A contemporary calls attention to the necessity of a war against the deadly house fly, now proven to be one of the most active disseminators of disease. It seems early to give this advice. Yet it should not be forgotten that when garbage, the accumulation of the winter, is operated on for a week or two by a warm sun it becomes the breeder of flies and injurious bacteria. The lesson is to get backyards cleaned up at the earliest possible date.

Dumped Over Embankment.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Koenig got a bad dump out of their buggy last Saturday morning. They were driving to town, and in coming down the hill just east of the village, their horse became frightened by a goose flapping its wings in Dieb el's swamp, and the animal made a dash over the embankment, which is about four feet high at that point. The buggy was overturned and the occupants thrown out on the frozen ground. Mrs. Koenig was severely shaken up, but Mr Koenig escaped unhurt. The buggy and harness were slightly damaged.

The pleasantness of the winter which we sincerely hope is now about to terminate has to some extent detracted our attention from the length of it. The snow at no time covered the ground to any great depth and the roads for the most part were in splendid condition endering travelling and trafficing easy. We had our share of mild and sunny days alternating occasionally with a day or two of storm. But for all that the winter has been continuous and long and has up to date covered a period of 161 days having started in in real earnest on October 28th. A pleasant summer is to be hoped for after enduring nearly six months of winter.

CANADA CEMENT COMPANY

Annual Report of the Board of Directors

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS:

Your Directors beg to present herewith the annual statement of the affairs and financial position of the Canada Cement Company, Limited, as of the 31st December, 1910.

In presenting the Balance Sheet, we call attention to the Company's strong financial position as disclosed by the large amount of cash on hand, and other quick assets, and the comparatively small amount of current liabilities. After providing for interest on our Bonds and Dividends on our Preferred Stock for the year, we have been able to set up reserves for depreciation, extraordinary repairs and rene vals, bad debts, etc., and carry forward a substantial bal-

The consumption of cement during the past year was not as large as anticipated. Our business also suffered on account of the Railways not being able to meet our full requirements for cars during the heavy shipping scason; consequently we carry over from last year 781,116 barrels of

Early in 1910 the price of our product was fixed at a lower price than cement had ever been sold for in Canada, excepting for a short period in 1909, but your Directors are pleased to state that the anticipated savings in manufacturing and distributing our products were such that

We trust, when you consider the above mentioned conditions, and also the fact that during 1910 our plants were only operated to 57.6 per cent. of their capacity, the profits shown will be

During the current year, we look for a larger natural demand, which demand will be spimulated by continuing to manufacture a strictly high grade article, and by selling it at the lowest possible price. This anticipated increase will enable us to operate our plants to better advantage than in the past, but we do not expect that the demand will be sufficient to enable us to put operation either of the two plants which have been idle since the organization of this Company. However, it is confidently expected that the increased demand, and increased output, will result in further savings in the cost of manufacture and distribution, and it is the policy of your Directors to give your customers the benefit of these reductions.

The Shazeholders' profits will depend on the increased volume of the Company's business, the policy of the Company being the maintenance of such a stable position as will insure regular and uniform payments of interest on its bonds and dividends on its Preferred stock, and at the same time be in a position to withstand any unforeseen emergency that may arise consequent on business depression or otherwise, which condition naturally necessitates the accumulation of, and

It is also the policy of the Company to equalize the price of cement throughout Canada in so far as the physical conditions make such possible, and in furtherance of this policy, your Directors have arranged to purchase a site near Winnipeg, on which they will crect, this year, a mill to grind clinker, which will be shipped from one of our Eastern mills. The buildings, machinery, etc., will be planned so that, should it at any time in the future be advisable, a Burnalige Department can be added, and the clinker produced on the property.

And further, an agreement has been entered into whereby this Company expects to acquire, in the near future, a property at Exshaw, which, added to our Calgary plant, and the projected plant at Winnipeg, will put us in the position of anticipating any extraordinary growth in the consumption of cement in the Great West.

With the view of educating the public, and popularizing the use of cement, in addition to the ordinary advertising, the Company has published a small book illustrating some of the many uses to which cement may be put, for which book there has been a great demand, 25,050 applications for same having been received during the past six months.

For the purpose of stimulating interest in the Company on behalf of the Employes, both in efficiency and cheapening production, as well as creating a feeling of mutual goodwill, your Directors deem it expedient to introduce a system, already adopted by several large industrial corporations with beneficial results, viz., to enable employes to become the possessors of Preferred and Common Stock at prices which will be attractive to them, the employes paying a fixed amount per share per month out of their earnings, and the Company carrying the stock for them, changing a rate of 5 per cent. interest. If the plan is put into effect, all dividends will be credited to the employes applying for the stock. Said stock will be held in trust for the employe for a term of five years, excepting in exceptional cases, such as death, when his heirs will receive what benefit a deceased employe has derived from subscribing to the stock.

Your Directors feel that the policy, as herein outlined, will, as nearly as possible, make the interests of the consumers, the employes, and the shareholders identical, and will inure to the most enduring and beneficial results for all concerned.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

On behalf of the Board of Directors,

The man's name is Martin, and he is 43 years of age. About a year ago, he fell into me machinery face foremost, and it is said that only his eyeballs escaped mutilation, and he was left unable to eat or speak. The surgeons went to work to make him a new face. By means of plastic surgery they kneaded and moulded the flesh as it healed into a chin, and finally succeeded in giving Martin a mouth and lips so that he can now talk and eat. To make him a new nose, they took off one of his little fingers, and the nose being made, Martin is now finished and fit to be seen. The new made face is not of course as handsome as the one he wore before the terrible accident, but he is glad to have a face at all.

The Bill introduced by the member for standard policy. At present, the average fire policy contains so many variations printed in small type that few men know what it all means. If the reader would take the pains to read closely the small type in his application and his policy he will be surprised. In the application which he signed, he probably agreed to accept two-thirds of his loss. The application is made a constituent part of the policy and the policy itself contains all sorts of conditions that may prejudice his claim, or, at any event, may give the insurance adjuster a pretty good club with which to bring the insured into a frame of mind that he is willng to take much less than he should.

The Farmes's Scrap Book.

Every farmer should keep a scrap ook and cultivate the habit of clipping out of the journals or other papers the hings which he reads and desires to remember or call to mind again. It is a poor plan to destroy your paper as soon as you have read in through. If you do not save your papers go carefully over hem and clip out anything you find that interests you, tables of valuable information, recipes, plans or illustrations that you might need for future reference. Cut out these articles and paste them in the scrap book under some system of classification that will be a good index of titles.

Grasping at the Shadow.

Many a man has frequently been persuaded or tempted to withdraw from savings bank the hard earned savings which he has, perhaps for years been laying aside to keep him in his old age, sometimes a friend who applies to him for a temporary loan-"just for a few weeks," the inducement to part with his money being the offer of a handsome bonus, but more frequently is he the victim of the silver-tongued exponent of some get-rich-quick scheme. Experience teaches us, however, that too often does the borrower fail in his probably good intentions, and the lender lose the amount lent as well as the interest which his menzy would have earned had he left it in the savings bank, and that in ninety- nine times out of a hundred does the get-rich-quick scheme fail to materialize-in grasping at the shadow we have lost the substance. The Canadian Government Annuities Act protects a man against improvident acts and injudicious investment-it safeguards him against himself. Money paid into the Annuities fund cannot be alienated or used for any other purpose, but must remain intact for the object for which the payments have been made, otherwise the end aimed at would never, as it has been illustrated above, be attained, and old-age would overtake us unprovided for its many trials and tribulations.

Further information on the subject may be obtained by applying to the Postmaster: or direct to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom all letters go free of postage.

Three Mysterious Fires.

About 2 o'clock Sunday morning, Mr. White, on the O. S. R. near Orchardville, upon accidently wakening up was surprised to see a glare in the sky. He immediately got up and found that his neighbor's (Mr. Owen Heaney) barn was on fire. He at once hurried to arouse Mr. Heany, and before the other neighbors could be made aware of the conflagration in this barn, almost simultaneous ly fire broke out in the barns of Mr. P Heanes and Mr. William Dickson. Many willing hands were soon on ground ready to give their assistance, but were unable to save very little for Mr. Owen Heaney, as he lost nearly everything except his horses. His loss is ver heavy, consisting of 4 head of cattle, 6 &c. He had not teamed out any grain this winter, consequently he lost the been unable to save any of his implements or uehicles. He was unfortunate in also losing the larger portion of last season's grain crop. Mr. Dickson was more fortunate, having saved all his could not be taken out before the flames had reached them. The loss on contents s no small figure, and the losing of all which can hardly be comuted in currency. All three were bank barns, and comparatively new, the two Heaney barns being large structures and the other one of an average size. The cause of the three fires is a mystery, as those 'who witnessed them declare there were no sparks flying untill long after the three very much like incendiarism, and for the

On Woman Suffrage.

In the discussion of the woman's suffrage bill in the Legislature recently, Hon. A. G. McKay said that women had not lost a single stom by going into politics. The same arguments used against woman suffrage had been used against giving votes to workingmen in the old land. As to the objection that women in Ontario do not vote in large numbers where they have that right now, Hon. Mr. McKay said it was due to the fact of their franchise being restricted to widows and spinsters and to municipal affairs.

"I am not in the field of ratiocination," said Hon. Mr. McKay, "if I am not right in this, that in granting the franchise to women we should be giving them the hallmark of full citizenship. Nor would this induce them to rock the cradle less frequently or intelligently if knowing they had in there hands this power of citizenship."

If petitions came in sufficient numbers he said, signed by themselves, their husbands, they would get the franchise But, he asked, did they think they could accomplish more in that way than by exercising their influence without the franchise? Foreigners had not the stake and interest in this country that the mothers of the land necessarily had. This bill, however was not in such a form as was necessary, and he did not think the time quite opportune yet for granting women the franchise, so he did not intend to support the measure at present.

Mental Anguish.

The other day during a lull in business a shop-keeper looked from a shaded doorway on Durham street out into a cold and unprofitable world. There was little to see, except a few passers-by with whom he carelessly exchanged signals, admitting their mutual existence. Presently along Durham street came one-horse wagon driven by a man who was making good time, as if he had heard of a place a mile away where he could get something for nothing. As the vehicle bustled past the store a cat friend in it." for some reason of its own, decided that it wanted to cross the road, undertook to do so, but miscalculated some way, fat pigs, all his implements, buggies, and a wobbly wheel crushed it to death. "Two dollars," exclaimed the driver, appealing implements at this time of year is a loss his eyes to high heaven, "two dollars for "Two dollars-that's what," continued the shopman. The two men haggled for a long time, but finally the driver handed over a one-dollar bill, and drove on, removing the cat for burial. The rightful owner of the cat, we believe was Dr. Fortune, as the man who got the money afterwards admitted that barns were a mass of flames. It looks he never before seen the cat. Electricity And Coal.

C. W. Price, editor of the Electric Review in speaking in New York recently, said :- "I dare make this prediction based on knowledge of important experiments, that the day is not far distant when the coal pine in the cellar will be replaced by the electrical reservoir of box-like shape and of moderate size, to furnish heat throughout the building and also to the kitchen in the restaurants for cooking. And this will be done economically compared with coal, as this accumulated electricity will stored at low cost and can be on tap for use when needed. Then will the coal wagon in front of the house disappear, the furnace caretaker lose his vocation and also the ashman become a reminis cence."

THE STRENGTH OF A CHAIN

Is that of its Weakest Link. Father Morriscy's No. 10 Forges it Anew.

The chain of the physical system is only as strong as its weakest link. When that link breaks, the chain breaks, and serious illness followed by death often results. The weak link with many people is the throat and lungs. In fact, statistics show that over twenty-five per cent of all deaths can be directly traced to diseases of these most important respiratory organs. Weakness here is very dangerous.

piratory organs. Weakness here is very dangerous.

During his long and successful practice, Father Morriscy, the learned priest-physician, was often called upon to treat bronchial and pulmonary affections. He soon found that it was not enough to make temporary repairs on the "link," but that it had to be forged anew, in order permanently to strengthen the chain.

but that it had to be forged anew, in order permanently to strengthen the chain.

After much study, he succeeded in devising a prescription that would secure this result, by not only giving prompt relief but also by rebuilding and strengthening the delicate cells and membranes of the throat and lungs.

This prescription, Father Morriscy's Long Tonic, or No. 10, has cured thousands. It is absolutely free from any dangerous drug, being compounded from Nature's own roots, herbs and balsams.

No. 10 stops the cough, relieves the soreness and strengthens and fortifies the system against future attacks. Even in the early stages of consumption it has proved helpful, but the wise plan is to take it in time, and avoid scrious disease.

In our climate it is well to have a reliable and tested remedy like No. 10 always on hand. Take it at the first appearance of a cold, and keep the chain of hie strong and capable of resistance.

If his weight lessens he works to excess, if his weight increases he has not expended the maximum effort. Amar found that the human machine gives a profit of 25 to 35 per cent. on the expenditure; but that the best artificial machine returns only 14 per cent.

It would seem from these experiments, says the Dietetic and Hy gienic Gazette, that man is, indeed, superior to all mechanisms; the very slight exception that he always wastes energy during the first five minutes of work before regaining his equilibrium.

It would seem that Monday's hu-man labor is the most inferior and Tuesday's the most superior, owing to the curious action of Sunday as 12. Elisha . . . telleth the king of a rest day; the Monday lassitude of the French workingman is proverbial. And it is found that workman who does not rest gradually loses his energy, and this is now a subject of keen interest among scientists. The relation between fatigue and accidents receives much more attention in Europe than here, as do all matters relating to the conservation of human energy and the safety of the workingman. The rela-tion between fatigue and accidents has, indeed, been noted in practically all forms of human energy. Bank clerks make most of takes late in the afternoon, and this is said to have something to do with the early closing of such institutions. Bankers, at any rate, have had the sense to note that the mistakes of their employes are likely to prove expensive.

But Sir Henry says there is much to criticize and amend in Germany still. "The abuse of alcohol still strangles the physical and mental efficiency of a large proportion of German men in the upper and lower classes," A hopeful sign is the indignation shown by the bourgeois

FORCE WOMEN TO WORK.

Compulsory Domestic Service Proposed in Germany.

Compulsory domestic service for girls and women as an equivalent to the universal military service incumbent upon man is a novel proposal put forward by Fraulein Pauline Worner, a leading German feminist, in the current number of Deutsche Prau of Berlin. Fraulein Worner points out that compulsory military training has contributed enormously both to the mental and physical development of German manhood, and declares that similar benefits would be inevitable if the women subjects of the Kaiser were compelled to undergo the training for which nature best fits them.

She explains that it could be enforced without burdening the national Budget, and that it is man who would benefit most from the system, because the state would thus assure them competent and experienced housewives. Fraulein Worner thinks the marriage insti-Canada was not the birthplace of tution would also become more popular if men knew they could select wives who had done service with the "colors" in kitchen, laun-

"When it became necessary through the stress of war," concluded Fraulein Worner, "to introduce compulsory military service there were many protests against such a 'limitation of personal lib erty,' but Germans have lived to appreciate the incomparable blessings of male conscription. Would it be otherwise in the case of girls and women?

'There might be less of the craze for higher education for women, but fewer girls of our lower classes would be compelled to enter industrial occupations."
