THE TRADE REVIEW.
 MONTREAL, FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1865.
STOP THE DRAIN.

THE French-Canadian papers all agree in stating that a large and apparently increasing emigration is going on from Lower Canada. They speak of the miseries endured in the Eastern Townships, many of the settlers being in actual destitution, and covered with rags. Acton, Roxton, Stukely, Ely and Waterloo are particularly mentioned. In many of the "good old parishes," it is true, an emigration is also going on, but the emigrants from them are only leaving for a short period and for a particular purpose, while those from the Townships express their intention of taking a final departure, and making the United States their home.
 To those who have watched the progress, and carefully observed the efforts of the Colonization societies, this result will not be surprising. For several years past the French Canadians have been urged, in every possible way, to take possession of lands in the Eastern Townships per fas aut nefas. A very large number squatted upon private property, although land was selling at three shillings and half-a-dollar an acre. Rameau's work on Colonization, filled with the most over-drawn pictures of the success met with by settlers going into the bush without a penny, lured a vast number to the ruin which has now overtaken them. Almost all the French papers either republished the volume entirely in their columns, or, at the least, gave very copious extracts. A sort of crusade was preached against the "foreign" settlers who had come in to appropriate the land belonging to the "sons of the soil." Trente-sous societies were organized to assist in filling up the Eastern Townships with a French population, and for a time the work was prosecuted vigorously. The natural result has followed. These poor men, victims of misrepresentation, have suffered, as was to be expected. They had no money to maintain themselves while clearing. They have the belief that a piece of land is all they want to make them independent; and they have an almost invincible repugnance to engage themselves for any lengthened period in the service of a master, preferring to take chance jobs at haying, chopping cordwood, etc.
 Driven by the consideration of these circumstances, then, the French-Canadian press is searching out for a remedy. A great change is coming over the views now expressed by the more influential journals. Until very lately, there was practically a cry against the establishment of manufactures, as having a hurtful effect upon the French nationality. Now, one by one, they are beginning to discover that when men feel their wants pressing upon them, they will seek relief in some way or other. We are glad to find that this change has been brought about, even although it has been at the expense of some sharp suffering to the victims of a false principle. When men begin to find that it does not pay for all to be farmers in a country like this; when they begin to agitate and discuss the question of a remedy for existing evils, it is a healthy sign—it is an evident token that they are beginning to awaken from a delusion under which they have too long laboured.

 There are many splendid opportunities of establishing manufactories in Lower Canada. It is a rule of universal application, that any branch of business thoroughly established in a locality, has every chance of becoming permanent there, and drawing to itself, as to a centre, all the various forms of industry connected with, and which spring from it. We are now, apparently, in the very throes of change. A feeling of uncertainty, as to the particular form which the future may assume, prevails. It is evident that we cannot continue as we are at present. But we see no cause for discouragement. On the contrary, we see every reason for hope. Throughout Lower Canada we ought to see springing up towns such as are to be seen in the New England States, rich and prosperous themselves, and contributing to make all around them thriving and comfortable. The will, only, is wanting. There is more available money now in Canada than those New England States had at the time their mills were established. We see what they have done, and may, if we are wise, learn from the example of our hard-headed and shrewd neighbours to go and do likewise.

There has been but a limited amount of business in stocks during the week, the transfer books being closed until the 1st June for the payment of the half yearly dividends of the following Banks:—Bank of Montreal, 4 per cent.; Ontario Bank, 4 per cent.; City Bank, 3 1/2 per cent.; and Banque Jacques Cartier, 4 per cent. There is a slight demand for Commercial Bank, and Merchants Bank is asked for at improved rates. A small amount of Molsons Bank stock has been placed at 103 1/2. Government, Harbour, and Montreal City Bonds are dull at quotations.

Messrs. Henry Chapman & Co.
 We are sorry to have to record the suspension (during the week) of one of our oldest and most respected firms. Messrs. Henry Chapman & Co., for nearly 25 years actively engaged in trade here, have been obliged to succumb to pressure arising, we understand, from heavy losses in New York. Their misfortunes, we believe, will meet with very general regret.

WHAT WILL HE DO?

HOWEVER gratifying it may be to note a large decrease in the imports of the country at this particular period, there is one consideration which will make it embarrassing and disagreeable. The decline in the Revenue will be larger than any similar period since the union of the Provinces. So far, the first four months of the year indicate a decline of nearly forty per cent., and as the next two months seldom witness much movement in either direction, it is fair to infer that the first half of the year will show a like result. In 1864 the Provincial Revenue from Customs for the first half year was $3,074,000. This year it will not amount to more than $1,800,000. As the end of the fiscal year is now changed from 31st December to 30th June it is probable that the excessive imports of last Autumn may compensate for the falling off this Spring, and thus raise the total for the fiscal year to as high a point as was attained in the year previous. This Mr. Galt may probably attempt as a cover for what nevertheless is sure to be an embarrassing condition of affairs. The imports for the year proper cannot fail to show a very large diminution during the Autumn, and the amount of revenue realized to meet the largely increased demands of the Government will be very considerably less than estimated by the Finance Minister. It is urged by some that a large movement in lumber and a good harvest will impart ease, and greatly increase the imports during the Autumn. We pointed out three weeks ago that for a variety of reasons it would be most impolitic to depart in the latter part of the year from the cautious policy thus far pursued. The more the matter is looked into, the more convinced will merchants become, that the only true remedy for the disordered commerce of the country must be continued light imports. It must also be borne in mind, that the imports of last Autumn were very excessive, even for a normal condition of affairs, and we feel quite convinced if the amount of goods brought in this Spring was less by one half than in the previous Spring, the amount imported during the coming Autumn will show even a larger decline.

Mr. Galt anticipated at the close of last session that the increased amount to be derived from the full effect of the Excise regulations, would make up the contemplated deficiency in the Customs branch. In this he is certain to be disappointed. Not only is the deficiency in the Customs very much greater than he anticipated, but in the increase in the Excise falls far short of expectation. Of Tobacco and Whiskey,—the principal sources of Excise revenue,—the manufacture has been unusually limited, and a large amount of the first named staple manufactured before the Excise went into force, is still in stock. The consumption of both articles is less than in last year, and there is no possibility of an increase from these sources to any thing like the extent expected. The conclusion is therefore inevitable, that the total receipts at the Provincial Treasury will show a great decline, and fall much short of the enlarged demands upon it. The sooner the fact is realized the better, in order that public opinion may be felt as to how the deficiency is to be met.

Mr. Galt's visit to England, and the expression of opinion which is so universal in that country against our high tariff on English goods, will probably deter him from increasing the customs duties, and he will likely look to some new source of revenue. It is certain that the excise on Tobacco and Whiskey will be doubled, but the amount that this will produce will be insignificant, in proportion to the requirements. We anticipate a marked change in the policy of the Government in respect to taxation, and shall watch with anxiety for the development of Mr. Galt's views. We are certain some change is in contemplation. The success of paper money issued by Government in the United States, may revive in Mr. Galt's mind the project which he attempted a few years ago, contemplating the same policy in Canada. Many people are known to favour some such temporary relief by an increased currency, and the present necessities of the country would make it far more acceptable now than when first proposed. It may be this, or it may be some other equally important idea which Mr. Galt at present contemplates; but that some action of very great interest to the community is under consideration, we have not the slightest doubt.

A Merchant's Letter,

Respecting Bank Notices of Notes maturing, is held over until we are favoured with the writer's name. We cannot publish anonymous communications.

A LIBERAL POLICY NEEDED.

THE impression is fast gaining ground in this Province that something ought to be done to encourage immigration to this country from Europe, and to keep here those who are desirous of moving from the older settled and thickly-peopled districts to newer and cheaper lands, not by holding out false inducements, as has been done, but by offering advantages which can compete with those held out by other countries.

The misrepresentations by which people desirous of emigrating from Europe have been induced to come to this country, have had a fatal effect on immigration. People who have themselves been imposed upon will take care that their friends are not treated in the same way, and for each person so used, many will be persuaded to look to other countries for a new home, which they would otherwise have found in this Province. In fact it is impossible to estimate the amount of injury done to this country as a field for immigration, by the bad reports which are continually being sent home by families who have been persuaded by parties interested to come to this country.

The free grants of land offered by our Government, on certain roads laid out for that purpose, are a step in the right direction, but a very short one, and are not what can be expected to compete for population with the really intrinsically valuable inducements held out by some other countries. The colonial Government of New Zealand not only gives a tract of land of about forty acres, gratis, to each male settler, but also supplies him with sufficient provisions to last him until he can raise a crop, and allows him a certain number of cattle with which to begin a stock, to be repaid in easy instalments.

Now these are tangible advantages, against which no person desirous of emigrating from Europe would for a moment think of setting the free grant of fifty or one hundred acres of bush land on the Upper Ottawa. Not but what there are many advantages to a settlement in that part of the country, nor have we any desire to disparage the quality of the land there. We fully understand and appreciate the fact that there is as good land there as in other parts of the country which have been successfully cultivated, and that they have amongst the lumberers the very best market in Canada for their produce, as well as a market for their labour at certain seasons. But we must also remember that this latter has its disadvantages as well as its advantages. It is well known that the spirit of adventure which takes so many young men from the farm to the lumbering shanty, has been one of the greatest drawbacks to farming in a great many parts of Lower Canada, and the same is the case all along the St. James River, in New Brunswick. The lumbering shanties take their men just after harvest, or early in the fall, and keep them until just too late in the spring to be of any use to their farms, so that the whole of the summer is lost to them.

But when we compare that which other countries offer to the best which this country has made up its mind to offer, we cannot wonder at the small stream of immigration which sets in this direction; nor can we, when we think of the almost insuperable obstacles against which a man has to contend who elects to take up his residence in a new settlement in the back woods. He is possessed of no capital, receives no aid from Government, and, by the very circumstances of his position, is obliged to buy what he does consume at an extreme price on credit, until he can have enough of his land cleared to raise a maintenance from it, by which time he has involved himself so heavily as to be obliged to give up his farm. This, too, just when he ought to have been beginning to feel that comfort and independence which the entire possession of a productive farm always produces, and which he might have possessed if he had received some slight assistance at first.

How many, not only on the free grant roads, but in all parts of Canada, have been obliged to do this, it would be hard to say; but any person who is acquainted with or has lived in some parts of Lower Canada, and has seen the number of farms, of from ten to fifty acres cleared, which are in the hands of the country store-keepers, must have some idea of the number of persons who lose their land in that way. Thus it is that they who, by dint of perseverance, patience and frugality, are trying to build up for themselves a home, find that, after years of unprofitable toil, their land passes out of their hands at a price which, if they actually received it, would not pay them one-half the rate of ordinary wages for the time spent in improving it.

Perhaps to the farmer who understands his business and properly cultivates his land, Canada is as profitable a country as any new one in which he could be placed; but certainly no other country presents such a formidable aspect to the immigrant with little money, and desirous of settling on wild land. The incessant toll which, for years, such as choose this country have to perform, to make headway against the bush, and scratch the most humble living out of the soil, is enough to deter others from following an example in which, if successful, they will be comfortable, but in which the chances are almost as great that they will be the reverse. How true this is, may be best understood when we think of the large number of our young men who every year emigrate to the prairies of the Western States. Amongst them a great many are desirous of becoming farmers, but who are unwilling to go into the backwoods of this country without capital, where they know they will have to work years before they can raise sufficient to support themselves. They prefer to go to the Far West, where, by annulling their allegiance to the Mother Country, they may have a grant of one hundred and sixty acres of prairie land, which is immediately available for cropping, and where they have not to look forward to years of chopping and logging before they can raise a few bushels of grain. It is true that a great part of what they can raise will have no value, on account of having no means of conveyance to a market, but it is just as valuable to themselves to live on, as if it was near the best market in the world.

Thus while we stand looking on, emigrants from Europe are paid a premium, so to speak, to make their home at the other side of the world, in the territories of our neighbour, and the more enterprising of our own people, whether desirous of employing themselves in the cultivation of the soil, or in the manufacture of goods, find that other countries offer greater chances of success than their own.

When we take into consideration the market which Canada offers to the producer, in comparison with that offered to the farmer in the Western States, we see that the prices realized for grain here are three or four-fold those realized there. It goes to show that, had our settlers a proper start, they would almost invariably be successful. It is the first few years, or the clearing of the first few acres, which ruins them sometimes for life; and if that could be done for them, it would give them a start which would be sure to result in their success; and it is on the success of the individual settler that the success of immigration depends. The cost to Government, giving to each settler about one hundred acres, with from five to ten acres cleared, would be trifling, and would soon be repaid by the settler in taxes, or the price of clearing the land could be made a mortgage on the land, payable in easy instalments.

Far better would it be, if the members of our Government now in England, instead of borrowing money with which to build needless and useless defences, would apply themselves to the development of some scheme for attracting a large immigration, and providing for its encouragement when it reached our shores. The expenditure of the six millions of dollars, contemplated for defences, for this other and nobler purpose, would go much further toward retaining Canada as a part of the British Empire than all the fortifications ever erected. It will not be invasion or war that will lose Canada to England, if ever she is lost, an event, so undesirable, will be much more likely to follow the material disadvantages under which the Province is at present labouring. Nothing would sooner contribute to a better state of things than an increased immigration, liberally and wisely aided here; and in order that the great resources of our country should be more rapidly developed and made available a more comprehensive policy on the part of the Government is absolutely essential.

BANK OF TORONTO.

The Bank of Toronto, with an authorized capital of $2,000,000, has but $800,000 paid up, distributed among 393 shareholders, so that the average amount paid up by each is $2,035. The proprietary is widely scattered, the shares being distributed as follows:—

Canada.....	$690,500
England, &c.....	89,600
United States.....	10,100
Vancouver Island.....	5,600
British Columbia.....	1,700

Central America.....	1,000
Australia.....	200
	$800,000

No individual holds as much as $20,000 in the Bank, though M. W. Goodeham, of Toronto, with $18,600, comes near to that standard. The Northumberland and Durham Savings Bank, with headquarters at Cobourg, owns $27,000. The dividend sent abroad last year by this Bank amounted to $87,160.

NIAGARA DISTRICT BANK.

There are but 90 shareholders in the Niagara District Bank, and as the paid up capital was $271,882, this gives to each an average of $3021. The distribution of the shares is thus given:—

Canada.....	$239,097

The Merritts own altogether $66,400 worth of the stock. Dividends to the amount of about $2,620 were last year sent out of the Province by this institution.

MOLSONS BANK.

Molsons Bank well deserves its title, and to have the face of its founder carved over the door of its fine new offices, of its capital, of which there is

Held in Canada.....	$994,000
"    England.....	6,000
	$1,000,000

No less than $611,500 is held by the various Molsons in their own names, and the relatives of the family have a good deal besides. There are 172 shareholders, so that each owns an average of $5,070—a very rich proprietary. The shareholders worth over $20,000 are:

Held in Canada.....	$692,880
"    England, &c.....	59,600
"    United States.....	53,480

Raynes, Capt. R. T.....	Montreal.....	41,380

If our distribution of the shares be correct—of which we are not quite sure, since the residences of some of the shareholders are not clearly given,—only $3,000 out of $141,594 profits declared by the Bank last year were sent abroad.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK.

This Bank occupies a somewhat peculiar position. It has 418 shareholders to a paid up capital of $269,123; so that the average amount owned by each shareholder is only $644. As might be expected from this, the lowest average of any Bank, the shares are found to be distributed among a great number of the farming and trading community of the Townships; and it seems to be proved by the list that there was a need for Bank circulation and Banking facilities in the Townships, which the shrewd people of that section resolved to meet by establishing a Bank. Only $4,930 of the paid up capital is held abroad, and that is in the neighbouring States; the rest is divided pretty evenly among the various Townships along the lines of the railways which intersect them. No shareholders own as much as $20,000, the heaviest being:

Pomroy, Benj.....	Compton.....	$11,400
Sleeper, Lewis.....	Coaticooke.....	12,500

The Hon. Messrs. Galt, Foster, Terrill and Sanborn, and Messrs. Pope and Knight, are shareholders in this Bank; showing that the politicians of the district cast their lot in with the people in this instance, if not in all others.

THE BANQUE NATIONALE.

The stock of this Bank is almost entirely held in the Quebec district. Its distribution is as follows:—

Held in Canada.....	$964,398
"    United States.....	2,500
"    England.....	10,350
"    Bermuda.....	2,500
	$979,748

The heaviest stockholders are the Caisse d'Economie and the Quebec Fire Insurance Company, the former of which was managed, and well managed, by the gentleman who took the leading part in promoting the formation of the Bank. The only other holding over $20,000 is Mr. Thomas McGreevy. The amounts paid up by each of these are:—

Caisse d'Economie.....	Quebec.....	$80,450
Fire Insurance Co.....	Do.....	50,900
Thos. McGreevy.....	Do.....	25,506

There being 575 shareholders, the average amount paid by each is $1714; and the dividend sent out of Canada last year was only $1,228.

BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER.

There now remains but the Bank Jacques Cartier to be noticed—for the Merchants Bank and the International Bank have not sent in a return. This Bank is almost exclusively French-Canadian, and neutral as to its proprietary, there being very few English names in the list of shareholders. The paid-up capital is thus distributed:—

Held in Canada.....	$692,410
"    England, &c.....	6,000
"    United States.....	1,550
	$700,010

There are about 480 different shareholders in this Bank, so that the average is about $1,453 paid-up stock to each. The heaviest funds are:—

J. B. Beaudry.....	Montreal.....	$34,730
Pierre Jodoin.....	do.....	35,700
Savings Bank.....	do.....	21,005
C. S. Rodier.....	do.....	39,655

We have thus gone through the long and tedious list. Next week we shall endeavour to give some of the general results of our examination.

SHIPPING.

THE paucity of ships reported as having sailed for Montreal is a pretty good indication of the shrewdness and cautiousness of the shipowners at home. And we confess we would rather see but a few ships, when we have little to give them, than a large fleet, the bulk of which, instead of getting cargoes, would only come here to carry back a bad, or at least poor, account of our port to disappointed, and therefore discontented, shipowners. This, assuredly, would have been the case, had things been different from what they are.

The first ship of the season was the "Shandon," and she came up and discharged her cargo, took a few ashes, and left for Quebec to fill up with deals. The S.S. "Hibernian"—the first steamer of the season—did likewise; she, however, having, in addition to some ashes, a little butter and some leather. The S.S. "Peruvian" has fared better than her sister ship, having secured a quantity of peace, with ashes, box meats and butter. The Glasgow and London steamers have arrived, but we have not heard of anything having been engaged for them.

It is difficult to give any rates, by sail, which might be considered as authentic, there being no engagements on which to base them. The following, however, are the figures that have been paid:—Say to Liverpool (by steam), peace, 3s. 9d. per quarter of 480 lbs.; butter, 40s.; pot ashes, 25s., and pearl ashes 32s. 6d., all per gross ton weight. By sail, to Glasgow, 20s. for pot ashes, and 25s. for pearl ashes, both per 2,240 lbs.

Lower port freights opened high, and were somewhat active, as there were a good number of orders held on Lower port account which were to be filled and shipped on the opening of the navigation; but latterly they are duller, and our quotations are now, to Halifax, 2s. 6d., and to St. John (Newfoundland), 3s. It was intended that the screw steamer "Merritt" should have been laid on the berth for Halifax; but we understand her destination has since been changed.

Quebec freights also opened at rates which have not been maintained; and 26s. 6d. to 27s. was paid to Liverpool and Clyde. Our last advices, however, state that, consequent on the large arrivals brought in by the easterly wind that prevailed for two or three days, rates fell; and we now quote Clyde and Liverpool, 25s. per load timber; London, 28s. per load, and 75s. per standard deals; Dublin, 27s. per load, and 75s. per standard; nor will we be surprised if lower rates are accepted by shipowners, unless the Produce Markets alter considerably.

P. S.—Since writing the above we have heard that a small quantity of wheat was engaged by the "St. David" to Glasgow, at 3s. 9d. per quarter, and some ashes at 20s. per gross ton, also about 1100 bushels of wheat per "Iona" to Glasgow at 3s. 9d. per quarter, and 2000 bbls flour at 2s. per bbl.

BUSINESS TACTICS—III.

WE now come to the fourth point to which we would direct attention under the above heading, and it is one which deserves the special attention of all, we refer to avoiding litigation.

To hear men talk, one would think that an advice of this kind were quite unnecessary, but, unfortunately, in this world, talking and acting are very different things, and often they are at marked variance with each other. If we would believe what men say, every one hates law, but if we would form our opinion from what they sometimes do, we would arrive at a very different conclusion.

It is some time since we felt convinced—and we must still acknowledge our conviction—that nineteenth-century of the business law cases which arise might be avoided advantageously to both plaintiff and defendant; and it is under this impression that we touch on this point. There is a very good proverb, that "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure;" and we think this axiom might be applied, with immense benefit, by our business men, to litigation.

The proportion we have put down—say nineteenth-century of the business law cases—arising out of pure doggedness on both sides, is not, we believe, too great; and, if we would avoid these, there is but one way of doing it—we must be prepared to meet our opponent in a reasonable spirit. We all know that, almost invariably, quite the opposite is the case. When the slightest trouble arises, each party mounts his "high horse," and if the case is argued at all, it is argued in such a one-sided way, that it would be the greatest miracle of the age if any good came out of the argument, and much more so if a settlement were arrived at. Instead of arranging the difference, it is only increased; and that which at first was "a cloud no bigger than a man's hand," at last, or, in other words, before it leaves the court, bursts in torrents over the heads of both. It may be affirmed that this is only one side of the case, and it may be supposed that if you win, then things are very different. We will, therefore, look into this supposition, with a view to testing it. There are two ways in which the case may be said to be won, the first is when it is decided in your favour each paying his own expenses, and the second, when your opponent has to pay the amount of your claim, and the expenses of both. The latter is decidedly the preferable way of gaining your case; but it is questionable if your point is gained on then. Say, for instance, a law-suit arises from a difference between two parties, of fifty dollars, which by a reasonable arrangement might be settled at a loss of twenty-five dollars each—that is, halving the difference. But neither will submit to this, and the case goes into court; and before it comes out, what with consulting lawyers, attending court, and hanging on there until the case comes up, the value of the time lost amounts to three times the sum of the difference out of which the suit arose. It may be interposed here, that a lawsuit about a small difference may save numerous annoyances afterwards, but this is an exceptional case, and here we are treating of general principles. Or, again, it may be said that we overlook the satisfaction which there is in securing our rights; but we do not apprehend that this is the business man's aim. He is striving to increase his capital, not to lessen it, therefore we cannot but regard a law-suit of this nature as bad business policy, in fact, feeling is just as unsafe a guide for the merchant as it is for the physician.

We now turn to the fifth point, viz.: Punctuality in business. There is, perhaps, no better foundation, or, we should rather say, corner-stone, to employ in building up a business than this. "Time is money," and this is almost as good as capital, at any rate it will soon increase that amount which is already looked at in that light.

There is great force in that hackneyed illustration, of six gentlemen who met as a committee, but had to wait ten minutes on the seventh to form a quorum. On the absentee entering, he was informed by the chairman that they had just lost an hour by his delay. The former was at a loss to understand this; but when requested to multiply ten minutes by six (the number of persons who lost the time), he at once "saw the point." Unfortunately, we too frequently omit to look to the ultimate result, in taking but a cursory glance at that which is more immediate.

We all know the effect of the boot-maker promising a pair of boots on the following Saturday, and sending them a week later; or the grocer forgetting our groceries for a day; and the same fault produces a like result in matters of greater importance. Our principal aim, however, in touching on this point, is to speak about punctuality in money matters. Few stores-keepers, if any, thoroughly realize the importance of this; but if they could see the prices at which men buy who are always up to time with their payments, and compare these with their own, they would open their eyes. It may be argued here that if this punctuality were attended to so closely, it would limit the business considerably; but this argument is very shallow, as a hundred dollars saved in buying is better than two hundred dollars profit to be realized on sales, some of which may never be paid for.

THE FASHIONS.

FOR the benefit of those of our readers who may not have an opportunity of consulting the best authority on the all-important subject of fashions, we shall occasionally make selections gathered from reliable sources, and of the most recent date. Those we append in this issue may not prove uninteresting.

During the last fortnight spring novelties have begun to make their appearance, not, perhaps, in great numbers, but sufficient, however, to give an idea of what the prevailing fashion will be.

Bonnets occupy most thought. They are the momentous question of the day. The shape of bonnets is nothing more than a half-handkerchief in straw, ermine, or paille de riz. Plain straw is no longer worn, but is superseded by fancy plaits, such as straw with patterns, of two colours, or embroidered. Those bonnets which still retain a crown have it quite circular. Crinoline bonnets are in the form of a half-handkerchief, pointed at the back. Pearls of every size are sewn upon white and black ermine, or even coral, jet, or steel beads. Crystal beads have a very pretty effect, but, generally speaking, large pearls are preferred to any other kind of bead. The edge of the handkerchief is trimmed with a chenille fringe, having at the end of each strand a large pearl, fringe and beads also ornament the ends of the strings. Straw bonnets are often divided in three, down the middle and at either side, the latter plain and the middle in bands of straw placed across like a trellis-work, out of the interstices of which appear puffs of silk, crape, or tulle. Upon tulle bonnets are sewn small flowers or stars in straw, and the veil is embroidered to match. A plait of straw beneath the brim serves in place of the usual diadem of flowers. Straw gimp is also used for bonnets, and with tassels fastens down the ribbons behind and in front.

Hats are made so very small that they no longer cover even the back hair, and consequently are becoming to no one. It is useless to be pretty, since a little hat perched at the summit of the head allows no woman to look so, and to many faces is perfectly ridiculous. The casquette will be the queen of hats during the summer months. It alone amongst these head-dresses seems at all suitable for the generality of faces. During the spring it is made in felt, velvet, or a mixture of velvet and straw. The brim, for example, is edged with velvet, and round the crown is placed velvet with long ends falling down behind, and for ornament either peacock's feathers, or a long ostrich feather encircling the hat passes over the brim, and falls down on one side. Upon this feather is placed a small humming-bird to enliven this otherwise quiet hat. After the casquette we must certainly place the toque Parisien, with turned up sides. Let a hat be imagined pointed behind in the style of the Glenary cap, but having the sides turned up. Upon the point behind are placed long ends of ribbon, and upon one side a bunch of feathers, a rosette of velvet, or a bird's head. This is quite original. The Directoire hat is most used for riding or travelling, by great ladies. It is either in felt or straw, with a broad brim, and one side only caught up with a ribbon, which fastens it by a rosette of velvet or a ribbon to match the string. The opposite side of the hats ornamented with a long feather. Amongst the novelties of the season are many varieties of hats—The Madrilène and the Polonoise, for instance. The Madrilène, or Spanish, is in white straw, pointed before and behind, and is entirely covered by black gimp. The Polonoise reminds one entirely of the Polish cap, and is ornamented with little steel or straw chains, surmounted by an egret; only this hat has a point behind, and much grace is added to it by its being trimmed all round by small marabouts. For ladies who do not wish to show much of their faces, larger hats are preferred. We must also mention that the crowns of hats are melon-shaped.

Straw gimps are being introduced, but next month many more will be seen. Veils embroidered with straw have given the idea of straw heading to blonde in black or white for ornamenting dresses. Laces entirely made of straw add much novelty to the dress. The skirts of nearly all dresses are cut in train. Hand-some silk dresses are very little trimmed at the bottom. Coat bodies are very much ornamented, and made in various shapes. That with two long tails close together is very distinguished. These scarf-like tails are disposed in several plaits behind, and are trimmed with a deep fringe of Thibet hair, chenille or steel. The coat for full dress is always much shorter than that for ball dress. The newest shape in coats is that called the coat with points, and is made with the basque pointed instead of rounded. The basque does not appear at all in front, and is trimmed with fringe. Upon the body of the dress is designed a shawl in fringe. If the point is not made too long, this shape is pretty enough. Lorenzo-shaped laces are also much worn, and may be made at the back either with one or three lozenges. Another lozenge is designed upon the back of the body, either in velvet or silk of another colour, and at three of the points of it hang small tassels. When the dress is trimmed with a cashmere border or Algerine embroidery the tassels must be of mixed colours. These tassels, very long and thin and bright in hue, are called Chinese, and may be found on dresses, bonnets, or caps. Small paletots with hoods carry the day. Large capuchins, lined with white satin, reach down to the shoulder, and four or five tassels hang from this hood. The stuff used for these cloaks is called vermiculée. It is in worsted of two colours, such as white and red, white and lilac, white and blue, black and violet, &c. The cloak is trimmed round with a silk cord. Little talmas are also made in the same vermiculée, ornamented at the back with rows of buttons. There will be many varieties of paletots, owing to the fashion of their being made like the dress and they will be worn smaller than last year, particularly if with pockets. Pockets will be cut square and straight, like those worn by gentlemen. Vandykes, which are becoming rare upon dresses, begin to appear upon cloaks. Small paletots with vandykes, edged with three or four rouleaux or a cross-plait, are very becoming to a pretty figure. Many will be made without sleeves and in five vandykes. The vandyke behind should be very long, and the others decrease in size, the shortest in front. For black silk cloaks the teeth are not cut up, but formed by a large plait above and rounded at the edges, and lightly trimmed with lace, &c. Another paletot has five vandykes, only indicated by trimming of ruches à la vicille, fastened down by small buttons, which same ornaments are placed at the bottom and round the throat. Small paletots to be worn with dresses of the same material must have the trimming of the dress reproduced on the back of the cloak. For instance, the following two are very pretty specimens of dresses to match. The first is a green silk dress, ornamented before and behind upon each breadth with small plaits of green silk, headed by a silk cord which forms a bow and from which depend tassels. The paletot has similar plaits behind and before, and in front where the jacket fastens are a cord and tassels knotted. The other is in blue, and trimmed with bows of black lace fastened in the middle by a mother-of-pearl buckle. The bow has three loops and two ends. The bonnet to accompany this dress is made of blue net dotted with black chenille spots, and has a black lace bow for ornament, fastened by a mother-of-pearl buckle. Beneath the rim is placed a bee in mother-of-pearl, rather large. Scabius in gold also appears as wreaths upon bonnets for full dress, and are placed upon the white tulle forming the cap beneath them, but gold never looks well by daylight. Many great ladies, however, wear it. A gold arrow through the hair behind, and seeming to support the bonnet, looks very well. For caps, squares of lace, embroidered with gold and placed at the side of the head, have a very pretty and Dutch-like appearance. These are often added to small guipure caps, pointed behind. This head-dress was first called Neapolitaine, but since it has become pointed in front it has no further resemblance to an Italian head-dress. In blonde it is very much worn to the theatre.

THE LEATHER MARKET.

DURING the past week there has been a very unusual animation in Sole Leather, considerable sales have been made at low prices, with an advance of a cent in some transactions, and holders are now firm at the advance, viz., 38 cents, with a fair prospect of being sustained in their demand.

Two different offers were made yesterday and to-day for large parcels of 2,500 and 6,000 Sides at 17 cents, without, however, ending in any practical result. The stock on hand is not heavy. There are two new outside markets, which will tend to improve present low prices. About 5,000 Sides are computed to have been shipped to Lower ports since opening of navigation. Hitherto the United States have exclusively enjoyed this trade; but Sole being now 31 cents in New York, this is now, and likely to continue to be, the lowest market in the world for some time.

The sales have been chiefly at 17 cents, one sale being for 1000 Sides, with the privilege of 2,000 at 17 cents.

Further shipments are being made to Boston and Chicago. We put up the quotations 1 cent.

Upper Leather continues very dull, ranging from 21 to 25 cents.

Other descriptions are quiet.

Varnishes.

In this article we have to report a fair demand, and prices of turpentine varnishes are higher in consequence of an advance in the value of turpentine. Benzine varnishes are scarce at present, and may be quoted at 60c. to 65c. per gal. The best turpentine is worth $2.25 to $2.50 in this market.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

THE business of the week has been on the comparatively limited scale which has characterized the present season thus far. Arrivals generally are light, and the relatively low prices of most articles abroad prevent any outward movement of any consequence.

Flour.—Most of the parcels stored to await open navigation have come forward, and late receipts have chiefly been by the few or single hundreds. Most descriptions have met a steady demand at full, and in many instances at advanced prices.

Choice Dairy. .... 13 to 20 cents per lb. Medium. .... 15 to 18 " " Store Packed. .... 11 1/2 to 13 " "

It may be noted that, with small stocks here, and all accounts agreeing that supplies of Wheat in Western Canada are very limited, the opinion gains strength that a still higher range of prices for Wheat and Flour will set rule, which, indeed, appears inevitable.

COARSE GRAINS are generally easier, but there are few transactions on the spot to be noted and rates are mostly nominal. On Wednesday two large loads of oats, in transit to New York, were sold at auction at 31c per 32 lbs., and one cargo at 29c.

SEEDS.—Only retail sales, and prices various the season being too far advanced for safe transactions at recent extreme figures.

BUTTER.—The stock in first hands is now limited, and holders are firm at 12 to 12 1/2 cents for fair medium parcels, and for small selected lots an advance is obtainable.

ASHES.—There has been considerable activity shown, prices advancing for firsts to $5.42 to $5.45. Inferiors were sold at $5.70.

KIRKWOOD, LIVINGSTONE & CO.'S PRODUCE AND LEATHER REPORT.

No. 33 St. NICHOLAS STREET, MONTREAL. 18th May, 1895.

FLLOUR.—We have to report a much better feeling than for some time past. The demand for all grades throughout the week has been good. The dealers buy eagerly, and a better disposition to speculate is evinced.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Superior extra, Extra, Fancy, Superfine No. 1, Superfine No. 2, Fine, Middlings, Pollards, Bag Flour, Oatmeal, Wheat, and Coarse Grains.

COARSE GRAINS.—Peas.—Fair inquiry at 35 cents to $1 per 65 lbs. Oats very dull and lower—say 30 to 31 cents per 32 lbs.

ASHES.—Pots.—For some days after our last the range was for Firsts from $5.27 to $5.33, the latter price for good tars; but during the past two days the feeling has been better, and $5.40 to $5.42 have been the ruling rates.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Pot-1st sort, Inferiors, Pearls, and Inferiors.

PORK.—The stock of all kinds is very light. Prime Mess and Prime are more especially in small supply, and have advanced accordingly.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Mess, Thin Mess, Prime Mess, Prime, and Cargo.

BUTTER.—The demand for new Butter is very active, and with but little offering, and full prices are readily secured.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Choice Dairy, Medium, and Store Packed.

ASHES.—POTS.—There has been large arrivals during the week. There has been considerable activity shown, prices advancing for firsts to $5.42 to $5.45.

FLLOUR.—The arrivals have not been equal to the demand. There has been good demand for all grades, especially good strong Superfine, which has been sold for local use as high as $5.15.

BUTTER.—The market is now firmer, and good butter is scarce. Choice is enquired after, but there is little in the market.

PETROLEUM.—The markets continue dull, with little demand, prices ranging from 30c. to 32 1/2c. per gallon.

Since our last we have had an active market, and a large amount of business has been done. British markets are reported by the "Cuba" to the 7th instant.

FLLOUR.—Receipt of the week 19,500 bbls. Deficiency of stock is the marked feature of the flour market here, and prices have advanced during the week.

THOS HOBSON & CO.'S PRODUCE CIRCULAR PRICES CURRENT.

Thursday Evening, May 18, 1895.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Flour, Extra, Fancy, Superfine No. 1, Superfine No. 2, Fine, Middlings, Bag Flour, Oatmeal, Pork, Cut Meats, Lard, Western, Tallow, Eggs, Butter, Ashes, and Pearls.

We have advices from Britain, per "Cuba," to the 6th inst. Flour reported quiet and steady. Wheat quiet and easier. Bacon dull. Butter market bare, no good American offering.

FLOUR.—We have again to notice a considerable advance in this article. Sales of super-to-day at from $5.10 to $5.20, Extra, $5.70 to $5.80; Superior Extra, $6.10 to $6.20, and Bag Flour at from $2.90 to $2.95 Market firm and tending upwards.

PORK remains firm. Several transactions reported within the range of our quotations.

CUTMEATS are scarce and wanted. Smoked un-canned Hams inquired for at from 12 to 13 cents; Sugar-cured canvassed, 14 to 15 cents. Bacon and Shoulders—none offering.

BUTTER.—The improvement noticed last week seems to have been lost again, and there is scarcely any demand for medium and inferior grades, unless at about the price of grease, with the exception of 50 packages inferior at 11 cents. We have no sales to report. Now butter sells to retailers at from 18 to 20 cents; demand for fine qualities very brisk.

EGGS.—The demand for the American market is not quite so brisk; prices are, consequently, a little lower; we quote sales at 13 1/2 to 14 cents.

ASHES.—The market has advanced from 15 to 20 cts. per 100 lbs. on the week. We report sales of 1st Pots, at from $5.42 to $5.45; Inferiors, $5.50 to $5.55; Pearls, $5.65.

CIRCULAR.

GOULD'S BLOCK,
Corner Grey Nun and William streets,
Montreal, May 11, 1865.

We avail ourselves of the opportunity presented by our removing to new and enlarged premises, to thank our friends for their past favours, and to renew the offer of our services, as Commission Agents, for the sale of such Produce or Provisions as may be designed for sale in this market.

We possess an active experience of many years in the commission business, an intimate knowledge of its varied requirements, practical skill in determining the worth of the several products, and ample means and facilities for the efficient management of the business.

That no interests of ours may conflict with or endanger those of our consignors, we avoid all private speculations, and by restricting ourselves to the commission business, are enabled to bestow our exclusive time and personal attention to the interests of customers.

Promptness both with respect to sales and returns has been our aim throughout, a point which our extended and rapidly increasing connection proves to be appreciated by consignors.

While taking special pains to avoid incidental charges, our scale of commissions is at the same time the lowest adopted by any responsible house in the trade.

The rapid growth and extent of our business in Butter and Provisions demanding increased accommodation, we have removed to these capacious and central premises known as Gould's Block, corner of William and Grey Nun streets, where, with greatly improved facilities these branches will receive even increased attention and efficiency.

We continue to accept drafts or make cash advances against bill of lading or forwarders' receipts for a liberal proportion of the value of consignments.

Hoping for a share of your business,
We remain,
Your most obedient servants,
AKIN & KIRKPATRICK.

He imports his fruit direct from the growers, and in consequence of the duty on imported peels, can sell at a low figure, and will guarantee as good an article as any of English manufacture. Importers would do well to send for circular before sending foreign orders for the ensuing season.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weaknesses arising from Excesses or Indiscretion. The constitution once affected by Organic Weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which Helmbold's Extract Buchu invariably does. If no treatment be submitted to, consumption or insanity may ensue.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU and IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system Diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure, completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copalba and Mercury, in curing these unpleasant and dangerous diseases.

USE HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, in all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, immediate in its action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from Broken-down or Delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is sure to affect his bodily health, mental powers, happiness, and that of his posterity. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources.

PHYSICIANS, PLEASE NOTICE.—We make no secret of ingredients. HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is composed of Buchu, Cubebs, and Juniper Berries, selected with great care, and prepared in vacuo, by H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist and Chemist of sixteen years' experience, in the city of Philadelphia, and now prescribed by the most eminent Physicians, has been admitted to use in the United States army, and is also in very general use in State Hospitals and Public Sanitary Institutions throughout the land.
