driving Park. Work is being pushed rapidly, and it is expected that it will be completed within two months.

PISCATORIAL.

THE SALMON FISHERIES.—The Canadian Department of Fisheries has intelligence from the Restigouche District that the salmon-fishing has been so much interfered with in the tideway, by floating lumber escaping from broken booms, that the "take" so far has been greatly below the average of former years.

BROOK TROUT.—Mr. T. B. Fairchild exhibited at his restaurant some of the finest brook trout he ever remember having seen in Hamilton. The fish were caught somewhere in the vicinity of Galt, and many of them were over a pound in weight.—Times.

TROUT.—Mr. C. W. Cleveland, of St. Thomas, on Monday last caught 18 trout near Port Burwell, nine of which weighed ten pounds.

A salmon trout, weighing when dressed twenty-five pounds, caught at Southampton, was exhibited in Brantford on Tuesday.

RYSDYK,
BY HAMBLETONIAN, OUT OF LADY DUKE,
BY LEXINGTON,

Will make the season of 1875, at the above farm at

$100 TO INSURE!

RYSDYK is the very best bred Trotting Stallion in America, and is the sire of some of the most promising colts and fillies in the country, among which we may mention Mr. Pond's filly "Beatrix," and the half-sister to the famous mare "Bella," now in Ben Daniels' stable. Prescott is situated on the Canada side of the St. Lawrence River, opposite ...

The above appearance is not the usual one. The eyes were the color of a child. The absence of an upper lip gave the object an untoward appearance; and the snout, so prominent in the swine, was also noticeable here. The head gradually shelved from the ears to the top, and was covered with very fine hair. The being was a rare curiosity, and would have been well worthy of preservation.

DESERVED.—The numerous friends of Mr. John Bailey, London, now one of the oldest conductors on the G. W. R., will be pleased to learn that the General Superintendent has given him the accommodation train to run, in the place of Mr. Fisher, who resigned some six weeks ago. Mr. Bailey's long services on the road justly entitled him to the promotion, which was sought for by no fewer than thirteen applicants. Seniority and faithful service in the person of Mr. Bailey secured the position however. May he live long to enjoy it.

At the conclusion of the contest it was found on summation, that the game killed on both sides amounted to over 2,500; Mr. Suedden's party having killed the largest amount. Mr. James Cochran bagged 164 squirrels, being the highest individual score.

MOOSE DEER.—Mr. Alex. Reeves, of Eganville, has just returned home after a visit up the Gattineau, and has brought with him a young moose deer, which he intends to domesticate and use as a horse. It is a male, and is about two years old, standing about 14 hands high, is perfectly tame, grazing freely with the cattle around the fields. It was captured last winter by a party of hunters about two hundred miles up the Gattineau.

RIVER POACHERS.—The Ingersoll Chronicle says these gentry "are plying their trade on the river Thames, west of London, by stretching seines across the stream, and bagging all that come up. It is reported that these men often catch 1,000 good fish at a haul, valued at from $4 to $7 per cwt. They have made from $400 to $600 a month at this work. The Picon Gazette says a soldier—half human, half reptile—belonging to the 15th Battalion, while the steamer Rochester was at the wharf, catered to the curious onlookers about the dock and on the boat, by inserting a real living snake about 12 or 13 inches down his throat, where it was allowed to remain a short time, and was then withdrawn. The reptile after this performance was safely deposited in the cartridge box of the volunteer, to be again withdrawn when occasion required. A queer companion, surely!

A female gymnast employed as a waiter in a Detroit saloon was recently insulted by one of the proprietors, when she knocked him down and lost her place.

CURING SKINS WITHOUT REMOVING THE HAIR. Take soft water, about ten gallons, one half bushel wheat bran, seven pounds of salt, two and a half pounds of sulphuric acid. Dissolve altogether and put the skins in the solution and allow them to remain twelve hours; take them out and clean them well and allow them to remain twelve more hours, or longer, if necessary. The skins may then be taken out, well washed and dried. They can be beaten soft, if desired.

TENNESSEE MUST HAVE THE BEST.—Capt. Cockrill, of Nashville, Tenn., received a dispatch from Dr. Noel the other day, informing him of an offer by Mr. Craig, of Canada, of nine thousand dollars in gold for the fifth and sixth Hillars', and asked his advice in the matter. The wires responded, "Do not sell; Tennessee must have the best." Nine thousand dollars in gold is a pretty fair offer for a calf only six weeks old!

A conductor on the Union Pacific railroad put a "dead beat" off his train politely once; kicked him off three times; then finding the impudicus in the car again, inquired: "Where in blazes are you going, anyway?" "Well, said the not-to-be-got-rid-of, "I'm going to Chicago, if my pants hold out, but if I'm going to be kicked every five minutes, I don't believe I'll make the trip!" The conductor let him ride.

...the horse was killed by one of the pickets, which pierced its body to a great depth, severing completely the main artery from the heart to front legs. The poor horse must have suffered intensely, and he died in a short time from loss of blood.

HORSE KILLED.—Mr. Geo. Patterson bought a valuable horse at the Elora fair yesterday, bringing it down to Guolph and putting it into Mr. Geo. A salmon trout, weighing when dressed twenty-five pounds, caught at Southampton, was exhibited in Brantford on Tuesday.

A WONDERFUL INVENTION.—We understand that Mr. Joseph Gates has made one of the greatest discoveries of the 19th century, and which bids fair to be most profitable to him and of incalculable benefit to housekeepers, butchers and fish-dealers. It is a solution in which may be dipped any kind of edibles which may require to be kept for some time. Game, fish, meat, butter, fruit, or anything of the kind by a single dip in the solution will retain the flavor for years, and there is no possibility of decay under any circumstances and in any climate.

Fishing in the Magnetawan is now very good, trout take the fly pretty lively, and the flies take hold of the angler just a little more so. Mr. Higgins, of Bracebridge, returned last week from the South Muskoka with a good catch of trout, among which, several weighed from two to two and a half pounds each, and one turned the scales at four and a half pounds. There is a party of gentlemen from Toronto up there fishing now. Black bass are just beginning to take the trawl.

It is proposed to erect additional fish-breeding establishments in the Maritime Provinces. Messrs. Wilmot and Whitcler are now en route for the East in reference to this matter.

We would recommend all our friends to leave their measure at Treble's and try his perfect fitting shirts, they beat all others, 53 King street west, two doors east of Bay is the place.—adv.

THE CELEBRATED THOROUGHBRED SIRE OF TROTTERS, 'SCYTHIAN,'

Bay, black mane and tail, one white foot behind. 16 hands high.

"SCYTHIAN" BY IMP. SCYTHIAN.

1st dam, Sally Shannon, by Woodpecker; 2nd dam, Grey Maria, by Sir Richard Tonson; 3rd dam, Lucy Clark, by Tennessee Oscar; 4th dam, daughter of imp. Knowsley; 5th dam, daughter of imp. Diomed.

Imported Scythian by Orlando; he by Touchstone; he by Camel; he by Whalebone; and he by Waxey.

The above pedigree stamps Scythian as pure a thoroughbred as was ever foaled, and the remarkable fact that he is the only thoroughbred Stallion in the United States that is producing trotters from common or cold-blooded mares, makes his services of peculiar value to breeders.

This horse combines high breeding, beauty, grace of action and size to an extent seldom equalled. He was awarded the first prize at the Ohio State Fair over twenty competitors, and his son awarded second prize. He has a record of 1:47 at Columbus, Ohio, over a track four corners, and 2 1/4 yards over one mile in length; ran the same track in a private trial in 1:45, and 4 times in 7:48.

These first class sires will make the season of 1875, at the low price of $50—with the privilege of returning the mare next season free if not with foal.

Mares sent on the steamer City of Toronto will be landed at Lewiston, 16 miles from us, where we will send for them when advised by mail or telegram.

Youngsters trained and handled on reasonable terms. Horsemen and breeders are invited to call.

It prevents a horse from having a sore mouth, will not wear off the mane, gives the horse perfect use of the head and neck, and is acknowledged by all horsemen to be the only check to be used as an overdraw in speeding. Patented Nov. 10 1874, and March 18, 1875. For sale by all dealers and jobbing houses in the United States and Canada. Manufactured by J. A. LAKIN & CO., Westfield, Mass.
