NEVERSINK LODGE.

I promised you some weeks ago to write a letter about Neversink Lodge Kennels, Orange County, N. Y., and their inmates. As I have been staying there for some weeks I have had an opportunity to become well acquainted with all the dogs. First, however, a few words about the Neversink Farm. The farm comprises about 450 acres, of which about 200 are under cultivation. The house is on the top of a small hill, and commands a beautiful view, but that may be said of almost any spot for some miles around, for the scenery in every direction is simply too lovely. The farm lies in a valley between two ranges of mountains, and a few miles from the house the valley takes a turn to the left. Just at this turn high up on the mountain side, and thus commanding a view in both directions, is the house of O. Ylock, Esq., brother-in-law of the genial proprietor of Neversink Lodge. Mr. P's house is about a mile or so from Mr. Godeffroy's, there is a good road between the houses, and also a telephone. There are good covers in every direction along the edges of the fields, and in some places spreading over a large extent of ground. On both sides of the stream the cover is very dense, and there are plenty of Woodcock to be found there, in fact a great many of Mr. G's friends say that it is one of the best woodcock covers in America. Partridge too, are plentiful, and quail; the dear little bob-whites are whistling in every direction, rabbits fairly swarm, while deer and bear are to be found within twenty miles, but these of course are off Neversink Farm, so they don't count. The stream is stocked with trout of good size and fair numbers. Otters and foxes, wild cats, and other vermin are killed in great numbers, and a few ducks come in to the ponds in the streams. What a sportsman's paradise this is! and when you add to all that, a range of the same kind of country all around, the nicest of quarters, and the kindest and most hospitable of hosts, you can form a slight idea of Neversink Lodge. Mr. G. has plenty of enterprise, he has stocked his fields with quail, his stream with trout, has employed one of the best dog-breakers in England, and last, but not least, has lately imported a lot of pheasant eggs from England, which he set under domestic hens, and last Sunday there were some dozen or so of chicks out and more expected. Thurtle, the breaker, alluded to above, has had lots of experience in raising pheasants in England, and he thinks that the cover is splendidly adapted for them, and that they ought to be a decided success. Now for the kennels:

The buildings are very well adapted for their purpose. As you enter the door you walk down a passage with stalls on either side. These stalls each have a yard attached, and at the end of the building is a room in which the cooking is done in winter and dogs are washed, physicked, etc. In summer the cooking is done in an outhouse some distance from the kennels. The exercising yard is large and convenient, and the kennels are kept scrupulously clean, and by the free use of disinfectants there is not the slightest smell perceptible. First in size and importance is the rough coated St. Bernard, Marco, imported from Prince Bolms' Kennels. Marco is a grand dog in coat, form, color, &c., and is a very jolly companion when his master is along. He does not make friends readily, but I succeeded in charming him, and we have been the greatest of chums ever since. I will not try to enumerate the various dogs' performances, as it would take too much space. Suffice it to say that they have nearly all taken prizes in England, Germany, and America. Next to Marco comes his mate Braunfels, from the same kennel, a noble bitch, with a head such as is seldom seen except in pictures. Kindness and intelligence fairly beam from her eyes, and she is a universal favorite. Her only fault is that her coat is hardly rough enough, but she is my beau-ideal of a large dog, so strong and symmetrical, with such a sweet temper.

Next comes Cheadle, bred by L. Z. Collins, and presented to Madame Godeffroy by Rev. J. C. Macdona. Cheadle is a young dog, but gives promise of turning out very handsome. He is now 18 months old, and it is considered a shame that he was unnoticed at the N. Y. show.

Croxteth is his next neighbor, liver and white pointer dog, imported from Sir B. Garth's Kennels. Croc, as he is called, is a large and strong dog, uniting beauty with great working powers. Thurtle has him in perfect control, and I believe he is going to run in the field trials this fall. The great trouble with him is that he has an ulcerated tooth, which is so painful that sometimes he will not eat for days, and thus it is impossible to get him into good show condition. To this, no doubt, he owed his defeat last month, as for a week before the show, they had to force meat down his throat. Croxteth is a dog of great merit, and will surely add to the renown of the kennels.

Champion Queen is next, a good useful bitch, liver and white. She is now in whelp to Croxteth, and has thrown some extra fine pups by Champion Sensation. She has taken quite a number of prizes as her "champion" implies. There are some very fine pointer puppies also. One by Sensation — Queen, and a couple of youngsters by Croxteth, — Queen.

Ranger II (English setter) a son of Macdona's celebrated Ranger, is a dog that deserves notice. In the field he is not worth much, as he is pretty old now, but as a stud dog he is unsurpassed. He is lemon and white, with the long, low "Ranger" build, and is very fast, while his progeny are still faster. Among these are Nelly II (Ranger II — Nellie) owned by Mr. J. Grainger, a very pretty little bitch, and a rare worker. She is entered for the trials this fall, and her owner is quite confident of her success. Daisy (Ranger II — Nellie II) a ten-month puppy, is a perfect little wonder. Thurtle has trained her in the most perfect style, she is a lightning goer, and works like an old stager. She is entered for the Derby. Decimal Dash and Silk are a beautiful pair of black and whites, both imported. I do not know about their field qualities as I have never seen them at work, but for looks they are hard to beat, they both receiving awards at the late show. Belle, lemon and white, a Ranger II bitch, is very pretty. She has not been broken, and has now a fine litter of four pups by Decimal Dash.

Rover II (Irish) is a fine large dog, sired by Macdona's celebrated Rover. He has got some very fine pups, out of the next one we came to, Moya, a very handsome imported bitch, a fair worker, and a grand brood bitch. Moya has a few youngsters, four or five months old, and is now in whelp to Rover II. Biddy, (Irish) is, in my mind, the handsomest Irish setter of the lot. She has a good deal of white on her breast and toes, but is a strong, well built, setter-like bitch. Some extra fine pups are expected from her by Rover II. She is a late purchase and has not been bred yet.

We now come to the pride of the kennel, in my humble opinion, namely, champion "Beauty," imported black and tan setter bitch. Her name is not half expressive enough, I think. A coat like satin, bright tan markings, a beautiful head and ears, tail well carried, legs and feet perfect, and eyes that seem to speak — that's Beauty! She is as good as she is beautiful, and is the stand-by of the kennel for work. She has now a litter of five puppies, by A. H. Moore's "Bob." Another little lady that thinks herself mistress of the whole concern, is the liver and white cocker bitch "Flirt," Madame G's special property, and the only one that has the run of the house. She swaggers about the house with her nose in the air, and the only thing that can disturb her dignified composure is to mention the word ball! Then she goes into a perfect fit, and nothing will calm her but to get her ball and let her fetch it till she is tired. She has three very pretty pups by McKoon's "Captain," one of which "Pillicoddy" (called after a character in a farce lately rendered at Neversink Lodge) is a faithful little copy of Flirt including the cheek. Flirt's great chum is a little fox terrier, Lady Gay Spauker, the property of Mr. Grainger. Gay is about perfect as a fox terrier. She is 15 months old, and as soon as she is a little older, and more filled out, she is going to England to be shewn there. A very pretty collie pup, Lassie, completes the list, besides which, there are of course, numbers of pups unnamed, and with no record. These it would be impossible to describe, and I think I have gone through the kennels pretty well. I find that I have in some cases described the dogs personal qualities more than their points, but when one gets to know dogs as well as I know these, it is difficult to remember their points, and to pass over the qualities which take the deepest hold on ones memory. Beauty in a dog is something like beauty in a friend; all very well for first impressions, but of very little account when you come to know them. Should you consider it worth while

I will as occasion permits give particulars respecting the kennels about New York, as I have opportunity to visit them.

SHOULD MASTIFFS BE UNDERSHOT.

There seems to be considerable diversity of opinion as to whether mastiffs should be undershot or not, and on many occasions have we seen undershot dogs turned out of the judging ring on that ground alone. After reading the following letters by such recognized authorities as Messrs. Wynn and Hanbury, which have appeared in the Live Stock Journal; we think undershot dogs will not suffer disqualification for that alone:

SIR.—In answer to C. H.'s inquiry, I unhesitatingly reply that the Mastiff should be undershot, which may at once be seen from the following:—1. All dogs used for baiting purposes should be undershot, as it enables them to get a better hold, and also to hold on longer, as they can breathe more freely. 2. Formerly the Mastiff was used for bear-baiting as well as for watch purposes. 3. Formerly the Mastiff was usually undershot, of which there is abundant proof. Cuvier and other naturalists class the Mastiff amongst the undershot breeds.

However, of late years the public and a few of our modern judges, losing sight of the original uses of the Mastiff, have gone in for the "big yellow dog" stamp, a fine animal to look at, but like many of the vast dray horses, only fit for show.

The undershot jaw is now more difficult to obtain than the overshot. As a judge, I prefer the jaw to be slightly undershot, but not sufficiently so to interfere with the truncated (i. e., cut off) appearance of the muzzle.

M. B. WYNN,

Hon. Sec. of the Mastiff Club.

P. S.—I think all who act at times as judges of Mastiffs, who happen to see C. H.'s query, should openly express their views, in order that the public may suit themselves whom they will exhibit under.

SIR.—In reply to C. H.'s question about the formation of the lower jaw in Mastiffs, allow me to state that, having bred such dogs for nearly thirty years, more have had projecting than level mouths; indeed, where you get the latter the muzzle is invariably pointed, which all admit to be an evident objection.

Knowing that nearly all the best Mastiffs have now the underhung jaw, I think that this point ought to count for good in a judge's opinion, provided there is nothing so positive as will offend the eye. For instance, I maintain that the shape of Beau's lower lip causes the supposed mistake, rather than the so-called misshapen jaw, and consequently so grand a dog ought not to be disqualified on that score. As to any strict standard of correctness, and in the absence of any definite law, I believe either should be considered right; of the two, a moderate undershot jaw, in my opinion, is preferable to a level mouth. You might as well revive the old prejudice, and destroy all brindles, as eliminate from a litter of whelps any which have come into the world with underhung jaws.

KENNEL NOTES.

VISITS.

At Delaware City, Del., Mr. R. M. Brown, Jr.'s Frost II. to Mr. J. O. Higgins' Dashing Monarch.

At Flushing, L. I., Mr. H. W. Livingston's English setter Delta to his Ray. Mr. Livingston has removed his kennels to Centerport, L. I.

July—, at London, Ont., C. S. Elliott's Gordon Setter Rose, to Dr. Niven's Blossom.

BIRTHS.

July 7, at London, Ont., Dr. Niven's Moll whelped 10 pups by his Blossom, all good colored.

PURCHASES.

Mr. A. H. Moore, of Philadelphia, Pa., has received the Gordon setter bitch Stella from England.

Mr. D. O. Sanbow, of Baltimore, has received from Mr. Lewellin's kennels the black, white and tan ticked setter dog Count Noble, by Count Wind'em out of Nora. Count Noble is entered in the National American Kennel Club Derby.

Mr. Geo. D. Macdougall has changed the name of his cocker bitch Flirt to Flirt II.

SWINE WORRIED BY DOGS.—Of a flock of over thirty sheep, belonging to Mr. A. Seabrook, of Delaware, eighteen were worried by dogs on the night of the 30th ult., the greater number being killed or have since died. As this is the third time in as many years that he has been similarly visited by vagrant dogs, he thinks it is time the dog question was agitated in rural municipalities, so that either by an increased tax or by voting them vermin the nuisance of so many worthless curs may be abated.

CAMPING OUT.

Some time ago the following seasonable hints appeared in the Turf, Field and Farm. They are worth reproducing in our columns for the benefit of those who will spend some portion of the next few months in their camping out holiday.

One Dutch oven or baking pot, a cast iron vessel ten or twelve inches in diameter by four inches deep, furnished with three legs three or four inches long, and cast over, with rim slightly projecting.

Two iron pots, the largest of four gallons' capacity, and another small enough to set within it.

One large frying pan, with long handle; one broiling fork, 7x10 inches. This broiling fork requires some explanation, as it is a last year's invention of our own, and the most useful article at the camp fire. It broils meat, bird or fish to a perfection not attained in any kitchen. To make a bull, it is Neptune's "trident" with six times, sans barbs. The base piece is six inches long, one-half inch wide by 3-16 thick. Projecting from this base are six tines of 3-16 iron, the two middle ones being seven inches long, the two end ones six inches long. These tines are made sharp as possible. From the opposite side of the base projects the handle, ten or twelve inches long, finished at the end with a socket to carry a wooden handle, which can be cut of any length and in a moment anywhere.

To broil upon this take a steak—venison, bear, beef or buffalo—and gather it upon the tines so as to let it hang in shallow festoons between. Salt and pepper both sides and place thin strips of pork in the festoons. Hold it over the coals horizontally till the juice rises in the hollows. Have a warm pan ready, move the steak carefully to it and turn it bottom up, emptying the juice and pork into the pan. Then press the meat with spoon or fork, replace the pork on the reverse side and hold again over the coals. Repeat till the steak is done to your taste. Oysters can be nicely broiled upon it by rolling them in cracker crumbs or Indian meal, properly seasoned with pepper and salt, and impaling them between heart and belly on the tines, leaving space enough between to let the hot air touch each individual bivalve.

Next comes one cast-iron tea-kettle (capacious) one nest of a half dozen enamel tin pans, 8 long iron spoons, 1 coffee boiler, 1 coffee pot, 1 iron ladle, 1 potato masher, 2 tin water pails, 1 dish pan, 1 new light dog chain and hook, knives, forks, spoons, tin plates, cups, dish cloths, towels, soaps, etc.

PROVISIONS AND CONDIMENTS.

Salt pork, wheat flour, corn meal, potatoes, beans, onions, sugar, tea, coffee, salt and pepper, and sifting box for each, baking powder, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, pickles, and a bag of crackers.

For quantity, it is safe to calculate for each man per day: Half pound pork, two pounds flour, one pound meal, one quart potatoes, one pint onions, quarter pound coffee, quarter pound sugar, salt, pepper and baking powder.

RECIPES.

Bread.—Take two quarts flour, six teaspoonful of baking powder, and one teaspoonful salt, and mix well together while dry; then stir in cold water till a dough is formed of the consistency of soft putty, and knead it thoroughly, having the baking pot warm, and rubbed on the inside with pork rind. Make a ball of the dough, roll it in dry flour and place it in the pot. Draw from the fire a few coals and hot ashes, and stand the pot on them; put on the cover and coals and hot ashes on it, and every fifteen minutes change them above and below, but be careful not to get the pot too hot. The pot must stand near the fire and be turned every few minutes so as to heat the whole circumference. In about forty minutes the loaf will be done.

Biscuits.—May be made in the same way by simply making the dough into small rolls instead of one large, and they will bake in fifteen minutes.

Corn Bread.—Take three pints corn meal and one pint of flour, six teaspoonful baking powder, one teaspoonful salt and mix well together dry. Stir in water till it reaches the consistency of good, rich cream. Have your baking pot hot and well greased, and pour the mixture in. Bake the same as bread and always be careful not to bake too fast. Never let the coals touch the bottom of the pot. Twenty or thirty minutes ought to bake the loaf, but you can lift the cover and try with a splinter.

Corn Cakes.—Can be made in the same manner by mixing the composition a very little thinner and baking on the fry-pan with griddle cakes.

Fried Mush.—This is one of the best camp dishes. Put over the fire one and a half gallons of water in a pot to boil. Stir two quarts and a pint of meal in two quarts of cold water, and while the water in the pot is boiling pour the mixture in and stir rapidly while pouring. (Put two table-spoonful of salt in the pot before you pour in meal). Let it boil till quite stiff, and then pour into pans to cool. When cold cut it crosswise into slices one quarter inch thick, and lay flat in the frying pan to cook, with just pork fat enough to prevent its sticking. It needs simply to be browned upon both sides.

Pork.—To fry, cut the slices thin, place them in the fry pan and cover with cold water; put over the fire, and let it come to a boil; then pour off the water and set on the coals to fry.

Pork.—Cut in thin slices, and boiled fast for twenty minutes, is excellent.

Pork.—A slice freshened and toasted on the broiling pork is also excellent.

Pork.—To boil in bulk of six or eight pounds, place in the pot and cover with cold water and put over the fire to boil for three hours. This boiled pork cut in chunks, and laid in vinegar for forty-eight hours, makes good soups, and can be eaten cold or fried. Slices of it fried in vinegar can be relished.

Potatoes.—Wash clean with skins on, and put in pot with cold water, and place over the fire to boil thirty minutes. When done, pour the water entirely off, and set by the fire to dry. Always boil more than enough for the present meal, as the cold ones are excellent to cut up and fry.

Potatoes.—Can be beautifully roasted by scooping a hollow in the hot ashes, placing them in it and covering with hot ashes. Put coals over the heap, but be very careful not to let them crush the potatoes. Forty minutes will cook them.

Onions.—Put in bottom of the fry pan two or three thin slices of pork freshened a little. Peel the onions, cut them thin and place them over the pork. Salt and pepper to taste, pour in a little cold water, set them on the coals and cook slowly for fifteen minutes without stirring. Then put under some fresh coals and stir the mess together while it cooks rapidly for ten minutes.

Fish.—Small fry, trout. Open and wash them, leaving the heads on; roll them in a mixture of one-third flour, two-thirds of meal, with salt and pepper, and lay them in the fry-pan with a little pork fat. Cook slow till one side is nicely browned; then turn carefully with knife and fork and do the other side likewise. Perch and other pan fish can be done the same way after scaling and scouring.

Fish.—To boil. Have a clean towel ready for the purpose, and after salting the fish wrap him closely in it and pin securely, particularly at the ends. Have the water hot in the pot and place him in it carefully; then throw in a good handful of salt and let it boil ten minutes to the pound if a large fish. A fish of one and a half and two pounds should boil twenty minutes. When done, lift and remove the cloth carefully, and serve plain with Worcestershire sauce.

Fish.—To broil. Catch him, clean him, salt and pepper him and impale him openly and securely on the broiling fork. Have a piece of fat pork two or three inches square lying in the vessel by the fire. Hold the inside of the fish over the coals till hot. Then take the pork and rub it gently over the hot surface, and hold again over the coals. Repeat the process till that side is done brown, and treat the other side in the same way. Remember always that fish must imperatively be cooked slowly.

Birds.—To broil. The same as above, only open them on the back, and pound them on the breast with the potato masher. Good for teal, pigeons and ruffed grouse.

Birds.—To bake. Pluck and draw the birds at the vent, and wash them clean. Make a stuffing by chopping fine the bread crust and pieces which have been saved for the purpose with one or two onions and pepper and salt; moisten with water, and crams the birds full. Salt them and place them, back down, in the baking pot, and proceed to bake as directed for bread. Have a little water in the bottom of the pot to begin with, and keep it good by lifting the cover and basting with hot water occasionally. One hour for pigeons and birds of that size, and more time proportionately for larger birds.

Meats.—Of any kind can be cooked in the same manner.

Meat.—To fry. Have your piece of a size to cover the bottom of the fry-pan, and pepper and salt it. Heat the pan almost to redness, rub the bottom with a pork rind and throw the meat quickly on. Let it sear for a few moments till a light crust is formed on the surface. Remove the meat to a warm pan in readiness, heat the fry-pan again and put the meat with the raw side down. When this is seared the juice is hermetically sealed between. Now loosen it from the bottom, rub again with the pork rind and put over coals to finish, rare or done, to the operator's taste.

Birds.—To stew. If the birds are small, like snipe, woodcock, plover, pigeons, or rail, cook them whole. If large, quarter them. Salt and pepper each piece and lay it in the pot, occasionally a cold biscuit or toasted bread and two or three onions, cut small. When the birds are all in, pour in hot water till they are just covered, and put on the fire to boil. Add a teaspoonful of salt. Take two teaspoonfuls of flour and one of meal in a cup, and rub them together with a little pork fat and salt and pepper, and stir boiling water in till about as thick as cream and add a wine-glassful of Worcestershire sauce. When the birds have boiled an hour, pour this mixture in and boil twenty minutes longer. If the birds are young and tender, less time will cook them. If it boils down too fast, replenish with boiling water from the tea kettle, so as to keep at least a pint of liquid in the bottom of the pot at the finish.

Meat can be cut in pieces and stewed in the same way; and cut potatoes.

To Roast turkey, goose or large meat, have a tight new dog chain, with a good swivel, and a hook made of 8-16 inch wire, sharp at the point, and with an eye into which to snap the chain. In front of the fire drive two forked stakes, leaving the crochets three or four feet above the ground, and across these lay a pole. Salt and pepper your meat or bird, and hook it securely to the chain. Then suspend it from the pole, leaving space enough under to place a pan to catch the drippings. In this pan have a pint of hot water. Set the meat whirling slowly, and every few minutes, with the spoon dip water from the pan and pour on it, letting it run down the sides back into the pan. If the meat is not fat pin bits of pork under its surface with little wooden skewers. Keep the drippings in the pan from drying by adding boiling water from the tea kettle, very little at a time, and from these drippings make gravy by stirring a little flour and cold water together and stirring in them a few minutes before dishing. Keep the meat always turning and three hours will do a ten pounder.

Pork and Beans—Put two quarts of beans in a pan, fill the pan with boiling water and let stand over night then pour off the water, put the beans in a pot, season with salt and pepper, fill with cold water, and put over the fire to boil. After they have boiled one hour, throw a two pound piece of pork in with them; and let boil an hour longer. Boil slowly. Now lift the beans from the pot with the ladle and put them in the baking pot, and plant the pork in the middle of them and bake, as directed for bread, thirty or forty minutes. To the residue in the pot add boiling water and boil for soup till the baking is done, and you have most excellent bean porridge. The entire process must be made slowly.

THE YOUNG AMERICAS' TOUR.

On the 2nd inst. the long expected trip of the Young Americas of Philadelphia was begun, the party leaving that city on the date mentioned, and after spending Saturday at Rochester, reached Port Hope on the "Glorious Fourth." The following morning they began their first match against the Port Hope Club, the latter going first to the bat against the bowling of the brothers, Newhall, C. A. and D. S. The first wicket fell ere a run was scored, and five more ducks eggs were speedily earned by retiring players. When Hall joined Hayden a slight stand was made the pair between them contributing 80 runs out of the total of 87. Logan was not out, with 8, and Wadsworth made 1, the remaining 2 being extras. C. A. Newhall captured 7 wickets for 9 runs, a grand performance.

The defence of the Young Americas was not so good as had been expected, the best score being D. S. Newhall 87, who going in first left at 75. Port Hope played well in the field, only three extras being secured for the Young Americas, who were all out for the moderate total of 105. Port Hope then began their second innings, and when stumps were drawn on Monday, had secured 27 runs for 5 wickets.

On Tuesday play was resumed with Hall and Rodgers at the bat, the latter being the "not out" of the previous evening for 8 runs. To this score he added 28 by some sterling cricket, and was tenth man out with the score at 82. When two more runs had been added, Ward was bowled, and the innings closed, leaving the visitors winners by one innings and five runs. A second match was then begun to fill up time, and again did Port Hope do well on the attack, retiring the Young Americas for 93. The following is the full score of each match:

THE TORONTO MATCH.

Wednesday and Thursday were devoted to a "picnic" on the Toronto Club grounds. It does seem strange that in a city such as Toronto a team with greater pretensions than was displayed by that which did duty against the Philadelphians should not be procurable. Their bowling was far below par, and the fielding most moderate. No less than ten of the twelve players tried their hands at the bowling, and the best average was that of Helmecker of 8 wickets for 64 runs. As might be expected in such a case, the defenders run up a big score, R. S. Newhall contributing 120 out of the total of 284. His score included one 4 and seven 8's.

Toronto began play on Thursday, and were all out for 68—221 runs to the bad—so they had to follow on. In the second innings, assisted by 10 extras, the home club reached 79 ere the last wicket fell, and they were thus beaten by one innings and 143 runs. The two Toronto innings totalled exactly half of that made by the Young Americas. Browning and Godfrey deserve mention for their batting, which was good in both innings. Score:

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

THE HAMILTON MATCH.

Leaving Toronto as soon as possible after the Toronto C. C. had been disposed of, the Philadelphia men reached Hamilton the same evening, and on Friday began the third match of the series against Hamilton. The toss was won by Hamilton, whose captain decided to attack. D. and C. Newhall were the first pair at the wickets, the bowling being entrusted to Kennedy and Ferrie. Runs came fast from the very first, D. Newhall doing the most execution. He lost the company of his brother at 22, and then Baird left him at 84. The next comer was R. Newhall, and the score was advanced to 45, when D. Newhall was bowled by Ferrie. Wickets then fell more frequently, and when the seventh was down for 71, luncheon was ready. After lunch Dixon, Bussier and Noble carried the score on to 103, at which stage the innings closed. Hamilton contributed an average of 2 runs each, which, with two extras, made up their total of 24. The score gives all the particulars required respecting the innings. It was necessary for the Young Americans to go in again, and Clark and Dixon began the batting. The former was bowled by Gillespie for 9, and then R. Newhall came in. Dixon was caught for 18, when the score stood at 57, and then play ceased for the day.

In order to get through with the match in good time a start was made on Saturday before 11 o'clock, Noble appearing in company with R. Newhall. The former was caught for 1, and Pease took his place. He remained long enough to earn 5 runs ere Clark, a substitute, held a ball from his bat. A stand was made when Baird came in, and it was not until 107 had been scored that Newhall lifted the ball into Kennedy's hands. The remainder of the wickets fell rapidly, and the side was out for a total of 180, no less than 20 being extras. The home team were now over two hundred runs behind, and their only chance was by sticking at the wickets and making a draw of it. This chance was soon extinguished, however, by the fine bowling of C. and D. Newhall, who, in less than 42 overs, had disposed of the Hamiltonians. Park and Waud were the only ones that got into double figures, the pair contributing nearly half the total score made, the side being all out for 52 which left them 157 runs behind. The match was over in time to permit of the Philadelphians leaving for the Falls at five o'clock.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME.

The Maple Leafs of Guelph defeated the Actives of Woodstock, the latest aspirants for championship honors, by 8 to 8, at Guelph on Monday last.

DIAMOND SPARKS.

The game in Rochester on July 6, between the Maple Leafs and the Hop Bitters nine, resulted in favor of the Hops by a score of 21 to 4.

The Actives and Emeralds, of St. John, played a match on July 8. Score: Actives 28, Emeralds 1.

The Imperials of Carleton defeated the St. John club by 26 to 11, on July 7th, at St. John's, N. B.

In the race for the League pennant a change has taken place, Chicago occupying first place, Providence second, Cleveland third, Boston fourth, Troy fifth, Worcester sixth, Buffalo seventh, and Cincinnati eighth.

Latham, who played short stop for the Brockton Jersey City club, which has disbanded, has been engaged by the Buffaloes.

The Young Tecumsehs, Junior Champions of city of Toronto, are open to receive challenges from any junior club in Canada.

The Maple Leafs of Guelph have played three games and won all by good scores, Chicagoing Harrison Browns, Clipper 19 to 2, and Actives 8 to 8.

What are the Cobourg nine doing? We have not heard from them since 24th May last.

The Flyaways and the Ontarios played a game of ball in Selkirk, the Flyaways taking the Ontarios into camp. Score 18 to 12.

Knight and Jones, formerly of the Torontos, passed through this city last week en route for Montreal.

The Maple Leaf of Guelph, Champions of Canada, played the Hopbitters of Rochester in Rochester on July 5th, and were defeated by a score of 18 to 8.

An interesting game of base ball was played in New Orleans between the Unions and Lone Stars resulting in a victory for the Unions. Score 5 to 1.

Arrangements are being made to bring the Maple Leafs here on the 10th of August, and arrangements are also being to bring Galt club here for 28th inst., when lovers of base-ball will have a chance to see a good game.

Bronthers, Richmond, Hawes and Clapp, formerly of the now disbanded Baltimores, are playing with the Rochesterians.

Driscoll, of the Brocktons, has taken Poorman's place as pitcher of the Buffaloes. Poorman will probably be released.

Knight, right fielder and captain of the Worcester, while playing in a game in Cincinnati, sprained his thigh and afterwards caught cold in it, the result being an abscess, which will probably prevent him from playing for two or three weeks.

The Nationals and Albanys are endeavoring to arrange a series of championship games at Coney Island during the latter part of July or August.

Worcester received over $1,000 as their share (15 per cent. of the receipts) for the three games played in Chicago.

Keefe, pitcher of the Albanys, is suffering from a strained back, which is liable to trouble him the remainder of the season.

On a recent visit to Cincinnati, the Providence club ignored the league contract made with a Cincinnati hotel, they making their headquarters in another hotel. A law suit will probably be the result.

McLellan, short stop of the Nationals, has been playing poorly lately, owing to a sore hand, but the directors thought different and fined him $100. He refused to submit to such treatment, and finding they were too hasty they remitted the fine, and he resumed play.

Devlin will fill Galvin's place as pitcher of the Athletics of San Francisco, owing to Galvin not fulfilling his contract.

In a recent game of ball between Providence and Cleveland, Providence players allege that the Clevelanders cut the ball, so as to get a new one, thinking thereby to hit Bradley easier, as he can do more with a soft ball than a hard one. Cleveland stoutly deny this, and say that their opponents cut the ball.

Wagner, formerly of the Rochesterians, has been released from that club and has returned to Cincinnati.

Farrel, Leary and Lewis, who were expelled from San Francisco clubs, are gradually working their way east.

Horse stealing is a sort of epidemic just now in the C. R. R. There are many organized bands of horse thieves, who conduct their business on a peculiar plan. They steal horses, hide them in some secluded place, and then inform the owners that for a certain ransom they can recover them. The owners usually submit to the terms offered by the thieves, for long experience has shown the uselessness of suing them in the courts. But sometimes the peasants take the law into their own hands, and put a sudden stop to the horse stealing epidemic. Lately, in the province of Orcl, a desperate thief expiated his exploits with his life. The peasants tied a rope around his head and tightened it till death ensued.

THE TORONTO'S TRIP.

The team of the Toronto Lacrosse Club, which is visiting New York at the invitation of Mr. E. Wiman of the firm of Dun, Wiman & Co., left en route for that city on Saturday afternoon last, per steamer "Rothessay." Mr. Wiman, who bears the whole expense of the trip, had everything arranged for their comfort during the journey, which was made via the Erie Railroad, a Pullman Car being specially chartered for the accommodation of the party. The team was composed of the following gentlemen: Captain, J. Massey; Players, J. Fagbes, W. O. Ross, W. Bonnell, W. T. Arthurs, C. E. Robinson, Lyman Dwight, F. Martin, J. Logan, W. Fisher, D. Henderson, C. P. Orr, C. Davies, W. Donaldson, R. H. Mitchell, C. H. Nelson. Messrs. J. Helly and W. C. Matthews accompanied the players by special invitation of Mr. Wiman, as already stated in these columns. In addition to their exhibition matches, they expect to play match games with the Brooklyn Lacrosse Club, and the "Union" Club of Boston, present champions of the United States. Some anxiety is felt by the friends of the club on account of the inability of several crack-members of the first twelve to accompany the party, but we fancy that they need have no very great amount of apprehension on that score, for as will be seen from the list of names above they have secured the services of R. H. Mitchell, which in our opinion will more than counterbalance the deficiency caused by the substitution of defence men of smaller calibre for those left behind. The usual weak point of "home" will, during the trip, be one of the strong points of the team, and we have no fear of the defence or field going back on its record with such an array of players to choose from.

The New York Telegram says that the visit of the Toronto Lacrosse Club to Staten Island on Monday will be an exciting event in the history of the game, and is awakening much interest, especially among those interested in athletic and outdoor sports. On Wednesday, the team, in response to an invitation from R. J. Kimball, of the Stock Exchange, will dine at Coney Island, and will probably participate in a game there if arrangements can be made. Various entertainments, both public and private, will be afforded to their guests by the members of the Staten Island Cricket Club during their visit. A local lacrosse club will be formed on Staten Island during the week.

Mr. Chas. E. Robinson who accompanied the Toronto Lacrosse team to New York as one of the players, will sail for Europe on business as soon as the tour is completed. We wish him a prosperous voyage and safe return.

It has been arranged that the Shamrock Club will play the Toronto for the championship on the first Saturday in August in Montreal, and then, win or lose, a return match, also for the championship in the latter part of August at Toronto.

The Tecumseh and Maple Leaf clubs of Toronto have amalgamated. It has been decided to continue under the name of the Maple Leaf Lacrosse Club, and the following are the officers elected:—President, James A. Hughes; Vice-President, Wm. Ferran; Captain, John Wright; Secretary, H. Grey; Treasurer, Geo. Whitcomb; Managing Committee, James Hay, A. McCabe, Chas. Platts.

MOKE ESAUS.—A Junior Lacrosse Match took place at Ottawa between the "Wideawakes" and "Caledonians," and was won by the latter. The prize was $6 cash which was duly presented to the captain of the team.

At a meeting of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club of Montreal, the resignation of Mr. A. H. Woods as Secretary was read, and, upon motion, accepted. Mr. W. O. Farmer was elected to fill the position thus vacated.

The Shamrocks would like to play the Montrealers. A match will doubtless be arranged.

It is rumored about town that Sir John A. McDonald, in conversation with Harry Piper, told him that he had heard that Alex. Mackenzie declared Alderman Baxter had stated to Sir L. Tilley as a fact that the Marquis of Lorne told Major de Winton, that Lady Dufferin had told H.R.H. the Princess Louise that Lord Dufferin had informed Prince Leopold that the only place in Canada he could get a first-class shirt was at A. White's, 65 King St. West, Toronto.

The advertisement of the Woodbine Racing and Trotting meeting to be held on July 28 and 29, will be found in this issue, and we direct the attention of all turfmen to it. Turf sports require a lift in Canada and we hope this venture will prove a success in more ways than one.

J. B. Aliston.—Never to our knowledge. Dan Mace drove him in all his races at Utica that we saw, and we believe we were present every time he trotted there.

A form of epizootic prevails at Hamilton just now.

Mr. S. Mitchell, late of Denver, Colorado, has leased the Dundas track and intends holding race meetings there.

Dundas and Dan, competitors in the pacing race at the Hamilton meeting, have been matched for $200 to pace in September.

The three quarter-mile running record has been reduced to 1:14½ by Knight Templar at Detroit.

The entries for the annual three-years-old trotters' sweepstakes at Homer will be found in another column. The race takes place in September and should be well contested, if rumour speaks correctly as to abilities of some of the youngsters.

Problem, the famous steeplechaser, was killed at Long Branch on Thursday last. He struck a hurdle roller over and broke his neck.

Mr. Loullar's Boreas won a selling race at Newmarket last week, and was bought by Mr. Hungerford for $2,300.

The victory of Iroquois at Newmarket in the Chesterfield stakes is the best thing done by the American stable in England this year. He is by Leamington out of Maggie B. B.

Mr L. W. Jerome, of New York, is getting together a stable of race horses.

A. C. Goodrich and Silas Skinner, of Oregon, have purchased from General Withers, of Lexington, eleven young trotters at a cost of $4,800.

Hindoo has now won seven races without losing one. His winnings amount to $10,000. It is stated that he will not be sent east this fall.

Some of the racing at Chicago has an ancient and fish-like smell when you attempt to compare certain performances.

The Mayor of Binghamton is too good for this world. He vetoed a Fourth of July appropriation because the bill of fare included a horse race.

Fourteen Kentucky horses were sold in London, Eng., on June 30 at an average of over $300.

Maud S. won a race at Cincinnati on July 5. In each heat she jogged in, the times being 2.25, 2.30, 2.28.

Garrett Lewis, the colored jockey, died at Hutchinson Station, Ky., last week from the effects of the fall he had while riding Bravo at St. Louis.

Moss Rose, 5 years, by Sharpcatcher, out of Lizzie Wright, and Amelia, 6 years, by Sharpcatcher, out of Annie Laurie, have been sold by Mr. John White, of Milton, to a gentleman in Ottawa.

Isaac Horfield, of Hampstead, L. I., has a mare that recently dropped a colt devoid of fore legs. Perhaps the old mare had been studying a certain liniment advertisement.

TROTTING AT WOODBINE PARK

On Wednesday last two trots were decided which attracted quite a large attendance owing to the amount of local interest engendered. The most important was a local sweepstakes of $10 each, which, although decided as far as the race is concerned, has caused quite a good deal of discussion since it being understood, at least the organizer says so, that no professional drivers were to be allowed. At present no decision beyond the judges has been given, and we fail to see how that can be set aside unless by the united consent of all parties to the race. As will be seen by the summary it was a hard fought race throughout there being three winners of heats. Nonesuch got in his third heat. Nonesuch trotted well, and but for an unfortunate break close to home in the first heat would very possibly have won in straight heats. Mystery trotted first rate till he went lame in the third heat. In the last heat Mystery came in first, but was put back for running, and the heat and race given to Nonesuch.

A match race followed which was only conspicuous for the bare faced pulling of the driver of Charlie in the first heat, a course which apparently had the entire approval of the owner of the horse. The judges attended to his case very promptly, and put up David Lambert with the result as follows:

CHICAGO SECOND SUMMER MEETING.

FIRST DAY—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30.

Another fine day for the races, but the fraternity who made a great "pot" of Long Taw in the Board of Trade Handicap were very badly upset, as he finished absolutely last. Any odds were offered on him, but the moral certainty did not come off.

LAST DAY—MONDAY, JULY 5.

Cannon led for the first mile, when Capt Franklin went to the front, and staying there won by two lengths. Time, 4:05½.

Complaint was made by Cannon's jockey, McGrath, of foul riding on the part of Willis, but the judges disallowed it and evidently did not think Cannon was ridden to win, as they refused to place his horse and have reserved their decision as to what they will do with the owner and rider. This ended a very successful double meeting. C. J. W.

THE NEWMARKET JULY MEETING.

At Newmarket, Eng., on July 6, the race for the July stakes, 2 year-olds colts and fillies, was won by Lord Falmouth's Bal Gal, Lorillard's Iroquois second, Bathvan's Neophyte third. Betting just before the race was 5 to 4 on Bal Gal, 6 to 1 against Iroquois, and 20 to 1 against Neophyte. Iroquois took the lead at the start, followed by Neophyte, Alston, and Tuebais. The next lot was led by Bal Gal. Iroquois soon drew clear, but on reaching the dip Bal Gal challenged him, and getting up in the last few strides won a good race by a head, with Neophyte a bad third. Time, 1 minute 19½ seconds. The following also ran: Albatross (filly), Sunshine (filly), St. Firmin, Moidorea, Josyan, and Meteora. A race for the selling plate was won by Lorillard's Boreas, Templar second, Tripon third, Red Wolf fourth, and Crawford's Elderberry last. Betting just before the race was 6 to 4 against Boreas, 5 to 1 against Templar, 7 to 1 against Tripon. Boreas was first to show to the front. Elderberry kept second for half a mile. Templar then took the second place, but Boreas held his own to the end, and won easily by a length, with three-quarters of a length between second and third. The winner Boreas was sold to Mr. Hungerford for 460 guineas.

July 7.—The race for the Midsummer stake was run at Newmarket to-day, and was won by Lord Rosebery's Cipolata, with Mr. Brewer's Robert the Devil second, and Lord Falmouth's Pride of the Ocean third. Four horses ran.

July 8.—At the Newmarket July meeting to-day, the Chesterfield Stakes for two-year-olds, 5 furlongs, was decided in the presence of an immense crowd of fashionable spectators, the stands and enclosures being filled. The Prince of Wales, with a large party, was present. When the numbers were hoisted, they showed that there would be ten starters. The close of the betting showed the American colt to be decidedly the first favorite, the Americans present laying their money with a freedom that led to the conclusion that they considered the race practically over before the horses were started. The result proved their reasoning to be correct, as Iroquois won easily by three lengths, thus showing that he can be ranked among the first-class youngsters of the year. Panique and Voluptuary made a dead heat for second place. Iroquois was ridden by Jeffery, Panique by Goster, Voluptuary by Constable, Lennoxlove by Webb, the Adversary filly by Macdonald, Galopade by Luke, Folengo by Snowden, Josyan by Morris, Tristan by Fordham and Golden Plover by Wood. Galopade was in the lead for three furlongs, but then fell back, leaving Voluptuary and Panique in advance of Iroquois, the Adversary filly and Lennoxlove. When coming up the hill Iroquois shot out, went to the front, and making the remainder of the running won easily by three lengths. Panique and Voluptuary, as stated, ran a dead heat for second place, Lennoxlove, the Adversary filly, Golden Plover, Tristan, Galopade, Folengo and Josyan following in the order given. Tristan was behind Iroquois throughout the race. The time of the race was 1.13.

MORE OF THE BEND OR QUESTION.

NEWMARKET, July 8.—The stewards of the Jockey Club, in view of the complicated nature of the evidence, have declined to advise the owners of Robert the Devil in the Bend Or difficulty.

LONDON, July 9.—The Sportsman says that an eminent legal functionary, and a member of the Jockey Club, has given it as his opinion that the stud book means virtually nothing in Bend Or's case. It would not be surprising if to-morrow or Saturday Messrs. Weatherby received notice not to pay the Derby stakes to the Duke of Westminster. The owners of Robert the Devil are still persuaded that there has been a case of mistaken identity respecting Bend Or and Tadcaster.

LONDON, July 10.—The Sportsman says that the difficulty in relation to Bend Or is still in abeyance. The owners of Robert the Devil have taken legal advice upon the question, and intend seriously to consider whether or not they will lodge objection against the payment of the Derby Stakes to the Duke of Westminster.

Pigeon Shooting.

GREAT PIGEON SHOOTING.

BOGARDUS BEATS RIMELL BY THE WONDERFUL SCORE OF 99 OUT OF 100 BIRDS AT 80 YARDS.

The second of the series of pigeon-shooting matches between Captain A. H. Bogardus and Mr. Geo. Rimell, of England, was shot at the Brighton Beach race-track, N. Y., on July 2. A better display of wing-shooting was never seen in this or any other country, both of the scores being equal to if not better than were ever heard of before. Bogardus won by a score of 99 to Rimell's 88 out of 100, the one bird lost by Bogardus being so riddled with shot that it fell dead just over the boundary line. The birds shot at were wild and very small, and a large majority were very fast, but as both men, especially Bogardus, were in much better form than on Wednesday, the killing was much cleaner. The conditions and score are as follows:—

BRIGHTON BEACH, Coney Island, N. Y., July 2.—Match $450 ($500), Captain A. H. Bogardus and George Rimell to shoot at 100 pigeons each from five ground traps, English rules, with 1½ oz. of shot, 80 yards boundary. Bogardus at 80 yards; Rimell at 28 yards.

TORONTO GUN CLUB.

On Saturday last a silver cup presented by Messrs. R. Wilson, President, and J. James, Vice-President of the Toronto Gun Club, to be shot for by the members on handicap terms, was competed for. The conditions were to shoot at ten birds each from two traps, with 100 yards boundary. Mr. James shot with the squad for company and killed all his birds, which of course did not count. There were nine actual contestants, and of these seven killed nine birds. J. Taylor went out at 8, and W. Kennedy at 7. The tie was then shot off, as follows, five birds each, all going back five yards from the handicap mark.

W. Goss, 25 yds	1 1 1 1 1	11
T. Taylor, 24 yds	1 1 1 1 1	10
H. Watson, 26 yds	1 1 1 0 1

CHEATING THE LAW.

A fit of virtuous indignation swept over the greater part of this continent a few years since, whereby, in many of the States of North America as well as in Canada, pool selling was voted illegal and fines and imprisonments were threatened the transgressors. It was in New York that the initial movement was made, and at that time it was most essential that something should be done to stop the encouragement and the inducement for speculation amongst the youths and boys of the city. New York pool-sellers, or at least a good many of them, sold one dollar mutuels, straight and combination, and these cheap rooms were thronged by office boys, impecunious youths and broken down "sports." Something had to be done to prevent boys betting, and as it was out of the question to make distinctions between one poolroom and another the whole business was made illegal. Other states where there was not the same necessity existing as in New York followed the example of the Empire State, amongst others that of Michigan. Notwithstanding this pool-selling was openly conducted on the Hamtrac course at Detroit during the racing meeting, and on Saturday last a most remarkable scene occurred in which the pool-sellers were aided and abetted by justices, magistrates, the prosecuting attorney, the Mayor,

Captain of Police et hoc genus omne to openly defy the law.

Warrants had been issued and served on Messrs. Bride and Armstrong, the pool-sellers, on Friday last, and Mayor Thompson and another gave bail for them to appear for trial. On Saturday while the racing was in progress, and also the pool-selling, three constables appeared armed with further warrants issued by Justice Toll. It had been stated publicly that these warrants would be served on the track, and no less a personage than Justice Toll himself was present for the avowed purpose of being ready to take bail as soon as the warrants were served, as he said he "did not issue warrants for the purpose of persecution." So far we had always thought the issuing of warrants for law-breakers was the duty of all justices, and not the shielding of law-breakers, it not being for them to decide which laws should be enforced or not. To cut the story short the arrests were made, and Justice Toll jumped into the pool-box as soon as the constables, made out the bail bonds, and the three baffled blues had to retire and permit the pool-selling to proceed. Not to be outdone more warrants were procured, and the police again returned to the track about five o'clock. Fighting their way to the pool-stand they there encountered Mayor Thompson, City Councillor Baker, Prosecuting Attorney Brevoort and others. The constables declined to show their warrants, and one of them pushing or being pushed up against Mr. Brevoort, that gentleman promptly picked the officer up and dropped him outside the box. This was the signal for a general melee, to which the police on the track were at once called, with the result that the three constables were arrested, rushed into the Black Maria and driven off the ground with torn clothes and bleeding wounds to testify to their gallantry in defying numbers. When outside the grounds the poor fellows were released and made tracks for home, we presume; at least they did not return to the track.

Here we have one of the biggest farces that has ever been enacted in connection with the ridiculous measure known as the pool bill and men protected by the representatives of the law in open violation of the law, and of their oaths of office. Perhaps the absurdity of the whole affair may call the attention of legislators to the working of the pool-bill, and have it so far amended that on properly organized tracks and under the authority of the associations pool-selling may be carried on. We noted the evil tendencies of the New York pool-rooms during 1875 and 1876, and we are at one with those who would put and keep down pool-rooms in cities. On race-tracks, however, it is entirely different, and is as legitimate a method of speculation as putting up a margin on mining or any other stocks, and decidedly better than the gambling stock brokers' exchanges of Wall and Broad streets, which are the result of stopping pool-selling in that city. Speculation on racing cannot be suppressed, as is shown in England, where after years of stringent legislation it is carried on as much as ever, and the proper way is to see that it is conducted in a legitimate manner and under the auspices of men to whose interest it is to keep the name of their Associations untarnished.

RACE MEETING AT WOODBINE.

We have the pleasure to direct the attention of owners and trainers to the advertisement which will be found on our outside page, of the two day's meeting to be held at Woodbine Park, Toronto, on July 28 and 29. An excellent programme has been arranged, and the six purses amount to close upon $1200. Three races take place on each day, and there being trotting as well as running there will be no lack of sport. It is much to be desired that good support be given to this meeting as it is but the initial steps towards a general revival of racing at Toronto. The promoters if the horse men give them the amount of encouragement they hope for will not be slow to give other meetings ere the season closes, so that it practically rests with owners and trainers whether Toronto will take its proper place as a Canadian Turf Centre or not.

THE ASSOCIATION REGATTA.—In our advertising columns will be found the full announcement of the first regatta of the Canadian Amateur Association, which will take place on Toronto Bay on August 4. Since our last issue the Association received an offer of a draft for $250 from the Hop Bitters Company, with which to purchase a cup, and this was at once accepted. Hanlan has also given $100 to the prize fund, and by degrees the treasurer's account is gradually swelling. There is plenty of room, however, for additional contributions, over $1,000 being yet wanted to pay expenses. There should be no difficulty about getting that sum, however, long before regatta day.

A CURIOSITY.—Mr. R. Wilson, the President of the Toronto Gun Club, has received from Quebec a piece of the oak timbers of the L'Original, the French frigate which sank off Quebec in September, 1766. Some months since the wreck was finally dislodged from the channel, where it interfered greatly with navigation, and the oak timbers and beams were found to be as sound as the day they were put in the ship. The iron work was all wasted away, however, by the action of the water. The piece of timber received by Mr. Wilson is 6 ft. long by 9 inches wide and 8 inches thick, and is of extraordinary weight for its size.

THE SEA WORLD AND FISHING GAZETTE.—Mr. Chas. Hallock, so well known as the Editor in Chief for many years of Forest and Stream, and whose Gazette is the standard authority on fishing and shooting throughout the continent, is now connected with the Sea World and Fishing Gazette, a weekly journal published at 118 Fulton street, New York. It has now reached its 47th number, and that fact is conclusive as to its filling a want in the American newspaper world. It is the first journal so far as we are aware that has ever paid attention to the business part of fishery for the markets; combined with this we have plenty of information on fishing for pleasure, and the articles in that department are most instructive and pleasant reading. All lovers of the rod should be on the subscription list of Mr. Hallock's paper, and they will find it a good investment for their money, both for its practical hints and gossip.

TORONTO DOG SHOW.—We have received several of the premium lists for the dog show to be held in connection with the Industrial Exhibition at Toronto on Sept. 8, 9 and 10. The prizes are large enough to more than pay expenses of the winners, the total amount being $400, exclusive of silver medals. It now remains to be seen whether Canadian breeders and owners will support a genuine effort to supply a first-class bench. We have the assurance of the directors of the Industrial Exhibition that if it is well patronized and the classes fill they will give much larger prizes next year and more of them. Premium lists with forms of entry may be obtained from Mr. A. D. Stewart, Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

Hiram Shain and his bay stallion Edy Fearnought, and D. Gillis and his chestnut stallion Fulton, have been suspended by order of the Lyons, N. Y., Driving Park Association. Shain and his horse have also been suspended by order of the Pre-emption Park, Geneva, N. Y.

ASSOCIATION REGATTA.

A meeting of the Regatta Committee was held at their rooms 20 King Street west, on Monday evening last. Mr. J. Henderson in the chair. The reports from the various Subscription Committee's were very favorable, but still not as satisfactory as they should have been considering the trouble the gentlemen connected with the management have gone to in order to place Toronto in the front rank of the Aquatic arena. It is hoped that merchants and others will see the benefit to be gained by having an aquatic event of such gigantic proportions held in their city, and subscribe liberally. Cheap excursions are to be given by all Railways and Steamboats entering the City, in view of which a number of the outlying towns intend holding their Civic holiday on that date.

A communication was read from the Secretary of the Horticultural Gardens, at which place it was decided to present the successful oarsmen with their cups, medals, etc. The Committee before the meeting adjourned instructed the Secretary to write to Mr. Edward Hanlan and convey to him the thanks of the Association for his very generous donation of $100, and to inform him that two fifty dollar cups would be purchased and contested for in the double-scutt lapstreak race, and would be designated the Hanlan Trophies.

After some further business the committee adjourned to meet on Friday evening.

THE PHILADELPHIA REGATTA.

The eighth annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen began over the National course on the Schuylkill River on Wednesday last, a distance of a mile and a half straight away. The course is at Philadelphia, below the stone bridge at the falls, down to Rockland.

The first heat of the junior singles was got off at 1:15. R. Fitzgerald, of the Undine Club, did not make his appearance, and J. A. Whitaker, of Pawtucket, took the heat easily in 9m. 50s., half a dozen lengths ahead of Frederick Connor, of Hillsdale, Mich., who was about a length in advance of Wayne Choate, of the Wah-wah-sum Club, of Saginaw, Mich. The next heat was not so fast, Dr. Edmund Field, of the Carteret Club, Perth Amboy, leading three or four lengths in 10m. 6½s. from John V. Elliot, of the Seawanhaka Club, of Brooklyn, who had been the favorite, and Swing Stille, of the Undine Club of this city. He did not get the lead from Elliott, however, until the race was half rowed. Neither of the Boston representatives turned up for the third heat, and the Newark clubs had the race all to themselves. Frank Campbell, of the Crescent Club, had almost a walk-over, crossing the line in 10m. 10½s, with H. O. Rommel, of the Triton, about six lengths in the rear. The first heat of the pair-oars would have afforded an excellent race if there had been any match for the Gorman Brothers, of the Olympic Club, of Albany. As it was, the Fitzgerald Brothers, of the Keystone Club, of this city, gave them a fine tussle for the first hundred yards, after which the Albany crew opened the gap at every stroke, winning by about twelve lengths in 9m. 44½s. The next heat was a walk-over for the Metropolitan pair. The fourth heat of the junior singles gave the best race of the day, for P. Dempsey, of the Fairmount Club, of Philadelphia, and R. G. Jackson, of the Palisade, of Yonkers, were very closely matched, and left Worthley, the Red Bank representative, so far in the rear that he pulled out. Not until within call of the post did Jackson succeed in shaking off his plucky little adversary, and then won by less than a length in 9m. 44½s. Fox had almost a walk-over for the fifth heat, and Boston was fortunate in the only representative that had yet presented himself. A Giguès, of the Wyandotte, was his only opponent, though he could hardly have been called so, for he was beaten fully a quarter of a mile. Harris, of New Orleans, was on the grand stand instead of in his boat, and Riley, of Albany, did not appear. McManus, of the Metropolitan, of New York, had only one opponent, H. K. Leonard, of Watkins, but he did not show up and McManus rowed over the course.

The racing on Thursday was of a much more interesting character than that which marked the opening day of the regatta—not so much in the matter of time, but on account of the closeness of many of the races. The day was warmer, but not quite so clear, and all the afternoon the breeze blew directly up the river and against the oarsmen. The first event of the day—the first heat for senior scullers—was called precisely on time. R. G. Musgrove and F. J. Mumford, both of New Orleans, started, and Mumford won the heat in 11m. 19s. by three lengths. The second heat of the senior singles was between A. L. Hall, of Harvard, and Frank E. Holmes, of Pawtucket. Holmes played with the collegian. The first heat of the four-oared race took place at 3.30 o'clock, and called out crews from the Wyandotte, University and Argonaut clubs. After a false start by the Wyandottes the three crews got away together, there being little choice between them. The Argonauts at the start rowed 38, the University crew 40 and the Wyandottes (true to the Western style) 44 strokes a minute. The Canadians pulled in very bad form, as the men swayed out of the boat, still they got pace on. The Wyandottes kept up their short, quick strokes, and splashed in a manner that threatened to swamp the boat. The University crew pulled in by far the best form. They, however, lacked power. At the half-mile it was anybody's race. The University seemed, however, to be dropping astern. So close did the Wyandottes cling to the shore that at first it seemed as if they would not be able to get around the island. They just scraped its bank and shot by well in advance. Dickerson, of the University, called on his men for a spurt, which was at once forthcoming. For a moment the Wyandottes were in danger, but they spurted 46 a minute and crossed the line winners by half a length only. The Argonauts by a last supreme effort made a dead heat with the University for the second place. The Wyandottes' time was 9m. 42½s. Considering the wind and water, and inasmuch as the Wyandottes had rowed the last half mile with a broken seat in their boat, the time was even more than good.

The next heat for fours was between the Centennials, of Detroit; the Eureka, of Newark, and the Carmans, of Carmansville. The pace was too fast for the Carmans, and the Eureka took the race in 10m. 8½s., with the Centennials 2½s. behind. The third heat of the senior singles was between James O. Bine, of Boston, and George W. Bowlsby, of the Shoe-wac-cae-mette of Monroe, and Harry Ball, of the Zephyr, of Detroit. Bowlsby steered the best course, but Ball won the race in 11m. 45½s. In the next heat George Gaisel, of the Metropolitan, William Murray, of Portsmouth, Va., and W. N. Goddard, of the New York Rowing Club, had it out between them. Murray won from Goddard by two lengths. Time, 11m. 7½s.

The third heat of the four-oared race contestants were the Albany, of Albany, and the Hillsdale, of Hillsdale, Mich. The Hillsdales soon took the lead with a long, steady stroke, and led by six lengths at the mile, which lead was reduced one-half on the homestretch. Time, 9m. 41½s. The fourth heat for four-oared shells lay between the Nautilus, of Reading; the Nolans, of Albany, and the Crescents, of Philadelphia. The Crescents took the lead, when a foul occurred between the Nolans and Nautilus. The Nautilus was ruled out of the race, and the other crews made a new start. The Crescents again went to the front and won easily in 9m. 57½s.

Friday brought the regatta to a conclusion, and a grand day's sport was witnessed. First came the junior scullers final heat. Whittaker won in 10:43½, with Jackson second, Campbell third, McMann fourth, and Fox and Field out of it. The six-oared shell race was a close and exciting affair, the starters being the Narragansetts, of Providence, Mutuals, of Albany, and the Institutes and Ariels, of Newark, N. J. The race lay between the first two named, Little Rhody being ahead at the end of a mile; but after another quarter had been travelled, No. 5 in the Narragansett boat caught a crab and broke his outrigger. This let up the Mutuals, who won by half a length. The Institutes were third and the Ariels last. Time, 8:51½.

Holmes withdrew from the senior scullers final, preferring the sure victory in the doubles. Mumford, Murray and Ball therefore started, and a grand race all the way resulted in Mumford winning by half a length in 10:5½. Murray, who finished second, was disqualified on the ground of a foul, and Ball got second place.

The Gorman Brothers, of Albany, had a mere exercise paddle to beat Levien and Childs in the pair-oared race in 10:17½, the New Yorkers being no match in weight for the old Beaverwycks. Holmes and Whittaker had also an easy win in the doubles from the Topham Brothers, of Saginaw, Mich.

For the final heat of the four-oars the Hillsdale crew were hot favorites, as all they might be, for they drew away within a hundred yards of the start, and after that it seemed only a question of how many lengths they would win by. They eventually won by six lengths in 8m. 53s. The Crescents were second, and the Eureka—owing to the misfortune of the Wyandottes in running into a wharf near the finish—third.

The seventh and last race of the day was for eight-oared shells. There were four entries for this race, but the Crescents of Philadelphia withdrew, leaving the Nassau, Resolute and Dauntless, all of New York City, to compete. After a false start the boats got away together, but soon took the position they held through the race and at the finish, namely, Dauntless first, Resolute second and Nassau third. The winning time was 8m. 53s.

REGATTA AT LONDON.

Last Thursday a fine afternoons sport was witnessed at London, when the regatta which was announced to be held on that day was most successfully carried out. The officers were Messrs. C. S. Hyman and B. Cronyn, starters; Messrs. J. D. Dalton and J. Marshall, judges at the turn; Messrs. G. S. Burrell and C. S. Murray, judges at the finish; Mr. John Davis, of Windsor, referee.

Four-oared amateur race—Forest City R. C., J. Ions, bow; W. Moore, G. Parke, 3; J. Gray, stroke; rowed over in the absence of the Hamilton crew.

Single Sculls, professional, 3 miles—First heat, W. Briceland, London, 1; W. McKen, Toronto, 2. Won easily. Second heat, J. Gaudaur, Toronto, 1; A. Elliott, Toronto, 2. Won easily. Final heat, Gaudaur, 1; Briceland, 2. Gaudaur led all the way and won easily by three lengths.

Single sculls, amateur, 2 miles—First heat, E. Jarvis, Hamilton, 1; Borden, Hamilton, 2; W. F. Danspangh, Toronto, disqualified. Danspangh gave up after he had been fouled by Jarvis, the latter winning easily from Borden. Second heat, W. B. Wells, jr., Chatham, 1; D. Dodd, London, 0. Dodd for some reason best known to himself, gave up when he was leading, and left Wells to finish by himself. In the final Wells won after a hard race all the way, each leading in turn, Wells finally outstaying the Hamiltonian.

Blackburn and Jellett won the mile and a half double paddle canoe race from three other crews.

Hanlan was present and gave exhibitions of style during the intervals of racing.

It has since been reported that Briceland claims the single scull race on the ground that Gaudaur was coached by Hanlan. The objection is invalid, however, as it is essential that a competitor must enter any protest he may have to make before he gets out of his boat.

TORONTO ROWING CLUB.—A single scull race between members of the Toronto Rowing Club will take place next Saturday afternoon at four o'clock. The contest will be for the Dufferin medal now held by Mr. Phillips who has been the holder for the past four years. The distance of the race will be three miles with a turn, and the entries are as follows: J. W. Phillips, E. Roach, H. Moore, and W. Danspangh, an exciting race is expected.

Harvard defeated Columbia in the eight oared freshmen's race rowed at New London, Conn. on July 7 by a length after a fine race.

Warin is building a shell for Jarvis of Hamilton. McKay of Dartmouth, N. S., has accepted Gaudaur's challenge to row for $500 a side. The race to take place at Toronto on August 10, McKay receives $200 for expenses to row here.

Geo. Nickerson of Sambre, N. S., and John McKay of Dartmouth, N. S., are matched for $500 a side.

Quinn of Prescott, and Macdonald of Ottawa, are still bickering about terms. They will have arranged matters by the time ice begins to form.

Wise of Leslieville made a dreadful example of Christie of Toronto on the evening of the 6th, in their three miles race on the bay. Christie did not finish.

[CORRECTION.—G. C. M., Newmarket. It is legitimate for his opponent to drive him through if he so desires.

Poultry and Pigeons.

ARTIFICIAL INCUBATION.

Probably the first attempts at artificial hatching took place in India or China, where, to this day, they use decayed organic matter for hatching out ducks' eggs. Pliny, in his writings, speaks of the Egyptians hatching their eggs in large vases. In Egypt later on, and even up to this day, an enormous quantity of eggs are continually being hatched in underground ovens. These "mamal-el-jerroug," each of two stories, one being underground, are constructed somewhat as follows:—The lower of the two floors is generally a yard and a half high, two yards wide, and three or four long. From this compartment a door leads into a corridor and a hole in the roof is the communication with the floor above, a similarly constructed apartment. Several of these ovens, each containing two separate floors are connected by holes in the walls of the higher compartments, and apertures in the end are also made for purposes of ventilation. The eggs are first placed in the lower apartment of each alternate oven in three tiers on chaff, each tier being separated from the next by this packing. The lower ovens are heated by burning or rather allowing cow-dung mixed with straw to smoulder in the upper rooms. This fire is constantly renewed and kept up by the attendants, men who for generations have gained their livelihood by the produce of these ovens. So accustomed are these people to judge of the proper temperature, that they keep a heat regular to five or six degrees, it is said, although they have, of course, no thermometer to serve them as a guide. After ten days, the eggs are taken to the upper story, the fire being still maintained as before in one of the top ovens, and they then receive their heat laterally through the holes in the wall. The lower compartments, hitherto unused, are now filled with eggs, which in their turn are taken to the upper story as fast as the first ones hatch out. This point of allowing plenty of ventilation after 10 days is worthy of all attention, and is made a strong point of with the present successful Hydro-Incubators. As soon as the chickens hatch they are conveyed to a properly warmed room, and later are confided to the care of persons specially devoted to their bringing up.

In this method of artificial hatching the heat for the first ten days is from above, the last part of the time it reaches the eggs laterally by means of the hot air which comes from the neighboring oven. Of course, in such a process the entire success depends upon the skill and care of the operators. As a rule, they are said to rarely exceed 98 or 100 degrees Fahr., and seldom to fall below 90 deg. Every 15 or 20 villages has its mamal. The inhabitants carry their eggs to it and return on the twenty-second day to receive, generally speaking, 300 chickens for every 800 eggs.

Charles VII., of France, attempted artificial hatching on this principle at Amboise, but without much success. Then came Beaumour, who followed the Chinese method, and later on we find the records of very considerable success obtained by Bonnemain. This physician is the first who attempted heating the eggs by means of hot water. Up to 1814, Bonnemain appears to have successfully worked an incubating establishment in Paris, sufficiently large to produce 1,000 chickens each day. Be this as it may, it is unquestionable that he provided the Paris market with immense quantities of poultry. He was ruined by the events succeeding the battle of Waterloo, and issued circulars in which he stated that one of his incubators working constantly would produce $500 worth of poultry a year. He allowed half this amount for expenses, and declared the balance to be the profit obtainable. His incubators were very large, and were built upon the premises. They were very expensive, but the fact of his establishment existing from 1800 to 1814 proves, that although perhaps exaggerated, he must have derived very considerable profit from his artificial hatching and rearing.

In 1855, the first so-called Hydro-Incubator was exhibited by Mr. Gerard, in France, who in his circular claimed, if not the full invention, at least to have much simplified and cheapened the means of artificial hatching. His system was to provide the heat by means of a hot-water cistern, connected with indiarubber, placed in contact with the top of the eggs. Mr. Gerard maintained the heat of the water by burning a charcoal fire let into the cistern in a cylinder. He was also probably the first to produce a portable artificial rearing mother. Expense and trouble in working, however, eventually caused Mr. Gerard to give up his idea. The next hot-water incubator was that of Cantelo, which was exhibited in England, and marked a greater advance than any before it. Into the question of incubators of the present day we are not prepared to go at this time, this article being simply a retrospective glance at what has led up to the perfect machines now in use.

THE TIME ALLOWANCE.

It is but a matter of common justice that the fancier whose loft lies farthest from the point of loosing should have an advance of time, as his birds must fly a greater distance. Some fanciers purpose allowing one and a half minutes to the mile, others will not allow as much, and others pretend that the Belgian system, which awards the prizes to the birds flying the mile in the shortest time, should be adopted. This last, I think, is the most equitable, as, with a light, contrary wind, a bird needs two minutes to the mile, while with a strong, contrary wind it would need four or five, particularly when it is nearing home and tired out. On the other hand, with a good breeze favoring, it will fly a mile in a minute, and sometimes less; but this is another reason why the Belgian system of the actual speed should be adopted here. I will give here an instance where the giving of so much per mile worked very disastrously for the Brussels fanciers. In a concours Aug. 7, 1879, from Nemours (350 miles) 894 birds flew for prizes of honor and other prizes. A number of fanciers of Lierre, 40 kils. further than Brussels from the starting point, took part in the race. The members of the society bolting against the accepted rule of the actual speed, allowed one minute per kilometer for the difference that the birds had to fly farther. The day of the race the wind favoring the birds, the consequence was that, of the 52 prizes, the Lierre and neighborhood fanciers won the first 33 prizes, and 45 of the entire 52. L'Epervier of August 24, giving the result of the race: "Notwithstanding the generally acknowledged superiority of the system of time measure for the classification in our colombophilic concours, there are still to be found fanciers deaf to the lessons of experience, and that prefer to remain true to the old regime in their system of classification. To all such we recommend a careful study of the result from Nemours, flown last Sunday by the society 'la Roue d'Or.' The first pigeons that arrived had attained a speed of 1600 metres per minute, and the rules of the race were that, according to the distance to be flown, the fancier would either lose or gain one minute per kilometer.

"It has turned out that, under these circumstances, the fanciers living farthest have been favored to such an extent that they have won all the first prizes; in fact, the places situated at 40 kils. from Brussels have had an allowance of 40 minutes, whereas, by the actual speed, they would only have had 34, which is a fair calculation when the exceptional speed attained by the birds last Sunday is taken into consideration.

"The result of this concours has already borne fruits: The society 'La Libre Union,' of Brussels, greatly affected by the sorrowful consequences to which the concours are exposed under the old system, at the last moment has decided to adopt the time measure for its concours from Etampes, to-day. We hope that all societies still following the old system will do better hereafter in dropping it for the 'actual speed.' We are certain not one voice will be lifted against this plan which we have always advocated."

Whatever system is adopted by the majority of the fanciers of this vicinity, I will submit to it with a good grace; but, if after long years of experience, our Belgian friends accept the actual speed as best, we should think it over well before adopting any other course.—John Van Opstal, in the Fancier's Journal.

White to play and mate in 8 moves.

ZUKERTORT vs. ROSENTHAL.

This match has been concluded, Dr. Zukertort winning the 18th game. The final score stands, Zukertort 7, Rosenthal 1, drawn 11.

A WORD TO THE FAIR SEX.

We clip the following extracts from a recent article on chess in the Philadelphia Times:

Do you know that around the game of chess there hangs the perfume of sweet love romance? That while lustrous eyes have strayed over the checkered field to find a mate, hearts have mated with scarce so much of seeking? Why, fair one, love and chess are twin conspirators to steal men's hearts! Come, will you not play? If you are single chess bribes you with a husband; if you have one already, throw its magic spell about him and keep him at home at night. Chess is a mental disciplinarian of the highest order. Benjamin Franklin, when he said that the faculties of foresight, circumspection and caution might be so developed by chess playing as to become habitual in the sternest battles of life, was no doubt enthusiastic at the expense of correctness; but that like Algebra, it develops and strengthens the powers of the mind, there can be no doubt. As it calls into continual use the faculties of imagination, memory and analysis, the result must be the strengthening of the powers for other purposes. When we lift a weight at the gymnasium we accomplish nothing directly, but the muscle is made larger and firmer, and in good time our strong arm may save a life.

BREVITIES.

Some of the St. Louis amateurs who played against Mr. Judd in the recent match, intend challenging him to single-handed games.

In the Hamilton Chess Club Correspondence Tourney, nineteen games had been finished up to July 1st. Mr. Henderson, Montreal, winning three games. Messrs. Robertson, Clawson, Anderson and Foster two games, and Messrs. Bowan, Shaw, Harroway, Hicks, Mohle, Judd (Hamilton), and Braithwaite one game each, and a draw between Messrs. Bowan and Anderson.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS SAY.

We clip the following from the Spirit of the Times as shewing how the action of the National Lacrosse Association in reference to the Amateur question is regarded by those who are competent to judge of such things. The remarks are timely and encouraging, and coming as they do from such an undoubted authority, will go a long way towards strengthening the hands of the Association in its crusade against professionalism:—

"The Amateur standing of lacrosse clubs has always been a matter of uncertainty, and this doubt has been much deepened by the questionable acts of many prominent players. At their Convention in Toronto, June 4, the National Association took such healthy action as will, if properly supported by the Associate Clubs, effectually stop all further trouble, and admit Canadian lacrosse players to full fellowship with Amateur athletes.

The Convention so amended the constitution that certain portions of it now read as follows:—

Article VI.—1. Clubs in this Association must be composed exclusively of Amateurs. 2. An Amateur is any person who has not, since June 4, 1890, competed in any open competition, or for a stake, public or admission money or entrance fee, or competed with or against professionals, for a prize. Who has never at any period of his life taught or assisted in the pursuit of any athletic exercise or sport as a means of livelihood; whose membership of any lacrosse club was not brought about or does not continue because of any mutual agreement or understanding whereby his becoming or continuing a member of such lacrosse club would be of any pecuniary benefit to him, either directly or indirectly, received any payment in lieu of loss of time while playing as a member of any lacrosse club, or any money consideration whatever for any services rendered as a player, except his actual travelling and hotel expenses. 3. Any club convicted of having in its membership professionals of any kind, shall forfeit its membership in this Association. 4. No club shall be admitted to membership in this Association unless it adopts in its club constitution the words or sentiments contained in this article.

Article IX.—1. No club in this Association shall play for a money challenge or money prize under any circumstances whatever. 2. Any club playing for a money challenge or money prize shall forfeit its membership in this Association. 3. Clubs in this Association shall be allowed to employ Indians, who shall hereafter rank as professionals, either as trainers, or for the purpose of playing exhibition matches.

This is a compromise which is creditable to all. It means amnesty for the past, strict obedience for the future, and will, no doubt, prove entirely satisfactory to all parties interested."

PLAYING FOR MONEY.

We are sorry to observe a disposition on the part of some of the lacrosse clubs in the country to play matches for money prizes or stakes. In our last issue we noticed the fact that the Brant Club of Paris (a club that certainly should have known better) played Gibson's team of Indians on Dominion Day, for the magnificent sum of $25, and got beaten six straight games. This kind of play may be all well enough for Indian clubs who are professionals, and play for a living, but it is hard to understand how any white organization, supposed to be composed of gentlemen, could, in its sober senses, throw away its right to be considered an amateur club for the paltry sum of $25. We do not wish to be understood as belittling professionals, for we are strongly of the opinion that the professional element, if properly defined and kept aloof from the amateur, will act as a strong incentive to the latter, and the rivalry thus created must ultimately be productive of a higher standard of development. But we do wish to enter our protest against this miserable, grovelling, catch penny policy that will allow a team of gentlemen players to sell their right to be considered amateurs for the paltry sum of $2 per head. We hardly think that this action has been caused through ignorance of the consequences; on the other hand it seems hard to believe that for such a small pecuniary consideration any club would thus lower its social standing as this club has done. The only way we can account for it is the light way in which playing for money is regarded by clubs and athletes in many places. Many of our young fellows throughout Canada seem to have the idea that they can compete for a money prize or in an open competition and still be considered as amateurs. This idea has been materially strengthened and fostered through the action of our Caledonian societies (who are generally recognised as patrons of all kinds of athletic sports), in giving money prizes at their games instead of prizes in kind. This system is a most vicious and demoralizing one to our young and rising athletes, and does all the more injury because it comes from such a respectable source. If our Caledonian Societies are wise, or will take a little disinterested advice, they will see that in the future their prizes consist of cups, medals, and other prizes in kind, instead of sums of from $1 to $5, which, though paltry, are sufficient to cause those competing for them (even as is often the case for pure love of victory), to lose their status as amateur athletes. We say this kind of competition has a bad moral effect on those competing, and such prizes should be left exclusively to professionals who make a living by their winnings. We venture to say that there is scarcely an athlete of ordinary intelligence in this country who would not prefer a neat medal or cup with an inscription upon it setting forth his achievement, to a money prize of double the value. The time has now come in Canada when the line between professionals and amateurs must not only be strictly defined, but rigidly enforced. If people will compete for money, they must make up their minds to rank in the class to which they have elected to belong, and not blame amateur organizations if they find they are summarily excluded from their competitions. An organization to look after the standing of athletes is badly wanted in Canada, and the sooner it comes into existence the better for athletic sports generally. As far as lacrosse clubs are concerned, they may rest assured that the National Association will permit no violation of its rules in regard to playing for money challenges or money prizes, and any club doing so will be at once expelled from its membership. The club referred to above happens to be outside of the Association, and therefore is beyond its jurisdiction, but it will rank hereafter as a professional club and have to be treated as such by clubs belonging to the Association.

This playing for money seems to be a habit of the Brant Club of Paris, as we find that they subsequently played the Shamrocks of Hamilton for a money prize, and again succeeded in scoring a defeat. One of the Hamilton papers in commenting on the match says, that the "Shamrocks, together with the glory, got the very practical token of $10!" We thought $2 per head a low estimate to set on a lacrosse team's status, but this last transaction at 84 cents a head far transcends it from a mercantile point of view. If this account be true, Ontario can now boast of two professional white lacrosse clubs, who would appear, however, [to make but an indifferent living by the game. The Shamrock Club was anxious to join the National Association some time ago, but was unable to do so on account of lack of funds. Now that their treasury has been so amply replenished, they will find that they are disqualified by their late action from competing with Amateur Clubs belonging to this Association.

"THE GLOBE" ON THE GAME.

Last week the Globe came out with a column editorial on the beauties of our National game, in which it expressed the view that lacrosse was a field sport, calculated to improve the mind, wind and limbs. We are glad to find that a political organ of such dimensions as the Globe can unbend long enough from the affairs of state to direct its powerful mind to such inferior topics as the National game, and that it has been pleased to take such a correct view of lacrosse and its possibilities. When papers like the Globe and Mail lend their advocacy to such a manly sport as lacrosse undoubtedly is, it must have a great effect in adding to its popularity, and overcoming the prejudice that exists against the introduction of any new game, especially if it be of domestic invention.

OUR MONTREAL LETTERS.

To-day Saturday, the International match between the Brooklyn and Shamrock Lacrosse Clubs came off on the grounds of the latter, and attracted quite a large attendance. Great preparations had been made for the reception of the visitors, and they were escorted to the St. Lawrence Hall, their temporary quarters. The Shamrocks are unceasing in their attention, and most lavish in their hospitality to their guests. The game had been well advertised, large streamers floating across St. James Street, and the teams went up to the grounds to-day in carriages with the champion flag, Union Jack and Stars and Stripes floating to the breeze. The match all though advertised for 3 o'clock did not begin until 4 o'clock, the patience of the spectators being nearly exhausted and finding vent too by constant stamping.

The Brooklynites looked well in their shirts (a la Montreal) and blue knickerbockers.

Their team was, C Creble, goal; J.W. Daniels, point; Whitaker, cover-point; W.H. Journey, W. Balmer, D. Field, J.H. Crow, centre; A. Darling, A.D. Ritchie, J.C. Hewson, field; J.S. Voorhes, J.C. Gernot and A. Barber, home.

The Shamrocks were the same as last Saturday, with the exception of Maguire, who was replaced by Talbert.

Mr. H. W. Becket (Montreal) was appointed referee.

On the draw Farmer allowed Journey to get the ball, and very little effort was made by the champions to check, until it came to Lally, when back it was sent to the other end of the field. The Brooklyn defence did some fair playing, but it was no use, and game was called for the Shamrocks in 18 minutes.

The second game was started after the usual wait. The ball went down the field, but Lally returned it with such force that it bounced over the fence and there was another wait. After the ball was got it hovered about midfield, and then went to the Shamrock goal. The home team, however, could not keep (?) the ball on their sticks, and when Brennan and Oluir, frightened at the rush of the Brooklynians got out of the road lest they be struck, the ball went through their goals, as they might have known had they been more accustomed to hot work. Time, 18 minutes.

The third game was a repetition of the former, and some very pretty playing and dodging was indulged in by Farmer, Herton and Butler. After 18 minutes more the game was a thing of the past for the Shamrocks.

The fourth, however, I think was a surprise for the Shamrocks, who were taking things coolly when a grounder escaped Lally and secured second game for the Americans in 19 minutes.

The fifth game was too near the end to allow of any more nonsense, so the Shamrocks went to work, and but once did the ball pass centre field, when game was called after seven minutes play.

It is difficult to say how the Shamrocks were playing, for they were never pressed, but I think they were just a little too generous, and rather wanted the spectators by spinning out the game over two hours. There is a limit, but as before remarked, I think the fourth game was not intended.

As to the Brooklyn club, they did not evince much dash or vim. They evidently seemed to think they could afford to take things as easy as the Shamrocks, and soon all interest was lost. A lacrosse player has to make an effort at least. At times four of them would stand together and allow an opponent to pass them without stirring. They played, however, without a captain, which may account for want of discipline. Blacklock took them in hand towards the end without any effect. Another fault, they carried the "covering" game to excess, and never seemed to think it was sometimes necessary to uncover and check. Again, they throw too much over-hand, which makes them slow. Captain Flannery needs to coach them a good deal and teach them to have more snap, before he can expect to take even a game from the Unions, of Boston, who played here with any amount of vim. D'ENBAS.

READ THIS!

JUST WHAT all horsemen should know and have is a large bottle of KENNEDY'S Lightning Remedy.—A book of 22 pages goes with each bottle that teaches the art of cyphering shorthand; this book also instructs any man how to cure heaves in horses; remove a wart from a horse; to cure colic without medicine; to physie a horse; to make condition powders; to cure bone spavin, curb, splint, ringbone, sweeny, or to remove a pipe where a running sore is formed, and to cure 'ounder; all to be done without the use of the burning irons or knife, and not putting the horse out of use, as you can work him every day or turn him out to grass. I will forward it to any address upon receipt of $1.00.

You will only hear one sentiment, and that is, that a bottle of Kennedy's Lightning Remedy is worth a hundred of any other preparation for curing everything.

I can cure any bog spavin or thoroughpin on a horse in 5 minutes.

AUBURNDALE [Mass.],
CHRONOGRAPH TIMER.

IN GERMAN SILVER CASE,
NICKLE PLATED.

Price, plain, - - - $15
 " split second, - - - $25

Three-quarters size of watch,
1/4 or 1/2 second Fly-back.

ACCURATE AND RELIABLE.

Its size and Form same as ordinary watch. It is the best and most perfect timer made; the only one that marks eighths of seconds. These timers add immensely to the interest of sports of all kinds and are invaluable for scientific and mechanical purposes.

My split second is perfect in its accuracy; it enables the time to be taken of each one-quarter of the mile as well as of the full mile or more. This repeated subdivision of time by the same instrument can only be accomplished by my Timer and by the highest priced of Foreign Chronograph Watches.

My fine tenth of a second timer I make for delicate scientific purposes, to order only, of two sizes, the one the size of the ordinary watch, the other the size of the marine chronometer.
