performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure. much to her relief and her father's delight. AN INNOCENT'S VALENTINE.

"Would little Jesus, God divine, Be glad to get this valentine? To Him, on bed of straw so cold, Will come no cards in red and gold."

The mother soothed, as mothers can, With gentle kies that face so wan. Though griei was clutching at her throat, She took the valentine and wrote: "To little Jesus, meek, and mild, From Eddie-His fond loving child, Who prays Him place this near His Heart, And never let it from Him part."

The light of heaven his face o'erspread. "Mamma, how glad He'll be!" he said. She poured her sorrowed soul 'n prayer To Mary's Son, her child to spare. A little grave on grassy knoll
Has o'er it carved on marble scroll—
"On Feast of Sainted Valentine,
You took a darling son of mine;
O, Jesus, keep him near Your Heart
And to his mother grace impart."

Mussical and Dramatic Entertainment at St. Boniface.

A musical and dramatic entertainment was given at the St. Boniface College, on Thursday last, under the auspices of the St. Vincent de Paul society, in aid of the poor of the district. The music hall of the college had been beautifully decorated for the occasion, and was packed to its utmost capacity by an enthusiastic audience. The St. Boniface Independent band was in attendance, and rendered very efficient service, under the leadership of Professor Paul Sale. The St. Boniface branch of the C. O. F. and the pupils of the college also took part in the entertainment.

The programme commenced with an ity," C. O. F.; lecture on Canada, Judge Prud'homme; waltz, "After the Ball," St. Boniface Independent band; song, Mr. L. J. A. L'Eveque; quartette, "Faro." C. O. F.; operetta, "A Clichy," by the pupils of the college. The cast of characters was: Hector Bagnolet, a poet, Anthony Gingras; Prosper Bagno-let, composer of music, J. Trudel; Ducormier, uncle to Hector and Prosper —a miser, A. Grenier. The characters were excellently sustained, and the performance evoked loud applause. other pieces of the programme were: Chorus, "Les Montagnards," St. Boniface Independent band; march, "American Cadet," St. Boniface Independent band; "Vive la Canadienne," and "God Save the Queen." Professor Sale presided at the piano.

The various pieces rendered by the St. Boniface Independent band were played with great precision, and the band well sustained the reputation they obtained at the Winhipeg Industrial exhibition. Professor Sale displayed much tyste in his playing, and Mr. Chevrier was encored for his selection. The lecture by Judge Prud'homme was listened to with great interest. The lecturer reviewed briefly the different phases of the history of Canada, and pointed out that the French Canadians nad always been faithful and true to their God and country. For 150 years the French-Canadians maintained the French flag in Canada, and after the secession on two memorable occasions they saved Canada to the British

The other items of the programme were well received, and at the conclusion the Hon. Senator Bernier, the president of St. Vincent de Paul society, returned the thanks of the society to the lecturer, and a similar compliment was paid to those who took part in the entertainment.

Silver Jubilee of Rev. Father McCarthy.

On Wednesday last the Rev. Joseph McCarthy, O.M.I., of St. Mary's Church celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. He was ordained in St. Boniface Cathedral, by Archbishop Tache, on the 24th of January, in the eventful year, 1869.

At the celebration of this auspicious event the Rev. Father McCarthy received the blessing of His Grace the Archbishop, the same beloved prelate who ordsined him twenty-five years before. Dr. Langevin, Superior of the Oblates; Rev. Father Cherrier, P.P., of Immaculate Conception; Rev. Father Messier, P.P., of St. Boniface Cathedral; Rev. Father Poitras bursar of the Archbishopric; Rev. Father Lajinnesse, Chaplain to the Sisters of Charity; Rev. Father Cloutier, Chaplain to the Penitentiary; and Rev. Father Bourdeau, P.P., of Brandon, who kindly came to St. Mary's to join in the congratulations of the community to the quarter-century father.

In the community of St. Mary's on this occasion was noticed also the Rev. Brother Doyle, who came to this country in 1867, and who about the same time also completed his quarter century of religious life and of arduous labors in that she would admit that her asserthe service of God.

LAND.

A report of an extremely interesting Holy Father relative to the Franciscan guardianship of the Holy Land. For of Assissi have faithfully fulfilled the stablishments. tuaries of Palestine, so intimately associated with the life of our Blessed Lord on this earth. The order excludes no nationality. Italians, French, Americans, English, Irish, Belgian, Dutch, Germans, Spanish, Portuguese, all may devote themselves to the pious work, strict sense of the word. The guardianship extends to eight regions, Judea, Galilee, Phonicia, Syria, Lesser Armenia, Thracia, Cyprus, and Lower Egypt, comprising 48 convents or hospices, 174 priests, 39 clerics, 155 laics, 57 tertiaries, and 18 postulants These 443 persons have the care of the churches. hospices, houses, gardens, schools, factories, etc., and it need scarcely be said that the number is insufficient for the work. The sanctuaries guarded by the monks are the Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre and Mount Calvary, the Church of the Flagellation, the Column of Judgment, the Church of the Holy Saviour, the Grotto of the Agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, the Dominus flevit at Bethphage, the stable at Bethlehem, the house of St. Joseph, the well of David, the chapel of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist, the desert of St. John, and the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin. At Nazareth the holy places in charge are the Sanctuary of the Annunciation, the worship of St. Joseph, the table of Our Lord Jesus Christ, and overture, "Les Danaides," by the St. the table of Our Lord Jesus Christ, and Boniface Independent band; violin selection, H. Chevrier; chorus, "Charome, the Sanctuary of Naim, the Church ome, the Sanctuary of Naim, the Church of St. Joachim and St. Anne, the Sanc-tuary of Cana, the House of St. Bartholomew, Mount Thabor, and the Sanctuary of Tiberias. Other sanctuaries are the sepulchre of Our Lady, the spot of the Ascension, the Viri Galitær, the grotto of the Shepherds, the precipice and the sepulchre of Lazarus. One great object in establishing these Franciscan monasteries was originally to extend hospitality to the many thousand pilgrims who visited the Holy Land For hundreds of years these have been

board and lodging.

I was recently at Bournemouth (says Scrutator in the London Truth), and I found a discussion raging there about a Miss Golding, calling herself a "Rescued he said, Who's that ould woman with the red hed curtain sitting up there?" country reciting her experiences in French convents, under the auspices of baron, looking a little uncomfortable. a Mr. Edward Littleton, who terms himself "Honorary Secretary of the North the ould boy that's going to hang yez! Sussex Protestant Parliamentary Council," whatever that association may be. The "Rescued Nun" bad delivered a lecture at Bournemouth at a charge of one shilling entrance, and had there made most astounding charges against the French convents. This had led to investigation which showed that the woman had piled falsehood upon falsehood. According to the nun, she had joined the Order of La Sainte Union, and she had been in ten of their convents. They were prison nomes, and she could not escape. Scenes of the greatest immorality took place, and one of the penances inflicted on the inmates was to administer to them a poisonous decoction. This took place in every convent, and many died from the effects of many years ago, leaving an aged husthe drug while she was in the convents. She had at last escaped, but the nuns had refused to give her money which belonged to her.

Naturally, the Roman Catholics took up these charges. Inquiries were made of the French authorities, and it turned out that Miss Golding had resided in nine of the convents that she had mentioned; that in eight of them there had There were also present, the Very Rev. been no deaths during her residence, and in one there had been two deathsone from consumption and the other that when Aldus Manutius commenced from a cancer. The order of La Sainte Union is not a strict one. Those living in their convents can go out whenever they please. The sister of the "Rescued Nun," being interviewed, said she had being interviewed, said she had frequently visited her; that she had resided in the convent as a guest; that she had frequent conversations with her sister; that she went about the town take her home, but that the offer was declined. She could not imagine why her sister want about telling. her sister went about telling what she must know to be untrue, except that her brain was over-excited. As regards the money, it would seem that she had paid however, is the following: The first approach that the money is the following: for her board, and that she wanted the money to be returned to her. She had no more right to it than a guest at a hotel to have his board gratis. But it was offered to her as a gift on condition tions against the convents were untrue. As for "immoralities," the "Rescued Nun" declined to enter into particulars. The Sainte Union convents are tenanted by nuns who devote their entire time to

I am not a Catholic, but I see no character has been presented to the reason why Catholics should be attacked tholy Father relative to the Franciscan in this fashion. Any one who knows France must be aware that in no guardianship of the Holy Land. For country are there more people who seven centuries the sons of St. Francis would be delighted to bring a charge

For Christian Education.

The Protestant Conservatives in Germany have taken a resolution which redounds much to their honor, and will certainly wir for them the approbation which is nothing if not Catholic in the of all Catholics. It will be remembered that the famous Scholastic Law in favor of Christian education, presented by the Government, was violently opposed by the Liberals, and was withdrawn by command of the Emperor. The recent election having given the Conservatives a very largely increased majority, their organs call upon the Prussian Government to re-introduce the measure; otherwise the Conservatives will take the initiative themselves. As the candidates at the late election distinctly pledged themselves to support this proposed law, and people who voted for them have shown themselves undeniably in favor of it, and have pronounced with one accord for the legal establishment of religious education, hence it is imperative on the Conservatives, in supporting the Scholastic Law, to combat also the neutral or atheistic schools so dear to the Jews and Freemasons, and in doing so they may count on the support of all Catholics, who desire nothing so much as a sincere union of all believers in the work of arresting the spread of dangers which menace the Christian society of Germany.

The Grocer Did Not Advertise.

A few days ago a Pittsburg citizen cut into a pound of butter which he had purchased at a grocery whose proprietor does not advertise, and found therein a small tin box, which contained a piece of paper bearing the following, written in a neat feminine hand:

"I am a girl 18 years of age, good looking and an excellent housekeeper. Should this be found by some unmarried Christian gentleman, will he please write to the following address," etc. The finder, being a bachelor, decided to unravel the affair, and succeeded, only to destroy the romance. The girl who had written the note had died bond and a grown family.

"The Printers Devil."

The origin of the word has led to many surmises, says an exchange. Superstitious people used to think that in order to produce copies so rapidly a printer must have the assistance of the black art, and therefore his apprentice was called the devil. The story goes printing in Venice he had in his service a negro boy who became famous all over the city as "the little black devil," and it was whispered he was the representative of his Satanic Majesty. This was very annoying to Aldus, so he publicly exhibited the boy and said:

"Be it known to Venice that I, Aldus All those who think he is not flesh and

ST. BONIFACE, May 10th, 1893.

Mr. E. J. Dermody.

DEAR SIR,—I see by the last issue of the NORTHWEST REVIEW that you have been intrusted by the directors of the journal with he management of the same, "the company for the present retaining charge of the edisorder of the same,"

he management of the same, "the company for the present retaining charge of the editorial columns."

I need not tell you that I take a deep interest in the Northwest Review which is the only English Catholic paper published within the limits of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. I hope that you will obtain a remunerative success. It is enough that the editors do their work gratuitously, it cannot be expected that the material part of the publication should remain without remuneration. I therefore strongly recommend to all Catholics under my jurisdiction to give a liberal support to the Northwest Review it has fully my approval, though, of course, I cannot be responsible for every word contained in it. The editors write as they think proper, they are at full liberty to say what they wish and in the way they like best. The sole control I can claim is over the principles they express and I have no hesitation in stating that the principles announced by them are sound and ought to be endorsed by every sound Catholic in this country.

I therefore consider that you enter a good work and I pray to God that He will bless you in its accomplishment.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Where there are duties there are rights, and Catholic parents have an inalienable right to the Catholic education of their children.

which they do not want for their non-Catholic fellow-countrymen also. All they have ever asked is justice for the legitimate demands of all alike,

It is gratifying to find that the appeal of Hon. Edward Blake for funds to carry on the Home Rule for Ireland campaign is meeting with a generous response on this side of the "mighty wet." Already a sum of over $5,000 has turies it has been its principal and most terrible opponent. If South Germany is been raised.

Many Catholic journals-ourselves among the rest-fell into the error of announcing the death of the Right Rev. Dr. Bagshawe, Catholic Bishop of Nottingham, England. There is an Anglican Bishop also of that place, and it was he whose death occurred.

The throne has made overtures to the altar. The government in Italy has besought the Pope to use his moral power to calm the agitation in Sicily, promising in return to abate its persecution of the Church. This petition must have been gall and wormwood for Humbert, Crispi, Lemmi, & Co.

While Protestant scholars, with their ill-guided "higher criticism" are destroying faith in the Bible, the Pope of Rome is upholding its divine inspiration and inerrancy. At the end of the nineteenth century Christendom has to depend, as it always did and always will, on the the claims of Hely Writ.

ida, U.S., two men, in the full strength of their manhood, met for the purpose of pounding the life out of each other for men assembled to watch this miserable dered insensible, the disgusting contest stopped. That in the nineteenth century this kind of thing should be allowed and even legally sanctioned says very little for our boasted civilization.

of Christian belief the Mohammedans danger; and, while his dupes were placed in whatever information be may and while enjoying that right to conhate Catholicity, whilst willing enough bravely dying at St. Denis and St. convey to them. Although the Free tinue unmolested and unattacked in the icine.

to tolerate other creeds. Catholicity is Charles, he was prudently retreating to Press has lately fallen considerably from enjoyment of life, liberty, and happiworld; its Founder was put to death on son. the Cross, its Apostles were all martyrs. its Pontiffs have been persecuted by the FATHER DRUMMOND'S ANSWER TO world, and the imprisonment of Pope Leo XIII., like that of St. Peter, is by the enemies of God. All this should confirm the faith of Catholics, and lead others to enquire into the claims and position of the Church.

the fact that a bill is before the Kentucky legislature making it an offence punishable by fine or imprisonment for members of secret societies to discriminate disadvantageously to any religious bodies, remarks-to defeat whose intrigues and machinations the P.P.A. was first organized?

What intrigues? What machinations? Mr. Editor. These words are easily written, and we have heard them ever since we can remember, but never seen any proof of these supposed Machiavellian practices among the Jesuits. The Sons of Loyola have amongst their number the finest intellects in the world, and naturally exert great influence, but this is not intrigue, nor yet machination. These things belong solely to P.P.A.'s and other kindred societies, where bigotry takes the place of reason and intellect is mostly conspicuous by its absence.

Bishop of Cork, was located in that city gift of God's grace. for fifteen years, and never during all respectful or unfriendly word from "Though the Catholics are 90 per cent. of the population, I have never, during | Drummond wrote. the long period of forty-four years spent in the ministry of the Presbyterian congregation at Rostrevor, received the slightest insult from a single one of them, nor anything but the greatest good-will, friendship and respect." This is always the case where Catholicism predominates. As a reverse picture it is only necessary to call attention to the P.P.A. convention at Hamilton to show how Catholics are treated where Protestants are in the majority. A body of men banded together in secret, concealing even their identity, were met together and for what? To concert measures to deprive their fellow-citizens of their social and political rights, and to deny them an equal chance in the battle of life by preventing them earning their daily bread. How well does Catholic tolerance cempare with Protestant in-

Because of the re-admission of the Jesuits into Germany the Central Evangelical Board has become terribly huffed and describes this honored body as enemies of the Fatherland and Protestantism. We cannot do better than give the comment of the San Francisco Monitor on the matter, which says-

These people are like the P.P.A.istsafraid to meet their opponents on fair open field; they would have recourse to tyranny and governmental oppression. As to the Jesuits being the enemies of the Fatherland, the whole history of science and art, in college and school, and in all the battlefields on which German blood has flown. Among the great historians, philosophers, and scientists of Germany, no names shine with greater brightness than those of members of the Order. As to being the enemies of Protestantism, the Evangelicals are about right. The Jesuit Order was founded especially to combat Protestantism, and for the last three cen-Catholic to-day and North Germany not wholly Protestant, it is due to the labors of the Jesuits: it is natural for the Evangelicals to have no love for the Order which was founded to fight them. This reminds us of the Irish sexton who was showing a beautiful church to a traveller. This gentleman was lost in admiration, and, not having a very extensive vocabulary at his command, expressed his opinion by exclaiming: "This beats the devil!" To which came the answer: "That's the intention, sir." so with the Jesuits and Protestantism that's the intention.

THEY ARE WELCOME TO PAPINEAU

Our separated brethren, the Presbyterians, are striving to make out that Mr. L. J. Papineau, who recently apostatized publicly in Montreal, is of Huguenot origin. If he is, that would explain the faithlessness of his father and himself. His father, though a most polished gentleman of the old school, lived and died an unblushing disciple of Voltaire, the prince of shallow scoffers. THE QUESTION: "WHY AM I A CATHOLIC ?"

We omitted to state last week the circumstances that give to Father Drummond's article; "Why Am I a Catholic?" much of its pungency and point. It was written in answer to a request from the The Brandon Sun, after referring to editor of the Winnipeg Tribune, and forms part of a symposium of similar articles by Protestant writers. To understand its full significance one would have to compare it to the four articles which appeared on the preceding four Saturdays in the same news-What about the Jesuit body, in order paper. On December 23rd Canon O'Meara replied to the question, "Why am I a Churchman?" by attempting to show that the Church of England was both Catholic and Protestant, and by belauding its liturgy. On Dec. 30th Rev. Joseph Hogg gave a fair and temperate statement of the Presbyterian view. January 6th witnessed Rev. Hugh Pedley's answer to "Why am I a Congregationalist?" in which, of course, Cromwell was canonized. Rev. A. Grant, on January 13th, explained why he was a Baptist, confining himself to an attack on Infant Baptism. Finally there appeared Father Drummond's full and frank statement of Catholic doctrine. He was the only one to claim, as the first cause of Right Rev. Dr. Gregg, Protestant his faith, the unmerited and invaluable

We imagine that the recent Grand ation, for it cannot be that such a mean, skulking, sneaking, dark lantern society can command the sympathy and support of a sufficient number of free and independent electors in this Dominion to enable it to obtain a permanent footing. CATHOLICS AND THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC. We quote the following from the last ssue of the Northwest Baptist: TO BE DEPLORED.

It would bring down on our head the nathemas of our contemporary, the Northwest Review, if we dared to say that "Catholics nearly monopolize the liquor traffle. As a matter of fact, such a statement would not be true applied to this country, as the Baptist may easily satisfy itself if it will only take the trouble. We have no information at hand which will enable us to express an opinion with regard to the cities of the United States, but we accept Archbishop Ireland's statement that a large num ber of Catholics are engaged in the liquor business there. We venture to add, however, that although we might like to see those so employed turn their attention to other methods of gaining a livelihood, if they are conducting their business as honorably and as decently been a great cause of crime, but it is, on the whole, a good thing for a country that the business should be in the hands of men who are apt to realize their moral responsibility, and without intending to stand as an apologist for those engaged in the trade, we may safely claim that as a whole, those Catholics who are connected with it here have shown themserves decent, law-abiding citizens, endeavouring to do their duty, and to conserve the interests of law, order, and morality.

Was St. Patrick a Welshman?

It seems as difficult to decide where the birthplace of the Irish nations apostle was as to assign the exact natal spot of Homer. The claims of Armoric Gaul, the banks of the Clyde, and Lancashire have all been ably and exhaust ively advocated, and now Rev. Albert Barry, C.SS.R., contributes a learned article to the Ecclesiastical Record, in which he maintains that St. Patrick was a native of North Wales. The saint father, Calphurnus, he points out, held sensational rank as a citizen of the great Brito-Roman city of Caer-Legion of Caerleon, on the Dee, the modern Chester.

Like the other magistrates and civil rulers of that city, he possessed a country villa, and Father Barry concludes that this villa must have been in the Vale of Clywd, where, according to ancient Irish writers, St. Patrick was born. The Vale of Clwyd is, it is true many miles from Chester, but in those days, observes the reverend gentleman well-trained steeds bore men swiftly to and fro upon the splendid Roman road." Father Barry supports his args ments with no mean skill, and his contention, whether it be accepted or reject ed, must excite widespread interest.

Home Rule a Certainty.

In its retrospect of the past year the Liverpool Catholic Times points out that politically 1893 will remain noteworthy for the acceptance of Home Rule by the Commons and its rejection by the Lords. Never before, perhaps, did a constitutional struggle produce such fierce controversy, and the rejoicing of Conservatives and Liberal Unionists was propertionately great when the bill was thrown out by the Upper House. They have, however, had some time for reflection since then, and, at this moment, there are probably very few of them who are not convinced that the concession of Home Rule, though it may be delayed, is a certainty, and that the time is coming when the Upper Chamber will suffer retribution for its action.

A Starving Man's Rights.

The position that a man who is starying, and who cannot obtain food by working or begging, has the right to take from his neighbor sufficient to relieve immediate necessities, is a position neither new nor novel. That the right of a starving man to his neighbor's bread was held by Cardinal Manning with these limitations, there can be no reasonable doubt. This was not his position merely; it is a maxim in all the works of the great Catholic writers on theology and morals. It is in extreme exceptional cases, such as sometimes occur, although but rarely in civilized communities, that these writers say "All things are common."

Catholic theologians lay it down as a fundamental principle that man owns nothing absolutely; that all things, even man himself, belong to God, and that lands and earthly possessions are God's bounties, for their use, of which men must give an account.

The sentiment expressed by Cardinal Manning is not peculiar to Catholic writers. It has been taught by philosophers for centuries, and it has been more or less recognized in ancient and mod-ern systems of legislation. Moses made a clear distinction between theft and taking from a neighbor sufficient of the earth's products to supply immediate necessities, although all the land was held by individual owners.

The right of a starving man to take bread from his well-to-do neighbor, without the latter's consent even, when he cannot otherwise supply his absolute necessities, springs from the natural right to life, which certainly prevails over not only all positive laws of property, but over all positive laws for proceeding life. A man assailed under circumstances that since that since the content of the cont circumstances that give these laws for the protection of life no opportunity to serve him, may strike down his assailant with impunity. "Self-preservation is the first law of nature." This is a strue when life is in danger from starvation as when it is threatoned by the knife of tue assassin. The right of a man to food in his possession beyond what he requires ceases in the presence of a famished person's necessity. The State, recognizing the truth of this proposition, takes money enough from the pockets of its self-supporting citizens to save from starvation such as must have aid or die -aged poor, orphans, idiots, lunatics, etc. The State further takes money from its citizens to clothe paupers and make them comfortable while they live. The right, then, of any individual to his property is not so absolute that no condition of a starving brother is certainly sufficient to impair the right to so much of this property as may be necessary to prevent his death by starvation-B. NORMAN, Ont., January 15, 1850.

W. H. COMSTOCK, Brockville, Ont.

Dear Sir,—Your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pils' are the best regulator for the system that humanity can use. Life is as the time-piece: frail and delicate are many of its works. A tiny particle of foreign substance adheres to the smallest wheel in the works, and what is the result?—at first, only a slight difference is perceptible in its time-keeping, but wait yon; a the obstruction grows, the irregularity becomes greater, until at last, what could have been rectified with little trouble, in the beginning, will now require much care in thoroughly cleansing the entire works. So it is in human life—a slight derangement is neglected, it grows and increases, imperceptibly at first, then rapidly, until what could, in the beginning, have been cured with little trouble, becomes almost fatal. To prevent this, I advise all to purify the system frequently, by the use of Morse's Pills, and so preserve v.gor and vitality.

Yours faithfully,

H. F. Atwelle.

DEAR SIR.—For many years, I hase been a firm believer in your "Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills."
Not with a blind faith, but a confidence wrought by an actual personal experience of their value and merit. My business is such that I spend much of my time away from home, and I would not consider my travelling outfit complete without a box of Morse's Pills.

They were living in peace with their Roman Catholic brethren, whom they respected as worthy citizens, and he noped no hotheaded enthusiasts would introduce such a calamity as the P. P. A. into British Columbia. It is strange—exceeding strange-with what unanimity every prominent man in religion, politics, or business condemns this P. P. Grand Forks has for some time been suffering from an epidemic of typhoid fever, The cause of the outbreak has been traced to the water of Red River, which is in general use for domestic purposes in that city. An analysis of the water was made at one of the government laboratories with the result that the water was found to be realized. that the water was found to be reeking with fever germs. As soon as this fact was announced the authorities ordered the people to stop using the river water and also stopped the cutting of ice. The death rate during this month has ranged from six to ten a day, and it is stated that on a recent Sunday no less than twenty one funerals were held. Great alarm reigned among the people of the city, but now that they have discovered the nature and the cause of the disease The tickets for the St. Vincent de quickly.

THE new Colonization society of Montreal have submitted to Hon. Mr. Beaubier an elaborate scheme for colonizing the northern counties. The report which suggests among other things that the government double if possible the amounts voted for immigration and exportation of Canadians from the United States east and west, concludes by reminding the government that the future of the French race in Canada is threatened by expatriation to the United States and by the fanaticism of the McCarthy's and O'Briens in the west. If one-quarter of the French-Canadians who have gone to the States had settled in Manitoba there would be no school question in that province and the rights f the Catholics would not be threatened It behoves the government," continues the report, "to do all in its power to add to the prestige and strength of the province of Quebec which will in future be charged with maintaining the French element in Quebec." There is the trouble. The persecution of Catholics is not only unjust, it is unpolitic. Canada loses and the United States gains by the driving out of the Dominion thousands of honest and industrious agriculturalists.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, CREAT SALE DAYS.

The interest grows with each day's trade. Shoppers are telling their friends, and constant crowds add to the enthusiasm. We have never known a time when prices generally ruled so low-Naturally other stores don't like it, but we're running this business in your interest, and when opportunities present themselves we shall persist in bringing bargains where you can get at them

Notwithstanding the importance of this sale it mustn't interfere with our regular interests. There is no difficulty in getting goods to sell at a sacrifice. Manufacturers are watching us, and waiting their turn to unload. Really money is the prime factor in business these days, and we're making the most of present trade con-

Add these items to those already advertised. We advise you to shop early if you want a good choice,
