GREETING.

Once more a new College year has commenced. The class of '99 has passed away, and the Freshmen class of '02 has come to fill (?) its place. Freshmen! prove yourselves as true and useful to your glorious College as the men of '99! Uphold and foster her institutions and traditions! Do nothing that will tend to soil her fair reputation with the outside world. Do what little you can to help her by word and deed. What you lack in quantity, do your best to atone for by quality. And, finally, when you go forth from here three years hence, let the world recognize in each of you a true gentleman and one worthy of the name. Among the usual changes which a new year brings, a great loss has been caused to THE REVIEW by the resignation of the able and popular Editor-in-Chief, Mr. H. C. Griffith, who has accepted a position as an assistant master at Bishop Ridley College. We wish him every success in his new undertaking. Mr. G. B. Strathy has been elected to fill his place, and Mr. A. C. Lancefield has been added to the Board of Editors. We hope in the future to maintain for THE REVIEW the same high standard that it has held in the past, and we ask from our subscribers the same generous support that we have hitherto received.

VENEZEULA.

The Venezuelan question has been satisfactorily disposed of, and the settlement is a decided triumph for the principle of arbitration. It is a case of wisdom and cool-headedness prevailing over self-interest and jingoism, thus averting what might have proved a disastrous conflict. According to the award, the navigation of the rivers by the ships of all nations is very little restricted, tolls and tariffs being practically abolished except upon goods landed in the country. The boundary line has been in dispute ever since Great Britain acquired the territory of Dutch Guiana, 1814, and the one adopted by the tribunal is practically the Schomburgh line, which was surveyed by Great Britain, 1839. The dispute became critical when some American capitalists invested in part of this disputed territory, securing certain supposed valuable lands from the Venezuelan Government. As they could not get a positive title to it, an agitation was started in the United States against British aggression, and the Munroe Doctrine was reaffirmed in President Cleveland's message to Congress, December, 1893. By the Treaty of Washington, 1897, a tribunal of five members—two of them United States jurists—was appointed to arbitrate the dispute, and the result, although a compromise, is decidedly in favour of Great Britain. While Venezuela retains some marshy land east of the Schomburgh line, Britain acquires valuable timber and mineral lands on the other side of this line. The settlement is a very desirable ending to a dispute, the consequences of which might have been disastrous to all involved.

S. HILDA'S COLLEGE.

It is a matter for the very warmest congratulations to all concerned that the building for the ladies of S. Hilda's is now complete. To Mrs. Rigby and the council of S. Hilda's College the greatest commendation is due, for it is to their untiring efforts and patience that Trinity University can now boast of a ladies' residence second to none. A large, handsome building, it is indeed an ornament to our College grounds. Situated just west of the lodge, it commands a fine view of the College buildings, campus and tennis lawn, making a most pleasant outlook and approach. This edifice reflects great credit on the whole University, and will, we trust, tend to bring the claims of Trinity more to the front. It will be readily recognized that in the erection of these buildings a long felt want has been filled, a want, not of Trinity alone, but one in which the whole province shares—a really thoroughly equipped and commodious residence for ladies taking a university course.

"The king is dead, long live the king."

THE NEW HEAD

We have just been lamenting the resignation of him whom more than one generation has known as "The Headmaster," and now it is our pleasant task to welcome most cordially to Canada, to T.C.S., and, we hope before long, to Trinity College, his successor, the Rev. R. Edmonds Jones. We are sure that all readers of THE REVIEW are thirsting for information about one who is to fill such an important position, and we have to confess with sorrow that we cannot do much to satisfy their thirst; and, that, with all the more sorrow, as all we have heard of him makes us wish for his better acquaintance. We are not surprised to hear that he has "none of the chilling reserve which marks the newly landed Englishman," because the new headmaster happens to be a Welshman, a nationality to which the "English" owe some of their redeeming characteristics. At all events we know that he is a man of quick perception and warm sympathy, and was extremely popular with the boys of the school in England, which he has left to come across the ocean; and, there must be a wonderful difference between Canadian and English boys, if we do not soon hear that he has won the hearts of those over whom he now presides. We wish him good luck and every success, and hope that no long time will elapse before he is able to pay us a visit in our own College.

THE TRANSVAAL.

To-day all eyes are turned in the direction of South Africa. The Boer situation has now become very serious, and before this appears in print war may have actually begun. No hope seems to be left of averting a fight and of settling the dispute in an amicable manner. There can of course be only one outcome as the result of the struggle. British interests will remain paramount and the Dutch Republic be practically shattered. The alliance of the Orange Free State with the Transvaal can postpone this issue by but a few weeks. In this matter Great Britain's prestige as the paramount power in South Africa is at stake. And with reference to this, the questions of suzerainty and franchise are only incidents. The Boer policy for some years has been an aggressive one — such as to cause a menace to British interests and a serious danger to Great Britain's position as the paramount power in South Africa. The darling wish lying in every Boer heart is to form a great Dutch Republic which shall comprise the whole of South Africa. In pursuance of this plan, Britain lies in the way, consequently the Uitlander is a foreign element the Boer would like to oust altogether. Their treatment of the Uitlander is only in line with their general policy of aggrandisement; thus the element which pays a large percentage of the taxes is kept down and deprived of political freedom. The Boers seem to forget that they owe their very existence as a people to the British, as it is not so very long ago that the latter stepped in and saved them from extermination at the hands of the natives.

Athletics.

Once more we are in the thick of football.

By means of circulars sent out during the vacation a number of men were got back to practice by the 27th of September to enable us to get into better shape for our first match in the C. I. R. F. U., which takes place on the 14th inst., against Varsity II. In connection with this, the association wishes to extend its hearty thanks to the College for a donation of $15 towards the expenses of the men who returned earlier.

On Friday Oct. 6th, a practice game was arranged with U. C. C. Unfortunately several of our best men were unable to play for various reasons, and the majority of those who did play were comparative green-horns at the game; consequently U. C. C. scored almost at will. The game however was a good hard practice for our men, and a few more like it would soon rid them of their nervousness.

We are glad to say that we will again have the services of Messrs. Parmenter, Griffith and King this year. Though they have not yet practised with the team, we can feel sure they will be a valuable addition.

Mr. Lucas has been elected captain of the XV. in place of Mr. Strathy, who has resigned.

This seems to be a suitable time to say something about subscriptions to the Athletic Association. The men seem to have an idea that they can have any amount of sport without having the usual counter-balancing inconvenience of paying for it. The fee is ridiculously small—$5.00 for all the cricket, football, hockey, tennis, etc., a man can play; yet, in spite of this, some men are so utterly lacking in principal, and interest in the College, that they allow others to pay for their fun. Let us try and make a fresh start this year.

Athletics cannot flourish without money. Men, especially Divinity! Don't your consciences prick when you don't pay your debts?

There is now a deficit in the treasury. By this time next month let there be a handsome surplus.

At a meeting of the Executive of the C. I. R. F. U. at the Rossin House on Oct. 7th, the following schedule was drawn up for 1899:—

SENIOR SERIES.

October 14th, Queen's vs. McGill, at McGill.
 October 19th, Queen's vs. 'Varsity, at 'Varsity.
 October 28th, McGill vs. Queen's, at Queen's.
 November 4th, 'Varsity vs. Queen's, at Queen's.
 November 11th, 'Varsity vs. McGill, at McGill.

INTERMEDIATE SERIES.

October 14th, (a) Queen's II. vs. R. M. C. at R. M. C.
 (b) Trinity vs. 'Varsity II. at 'Varsity.
 October 21st, (a) R. M. C. vs. Queen's II. at Queen's.
 (b) 'Varsity II. vs. Trinity, at Trinity.
 October 28th, Winner of (a) vs. winner of (b) at Toronto.
 November 4th, Winner of (a) vs. winner of (b) at Kingston.

On Saturday, October 14th, Trinity played her first match in the intermediate series of the C.I.R.F.U. vs. 'Varsity II. on the 'Varsity grounds. The score ended 28 to 11 in favour of 'Varsity, but the play was by no means so one-sided. During the first half we had it all our own way and scored 11 points to 4.

But in the second half 'Varsity worked a series of mass plays, which owing to their superior weight, were very effective. They scored slowly but surely, and it was not till near the end of the game that we blocked them effectually, and by then they had scored 24 more points. When time was called, the ball was near the 'Varsity twenty-five yard-line. Parmenter at half, and Griffith at quarter did splendid work for Trinity and most of the rest played a good game. Macdonald got his back hurt rather badly a short time before the end and had to go off.

The teams lined up as follows:

TRINITY.		VARSITY II.

King,	Halves	Wallace,	Aylesworth, (Capt.)

The Literary Institute.

A great deal of interest is always shown in the annual meeting of the society; and especially was this the case last March. The elections are on, and men then discover at the last moment they have not attended the required number of meetings to enable them to use their franchise. To attend so many meetings during the year just for the sake of a vote is indeed a very low estimate to put on the value of the Institute. This society offers us advantages which we can get in no other way during our College course. Let us all, then, turn over a new leaf and take a lively interest in every thing which goes on "in Hall" on Friday evening, especially in joining in the discussion after the debate. As on this occasion there is no distinction between Senior and Freshman here is the one grand opportunity for the member of the First Year to use his influence in College.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce that Mr. Muckleston's resignation of the office of President was handed in at our first meeting on October 7th. The loss of his services will be greatly felt on the Council, as he had during his College career filled in a most admirable way the positions of First Year Councillor, Librarian, and Secretary. We wish him every success at Stanford University.

At the first meeting Mr Code, B. A., handed in his resignation as 1st Vice President and was succeeded by Mr. Turley. Mr. Code and the Rev. J. R. H. Warren were nominated to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the President. Mr. Code took the chair and received a dozen nominations for membership, and Mr. Mockridge was instructed to order the piano for the present year. As there was no formal programme the meeting then adjourned. The following new members have been nominated:

Mr. Sait.	Mr. Summerhayes.
Mr. Harris.	Mr. Rogers.
Mr. Armour.	Mr. Denison.
Mr. Kidd.	Mr. Buck.
Mr. Woodcock.	Mr. Burbidge.
Mr. Taylor.	Rev. Mr. Young.

Theological and Missionary.

It is yet too early in the term to say very much under this heading. The men have returned from their summer work, eager to further the interests of our society to the best of their ability.

The following is the list of summer appointments: Mr. Brain at Markham and Stouffville; Mr. Code had charge of Beeton and Tottenham; Mr. Higginson assisted Rev. T. Leech at Bancroft; Mr. H. J. Johnson assisted at Grace church, Brantford; Mr. Macdonald was stationed at Clairville; Mr. Musson at S. Olave's, Swansea; Mr. Richards had charge of the Mission of Killaloe, Diocese of Ottawa, and Mr. Spenser of Port Sydney, Diocese of Algoma.

On Tuesday, October 17th, a general business meeting will be held in Lecture Room, No. 2, at 2.15 p.m. Opportunity will be given to the men to give reports of their summer work. It is hoped that several reports will be given, as one man's experience is sure to be of great value to another.

It is most gratifying to know that our own mission of S. Hilda's, Fairbank, is now completely free from the encumbrance of debt. This happy result has been brought about almost wholly through the untiring efforts of the Rev. G. F. Davidson, M.A. Though many of the Church people have removed from the neighbourhood, yet the prospects of the mission seem now to be very bright indeed. Mr. Hewetson, who is at present in charge of the work there, is doing all that lies in his power to further its interests. On Friday, October 6th, the annual Thanksgiving service was held. Rev. C. A. Seager, of S. Cyprian's, who brought out his choir for the occasion, took the service. The sermon was preached by the Rev. G. F. Davidson.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee, held in the Provost's room on Tuesday, October 10th, a provisional programme was drawn up for the term's meetings. Of these there will be three, in addition to the business meetings of the Society, consisting of one devotional, one instructive, and one public. The subject chosen for the instructive meeting is "Christian Science," to be dealt with by a competent authority. The public meeting will be of the nature of a farewell to Rev. J. G. Waller, on the eve of his departure for Japan. The speakers and dates of the various meetings will be announced later.

Miscellany.

CAPTAIN BROWN.

I'll tell of famous Captain Brown
An interesting tale.
Of course, you know he was the great
Discoverer of ale.

'Tis said that Captain Brown (of this I've proofs which I can shew),
When storms were brewing overhead
Was brewing ale below.

The first mate sailed the ship, as Brown
Had little time for sailing,
For he, although not always sick,
Was nearly always ale-ing.

Brown loved a maid of twenty-three,
Her name was Alice Dale;
She would not marry him until
She heard about his ale.

They timed the marriage splendidly,
This charming groom and bride,
At noon, just when the tide was not Too high, the knot was tied.

And so they went on board at once,
And Captain Brown grew pale;
"I love you not," said Mrs. B.,
"I married for your ale."

But this did not delight the heart
Of surly Captain Brown,
Indeed, some people say that he
Was almost seen to frown.

The cruel Captain shewed his crew
Where all his ale was stored;
He made them bring it up on deck
And throw it overboard.

"Oh, cruel, base, hard-hearted wretch!"
Was Mrs. Brown's complaint,
"Is't thus you treat your loving wife?
Look out! I think I'll faint."

"A glass of water she must have,"
Brown shouted to the crew;
Of course, when they had brought her one,
They quickly brought her to!

The captain's disappointment in
His darling wife was such,
He died. Of course, to Mrs. Brown
It did not matter much.

She helped to bear his coffin, and
When people thought it queer:
She said, "I could not drink his ale,
At least I'll hold his bier!"

TRINITY COLLEGE RIFLE COMPANY.

Our readers are probably aware that Her Majesty has graciously sanctioned the granting of a Canada General Service War Medal. This medal will be issued to those who served in the Fenian Raid, 1866-1870, and the Red River Expedition, 1870, under Colonel (now Lord) Wolseley. Not a few of the Trinity College Rifle Company are entitled to this honour; and the following sketch may therefore prove interesting.

In the year 1860, the Imperial Parliament having sanctioned the formation of Volunteer Rifle Corps, the movement was entered into with great enthusiasm, and due credit must be given to the University of Cambridge, as its corps was the first to be enrolled. The movement spread to Canada, and in the early part of 1861, a company was formed at Trinity University, the uniform adopted being the same as that of Cambridge, namely—grey, facings scarlet. A room off the college hall was fitted up and used as an armoury, in which was stored a number of those now obsolete weapons, the old "Brown Bess" with which the company was drilled; and a rifle range for practice was laid out in the ravine behind the college. The company was fortunate in securing as its first captain, Major (now Lieut.-Colonel) Robt. B. Denison, and under his zealous instruction it attained a high state of efficiency. The first inspection of the company was held at the old Crystal Palace on the 8th of February, 1862, the inspecting officer being Colonel Patrick L. MacDougall, the then Adjutant-General of Militia. The company turned out forty strong under command of Major Denison, appearing in uniform for the first time. The other officers present were Salter J. Vankoughnet, lieutenant; David Ford Bogert, ensign, and Dr. James Bovell, surgeon. The company acquitted itself so well as to call forth from the Adjutant-General the very flattering expression that it was "the best volunteer corps he had inspected." Amongst the interested spectators were the Lord Bishop of Toronto (John Strachan); the Provost, Rev. George Whittaker; the Rev. George C. Williams, the chaplain to H.M. forces; several officers of the volunteer corps, and a large number of ladies. His Lordship the Bishop delivered a most stirring address, alluding to his reminiscences of the war of 1812, in which he had borne an active part as chaplain to the forces, and addresses were delivered by others of those present. The following is a list of those who joined the company at its formation: John A. Ardagh, W. P. Atkinson, Fred Armstrong, Chas. Badgley, David Ford Bogert, W. D. Briggs, Jas. H. Ball, Chas. J. Bethune, James Bovell, M. D., J. L. Bradbury, Geo. T. Carruthers, Hugh Cooper, Wm. A. Dixon, John Douglas, Shirley Denison, Wm. G. Denison, Chas. C. Foster, J. W. B. Fraser, G. D. Farmer, T. W. Givens, C. S. Givens, S. Bruce Harman, George F. Harman, Robt. Henderson, A. Handcock, Elmes Henderson, James Henderson, Jr., Thos. H. Ince, C. M. Jones, J. Geo. Jessup, Thos. S. Kennedy, Jno. E. Kennedy, Robert Loring, A. Lindsay, Tullamore Murray, J. S. Macklem, A. Montgomery, George McMartin, M. M. McMartin, J. McLeary, George Nesbitt, Chas. W. Paterson, Alex. L. Shaw, R. Sandars, D. B. Sherwood, L. P. Sherwood, Edward W. Spragge, A. G. L. Trew, Salter J. Vankoughnet.

The company when first formed was an independent organization, but in the latter part of 1862 it was added to the strength of the Q.O.R. Battalion as No. 8 company, though it continued to wear the grey uniform and to be drilled as an independent company. Subsequently it took its place in that battalion for all purposes, when the grey uniform was abandoned and the green uniform of the Q.O.R. assumed.

One of the pleasing events in the early history of the company was the presentation of a handsome bugle by the lady friends of the college.

In March, 1866, the whole militia force was called out, in consequence of the then threatened Fenian invasion from across the border, and Trinity College Company, as one of the companies of the Q.O.R., was under arms until the 24th of May. On the evening of that day, a grand promenade concert was given in the Drill Shed, Simcoe Street, under the leadership of Mr. John Carter, and at which Mrs. John Beverley Robinson, who always so kindly gave her services for every good object, took part. From this date and up to the 31st of May the threatened invasion appeared to have blown over and drill ceased. The company had turned out to a man, and it was now hoped that, as the trouble was supposed to be over, the men would be able to resume their work which had been so sadly broken into; but, on the 31st of May, the battalion was again ordered under arms, and directed to embark for Port Colborne, as a report had reached the Government that the Fenians were crossing from Buffalo with the view of seizing the Welland Canal.

On the 1st of June the Q.O.R. left by steamer City of Toronto, and on arriving at Port Colborne were billeted for the night. Early on the morning of the 2nd of June the battalion left by train for Fort Erie, but were disembarked about a mile from Ridgeway, as the commanding officer was advised that the Fenians were in the vicinity, and shortly afterwards they were discovered and engaged.

Trinity Company was actively employed during the engagement in skirmishing order on the extreme left, and were not relieved during the whole fight.

Major (now Colonel) Geo. T. Denison, in his account of the battle says, "The whole of the skirmishers pressed forward with the greatest gallantry, driving in the enemy's skirmishers on the first line and dislodging them from the strong position they had taken up behind a rail barricade."

Ensign George A. Whitney was transferred before the beginning of the action to the command of the Toronto University Company (No. 9), neither of the two officers of that company being present, having been detained in Toronto in consequence of their academic duties. Ensign Whitney behaved with the greatest gallantry and handled the company with very great ability.

The following day the battalion proceeded to Fort Erie, where it remained for a couple of days and was then transferred to Stratford, where the ranks of the company were augmented by numbers of Toronto men whose martial spirit was aroused by the news of the engagement. No further trouble being apprehended, the battalion on the 18th of June returned to Toronto and were met at the Drill Shed by Major-General Napier, C.B., who publicly thanked the officers and men for their services and relieved them from further duty.

The Roll Call at Stratford consisted of the following:

(a) Appointed 30th November, 1866.
(b) Capt. Harman served in the Red River Expedition, 1870. Lieut. George A. McKenzie commanded the company during his absence.

The company continued on the active strength of the battalion, attending all drills and camps up to the year 1876, when it having been for some time thought that the necessary attention to military duties unduly interfered with college work it was determined to withdraw. Accordingly the company, as Trinity College Company, was disbanded and the ranks filled up from outsiders.

EVENSONG.

In this heather-girt retreat,
Hither led by Fancy's feet,
Where the echoes, far and faint,
Lisp the lonely plover's plaint,
Forms and faces pass me by,
Born of some strange phantasy.
Distant voices seem to sing
Of some sweet imagining—
Now of mirth, and now of pain,
Swelling now, now hushed again.
Rolling rivers, rippling streams,
Pass in ever-sliding dreams;
Mother Earth enfolds to rest
All her creatures at her breast,
And, with myriad jewels set
Round her cloudy coronet,
Moving through the chastening light
Of her wistful satellite,
Shrouds in slumber marsh and mere
O'er a dusky hemisphere,
And in cadence, lone and long,
Chaunts her weary Evensong.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, CALIFORNIA.

The following interesting description of Stanford University, California, has been received from Mr. Muckleston, '99 :—

"The university buildings are placed in the middle of a large estate, which ten years ago was altogether in the country; it is so still, but a small town has been built up gradually on the edge of the estate called 'Polo Alto.'

"The university buildings are planned to form a double quadrangle of buildings, one completely inside the other. The inner of these two is all built now, and part of the outer; the inner buildings are one-storied, copied from the old Spanish style of architecture; the outer buildings are to be two-storied with a high arch in the middle of one side. The inner quadrangle has an asphalted court inside it with eight huge flower-beds filled with many sub-tropical plants. Close by these buildings are a number of small and large houses mostly occupied by members of the faculty—some of the fraternities have chapter-houses here. There are two large sand-stone buildings used as dormitories or residences for the men and women of the university. Those who do not live on the campus find boarding houses in any number in 'Polo Alto.'

"We are thirty-three miles south of San Francisco, with trains passing up and down at short intervals all day long.

"The university and other buildings occupy only a small part of the estate. There is a vineyard of some size, a famous stock-farm, a large fruit-orchard, and quite a large 'arboretum,' where trees have been planted of all kinds, some native and others imported.

"There are about 1,200 students or perhaps more, so you may imagine that the quadrangle is a pretty busy place between lectures with a large number going from room to room.

"Lectures begin here at 8.15 and go on till 12.15, there being four lectures in the morning; others come in the afternoon from 1.30 to 4.30, a good many of the graduate classes doing their work in those hours.

"Just at present great interest is taken in football, as the annual match with the University of California is played on Thanksgiving Day. That is the match of the year. It is played in San Francisco.

"Football practice is confined to those who are prepared to go in for training, and there is a lot of money spent on coaching and other matters. It is not at all a question of nearly every man in college playing at one time or another; sports are not for the many in American Universities but for the few. In that respect the average man is far better off at Trinity."

THE MIDSUMMER EXAMINATIONS.

The following are the results of the arts examinations held in June :—

PRIZES AND SCHOLARSHIPS.

Third Year—Jubilee scholarship, H. S. Muckleston; Prince of Wales' prize for classics, H. S. Muckleston; Governor-General's medal for science, J. M. Baldwin; prize for honours in theology, L. W. Broughall; prize for honours in philosophy, Miss E. M. Powley; prize for honours in modern languages, H. C. Griffith; prize for honours in history, N. Sommerville.

Second Year—Wellington scholarship in Classics, G. B. Strathy; Wellington scholarship in mathematics, A. S. B. Lucas; Dickson scholarship in moderns, Miss B. Bovell; Burnside scholarship in English, Miss B. Bovell; Pettit scholarship in divinity, L. A. Trotter; scholarship in philosophy, G. B. Gordon.

First Year—Wellington scholarship in classics, F. J. Sawers; Bishop Strachan scholarship in classics, F. H. Hincks; Dickson scholarship in moderns, W. H. M. Mockridge; Dickson scholarship in science, G. H. Tomlinson; Burnside scholarship in history, F. W. Rolph; Burnside scholarship in English, Miss M. Nevitt.

College Chronicle.

The news of the marriage of the Rev. E. W. Huntingford came as somewhat of a surprise to the whole College, no intimation of the nearness of this happy event having been received beforehand. THE REVIEW, we feel sure, is but echoing the wish of every man here, when it assures Mr. and Mrs. Huntingford of its sincerest and best wishes on this occasion. Mingled with gladness for Mr. Huntingford's happiness, there is of necessity a feeling of sorrow that this change of circumstances should necessitate the removal from the College Residence of one of Trinity's most popular Dons.

The marriage took place at Barnwell, Oundle, Northamptonshire, on August 29th last; the ceremony being performed by the Rector, Mr. Huntingford's father.

The Freshmen seem to make up in quality what they lack in numbers.

That mysterious thing—College spirit—seems to be among us this year in great force. In all departments of College work and amusements, things are booming.

THE REVIEW welcomes to the College Mr. T. Scarlett, who has entered his Second Year Arts and First Year Divinity. Mr. Scarlett has been engaged for some time in mission work in the diocese of Algoma. It is also our pleasant duty to welcome Mr. Burbidge from 'Varsity', who also has entered the class of '01.

The presentation of "A Midsummer's Night Dream" bids fair to be a truly splendid one. Let every man in College turn out and help the rest of the students of Toronto to make the evening an unqualified success. Mr. George Hastings is our representative on the caste, and both he and the leading lady will wear our colours.

Mr. D. T. Owen has been appointed Trinity's representative on the Hallowe'en committee, and tickets can be secured from him.

THE REVIEW welcomes the Rev. Mr. Young to Trinity. Mr. Young is a '96 graduate in theology from the Nashotah Theological Seminary, Wisconsin, and has come here intending to take an Arts course. It speaks well for the reputation of Trinity University in the United States that Mr. Young should have chosen this college, wherein to take his degree. We understand that, besides his college work, Mr. Young is assisting at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene.

On the 20th of September last, Mr. William Kenney was united in marriage to Miss Laing, at the residence of the bride, Brantford, the Rev. T. A. Wright officiating. THE REVIEW congratulates Mr. Kenney on this happy event, and sincerely wishes both for himself and Mrs. Kenney every happiness and prosperity. Owing to this radical change in his circumstances, Mr. Kenney, though a Divinity man, has been granted leave to live out of residence.

Congratulations are very much in order in this issue. Just as we go to press another candidate for kind wishes comes to the front. The Rev. G. F. Davidson has announced his intention of shortly leaving the ranks of celibacy, and consequently THE REVIEW joins with his many friends in sincerest congratulations.

Beer suppers have been gradually dropping out of their old time favour at Trinity. It is a sign of decadence in college spirit that we do not like to see. A beer supper used to be one of the jolliest times in a college man's life. Why such a good institution should fall into disuse is one of the marvels of the age, worthy to be placed in the same rank as the seven wonders of the world. No Trinity man could view such a calamity approaching without a feeling of great apprehension. Surely there is some man or men in the College who could give one of these most pleasant functions and earn the gratitude of all Trinity men.

These remarks are called forth by the observance of one of the old-time beer suppers given by the Second Year to the rest of the College, its chief feature, of course, being the introduction of the Freshmen. The supper this year was, on the whole, very good indeed. On an occasion like this a hitch in the arrangements would spoil the fun and mar the sport. Happily no such accident occurred. The Freshmen were marched through College to the tune of "Too much Beer makes the Freshman Drunk." But only one of them drank the beverage loved of gods and men. A most interesting programme was then served up for the evening's entertainment. The Freshmen each gave a song and made a speech, more or less wearisome to the flesh.

Groanings in spirit were many for what was coming next. A variety show filled the bill; there was a tape swallowing race, and a serpent race, both hotly contested. Then a gallant attempt was made to rescue a red pepper from being drowned in a tub of water. Much amusement was created by a fierce battle between "Satan" and the "Woodpecker" with syphons. Cake walks were done, far after the negro dance. One young man, who complained of the heated atmosphere, carelessly sat down in a tub of water. Mr. Strathy gave the freshmen some very good advice on their conduct, which they would do well to remember. Afterwards the meeting broke up with the singing of "Μετ' ἀγάπη." So ended the '01 beer supper. Long may they continue!

Trinity Medical School.

Editor

R. N. KYLES.

The Trinity of Spruce street sends greeting to the Trinity of Queen street west and readily clasps the hand of fellowship and goodwill so graciously extended to her. Some years ago we were in the habit of sending you an account of our doings from week to week in this part of the city; through some inadvertence that has been discontinued; but now, when you have asked us to renew our acquaintance with you, we do so right gladly. We express the hope too that our page in THE REVIEW may in no way be found wanting; but may at each issue prove to be by no means lacking in interest. This we trust and believe is to be but one of the many ways in which Trinity Arts and Trinity Meds will be more closely drawn together. We designate ourselves by the same colors—the time-honoured "rouge et noir." It is for us then to show to the rest of the world that we are one not only in colors but in our sympathies and fellow feeling.

The two weeks that have just closed have been stirring ones around these classic halls. Convocation on the third of the month was a most successful event. Professor Clark on that occasion, as on every occasion, proved himself a most entertaining speaker. He spoke as a man of experience, as one who has been through the mill, and sought to give those younger in years the benefit of his experience. There was nothing of the fanatic in what he said, nothing narrow or bigoted. He took a broad view of life, laid no hard and fast rules, but stood forth boldly for making every man a man in the deepest and fullest sense of that term. Those who listened to his kindly words and heard the earnest tones of his voice will not soon forget the helpful advice he gave, and will surely be the better for it.

Gradually the old boys are falling into line again and college is in full swing once more. The classes are larger than ever and a very prosperous year is looked forward to. From all parts of the country there come the class upon whom all eyes are centred—the freshmen. Already they number over sixty and still they come, not from Canada only nor the United States but even from South America and the islands of the sea. Jamaica sends us many lusty sons, whose quality as students is just as good as that of her far-famed ginger. The report of Trinity's excellence as an institution of learning has gone abroad through all the earth. The men who have been here carry back such a goodly account of her professors and students, that those who hear decide that Trinity "can't be beat" anywhere on this hemisphere. We welcome these gentlemen to our school, and feel that we can always look them in the face, for they will not be disappointed in their expectations; but will go away, after four years spent in her class rooms, more and more convinced of the truth of the stories they heard of her; and will exclaim with those of old time, "Not the half has been told."

On Tuesday of last week the annual reception to, and initiation of, freshmen took place. A very enjoyable time was spent. We can safely say that those good fellows never received such a warm and whole-hearted welcome anywhere. The primary men spared no time, trouble or expense to make it a grand success. Representatives from every college in the city were present and needless to say enjoyed the proceedings to the full. One hour and ten minutes after the doors were thrown open to the guests of the afternoon, the last freshman had crossed the bar, feet foremost, clothed rather with honours from the fight than with wearing apparel. Each one of them had therefore entered upon his studies in T.M.C., as every man there must. This mode of initiation is but emblematic of what is expected of each student here, when he enters real life—that he shall reach the topmost rung of the ladder in his profession; and the part played by the primary men indicates that every Trinity man is anxious for the welfare of his fellow, and will give him a helping hand along life's rough pathway. We believe in giving every man a chance and do not, like some other brave fellows we have heard of, first take all the starch out of the freshmen by turning the hose on them, and then take advantage of their delapidated condition.

Our base ball team is getting in a lot of practice. We expect to meet and defeat our old enemies in this branch some day this week

Nominations for the Literary and Medical Societies' Committees are down for Monday. Elections are a week later.

S. Hilda's Notes.

Under the distinguished patronage of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, the Premier of Ontario, the Minister of Education, and the Corporation of Trinity University, Gilbert Parker will give an evening of readings from his unpublished book and other selections from his works of fiction, in Association Hall, Monday, Oct. 23rd, 1899, at 8.30 p.m. Admission, 25c.; reserved seats 50c. Plan will open at Tyrell's book store on Monday, the 16th, at 9 a.m.

An impression has been created that Mr. Parker is on a lecturing tour, but this is quite a mistake, the distinguished author having only at urgent solicitations from friends associated with Trinity University, his alma mater, consented to give an evening of readings for S. Hilda's College. He persistently refuses all other invitations.

T. C. S. News.

Far more interest than usual is attached to our return this term. What were we to expect from the new order of things? A stranger would greet us on our arrival, in place of our famous founder, who had in some cases welcomed our fathers before us. Impossible for any one, however distinguished and capable, quite to fill the gap left by the departure of Dr. Bethune.

This was the great change, compared with which all others seemed almost insignificant. Yet others there were which created some feelings of curiosity. Who would succeed Mr. Watson and Mr. Heaven, and on whom would Miss Brown's mantle fall? What old colours would be available for the football team, and how would the new men play? And so on and so on.

Now, our surmisings are at rest. The new head master brushed aside the proverbially cold reserve of the newly arrived Englishman, and by the cordiality of his reception made us feel at home with him at once.

Mr. Shaw, of Trinity, has been appointed to fill one vacancy on the staff; the other will, we believe, be filled very shortly. Mrs. Sey is doing double duty as matron and housekeeper, and her love of method and the fitness of things is as evident in her new character as is her kindly mothering in her old one.

The entry this year is nearly thirty. Perhaps no more gratifying welcome could have greeted the new head master than this.

Five of last year's fifteen are still with us. The Big Side is being ably coached by Mr. Coombs, while the juniors are as enthusiastic as ever under the direction and advice of Mr. Nightingale. The old war-horse, Mr. Broughall, has not yet donned the jersey, so the scrimmage has still a good deal to learn. It will be a sad day when he finally retires from the game. Labatt is captain and has his men well in hand. The U.C.C. match will probably be played here about November 11th, and it is proposed to seize the opportunity to tender a rousing welcome to Mr. Jones from Governors, Old Boys and friends of the School.

The sports are fixed for October 12th, 13th and 14th. Dr. Bethune has very kindly presented a prize, a mark of his affection for the boys whom he has left behind. The chief innovations this year are the change of venue and the relay and obstacle races. We are to make the experiment of holding the sports in the School field. The steeple-chase will be held on October 14th. The committee have prospected a new course along the creek, east of the School. It will be carefully marked out, and will contain some interesting water jumps.

Since the term opened, several Old Boys have paid us visits. Rev. A. B. Chafee, a member of the first cricket eleven in the history of the School, made a short speech to the boys a short time ago. Other welcome guests have been F. G. B. Allan, H. J. Tucker, E. G. Hampson—en route from the McGill and 'Varsity match—Gwyn Francis, L. Lambe and R. V. Harris. The last was presented with the Governor-General's Medal by the head master, and heartily congratulated on his Wellington Scholarship.

* * *

Prominent among those whose faces are missed this term are G. R. Hindes, twice Bronze Medallist and dearly loved by all; S. R. Saunders, Athletic Champion; G. H. Cassels, who has entered R.M.C. so creditably; R. V. Harris and A. D. Armour, who seek fresh honours at Trinity; Lynn Plummer, this year's Bronze Medallist; W. L. Reid, Gordon Ramsay and Stuart Darling.

The Prefects this year are: F. T. Lucas, K. A. Ramsay, M. V. Plummer, P. W. Plummer, L. M. Rathbun and J. W. G. Greey.

Personal.

We are glad to hear that Fred. Martin, '96, is recovering from his recent illness and that he will be back in College shortly.

W. F. C. Shaw, '97, is to be congratulated on his recent appointment as assistant master at Trinity College School, Port Hope.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. Gordon Osler, '95, has become a member of the firm of Osler & Hammond, real estate agents, of Toronto.

The Diocese of Ontario has lost one of our graduates from the roll of its clergy in the person of Rev. H. J. Spencer, who has gone to the Diocese of Marquette, Michigan.

The Revs. D. A. Madill and S. A. Lawrence, who have been considerably under the weather of late, are recuperating in Muskoka. We sincerely hope they will soon be able to return to work.

THE REVIEW congratulates Rev. A. U. de Pencier M.A., on his appointment to the Rectory of Uxbridge, Diocese of Toronto. Mr. de Pencier's work at St. Alban's Cathedral is to be carried on by Rev. B. C. H. Andrews.

The Rev. H. McCausland is now curate of St. Stephen's church, Toronto, the Rev. C. H. Capp having removed to Sault Ste. Marie, Diocese of Algoma. THE REVIEW congratulates Mr. McCausland on his appointment and wishes him every success.

The Rev. C. P. Sparling, M.A., is to be congratulated on his progressive parish work at Lowville, Diocese of Niagara. Mr. Sparling has just completed the building of a basement to his church, so arranged as to form a nice Sunday school room and chapel.

THE REVIEW wishes to extend its deep sympathy to Rev. C. H. Shortt in the bereavement he has recently sustained in the death of his mother; also to the Rev. J. G. Waller whose wife is just recovering from a dangerous illness. Mr. Waller hopes to return within a month to his work in Japan. May abundant success attend him in his missionary labours.

In the Diocese of Ottawa the following appointments of Trinity graduates have recently been made:—Rev. Canon Low, D.D., to the Rectory of Billings Bridge, Ottawa; Rev. G. Bousfield, M.A., to Pembroke, whose former Rector, Rev. W. A. Read, has been removed to Almonte; Rev. C. E. S. Radcliffe, B.C.L., has been stationed at Maberley, and C. A. Heaven, M.A., '96, who is to be ordained shortly, is in charge of the Missions of Balderson and Lanark.

Toronto people are to have the privilege of hearing Mr. Gilbert Parker again very soon. On Monday, Oct. 23rd, he is to give "an evening of readings" from his own unpublished works in Association Hall, Yonge Street. Trinity men and many others will welcome this opportunity of hearing our gifted alumnus. The proceeds of the lecture will be devoted to the interests of St. Hilda's College. The degree of D.C.L., Honoris Causa, is to be conferred on Mr. Parker at the October convocation.

THE REVIEW has to record several marriages which took place during the summer, in which Trinity graduates were the interested participants. In June, Rev. W. A. Howard, M.A., '96, was married, in Millbrook, to Miss Annie Miller of that place. In July, Rev. J. G. Browne, B.A., '95, who has become junior curate of Winlaton, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony with Miss Ada Wilkinson of Upper Norwood. Other marriages that took place were those of Rev. W. G. Swague, of Selby, Diocese of Ontario, and of Rev. W. A. E. Butler, M.A., of South Mountain, Diocese of Ottawa. THE REVIEW extends hearty congratulations.

THE REVIEW takes this opportunity of wishing our recent graduates every happiness and success in their new fields of labour. We shall not soon forget how much these gentlemen contributed to the success of the different departments of college life during their residence here. Of these, Mr. H. C. Griffith has become an assistant master at Bishop Ridley College, St. Catharines. Mr. H. S. Muckleston has gone to Stanford University, California, where he is to take a post-graduate course and act as an instructor in classics. Messrs. R. H. Parmenter, N. Somerville and G. W. Hastings have entered Osgoode Hall as law students; and Trinity Medical School has opened her doors to Messrs. J. M. Baldwin, A. W. Canfield and C. E. Duggan. L. R. Halnan has gone to Hamilton to qualify himself for academical life, at the Normal College.

THE KING'S MIRROR.

The King's Mirror will assuredly be a sore trial to many of Anthony Hope's admirers. Rich in ideas, brilliant exceedingly in dialogue, it is yet faultily constructed and is at times even lacking in interest. In spite of these failings, from the first of which all Anthony Hope's stories suffer, the book undoubtedly contains some of his finest work. We have said that it is lacking in interest, but this is perhaps due to the fact that we have come to associate its author more especially with the writing of romance, an art in which he has no living equal in England, and that we regret the dispersal of his powers in other lines; for The King's Mirror is most emphatically not a romance. The sadness of a life's failure and a certain cynicism of age and despair pervade the book. It is the tale of a young man told by an old one, whose eyes, never more than half shut, are wide open now to the world and its vanities, and in whose grasp its sweetest fruit has turned to bitter ashes; it is the story of a man infinitely weary, whose weariness the reader is at times compelled to share.

The story is simply that of a king's life as seen from the inside, the teller being the king himself. The psychological interest of the book consists in the fact that the character of the king is twofold. He is in truth not one but two personalities, the king and the man; and the two find life together a thing grievous and hard to be borne. The keynote of the book is struck in the first chapter, where the boy-king is crowned and the king-boy flogged for disobedience on the evening after his coronation. Then follows the period of education at the hands of his "two makers," two finely contrasted characters, Cyril Owen—the Bayard of chivalrous devotion to humanity—and Hammerfeldt, the Bismarck of the vaguely German state in which the scenes of the drama are laid. In fact there is much excellent character drawing, Wetter and Varvilliers being, after the king himself, the most conspicuous examples. The constant conflict between the king and the man continues, and the first act ends with the victory of the former over the latter in the renunciation of his passion for the Countess Von Sempach. This is followed by a period in which "pleasure protests" and the human side of the king's character is for a short time to the fore. Finally the complete absorption of the man in the king is reached with the family compact (we can hardly call it marriage) with his cousin Elsa. One attempt he makes indeed to combine the characters of husband and lover, but it is in vain. Love is not to be thought of between them, they must content themselves with a matrimonial alliance. So the man dies, only "Pharaoh lives on."

"Magic shadow shapes" on the background of eternity, "helpless pieces of the game" upon the board of life, what have we to do with emotions and passions? Among the crowd perhaps here and there one may be happy but for the king there only remains the counsel of Marcus Aurelius: "Willingly give thyself up to Clotho, allowing her to spin thy thread into whatever things she pleases." The illusions of life are gone for ever, and life without illusions is empty indeed! "If there was no God," said Napoleon, "we should have to invent one." If love and self-sacrifice were not, we should have to persuade ourselves somehow of their existence or life would be unendurable. Unhappy are they who have no blessed illusions, who can never find their bliss in ignorance!

What remains? To learn the "art of falling soft." With laughter many evils become endurable. "As flies to wanton boys are we to the gods," and the human fly has the advantage of smiling at the vision of its own absurdity when the wings of illusion have been snatched away. Angels may weep, but the cynic can laugh; and the spindle of Clotho whirls relentlessly on. Such is the king's philosophy.

But after all—here let us quote the king's remark to Struboff, the unhappy pianist,—"What are all these fine spun miseries with which we afflict ourselves? To be empty, to be thirsty, to be cold—these are evils. Was ever any man, well fed, well drunk, and well warmed, really miserable? Reflect before you answer, Struboff."

He drained a glass of champagne, and, I suppose, reflected. "If he had his piano also"—he began. "Great Heavens!" I interrupted with a laugh." Tis.

The report to be presented by the Executive Committee is an interesting one, and other matters of importance will come before the Meeting, notably, (1) How best to commemorate the Jubilee of the University in 1902, and (2) How to increase the number of resident students.

The following members of the Executive Committee retire by rotation this year and it will be the duty of Convocation to fill their places:—

Prof. Montgomery, M.A.; C. S. MacInnes, M.A.; Rev. A. U. DePencier, M.A.; Rev. W. H. White, M.A.; C. A. Heaven, M.A.; G. I. Smith, M.A.

Excellent arrangements are being made for the dinner, which, it is hoped, will be largely attended both by old graduates and by the men in College. Cards of admission, $2 each ($1.50 for present students of Trinity), can be had from the Rev. G. F. Davidson, who is temporarily acting as Clerk, pending the election of a successor to Mr. Bedford-Jones. It is expected that among other guests at the dinner will be Mr. Gilbert Parker, who will also be one of the recipients of the degree of D.C.L. Honoris Causa at the Convocation the day before.
