

INSPIRING SIGHT ON COURT HOUSE LAWN AT RECEPTION TO GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Their Royal Highnesses Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia Welcomed to City This Morning—Patriotic Songs by Children—Address to the Royal Visitors and Reply—Visit to School for Deaf, St. Agnes School and House of Refuge—The Departure.

Belleville this morning extended a right royal welcome to His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, the Duchess of Connaught and their gracious daughter, the Princess Patricia. The scene that met the gaze of the royal visitors was one of the most beautiful to be imagined. The terraced lawn of the Court House, Pinnacle street was the scene of the historic event.

A bright sun shone out in full glory this morning. The trees on the lawn were in full foliage and beneath their shade the reception took place. All the educational and public institutions of the city were represented along with the military. The scholars of the public and separate schools, the students of Belleville High School, Albert College, Belleville Business College and Ontario Business College were lined up on the terraces, stretching from Pinnacle street to the court house.

Long before 10 o'clock guards and police were on the scene to keep the crowd in check. This grew until Campbell and Patterson streets were crowded, many finding their way to the court house lawn. The windows of the adjacent buildings were crowded, cameras were in hand everywhere.

of citizens. Among those favored were Mrs. J. F. Willis, Mrs. (Senator) H. Corby, Mrs. (Lt-Col) S. S. Lazier, Mrs. P. J. M. Anderson, Miss E. J. Guest, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., Sheriff M. B. Morrison, Lt. Col. W. N. Ponton, Mr. P. J. M. Anderson, Rev. Canon Beamish, Rev. Dr. Baker, Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, Mr. J. B. Flint, Mr. H. Sneyd, Rev. R. C. Blagrove, Mr. J. L. Hess, Lt-Col. S. S. Lazier, Mr. I. L. Moore, Mr. A. M. Chapman, Rev. A. Campbell, Rev. A. Martin, Mr. B. P. Coulter, Mr. Dan A. Cameron, Lt-Col. L. W. Marsh, Mr. H. B. Bleeker, Thos. Montgomery and others.

Quinze Chapter To the Princess Patricia by Barbara Gillen. Women's Institute To the Duchess by Mrs. J. W. Johnson and Miss Claire Hughes.

Shortly after 10.30, the Royal Standard flying from the court house for the first time in its history, the word was passed the train was coming. A flutter of excitement was manifested throughout the vast crowd of children and adults. Eager eyes strained up Pinnacle street as the royal train slowly backed down. As the train passed Patterson street, their Royal Highnesses, the Duke, the Duchess and Princess Patricia were seen standing on the rear platform. The train was stopped as the rear platform was opposite the carpeted walk which led to the platform above.

privileges of our splendid educational institutions in our municipality from Albert College, St. Agnes School, Queen Victoria School, Queen Alexandra School, Queen Mary School, Girls' School, St. Michaels Academy and the Ontario Business College, who join as one in heart and voice in giving you a Bay of Quinte welcome.

His Royal Highness made reply as follows— Belleville, June 2nd, 1914. Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen.— The stirring words and loyal sentiments expressed in your address are I assure you, deeply appreciated.

An inspiring ceremony followed. It was the dedication and presentation of the competition flag, was by Ottawa Street School Cadets. Rev. Canon Beamish offered a prayer of dedication and handed the flag to Mrs. L. W. Marsh, regent of Argyle Chapter I.O.D.E. whose presentation it was.

flag for presentation to the cadets. She said— "Your Royal Highness— The Argyle Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire have the honor of having Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise as Honorary Regent. We are affiliated with the Fifteenth Regiment of which the Duke of Connaught and Duchess of Argyll was Honorary Colonel. As a military chapter our principal object is the raising the standard of manhood in our regiment and we believe that the interest in the cadet movement is a stimulus in that direction. Knowing the interest Your Royal Highness takes in the movement, we ask Your Royal Highness to present this flag to the Queen Mary Band, the Cadet Corps, winner of the recent public school competition in Belleville. I as representing the chapter take the greater pleasure in this request because I am of the Clan Campbell, of which the late Duke of Argyll was chief.

The Duke received the colors on behalf of his corps in a very fine short address. The band then played "Rule Britannia" the children singing and waving their flags and Mr. Cameron directing. The Duke then addressed the children— "I am glad to see you all today and hear you sing so heartily and so well. I have asked for a holiday today for you. You have one tomorrow I know and I hope you will enjoy both very much."

The gubernatorial party left for the Ontario School for the Deaf immediately after the conclusion of the function at the Court House lawn. There were five autos in the procession in addition to the immediate party in attendance there were Mrs. and Mrs. Willis, Col. S. S. Lazier, Sheriff Morrison, County Clerk Chapman, Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., Rev. Canon Beamish and Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, president of the Belleville Board of Trade.

At the entrance to Sidney Township the flags of England, Ireland and Scotland were conspicuously displayed across the roadway. When the party at the grounds of the institution were met at the entrance by the children and staff of Avondale public school. The children presented beautiful baskets of wild flowers and Irish thorn blossoms. This unique offering was gratefully acknowledged.

children, and are making generous provision for their moral, mental, and physical development. Enclosed by new buildings which are being constructed and by arrangements now complete for the commencement of High School work next season. Twenty-five years, "a long period of time, and what a glorious record for Canada, full of the brim of peace, contentment, progress, and enlightenment under the benign rule of Victoria the Good, Edward the "Peace-Breaker" and our present illustrious King George the Fifth.

During all these glorious years your Royal Highness has been in the vanguard of every noble aspiration and every great achievement making for the uplift of humanity and the advancement of the Great Empire to which we belong and Canadians have ever viewed with pride your work as soldier and statesman. May we not, then, be pardoned if, on this occasion we show our joy at being able to greet you again, and at the same time to express our regret that you are not able to sever your official relationship with our Great Dominion, whose highest interests and best welfare you have done so much to promote.

The Duke inspected the carpenter shop and the printing shop, making frequent inquiries and comments. The departure was made amidst cheers and there were resounding cheers again from Avondale school as they passed the main gate.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MR. FLINT GIVES HIS REASONS. To the Editor The Ontario, Dear Sir,—As appeared in the City papers Saturday evening last the action to restrain the city from entering into the pavement contract has been settled and I have dropped the proceedings, though the Chancellor gave us leave to appeal against his judgment, and the council are now in a position, if they think fit, to have the pavement laid by Foley & Gleason.

In justice to those ratepayers who approved of my action, I ought to state my reasons. I found my position was being misunderstood and I was being blamed for desiring to delay the pavement, and as this was not my position, I did not wish to appear in that unflattering and unfavorable light. I desired the pavement and signed a petition for it. I felt, however, if we could have it put down for $7,414.00 less with material that fully complied with the specifications, and by experienced contractors, it was good business to do it. It was urged against accepting Allen & Harveys tender of $7,414.00 less that they had no experience in working with asphalt. This did not seem to me to be a good reason because we give contracts to contractors to build houses who perhaps have never used a paint brush or done a job of plumbing, but they employ competent painters, plumbers, masons, carpenters, etc. Allen & Harvey are contractors of large experience and the specifications for the pavement required, and they offered to employ competent laborers and foremen for handling the asphalt as well as the concrete and excavation work. However, I can afford to pay my share of $7,414.00.

I understand some of the council were influenced against Mr. Allen by a rumor that he had been in some way to blame for an alleged failure of a company he was connected with, also that he had not given satisfaction as County Engineer and was dismissed. I have ascertained from reliable sources that all these rumors are incorrect. I have always been deeply interested in the welfare of Belleville not only personally but financially and while many other citizens lent out their money on mortgages and in real estate and wild-cat speculation, I have been putting my money into homes for the people, and every house I build helps to stay to that extent the upward march of rents and I am sure if others would put their money into houses in the same proportion that I do, those who rent would find their burdens less. Of the very large amount of money expended by me in buildings, every dollar has gone into the pockets of Belleville citizens. J. J. B. Flint.

From the School for the Deaf the party proceeded by way of Bridge George and Dundas Streets to the city hospital and the House of Refuge. Superintendent Wilson had the band most beautifully accompanied. The Duke addressed a few words to the men on one side and to the women on the other and departed amidst great cheering.

THE DOLLAR MARK

The Sign and Its Rescue From Limbo of Forgotten Things

The grandmother of the dollar mark has been discovered!

A scientist, a professor of mathematics, Prof. Florian Cajori, dean of the school of engineers of Colorado college, is the discoverer. He worked on the problem for years.

It is well known that the word "dollar" itself was a corruption of the old German word thaler or thales. It came to this continent with the Spanish, and really took the place of "pieces of eight" in common speech as it was easier to say. Then suddenly, just about the time of the outbreak of the revolutionary war the "dollar sign" appeared.

The first man who used it doubtless knew where it came from, but the knowledge was soon forgotten, and for a century its origin has been a mystery.

It is the general impression that the "S" is simply the letter "U" combined with the letter "S" from the initials "U. S." for United States. As a matter of fact, the mark came into being before there was any such thing as the United States.

As Prof. Cajori informs us, the dollar mark is the literal descendant of the Spanish abbreviation, "Pa" for "pesos," or Spanish dollars, and it came into being as a result of the business dealings constantly in progress between Spanish-Americans and English-Americans during the days before the revolution. The earliest known use of it was in 1776, but it was seldom used until after 1800.

George Rogers Clark, one of the big men of the early days of the republic, received a letter from a correspondent in New Orleans in 1778 that gives the very first authentic record of it that is still in existence. Robert Morris used the mark in a letter—but his mark had but one line running through the "S," which was the first form of the mark.

It came about this way—the "p" to abbreviate "pesos" was made with a long stroke carried upward, and the small "s" made at the top. It was but an easy thing for a careless writer to twine the "s" around the "p"—and there is your dollar mark! When the "S" became large, and the top loop of the "p" was lost and the rest of it turned to a "U," the dollar mark as we know it was complete. Later the "U" became two straight strokes, and now is often written with a single stroke.

SOLID TENT PEG

Stays in the Ground Where Put—Flukes Like Anchor

A tent peg that will stay in the ground when put, there is easily made from iron pipe and a few other pieces of metal. The peg will last for years and no matter what pressure is put against it, cannot be easily dislodged after it is driven in the ground. Slots are cut in opposite sides of an ordinary piece of gas pipe. A pointed wooden plug is fitted to one end of the pipe and a cap with a hole in it to permit a steel rod to pass through is fastened to the other end. Two pieces of steel or iron are attached to the end of the rod, the pieces not being too wide to pass into the pipe. They are made long enough to go through the slots. When the peg is driven into the ground a rod is attached to the end of the rod and it is given a quick jerk. This causes the two pieces of metal to go through the slots and pass into the ground like the flukes of an anchor.

CONFIRMATION IN ANGLICAN CHURCHES

Bishop Mills Pays Official Visitation to Local Parishes Yesterday.

The Anglicans of the city of Belleville were yesterday delighted to have the Right Rev. William Lennox Mills Bishop of Ontario pay his annual visitation once again, and conduct confirmation services in St. Thomas and Christ Churches. He appeared at the former and officiated at the laying on of hands in the morning. The service which was most impressive and solemn, was followed by the celebration of the Holy Communion.

In the evening Bishop Mills officiated at Christ Church where there was a large confirmation class of children and adults. Rev. R. C. Blagrove rector, and Rev. A. J. Glen assisted in the service.

His Lordship the Bishop selected the passage Titus 2, 11 as text. The confirmation class of children and adults, in and out of the parish, were gathered in the church, God's eternal favor of grace bestowed us by the Holy Ghost and the Gospel itself as a manifestation of God's love in the world. In its simplicity, its message and its salutation, God imposes no harsh condition on man but only asks submission to the Son.

Salvation is man's greatest need and God's greatest gift. Witness Bethlehem and Calvary. Salvation is from sin and guilt through the blood of Christ, from the power, the love of sin.

It is God's purpose that all should know Christ and be saved. The commission is to preach the Gospel to all creatures, not to make them nor raise false hopes, but to save. All need salvation what ever age, rank or social status. All have fallen short of the glory of God. We are living from day to day. None of God's offers are for tomorrow. Now is the accepted time. The young without a cloud in the vision of life need the Gospel. Life is uncertain. There are accidents crossing our path every day and in sudden disaster lurk around us. It will not matter how long we live if we do not have that which brings salvation. The dead are not too old nor the children too young. In these days of Jesus before the sacred rite was celebrated, the bishop addressed the candidates on the efficacy of confirmation and their vows.

There is nothing equal to it.

IRVING'S WORDS PROPHETIC OF HIS DEATH?

Rev. R. C. Blagrove Referred With Deep Feeling to Late Laurence Irving's Idealism.

Dominus Illuminatio Mea in the hour of death, after this life's whirl, When the heart beats low, and the eyes grow dim, And pain has exhausted every limb, The lover of the Lord shall trust in Him.

When the will has forgotten the lifelong aim, And the mind can only disgrace its name, And a man is uncertain of his own name— The power of the Lord shall fill this frame.

When the last sigh is heaved, and the last tear shed, And the coffin is waiting beside the bed, And the widow and child forsake the dead— The Angel of the Lord shall lift this need.

For even the purest delight may pall, And power must fail and the pride must fall, And the love of the dearest friends grow small— But the glory of the Lord is all in all.

These words, so prophetic of his life's close, were delivered by the late Laurence Irving, son of Sir Henry Irving, in the course of an address, before the Women's Canadian Club of Belleville, in the armouries, February 27th of this year. The address, "The Drama as a Factor in Social Progress," was read in French at the request of the Women's Club for delivery during his stay here, while presenting "The Unwritten Law."

His admirers here who heard his address will never forget it. He left the conviction of a thoroughly good man, a genius and a gentleman. His wife, Mabel Hickey, his companion in death in the St. Lawrence, will live in the memory of Bellevillians in the portraiture of Sonya, one of the characters of "The Unwritten Law." The Rev. R. C. Blagrove at Christ Church yesterday morning paid high tribute to Laurence Irving's religious life, basing his arguments on the above verses and other selections from the address which Sir Henry Irving's gifted son delivered here. Yesterday was Whit Sunday, a fitting day for a memorial service, when consolation was what bereaved hearts now require.

Mr. Blagrove referring to Mr. Irving's idealism said man often asks why one who has such lofty humanitarian aims in his art should be taken away, but recalling the story of his heroic death, predicted that perhaps hundreds would be aided with the fire which burned in his breast and would strive to emulate his ideal.

The rector also read the parting words of the dead actor— "Again, I think Samuel Taylor Coleridge has summed up the spiritual position of man in these two lines— "He prayeth best who loveth best. All things both great and small."

DISASTER WAS MENTIONED IN CITY PULPITS

Prayers for Bereaved— Service of Song at St. Andrew's.

The wreck of the Empress of Ireland was mentioned in every pulpit in the city yesterday. In the prayers divine consolation was besought for the lonely bereaved and the survivors. The tragedy was too near for the lessons to be fully appreciated, but the sense of awe was over all.

The Salvation Army of this city will on Sunday next hold a memorial service for their drowned commissioner and comrades.

In the services of prayer in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church a number of selections were sung which seemed very appropriate to the occasion. A male quartette composed of Messrs. G. Duimage, C. Dickson, H. Wighamper and E. Mouch, rendered "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," "Ora Pro Nobis" (Pray for Us) was sung by Mr. Dan A. Cameron with deep feeling. Miss Stork, quartette, Mrs. A. P. Allen, Miss H. Ketcheson, Mr. C. H. Vermilyea and Mr. Burrows sang "The Pilot Song," Mr. Burrows taking the solo part. A ladies' quartette composed of Miss Wilson, Miss Ketcheson, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Stollworthy rendered with much expression, "God Lights the Way." The choir sang the anthem—"Son of My Soul."

WEDDING BELLS

A very pretty wedding took place on June 1st at St. Michael's church, when Miss Annie Pearl Vanmeer, were united in marriage to Mr. Albert Lewis Johnstone of Belleville. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Johnstone, and the bridesmaid was Miss Amelia Johnstone, sister of groom. The bride was assisted by Mr. Roy Heave, cousin of the bride. After the ceremony the bride and groom were seated at a table where a dainty luncheon was partaken of. The bride was beautifully gowned in white, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and ferns. The bridesmaid wore white, and carried a bouquet of carnations. The groom's gift to the bride was a necklace set with pearls and peridots to the bridesmaid a bracelet to the bridesmaid a tie pin set with pearls. Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone left on the afternoon train for Niagara Falls, Chicago, Waltham and other western points amid showers of congratulatory and rice. The young couple are very popular, and will receive their friends. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue serge, and white hat and shoes. The groom's suit was of navy blue serge, and white hat and shoes. The bride's trousseau was very complete, and the groom's presents from their numerous friends and relatives were very valuable.

TO APPOINT COMMISSION.

Thorough Enquiry Will Be Made Into Disaster.

OTTAWA, June 1.—Captain Lindsay, Dominion wreck commissioner, will open a preliminary enquiry at Montreal to-day into the wreck of the Empress of Ireland. He will examine the crew of the Storstad as to what happened immediately prior to the collision, and any other individuals among those rescued from the Empress who may have any important information or evidence to give. However, this will be only a preliminary enquiry, and will be followed by another and more searching enquiry by a commission specially appointed by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The British Board of Trade will send representatives to the commission also; indeed, George Vaux is now on his way across the Atlantic. The special enquiry will open on June 8 or 9, and will deal with the general question of safety at sea.

It is Wise to Prevent Disorder.—Many causes lead to disorders of the stomach and liver are free from them. At the first manifestation that the stomach and liver are not performing their functions, a course of Parment's Vegetable Pills should be tried and it will be found that the digestive organs will speedily resume healthy action. Laxatives and sedatives are so blended in these pills that no other preparation could be so effective as they.

LAWYERS.

It was a peculiar pleasure we enjoyed while attending the meeting of the creditors of Dale's Bank at Madoc recently to listen to the addresses of four able lawyers, all of them earnestly pleading with their friends or clients to make a peaceable settlement of their claims and abstain from fighting matters out in the courts. We came away from that meeting entertaining a higher opinion of the legal profession than we had ever held before. Not that we ever regarded the disciples of Blackstone as a band of shy-shers, sharks, or scoundrels. We always held them in wholesome respect, gave them as little business as possible, and believed them to be governed by rather a more rigid code of ethics than the average business man. We did not of course place them on the same high moral plane as clergymen and editors, but we considered them at least qualified to rank in ability, intelligence and integrity with the other great profession of medicine.

There is a fairly general opinion that the lawyer is a meddling mischief-maker, a pettifogging promoter of strife between pugnacious pin-heads an insincere sharp, a conscienceless charlatan.

There may have been a time when such opinions would be pretty generally in accord with fact, but we hold that it is no longer true of any large percentage of the graduates of Osgoode hall.

It is probable that lawyers of old were much given to settling people by the ears and stirring up disputes. The more numerous the scraps, the bigger the pile of shekels that would eventually find their way into the able attorney's exchequer. The old-time barrister was decidedly a man of war. Peace meant paucity of income and general stagnation in the business of distorting the statutes.

But the old order has changed. The meeting of Dale's bank depositors emphasised the fact that whatever the jurist may have been in the past, he is now preeminently a man of peace.

The business of the twentieth century lawyer is not to get people into trouble, but rather to seek the most effective means of keeping them out. The gentlemen of the long robe now require to be more a level-headed man of business, than a juggler with facts and the decrees of parliament. His chief concern is to keep his clients in the path of rectitude by assisting and directing them to do business strictly according to the rules and regulations laid down in the R. S. O.

No one knows better than he the inane folly of fighting disputes out in the courts of law, where decent settlement can be made. Like the jingoes he can fight and fight well if he must, but the good lawyer fights only when more pacific means have failed.

When Mr. W. B. Northrup K. C., told the creditors at the Madoc meeting that he believed they would not receive more than ten cents on the dollar if they appealed to the courts, he spoke from the ripeness of experience and was probably well within the truth. But anyone with the most superficial knowledge of the wasteful processes of warring in the courts, is well aware of the supreme folly of it all.

The modern profession of law, then, is preventive in its nature.

Passing from law to the realms of medicine we find that identically the same process has come about. The twentieth century physician does not seek to cure so much as to prevent disease. The lecture by the provincial analyst at St. Michael's academy on Wednesday night, shows that the various boards of health, are all in the way of prevention.

The old-time practitioner with his pills, and various colored powders, and his solemn air of mystery, savored more of disease and death than of health and happiness. It was often shrewdly suspected that he made the people believe they were sick, or kept them sick, in order to collect the bills. But now we are coming to know that we seldom need a physician except where we have made fools of ourselves in violating the laws of health, and, strangely enough, the physicians themselves are falling in with the idea, and they appear to be making just as much money as ever in warning, or coaxing, or forcing us to keep the narrow path that leads to perfect health.

And, passing again to the realm of state-manship, we have apparently come to the dawn of a higher civilisation where the nations are beginning to realise the deadly absurdity and the awful criminality of war.

We see at Niagara today the spectacle of a great nation like the United States treating in a judicial way its misunderstandings with a weaker nation that it could sooner or later have defeated. Is not this infinitely more sane than to pour out hundreds of millions of treasure and sacrifice many thousands of lives to the lust of the god of war.

War has seldom settled anything right or in a just manner, because war can never prove which nation in the dispute is right, but only which nation is stronger.

The present universal business depression is largely the product of the unreturnable waste of the Balkan war. The unbelievable savagery of that conflict shows the modern war is no different from what General Sherman pictured it half a century ago.

This badly muddled old world bids fair to lose three of its greatest and most ancient illusions—that a man can make money or improve his position by fighting in the courts of law, that he can keep well after violating the laws of health by loading his machinery with drugs, and lastly that war, whether to victor or to vanquished, is economic, social or moral gain, or anything but a brutal method of determining international disputes.

BRITISH POLITICS

There is now very little reason to doubt that Great Britain is on the eve of a general election. The Home Rule Bill is beyond the reach of the Lords, having virtually become law despite them, for no doubt exists in any mind that it will be given the royal assent. Then comes on the scene the amending bill, and this may be rejected by the House of Lords so as to force an election by delaying its final passage until after the expiry of the present parliament. It may be that this is the course reserved upon by the Unionists to defeat the Home Rule cause, and it may be again that even if followed it may not produce the desired effect. The result of a bye-election or two cannot always be assumed to voice the opinion of the country at large.

Meanwhile the almost unexpected calm in Ulster following the passage of the Home Rule Bill is cause for great rejoicing to friends of law and order and of Ireland, everywhere. To a reasoning people, of course, scarcely any explanation was forthcoming as to why there should have been trouble in Ulster at this time. Nevertheless it was blazed in scare headlines all over the world at the instance of a number of excitable correspondents that the passage of the bill would be simply for the outbreak of civil war.

There is of course, no real reason why such a condition of affairs should exist at all, but if anything like armed resistance does occur, it is natural to assume that it will await the final operation of the Home Rule Bill and the eve of the Irish Parliament. There is still some ground for hoping that the wise and conciliatory counsels which have been heard upon both sides of the pending controversy may produce the desired result.

LATIN-AMERICAN PROGRESS

Francisco J. Yanes, of the Pan-American Union, recalls in the Journal of Race Development that the first University in the New World was that of Santo Thomas de Aquino at Santo Domingo, in 1538, no longer in existence. The San Marcos at Lima, Peru, was founded in 1551 the University of Mexico, established in 1553 and re-founded in 1910; Cordoba, Argentina, 1613; Euco, Bolivia 1623; Cuzco, Peru, 1692; Caracas, Venezuela, 1721; Havana, Cuba, 1728 Santiago, Chili, 1743, and Quito, Ecuador, 1787. Humboldt found the scientific equipment of Mexico university the finest in the New World.

In the United States, Harvard was founded in 1733, the sixth of this continent and the fifth of those now existing; Yale in 1701; Columbia in 1754.

All the Latin-American countries maintain scholarships for study abroad. Latin-American theatres are unsurpassed. Opera is given in most of the capitals in excellent style. The press is brilliant, and in the larger cities enterprising. La Prensa of Buenos Ayres has a model newspaper plant. Latin-America led the continent in the installation of printing—in Mexico, 1526—and the first book printed was one by Father Las Casas. Cartagena, Colombia, is said to have been the second city of America to have a printing press, in 1560 or 1562, but Peru seems to hold the record for the first book printed in South America, about 1584. La Paz, Bolivia, had a printing establishment about 1610. The first work in Bogota was printed about 1760, Venezuela in 1764, Chili in 1776.

Railroad building in Latin-America is held back by sparse population, by the impossibility of crossing the Andean wall at most points and by the cheapness of river freighting. However, there are 65,000 miles of Latin-American railways, against 207,342 in Europe and 241,199 in the United States. Argentina has 20,000 miles and Mexico 16,000 miles, against 24,725 miles in Canada and 37,495 in Germany.

Latin-American commerce is $2,811,000,000 chiefly raw materials. This is surpassed by the single nations—Great Britain, Germany and the United States—but about equals the commerce of France. It is more than twice that of Russia though Russia has more than twice the population of Latin-America.

There are telegraph, telephone and electric lights in the larger towns. Buenos Ayres has a subway in operation.

All the greatest prizes of the legal profession in Great Britain, says the New York Post, are reserved for the barristers. It is from their ranks that the Lord Chancellor, the judges, and the law officers of the Crown are chosen. It is the leaders of this branch that make the largest incomes, and that win the popular reputation that follows a brilliant display of forensic ability in a cause celebre. A barrister's successes in the courts are public triumphs, and they are a distinct asset to him if he aspires to a political as well as a legal career.

But though it is only the barrister that figures largely in the newspapers, the members of the other branch of the profession fill an important and honorable place in the community. While the young solicitor has to give up all prospect of elevation to the judicial bench or winning the more dazzling trophies of the law, he may make an income that, although far short of the fees of the leaders of the bar, considerably exceeds what can be earned by many barristers of long standing. If he combines a sound knowledge of the law with good business aptitudes, but has no natural gift of eloquence, he may possibly do much better for himself in venturing upon the riskier career of an advocate.

Extremely impressive, says the Springfield Republican, was the great anti-profanity parade of the Holy Name societies in Washington, in which 22,000 persons took part. There is reason to think that the prevalence of profanity is due to thoughtlessness rather than to choice. Children pick up strong words and think them manly; a permanent habit is easily formed unless some refining influence intervenes. Yet even the profane usually purge their speech in polite company, and such a collective force as this huge parade represents will make reform much easier for those who have come to see the folly and offensiveness of swearing.

The birds are fast coming back to us so that we may live. Few people stop to consider that birds are necessary to human life. They are required to preserve the "balance of nature." Some people claim that of all the balancing forces nature the most indispensable is the living bird.

In the great plan of organic nature there exist between the orders of life—vegetation, insects, and the birds—what have been termed primeval economic relations, the existence of each one depending upon that of the others. But for vegetation the insects would perish; but for the birds the trees would perish; and to follow the inexorable laws of nature to conclusion of their awful vengeance when they are set at naught, but for vegetation which is the prime requisite for the perpetuity of all other forms of life upon the earth, the world would perish.

These facts are becoming more generally known; but it is well to mention them again when the birds are coming back to us so that everyone may be on the watch to protect them. They are slaughtered for food, for plumage decorations, and frequently just wantonly. People should guard them.

In view of results in the recent military manoeuvres, M. Millerand, the French Minister of War, has, says the New York Post, resolved to extend considerably the sphere of the motor in war. It was found that motor gun-carriages, equipped with self-acting wheels, had no difficulty in negotiating slopes and ditches. So several of them are to be sent immediately to the troops in Morocco. But it is not only as gun-carriages that motors are to be used. They are to be adopted in the commissariat. At present food convoys are accompanied by flocks of sheep and herds of cattle, and the animals are slaughtered as the need arises. These herds naturally hamper the mobility of a column; and further, the long marches affect the quality of the meat. With motor convoys all these disadvantages will disappear. Owing to their great mobility such convoys will be able to provision themselves either from large towns or specially constituted depots. There will also be a motor service for the transport of bread, wine, vegetables, and other perishable foods. The use of the motor car in the medical service will be perfected and extended. It has been found possible by a system of joists to convert an ordinary taxi into an admirable ambulance. Motor ambulance stations are to be established in certain sheltered points, which need not be close together, as a motor ambulance can easily travel 150 miles in a day.

Lay a plank on the ground, and a million people will walk it without thought of losing balance. Lift it 25 feet high, and only one in a thousand will dare to walk it. Lift it 100 feet and not more than one in a million will venture upon it.

It illustrates the difference between littleness and bigness of purpose; and the difference is not in the plank but in the people.

A big thing is generally done just as easy as a little one—if one only gets at it with proper force applied to the right place. The big automobiles run with less noise and seeming strain than the little ones. The giant locomotive seems to glide with greater ease than the dummy engine.

The main difference between the millionaire and the pauper is that the one frames his thoughts to the forms of millions and the other his to the forms of pennies.

The main difference between the educated man and the ignorant one is that the one seizes upon the essential things and the other does not.

Some of the most highly educated men the world knows, or ever has known, have had the least learning. Some of the world's most learned men have been the most ignorant.

What do you know that counts? There is the measure of your education. What do you do to make yourself better and braver and brighter? There is the measure of your real culture, power and opportunity.

It is really harder to walk the high plank than the low one, except for fear. The many look down and fall through dizziness. The few look straight ahead, confidence of success.

But remember this: However high your plank may be, make sure that you are walking it to something worth while.

For many of the things that most of us deem little are very big.

Men have controlled kingdoms who did not regulate their own homes.

Men have won fortunes while wasting their lives.

THE ROSE THAT GREW TOO HIGH FOR ME.

I was peeping through the bramble,
That little, wild, white rose,
Where the hawthorn hedge was planted
My garden to enclose.
All beyond was thorn and heather,
All within was sun and shelter,
And the wealth of beauty's store.
But I did not heed the fragrance
Of flow'ret or of tree,
For my eyes were on that white rose
And it grew too high for me.

And through that summer morning
I lingered near the spot;
Oh, why do things seem sweeter
When we possess them not?
My garden buds were blooming,
But all that I could see
Was that little, mocking white rose
Hanging just too high for me.
So, in life a wider garden
There are buds of promise, too,
Beyond our reach to gather,
But not beyond our view.
And, like the little charmer,
That tempted me astray,
They steal out half the brightness
From many a summer day.
Oh, hearts that faint with longing
For some forbidden tree,
Look up! and learn a lesson
From my white rose and me.

'Tis wiser, far, to number
The blessings at our feet
Than ever to be sighing
For just one bud more sweet.
My sunbeams and my shadows,
Fall from a pierced hand,
I can surely trust His wisdom
Since His heart I understand.
And maybe in the morning
When his blessed face I see,
He'll tell me why my white rose
Grew just too high for me.

WHEN FATHER CHANGES

My father is a quiet man,
That is—he's mostly so,
At home he never cuts much ice;
His step is always slow,
It's seldom that we see him smile,
He keeps still as he can,
But in the grandstand at the game—
Say, he's a different man.

He hollers and he swings his arms,
He jumps around and kicks,
The backs of those in front of him
Receive some awful licks.
He gives instructions to the team,
At errors he will fuss,
And, now and then when things go wrong,
My father starts to cuss.

At times the people nearby ask;
"Who is that noisy guy?"
Or some one mutters, "Look at that!"
On brains that fellow's shy."
My father is a quiet man,
At home he's awful tame,
But when you ought to see him in
The grandstand at the game.

COMMISSION NAMED

Two Canadians and an Englishman to Probe Disaster.

LORD MERSEY IS COMING

Chief of Board Which Investigated Titanic Catastrophe Will Probably Represent British Board of Trade Along With Judge Routhier and Chief Justice McLeod—Bill is Hastened.

OTTAWA, June 2.—The House of Commons lost no time yesterday morning in facilitating the passage of an amendment to the Shipping Act which will give power to appoint a special commission to inquire into the Empress of Ireland disaster. With the unanimous consent of the House the bill was given a first and second reading yesterday morning and will get a third reading to-day when it will be sent to the Senate.

Hon. J. D. Hazen, who introduced the amendment, explained that under the present act the Minister has power to form a board composed of a Government official or judge. Only one commissioner could be appointed and the Government could not go outside of these classes for a member of the board. It was felt that in the case of the Empress of Ireland there should be the most searching inquiry. He proposed an additional clause to the bill, where in case of extreme gravity the Minister may appoint "two or more fit persons" to conduct an investigation.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he agreed entirely with the bill, and commended the Minister for his action. There should be the most ample inquiry into the disaster.

Premier Borden added a few words, saying that the British authorities had already been notified of the Government's intentions as regards the investigation. He added also that the Canadian Pacific Co. had asked for a searching inquiry. The investigating board will be composed of Sir Rodolphe Routhier, judge of the Quebec Admiralty Court, and Hon. E. M. McLeod, Chief Justice of New Brunswick, and also judge of the Admiralty Court of Brunswick, together with Mr. George Yaux, the British expert, whom the British Board of Trade is sending to Canada.

The board will meet immediately upon arrival of Mr. Yaux. It was announced last night that Lord Mersey will probably be with George Yaux, to represent the British Board of Trade.

In addition to the commissioners there will be three nautical assessors appointed to lend their assistance. One of these will be Captain Vales of Prince Edward Island, the other two have not yet been decided on. The Government has been informed of the probability of Lord Mersey taking part in the inquiry. He presided at the inquiry into the Titanic disaster.

Unsinkable Ship Useless. MONTREAL, June 2.—G. B. Hunter of the transatlantic and dreadnought firm of Swan, Hunter, Wigam, Richardson & Co. of the Clyde and Tyne, who is in Montreal, when asked last night if it would be possible to building an unsinkable ship. He said:

"An unsinkable ship can be built all right, but she would be little or no use as a carrier. She would be absolutely useless as a freight ship, and very little good as a passenger ship."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

An "arson squad" of militant suffragettes yesterday destroyed by fire the historic parish church of St. Mary's, Wargrave, three miles from Henley on the Thames.

Some time during Sunday night Foxton's sawmill, located on the Perth road, was blown up by dynamite. No reason can be given for the outrage. The mill is almost a total wreck.

Ran down by a G. T. R. west-bound train at the Cherry street crossing yesterday, Peter John, a Macedonian laborer, living at 40 Berkeley street, Toronto, was probably fatally injured.

A militant suffragette, evading the watchful officials in St. Paul's Cathedral, mounted the steps of the lectern at the services Sunday, and harangued the astonished worshippers upon "the wrongs of women." Because he had been refused something to eat at the home of David Bauder near Kingston, John Simpson, a tramp, a big husky chap, drew a knife and attempted to stab Bauder. Simpson was arrested and given 30 days in jail.

No one in the House of Commons could be found yesterday who was willing to be sponsor for Senator Davis' Anti-tipping Bill. When introduced the speaker named Hon. Frank Oliver and Mr. F. B. Carvell as mover and seconder. Mr. Carvell refused to act in that capacity.

BECKER HAS A YEAR.

Legal Proceedings To Appeal Case May Take That Time.

NEW YORK, June 2.—It is announced that a notice appeal in the case of Charles Becker, sentenced to death for the Rosenthal murder, will be filed within a few days. This notice, of course, automatically stays execution so that Becker will not have to die during the week beginning with July 8. The Becker lawyers have stated that they would be ready to argue the case before the Court of Appeals at the beginning of the fall term in October. It is believed, however, that it will be a year before the court can act on the case. In the meantime Becker is lodged in a death cell at Sing Sing prison.

Busy Trenton

Trenton, May 27.—It is rumored that a committee of four experts is about to be formed in Madoc. They ought to be asked to visit George St. dump. The Stirling Public Library Board has purchased a site for their new Carnegie Library and held Tag Day on May the 25th for the purpose of securing funds to pay for same. We heard that there was quite a commotion in East Trenton on the holiday, and the trouble may be explained in the following lines:— One Fathier Hubbard went to the cupboard. To quench his awful thirst; When he got there— The cupboard was bare— His wife had been there first. Mr and Mrs. H.A. Thomson spent Monday and Tuesday of this week in Toronto. The caskets were duly inspected on Monday. Our representative tells us that he was called down for not having his cap on straight. Another fine bocker spaniel, the property of Mr. J. H. Bills, was poisoned last week by some fender Mr. A. J. Holley's dog was also a victim, but has recovered. Mr. Rogers, the Law Assistant Superintendent of the C. P. R. was in town yesterday. It is probable that he will build a residence in the vicinity of the Divisional Office. Mr. R. E. Macfarlane, of London, formerly of the Melons Bank here, was in town yesterday visiting friends. The meeting called to consider plans for entertaining the Old Boys was at first only about half a dozen citizens turning out. Another meeting will be called for Friday evening. The village of Port Stanley is using oil this summer to keep down the dust. It is also used by the village of Onondaga for the same purpose. We would like to see a trial of it made here. The people who think it objectionable must have come in contact with a poor grade of oil.

The latest news at the Trenton

Ontario and Bank of Montreal, is to be replaced at once by a fine block of stores. When this block is occupied there will be little if anything to choose between the two sides of Dundas street from a business standpoint. Mr. Johnston, of Toronto, was in town today interviewing the President of the Board of Trade regarding the advisability of building houses to sell. He was advised to build houses to rent, with a view of selling at a later date. The Executive of the Board of Trade have a fine proposition in hand, which if conditions can be made attractive by the town may be secured. The Gilmore Door Company Park land, adjoining the C. P. R. Divisional Office, should be secured at once by the town for a public park. We cannot understand why something is not done to make sure of this valuable and beautiful piece of property. The foliage at present time is magnificent and on Sunday last, hundreds of our citizens enjoyed to the full, the shady walks and the views from the heights. Mr. G. Spicer of Peterboro will shortly take up his residence here. Mr. Spicer is an official of the C. P. R. On May 31st next, at 12:01 a.m., the new Toronto-Trenton Division of the C. P. R. will place in effect its new timetable. Passenger trains for the west will leave Trenton at 7:29 a.m. and at 3:26 p.m., returning trains will leave Toronto at 8:05 a.m. and at 6:30 p.m. We have again been informed that a large motor bus is being negotiated for, and will be placed on the run between the hotels and the G. T. R. C. P. R. stations. We hope it is not a fairy tale. Mr. Arch Abbott, harristier, is making extensive improvements to his beautiful East Trenton residence. It looks as if Archie was preparing for a parliamentary career. He ought to make a good run in North Hastings, where he goes fishing so often. A large crowd will go to Bellville from this town and district on June 3rd, King's Birthday. The Melons Bank has opened a new branch office at St. Marie, Quebec, also one at Treteville, Quebec. Trenton, May 29.—The death is an

WELLINGTON

What did you tell your wife when you got home to Ottawa from the club last night? I told her she was the sweetest woman in the world. The city fathers of Colborne journeyed to Ottawa to request that the Hon. Sam Hughes give them a drill shed. Unconvinced today of Mr. B. S. Crews, late of Murray township, deceased was one of the most respected of Murray's citizens, and was particularly well known throughout the town and township. The funeral will take place on Saturday from his late residence to St. George's cemetery. Mr. A. I. Holbrook, cattle buyer, of Buffalo, is in town today looking up fine grade butchers' cattle. Mr. Wertheimer shipped to Buffalo today a number of the best butchers' cattle to be had for money in this district. Four cows brought the farmer over three hundred dollars, practically $80 each. Mr. Harry Dempsey has issued a writ against the Union Bank, in connection with the sale by the bank of hypothecated Ontario & Quebec Steamship stock. Mr. Dempsey asks for an accounting. The nomination meeting of the Conservative party in West Hastings will be held in Trenton in June 15. It is rumored that three prominent Trenton stalwarts will try for the nomination. Mrs. E. J. Dench and Miss Winifred are leaving for West Ontario where they will spend the summer. Mr. Don Fraser, of the Bank of Montreal, Kingston, is spending his holiday at the parental home. Mrs. Jas. Stevenson, who resides at the D. J. Hawley residence in East Trenton. It is being renovated prior to moving in. Jas. Petropoulos, confectioner, is being sold out under execution proceedings. The sale is advertised for 9th June. Mr. and Mrs. Westfall, of Rochester, have returned to Trenton to reside. Trenton, May 30.—The second meeting called to make arrangements for entertaining the Old Boys was an entertaining affair. One or two citizens taking the trouble to turn out. Mr. J. E. Rogers, Ass't Supt. of C.P. R. Trenton Divisional Office in town today, making arrangements for the inauguration of the freight and passenger service between Trenton and Toronto. Mr. Rogers asks what was going to be done toward providing houses for the men who are reporting here every day now. We told him that they would probably have to live in tents until the builders get some houses ready. Mr. Alex. Miron, of Orillia, owner of a large portion of the Patricia Park subdivision, is in town today arranging with Doxsee & Cumming for the erection of a number of houses. A condensed milk concern is seeking for inducements to operate a factory in Trenton. There should be no difficulty in getting a good supply of milk. Mr. Lewis, an old citizen, father of Councillor Lewis, was taken with a dizzy spell this afternoon close to the curb in getting into the town bridge. He was carried into Gill & Fortune's office, where after a short time he recovered sufficiently to be taken home. A teamster driving a load of lumber along Dundas street met with an accident which might have resulted seriously. A motor car going out of the western entrance of the bridge frightened the team, causing them to swerve and jolt the driver off the swinging board seat. He came down pretty hard but no broken bones. A number of the Boy Scouts started on a tramp to Weller's Bay today. Troop leader Galloway is to be congratulated upon the fine showing made by his corps at inspection on May 29. Supt. Stewart is making close to the way between the G. T. R. Subway and Dam No 2. This portion of the Frank ford road has long been a nightmare to travellers. Ira Montgometry was fined at today's police court, $4.00 for disorderly conduct. Trenton, June 1.—The marriage of Miss Florence Allore, daughter of Mr. A. Allore, lumber dealer, Front Street to Mr. W. J. Lloyd, takes place today. Mrs. J. S. Derich, of Marmora Street, leaves on the "Belleville" tomorrow for Lachine, where she will reside in the future with her daughter, Mrs. Lochend. The Campbellford Board of Trade is taking steps to have a party room associated British Boards of Trade visit that town shortly. At a recent meeting of the Board of Trade meeting, it was proposed by Mr. C. L. Owen, that the town of Campbellford sell to the Hydro Commission the output of their municipal power plant for $9.00 per h.p. Other members of the Board thought the Hydro should pay $12.00 per h.p. A large number of C. P. R. employees arrived in town on Saturday evening and this morning, going out in large vans to the Divisional Office. Accommodation for the men being so entirely inadequate, the Company has placed at their disposal a fine, large dining car, where they will be able to get meals. Many complaints are made out of the lack of sleeping accommodation. Mrs. Jas. Stevenson, of North Trenton, who is moving over in East Trenton, will sell by auction, at her present residence a large portion of her house effects on June 13th. The Libbey, McNeil and Libby Co. of Chicago will probably establish a large condensed milk factory at Listowel. We might have had this in Trenton, had it not been in delay of getting information from the Board of Trade of the Town Industrial Committee. One condition on which Listowel is to get this factory is that they have inter-switching established. Something was suggested by the Board of Trade in connection with this matter some months ago, but apparently nothing has been done, though the railway people themselves have taken the initiative. Members of "C" Company, 49th Regiment, have been notified that an annual drill will take place at Listowel between June 15th and 26th. Men wishing to enroll are requested to report to Capt. Blywater. The city fathers of Colborne journeyed to Ottawa to request that the Hon. Sam Hughes give them a drill shed.

APPLES WILL BE PLentiful

Enquiry into the fruit prospects of this district for the year shows that the apple bloom was never more promising. Fruit growers generally agree that with favorable conditions, Central Ontario will witness the greatest apple crop in its history. The majority of growers agree that spraying is to a great extent responsible for this promising outlook. In places where the spraying has been properly done there are no signs of caterpillars. Orchards where spraying was neglected are alive with the pests. The most generally used spray has been soluble sulphur and it has given good satisfaction. Prospects for pears, cherries and plums are far from promising, judging by the scanty bloom. The severe winter is blamed for this, the small fruit buds not being as hardy as the apple. Recent rains have helped berries and currants but at the best the crop will be very poor. In this connection it might be well to forewarn growers regarding the excessive packing of apples. Ontario in its barrels on the Western markets, were passed by this winter, for the Western fruit. There was not a box of Ontario fruit to be found but the condition of the Ontario barrelled fruit was horrible to behold. Ontario can grow the best apples known, but in spite of this Ontario apples have been sold for less than the cost. It is high time that proper care should be exercised in packing otherwise Ontario apples will receive but slight consideration in the world's markets.

THE "FUNERAL SHIP" REACHES QUEBEC ESCORTED BY THE CRUISER ESSEX

Will Killful and Reverent Aid of the Men of H.M.S. Essex the Remains are Borne Ashore and Placed on Supports in Long Freight House—Lady Grey Acts as Funeral Ship.

QUEBEC, June 1.—The deep yielding up its dead. Throughout the weary hours of a long, murky night groups of drawn, tense faces gazed unseeing over the silent St. Lawrence, shrouded in camp darkness. Dawn broke clear; sunlight bathed the waters. As the Sabbath bells of the historic Basilica gave forth their early call to worship there rounded into view, far down the great river, the revenue cutter Lady Grey. The "funeral ship," the habitant called her in quaint reverence.

The little steamer, commanded by Captain Mercier, had conveyed 176 bodies from the Empress of Ireland, was guarded and escorted by H. M. S. Essex, an armored cruiser despatched by the Admiralty for this service in the personal request of the King. The flags of both vessels dipped at half-mast.

It was shortly after seven o'clock when the two vessels approached the Government pier, half a mile below the city. The warship came to anchor out in the river and reverently saluted. The little Lady Grey, with her sad freight, steamed slowly to the pier. On her bridge with Captain Mercier and the pilot was Commander Tweedie of the British warship, while, standing guard over the tiers of caskets and boxes which crowded both her decks, were lines of British blue-jackets, acting in co-operation with Chief McCarthy of the provincial police and four detectives for many of the coffins contained jewelry and valuables found on the dead. The Lady Grey docked sharp at eight o'clock.

The harbor-master, Captain Murray, who commanded the Empress of Ireland before Captain Kendall took her over, representing the Marine Department, a group of clergymen,

Captain of Liner Says He Had Warned the Storstad.

INQUEST IS COMMENCED

In Spite of Serious Illness Master of Empress of Ireland Gives His Testimony Regarding the Disaster—He Asked Collier in Vain to Steam Ahead in Order to Keep Empress Afloat.

RIMOUSKI, Que., June 1.—The inquest into the death of the victims of the Empress of Ireland disaster began Saturday in a little school-house, which has been hastily turned into a morgue to accommodate the 200 bodies brought here. Coroner Pinard conducted the inquest, and all the evidence had to be translated because the jury was French. The center of attraction was Captain Henry George Kendall, master of the lost liner, who consented to give evidence, though he is to leave a sick bed to-day.

"Will you tell us what happened when you had the accident?" asked the coroner of Captain Kendall.

"The pilot was dropped at Father Point," said Captain Kendall. "We then proceeded full speed. After passing Cointreau gas buoy I sighted the steamer Storstad. It then became clear to me that the Storstad was about one point twelve degrees on my starboard bow. At that time I saw a light fog bank coming gradually from the land and knew it was going to pass between the steamer and myself. The Storstad was about two miles away at that time. Then the fog came and the steamer's lights disappeared.

"I rang full speed astern on my engines and stopped my ship. I took the way of the ship so as to stop her quick. At the same time I blew three long blasts on the steamer's whistle, meaning 'I am going full speed astern.' After that he answered me with his whistle, giving me one prolonged blast.

"I then looked over the side of my ship into the water and saw my ship stopped. I then stopped my engines and blew two long blasts, meaning 'My ship was under way, but stopped, and had no way upon her.' He answered me again with one prolonged blast. The sound was then about four points upon my starboard bow. It was foggy. I looked to where the sound came from. About two minutes after I saw his red and green lights. He would then be about one ship's length from me.

"I shouted to him through the megaphone to go full speed astern, as I saw the danger of collision was inevitable. At the same time I put my engines full speed ahead with my helm hard aport with the object of avoiding the collision. He did not answer me at the same time he came and cut me right in and cut me down in a line between the funnels.

"Captain Kendall said he asked the steamer to keep full speed ahead so as to fill up the hole made by the Empress. The Empress began to all rapidly and sink. He tried to run the ship ashore, but the engines stopped. All were then ordered to the boats and distress signals sent out. The ship, however, sank in fifteen minutes. He was blown away and came up chattering a wooden grating on which he was picked up.

British Official Coming.

LONDON, June 1.—Speaking to the Canadian Associated Press yesterday, John Burns, President of the Board of Trade, said George Yaux of the department left for Ottawa yesterday to arrange with the authorities for an inquiry into the disaster. Mr. Burns said that as early as Friday he suggested to the Admiralty that a party of blue-jackets should be placed at the disposal of the C.P.R. officials. Mr. Burns added incidentally that he had been in personal attendance at his department day and night since the first news of the catastrophe was received.

CABLE FROM KING AND QUEEN

Their Majesties and Several Others Send Condoling Messages.

OTTAWA, June 1.—Cablegrams expressing the sympathy of the King and Queen and Queen Mother Alexandra, Hon. Lewis Harcourt, the Colonial Secretary and the people of Newfoundland, with the relatives and families of those who lost their lives in the wreck of the Empress of Ireland, have been received by H. E. H. the Governor-General. The King's message reads as follows:

"I am deeply grieved at the awful disaster to the Empress of Ireland, in which alas so many Canadians have lost their lives. The Queen and I assure you of our heartfelt sympathy with those who mourn for the loss of their relatives and friends.

(Signed) "George R. and I."

Prince Louis, who is the Duke of Argyll, and as one-time Governor-General of Canada, has sent the following message to her brother, the Duke of Connaught: "Terribly grieved at appalling disaster to Canadian liner Empress. My heartfelt sympathy."

ALL THREE OF THEM JUMPED

But Only Mother and Daughter Were Saved—Father Lost.

MONTREAL, June 1.—To dive into the water with her husband and daughter, and to be separated from them, and to afterwards meet her daughter alone on the deck of the Empress, was the experience of Mrs. O'Hara of Toronto. Mr. O'Hara, who is reported saved, was apparently lost. Telling her story, Mrs. O'Hara arrived Saturday from Rimouski.

"I was with my husband, my daughter and myself, made my way to the deck when the ship was sinking. Mr. O'Hara thought that the ship could not hold up long, and there seemed to be no chance to get into the lifeboats. He told his wife and daughter, who are both good swimmers, to jump into the water and keep afloat until the Storstad picked them up. The three went over the side and at first kept together, Mr. O'Hara supporting his daughter. In the darkness they became separated. Mr. O'Hara was picked up by a boat, but Mrs. O'Hara and her daughter were not. There she was met by her daughter, who had also kept herself afloat. The girl did not know what had happened to her father.

SURVIVOR MAKES SERIOUS CHARGE

Survivor Charges Serious Mistakes in Equipment of Liner.

TORONTO, June 1.—Charges of a most serious character were made by L. G. Godwin, one of the survivors, who arrived in Toronto last night, when interviewed at the Queen's Hotel. He charges that many second and third class passengers were barred from access to the deck because of a door leading to the deck being locked.

Although efforts were made by the imprisoned passengers to break down the barrier they died like rats in a trap.

Although he took two trips to his first cabin in search of lifeboats, none were to be found there, and the same was probably the case in most of the other staterooms.

Even though he was one of the first to arrive on the promenade deck, there were only three life preservers on the deck when he was picked up.

That these life-preservers were fastened with binder twine, and that it was only with the utmost difficulty were they loosened.

That the crew, who knew the location of the life belts and that they secured them for themselves.

That the lifeboats, no matter in what position they struck the water, they did not sink, but owing to the heavy seas, few were launched. Could they have been unfastened they would have afforded something to which the drowning passengers could have clung.

That the lifeboats left the wreck before taking on a capacity load, leaving scores of struggling beings behind, he himself being picked up by one three-quarters of a mile from the scene less than half filled and hurried away to the Storstad, he added.

His story follows:

"About 2:05 a.m. I was awakened by the shock of the collision. Realizing that something serious had occurred, I rushed out of my stateroom. I tried on to the deck and I saw plainly a boat to the stern, which afterwards proved to be the Storstad. Although there was a slight fog, I could easily discern the outlines of about a hundred yards away.

STORSTAD IS SEIZED ON REACHING MONTREAL

With her bows crumpled in and twisted around at an acute angle to port, and a gaping rent showing on the port side but a foot or so above the water line, in mute evidence of the tragedy in which she has figured, the Norwegian collier Storstad "imped into the harbor early yesterday afternoon. A few minutes later a warrant of arrest, taken out by the Canadian Pacific Railway, was slipped to her mate-mast by order of W. Simpson Walker, K.C., registrar of the Quebec Admiralty Court.

"What authority do you come on board my vessel and place it under arrest?" asked Captain Anderson, commander of the collier.

"By authority of the British Empire," curtly replied the Deputy Sheriff, who was commissioned to execute the warrant, and who forthwith proceeded to affix the warrant in the customary place.

No sooner was the vessel moored than the work of unloading her cargo of some 11,000 tons of coal started, and were it not for the hazardous condition of her bows it would be difficult to imagine that the collier had but a few hours previously taken part in one of the greatest marine disasters in the history of Canadian navigation.

The officers and men, however, bore traces of the harrowing experiences through which they had just passed. When questioned on the subject of the disaster they were averse to entering into conversation.

Captain Anderson, immediately the collier docked, was in conference with Captain Ove Lange, American chief of the Maritime Steamship Co. of Norway, and John L. Griffin, attorney for the company, both of whom had come on from New York to get the report of the captain and sailors first-hand and to look into the situation.

Captain Anderson declined at first to discuss the disaster, declaring that he would make a statement later in the evening. Subsequently a statement based on Captain Anderson's report, as well as the reports of other officers to Messrs. Lange and Griffin, was given out.

According to the captain and officers, contrary to what has been stated by certain of the Empress' officers, the Storstad did not back away after the collision. On the contrary, she steamed ahead in an effort to keep her bow in the hole she had dug in the side of the Empress. The Empress, however, according to the Storstad's officers, headed away and Storstad's bow over at an acute angle to port. After that the Empress was hidden from the view of the Storstad, and despite the fact that the Storstad kept her whistle blowing she could not locate the Empress until the cries of some of the victims in the water was heard. The captain absolutely denies that he was a mile or so away from the Empress after his vessel struck the Empress. The Storstad had not moved, it was the Empress which had changed position.

According to the report made by the captain to the owners, immediately the collision occurred he heard Captain Kendall's shout, calling upon him not to pull away.

"I shouted the Storstad's captain, as loud as he could. After that the Empress disappeared from the Storstad's view.

FIFTEEN SALVATIONISTS ARRIVED IN TORONTO FROM SCENE OF WRECK OF EMPRESS OF IRELAND

(Special to The Ontario.)

When the Montreal C.P.R. train steamed slowly into the Union Station at 7:30 Saturday night, 11 minutes later a hearing of the Salvation Army survivors from the wreck of the Empress of Ireland, there were nearly two thousand crowded on the platform and in the waiting-room of the station.

Friends or relatives were spied by the anxious people on the platform through the windows of the train before it had come to a stop, and many a cheer rent the air. When the Captain of the Empress stepped to the door of the car every person cheered. By the time he had reached the bottom step all hats were off and the "Doxology" was being sung. He was soon in the arms of his friends and was carried across the tracks to Station street, to where a motor car was waiting to convey him to Eaton's store. There were about a dozen motor cars waiting to take the survivors to the stores to be fitted out with clothing.

Advance Guard Arrives

The advance guard of Beathy & Oldfield arrived at noon today. They are Messrs. Beathy, a brother of Lincoln's, Hill, Mix, and Beason. Oldfield and Beathy arrive tomorrow in their special car along with their machines.

GAVE BELT TO ANOTHER

Sir Henry Seton-Kerr Played the Hero's Part.

QUEBEC, June 1.—M. D. A. Darling of Shanghai, was saved by a life belt, that might have saved Sir Henry Seton-Kerr, Darling said Saturday.

"My cabin was opposite Sir Henry's and when I opened my door he opened his arms and we bumped into each other in the passageway.

"He had a lifebelt and he offered it to me.

"I refused it, but he said, 'Go on, man, take it, and I will get another. I told him to rush out and save himself, but he got angry and actually forced the belt over me along the corridor to the deck, leaving me there. He turned back for another belt and a moment or two after he had left the ship went down.

"I was picked up by the Storstad."

Police Notes

The police had two calls, one to a place where a prohibited later was stated to be drunk and one to an East Belleville residence. No arrests were made.

DEATH OF WM. A. BULL

Kenora, May 31.—Mr. William A. Bull, an old and well known resident of Kenora, passed away last evening after a lingering illness of some months. Deceased was a native of Belleville, had been a priest of the Dalmore Hotel here for some time. He was in his 80th year, and leaves a wife.

Deseronto, June 2.—On Monday about 5:15 the fire alarm sounded and was found fire had started at the mill but fortunately was confined to the oil house and supply houses at the back of the mill; the wind was in the direction of the mill and only by the firemen and the willing workers the mill was saved. The roof on the boiler house was burned and the damage to the building was about $5000 but owing to the mill having to be repaired the loss of labor and saving lumber will be heavy. Westbrook, Me.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly go to my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give your permission to publish my testimonial."—Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis.—"At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and joints until I could not stand. I had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since."—Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Finkham, Medicine Co. WHAT ENTHUSIASM CAN DO

It is a fact that cannot be disputed that no great movement making for human progress ever made any great advance unless it was plentifully endowed with enthusiasm.

There is now a movement under way right here in Belleville that is going to succeed just because it is endowed in that way.

It is now about a year ago since Dr. E. N. Baker assumed the principalship of Albert College. He looked over the situation very carefully and finally came to the conclusion that Albert College could not go on and do its work unless it were endowed in a way generous enough to permit it to meet the increasingly keen and efficient competition of collegiate institutions and other preparatory schools.

A short time ago, as a preliminary, Dr. Baker set out to ascertain if there were not one hundred men in Ontario methodism who could be induced to give one thousand dollars each toward an endowment fund.

That is the sort of faith by which mountains are moved.

With a quarter of a million for endowment Albert will unquestionably become the finest preparatory school in Canada. It already does more to make Belleville known throughout the length and breadth of this Dominion than any other feature we possess.

Dr. Baker places the scheme squarely before the public in a brief but comprehensive article in the May number of "Albertus," the excellent magazine that the students have been issuing from time to time this year.

We assume the necessity of educational institutions such as Albert College, and yet in the minds of some people, even to-day, there may not be a clear understanding of the special demand for such places of learning.

In the first place, we offer to young women especially, a wider and more varied line of Education and Culture. Many of our young women have no desire to prepare for University life, but do desire an opportunity of pursuing courses of study along the line of their own special tastes and attitudes.

In the second place, Albert College affords to both boys and girls who must leave home to secure a High School Education, such an opportunity under the helpful influences of the residential school. While our High Schools and Collegiate Institutes are doing splendid work in the matter of tuition, they have not, and they cannot provide for the refinements so necessary to our young people.

Again under the most helpful influences, Albert College makes provision for a class of students who have been deprived of school privileges, in early life, but who later on seek the education essential to enable them to take their place in the world's activities, and to nobly perform their part in nation-building.

Having established a claim for the necessity of our existence, we wish to set forth a further necessity—that of endowment for Albert.

It is not this College, alone that is feeling the imperative need of endowment. All of our Secondary Schools are expressing the like necessity. Our High Schools, Collegiate Institutes and our State University, all receive government support—a substitute for endowment.

Year by year, the appeals for increased grants to our government schools become more insistent, to meet the growing needs of our rapidly expanding country.

Without endowment, Albert College, can no more press forward to cope with the rapidly expanding conditions of our national life, than can our state institutions without liberal government aid.

While the attendance at Albert has increased, year by year, still the revenue from our students has not kept pace with the increased cost of living and the advance in the salaries of our teachers.

It requires no apology, in these democratic days, to declare that the sons and daughters of the poor and middle-classes are entitled to the advantages of higher education as are the children of the wealthy.

Year by year, we are obliged "to carry" students who go out into life and contribute nobly to its success. These are not cases of charity but are those who cannot meet all their college obligations until after they have left the school and are enabled to earn for themselves.

It is impossible to raise our college fees and rates to cover the cost of maintenance and still help this yearly increasing class of young men and women who go out to fill positions of honor and trust in church and state.

It is an impossibility for us a College Board to perform our duty to these students under existing conditions. We must have an endowment, the income of which can be used to further equip our college, and not only to maintain our present high standard, but to move forward with the advance of times.

For success of our enterprise, we appeal to the loyalty of our Christian people and to the generosity of all lovers of this Dominion.

BOUND TO WIN

The Home Rule Bill which passed its third reading in the House of Commons last Monday with the substantial majority of 77—a majority which indicates the strength of the progressive forces behind it.

Under these concessions the Ulster counties will have the right to vote themselves out of operation of the Home Rule Bill, thus removing all basis for the cry that Ulster is being coerced. It will be impossible, then, for the Unionists to use this cry.

Privilege dies hard in the Old Country and it is making its last stand against the on-sweep of progressive democracy. That is the root of the whole agitation of the Conservative Party, who are simply using Ulster as a pawn in the game.

It cannot be much longer delayed, and every well-wisher of England will join in the hope that the present difficulties will be composed and that Ireland will start on her career of self-government under as happy auspices as Canada and the other self-governing Dominions of the Crown.

Lord Dunraven, a life long student of the Irish question, said in a recent interview: "Exclusion, whatever its character, means perpetual exclusion. It involves aggravation and perpetuation of those differences of creed."

The place of the living-room in the modern home is pretty well established as part of the house. Architects to-day give it precedence even in the highest priced residences. It has the front view and the east windows. In size there is nothing to equal it. More care is given to its furnishings than to that of any other room.

In the London Times last week Sir John Willison laments what he terms the Americanization of Canada, and urges the British Imperialists to wake up and put forth special efforts to prevent the steady drift of the Canadian mind away from the practices and traditions of the Old Land.

All the sages have tried to reason man out of his fears. Courage, says Socrates, consists in knowing what one ought and what one ought not to fear.

water; but grow pale at the thought of fire; another is a hero in all other possible emergencies, but is haunted by the fear of drowning.

PITTYPAT AND TIPPYTOE

All the day they come and go—Pittypat and Tippytoe! Footprints up and down the hall, Playthings scattered on the floor, Finger marks along the wall.

How they riot at their play! And a dozen times a day In their troop, demanding bread—Only buttered bread will do.

Sometimes there are griefs to soothe, Sometimes ruffled brows to smooth; For (I much regret to say) Tippytoe and Pittypat Sometimes interrupt their play.

Of the thousand worrying things; Every day recurrent brings! Hands to scrub and hair to brush, Search for playthings gone amiss.

And when day is at an end, There are little duds to mend, Little frocks are strangely torn, Little shoes great holes reveal.

But when comes this thought to me: "Some there are that childless be," Stealing their little beds, With a love I cannot speak.

On the floor and down the hall, Rudely smutched upon the wall, There are proofs in every kind, Of the havoc they have wrought.

ANNABEL LEE

It was many and many a year ago, In a kingdom by the sea, That a maiden there lived whom you may know By the name of ANNABEL LEE;

I was a child and she was a child, In this kingdom by the sea; But I loved with a love that was more than love— I and my ANNABEL LEE;

And this was the reason that, long ago, In this kingdom by the sea, A wind blew out of a cloud, chilling My beautiful ANNABEL LEE;

The angels, not half so happy in heaven, Went envying her and me— Yes!—that was the reason (as all men know, In this kingdom by the sea)

But our love it was stronger by far than the love Of those who were older than we— Of many far wiser than we— And neither the angels in heaven above, Nor the demons under the sea, Can ever dissever my soul from the soul Of the beautiful ANNABEL LEE.

For the moon never beams without bringing me dreams Of the beautiful ANNABEL LEE; And the stars never rise but I see the bright eyes Of the beautiful ANNABEL LEE.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson X.—Second Quarter, For June 7, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, Luke xvii, 20-37 Memory Verse, 33—Golden Text, Luke xvii, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Every instance of healing or making the blind to see, the deaf to hear, the lame to walk, was a sample of the kingdom which will be set up on earth when the Lord shall take vengeance upon His enemies and recompense His people.

When the twelve and the seventy were sent forth they were to heal the sick and preach that the kingdom had come nigh. Our Lord Himself also as He preached the gospel of the kingdom healed all manner of sickness and disease (Matt. iv, 23; x, 7, 8; Luke i, 9, 11).

Perhaps there is no saying in the Scriptures more misquoted, misinterpreted and misapplied than the words of our Golden Text as they stand: "Behold the Kingdom of God is within you." From these words it is generally taught that our Lord will never have a kingdom on this earth.

In reading our Bibles we must always notice if God is speaking either directly or through His servants or if the devil is the speaker. Otherwise we might make the same mistake as the Judge who said: "We have the highest authority for saying all that a man hath will be give for his life."

Our Lord would no more say to such that the kingdom of God was within them than you or I would say it to a drunken man who was full of cursing. What our Lord did say is more correctly rendered in the margin "among you" or in the R. V. margin, "in the midst of you."

This coming of the Son of Man to judge and reign is not His coming to the air for His church, but His coming in glory with His saints, when they, too, shall share this honor with Him as it is written in Ps. cxlix, 5-9; Rev. ii, 26, 27; Col. iii, 4. See how our Lord indorses the truth of the record of the deluge, the destruction of the cities of the plain by fire and brimstone from heaven, the judgment upon Lot's wife, and because of the judgments which will surely come upon His people to think more of the life that is life indeed than of this present life, except as it can be used for Him.

There must be no looking back to the things of this evil age nor conformity to it, but a life of separation from it, occupied with Him who is our life and the things which concern Him and a readiness always to be taken away from the earth. Things are bad enough on the earth even now, but iniquity will not be full until after the church is taken away.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES

Given in High School—Prof. Troop of Trinity College or Shaw and Barrie

A large audience listened last evening with rapt attention to Prof. J. G. Carter Troop, M.A., professor of English Literature, Trinity University Toronto, and official lecturer for the Drama League of America, who spoke in the High School lecture hall. His subject was Bernard Shaw and J. M. Barrie. The speaker occupied the chair and explained that the High School had planned to bring the university to the High School. Not over fifteen or twenty per cent of the high school pupils go to the university and accordingly they miss very much. To supply the need arrangements are being made to bring university professors here to lecture on subjects of interest to students and the public as well. The university men are as anxious to assist in the work as the staff, is to see it carried out.

Prof. Troop is the first lecturer under the system shown in a series of lectures delivered an address on Shakespeare's great tragedy, "Macbeth." The audience was made up of students.

The address on Shaw and Barrie given by Prof. Troop with splendid opportunities of exhibiting his own remarkable wit. One might say that his delightful delivery harmonized with the subject the wit and humor of these Irish and Scotch writers of today.

Prof. Troop drew attention at the beginning to the remarkable universal revival of the drama in the past fifteen or twenty years, due in part to the influence of the English break through the drama of today and Shakespeare and the Greeks in point of technique. More people are today thinking of the drama than ever before in the history of the world.

This revival is seen in Bernard Shaw and Barrie. Both have souls which are oddities. Barrie is the apostle of domesticity; Shaw its enemy. Barrie idealizes women as angels of light; Shaw ridicules them mercilessly. Yet the irony of it all, Barrie's wife ran away with another man and Shaw is ideally married.

Barrie was a journalist. He was born in 1860. He made his money by fiction, but has become wealthy through the stage. He never tried to write for the stage until he had mastered dramatic art. He is an optimist, an advocate of the simple life, and a lover of humanity. The speaker devoted considerable attention to "Peter Pan" and "What Every Woman Knows."

Shaw is a vegetarian, never was a Bohemian. He has socialistic ideas. He rebels against what is. He is a constitutional anarchist, an intellectual gadfly, a rambler. He would destroy the conventional morality, but he is a right made. He has given up his belief in progress. He has the gift of genial malignity. He is diabolically clever. He is the joker of oesomes. Shaw has given the world the new woman. She pursues man, never cries, never whines and abandons the gifts and graces feminine. But Shaw did not marry a Shaw woman; he married a lovable woman.

Shaw's youth was neglected. He never learned of God, he had never heard of St. Paul. In two years from 15 to 18 he laid such a foundation of musical knowledge that he became the greatest critic of England. In his twenties he almost starved in London, having little to eat and one suit of clothes in four years. In 1886 he began oratorio in music and later in art and drama. His works did not succeed. He began to write for the stage in 1892.

The speaker gave delightful studies of "Widowers' Houses," "The Philanderer," "Arms and the Man," "Devil's Disciple," "Candida," "Caesar and Cleopatra," "Man and Superman" and so forth.

On motion of Mr. F. S. Deacon, seconded by Mr. John Elliott, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the professor.

SOME MEN THIS

There is a man at the Home for the Aged which has established a record for big eggs. On Thursday morning just to show that it was not a Jonah day, the hen turned out an egg, which measured 8.4 inches by 6.1-2 inches. But this is not the only big egg this hen has laid. The Whig was informed that this was the eighth laid this summer and that even better records are looked for.

It is understood that R. J. Bushell will endeavor to get the hen for Kingston's Only Fair. The authorities at the Home for the Aged have every reason to be proud of her.

HIS RECORD OF THE XV. REGIMENT

Motto: Nulli Secundus. Crest: Boar's Head.

Lieut.-Col. Archibald Ponton who organized the XV. Regiment in the autumn of 1862 (gazetted in 1863) had previously served as an Officer of a West Indian Regiment, and had in command of the Provisional Battalion at Cornwall. The Regiment first drilled without uniforms, and frequently mustered 400 strong. Col. Ponton having been appointed to a court office which required his whole attention, remained in command only two years, and was succeeded by Lt.-Col. Alfred A. Campbell in 1864. Under him the regiment sent one company to the Niagara frontier in 1865, and the whole battalion went on a few hours' notice, to Prescott during the Fenian Raid of June, 1866. In December of 1876, the war office acknowledged gratefully the offer of the regiment to serve in the East during that year, and in March, 1878, Lord Beaconsfield transmitted a personal dispatch from Whitehall thanking the regiment for their splendid example shown in again volunteering for Imperial Service. Lt.-Col. Campbell was succeeded by Lt.-Col. Samuel Shaw Lazier in 1877. During his command the regiment furnished the gallant A. company of the 1st Battalion which led the charge at Batocho in 1885, when several officers and men were wounded. Under Col. Lazier, the first Belleville armouries were built, largely at the personal cost of the officers and citizens of Belleville.

Lt.-Col. Lawrence Henry Hender son who followed Col. Lazier lived only a few months and died in Liverpool, being succeeded by Lt.-Col. William Nicolson. Under his command the regiment served in the East in the Queen's Own Rifles and in every rank from private up to the 15th. Under his command, the Duke of Argyll, K.T., was gazetted Honorary Colonel, and the regiment presented with a bronze statue of Queen Victoria by H.R.H. the Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, her own handwork. The Veterans' Association was organized, numbering over 200 members of the regiment.

The first regiment in British service who had ever carried arms in the United States since the revolutionary war. No less than eighteen members of the regiment served in the Battle of Gettysburg, and twelve were present at Paardeburg at the surrender of Cronje, one being wounded, and several marched into Pretoria. New colors were presented to the regiment by the Duke of Wexford, and the old colors were deposited in St. Thomas' church. In August, 1901, Lt.-Col. John Earl Halliwell, who had also served in the Boer War, was appointed Lt.-Col. of the XV. Regiment. The death of Col. Halliwell in September, 1907, was deeply regretted. The command next devolved upon Lieut.-Col. Thomas Stewart whose period of command was signified by the regimental establishment to 8 companies, and by the erection of the splendid armouries furnished with all modern military equipment.

Lieut.-Col. Lorne W. Marsh succeeded Col. Stewart in October, 1911, and is the present commanding officer, under whom the regiment has been kept up to its usual high state of efficiency, and in 1913 took part in the tactical manoeuvres in the field.

Lt.-Col. Lorrie Ponton and Stewart are on the Reserve of Officers, the two former, as well as the present commanding officer, holding the "Long Service Decorations."—Peterborough Review.

To show that Foley & Gleeson, contractors for the new pavement on Princess and King streets, are determined to live up to their verbal agreement with the city, all the Italians, on Thursday morning, as they appeared for work, were given their time. There are now fifty local men at work on the streets and the work is progressing rapidly.

The gang laying steel is now at the corner of Princess and King streets. Many people are curious to know the reason for space, and have been left in the cement track foundation. HAS BEEN HIGHLY EXALTED

Our Lord's Ascension—Purpose of His Manifestations to His Disciples—The Apostles as Witnesses of Jesus' Resurrection—Our Lord's Extreme of Humiliation—His Extreme of Exaltation—The Triumph of a Great Conqueror—Following Him a Royal Priesthood—Then Countless Hosts of Every Nation.

May 31—Pastor Russell's famous Photo-Drama of Creation beautifully pictures our Lord's ascension and the subsequent outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. The educational value of this picture is well known, and the public are very appreciative of the Drama as a means of instruction along Biblical lines. Whenever it is presented, large crowds are in daily attendance.

The Pastor's text to-day was, "When He ascended up on High, He led a multitude of captives."—Ephesians 4:8, margin. It is appropriate, began the Pastor, that on this day, celebrated as the anniversary of Pentecost, we should have well in mind what we celebrate. Ten days ago was the anniversary of our Lord's ascension. In one sense of the word, our Lord Jesus ascended at the time of His resurrection from the dead; for then He left the human nature and entered the Divine nature and did not die. He tarried, however, for the space of forty days after His resurrection, that He might establish and instruct His Apostles.

During that time He was invisible to them, except when He manifested Himself by appearing miraculously in various forms to convince them that He was no longer confined to human conditions—that His resurrection had made Him a spirit being again, on a higher plane than He was before He took human nature for the suffering of death in order to redeem humanity.

The Pastor went on to explain carefully that during the period between His resurrection and His ascension our Lord taught His followers not alone by His words, but also by His conduct. They had not yet received the Holy Spirit, and hence could not understand or appreciate spiritual things. They could therefore receive instruction only along natural lines.

Jesus was raised from the dead a spirit being, far above angels, principalities and powers. Had He gone directly to the Father without manifesting Himself to His disciples, they would not have been able to understand the truth of the matter. Hence their lessons were given them largely in pantomime, corroborated by the Master's words, explaining that it was necessary for Messiah to die in order to redeem the world, and that it was also necessary for Him to rise from the dead and to ascend on High and re-enter the spiritual plane of existence in order that from that higher plane of being He might be the more capable of fulfilling His office of Prophet, Priest and King for mankind.

After forty days, during which He was invisibly present with His disciples, except on the few occasions when He manifested Himself to them, our Lord ascended to Heaven. Ten days afterward, the Holy Spirit came from the Father upon the waiting Household of Faith. The outpouring of the Spirit evident to them, and that they were justified freely from all things through the merit of the Redeemer's sacrifice, that their consecration to sacrifice themselves had been accepted of the Father, and that thenceforth they might count themselves as joint-sacrificers with Christ, members of His Body, members of "the Church of the First-born, written in Heaven," members of the Seed of Abraham, in whom all the families of the earth are to be blessed.

The Pastor then demonstrated that only Jesus received the Pentecostal blessings. Until three and a half years thereafter, in harmony with a Divine promise made to the Jews, the Gentiles were excluded. Then the time came for the Gospel to go to the Gentiles. The record informs us that Cornelius was the first Gentile to be received into the spiritual relationship with God. Until God's due time for "the middle wall of partition" between Jew and Gentile to be broken down, he could not receive the spirit, and thenceforth they were received, not because of his works and prayers, but because of faith in the redemptive sacrifice offered upon Calvary.

The Apostles were to bear witness to the resurrection of Jesus, but Jesus having laid his piece, which was given to St. Paul, it was proper that the latter should also be able to bear witness to Jesus' resurrection. Recounting those who had seen our Lord after His resurrection, St. Paul says, "Last of all He was seen of me also, as of one born before the time." Jesus appeared to St. Paul in the glory of His spirit being, "shining above the brightness of the sun" at noonday. The slight caused injury to Saul's eyes.

The Pastor then pointed out how inappropriate and unsatisfactory such a manifestation would have been if the Redeemer had appeared to the Eleven during the forty days following His resurrection. They could not possibly have identified the glorious Personage who shone above the brightness of the noonday sun with the Lord Jesus, their Friend, their Teacher. But to Saul of Tarsus, the revealing in fiery light, above the noonday glare, was very appropriate. It convinced him in a manner that no human appearance could have equalled that Jesus was no longer a man and that He was no impostor. St. Paul's conversion was instantaneous.

It should not cause us to marvel that Jesus ascended, as He declared, "up to where He was before," said the Pastor. It should not surprise us that the Apostle declares that our Lord ascended in dignity, station far above angels, principalities and powers, and above every name that is named. On the contrary, it would be both equitable and God-like that the great Jehovah should highly honor His faithful Son, the First and the Last, the Beginning and the Ending of the creation of God. Could we, he asked, for one moment suppose that our great Creator would permit this faithful son or any servant, to lay down life in the Divine service and to suffer loss as a consequence of his obedience? Is it not much more rational to believe, as the Scriptures declare, that "Him hath God highly exalted?"

Pastor Russell called attention to the Apostle's phraseology in the context—that the One who ascended had previously descended, and that the descending was as much as the ascending were related as cause and effect. The One who has ascended on High completely fills the highest position in the great Divine Government of the Universe as Head of principalities and powers, angels and men, next to the great Jehovah. Yet, as the Apostle warns us, we must not identify this glorified One with the One who in obedience to the Father's will came down to earth, fulfilled the demands of the Law, and died through the merit of Jesus' blood. These are only the vanguard of an advancing host; they are "a kind of first-fruits of God of His creatures," rescued from Sin and Death, delivered on for a period of a thousand years beyond the deliverance of the Church, the prophetic pen foretells countless hosts of every nation, people, kindred and tongue, to be delivered from the power of Sin and Death through the merit of Him who died on Calvary.

Then will come the glorious consummation, the Pastor said. When all who will have refused the Divine grace shall have been destroyed in the Second Death, then shall be heard every creature in Heaven and on earth saying, "Blessing, and honor, and glory, and power, be unto Him that sitteth upon the Throne, and unto the Lamb, forever and ever."

The Pastor then explained that at our Lord's First Advent began "the acceptable Year of the Lord," the time when God, with heaven accepted the sacrifice of Christ Jesus, became willing to accept the sacrifices of all who desire to become His disciples—to take up their cross and follow Him through good report and evil report, even unto death. The entire Gospel Age, he declared, antitypes Israel's Atonement Day; and the sacrifices of our Lord and the Church are the "better sacrifices," foretold by the bullock and the goat offered typically by the Jews. This antitypical Atonement Day is "the acceptable Year of the Lord," as Jesus pointed out God's faithful people of this acceptable Day are glad to be invited to "present their bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable unto God." In the end of this acceptable Day will come the end of an opportunity that to sacrifice the human nature and become joint-heirs with Jesus Christ our Lord.

After the Gospel Age has passed away, the Pastor declared, there will be a new period introduced, styled in the Scriptures, "The Times of Restitution." The acceptable Day for the sacrifice of the Church has lasted for nearly nineteen centuries, he said, and the Scriptures clearly indicate that the Times of Restitution will last a thousand years. St. Peter tells us just when these Times of Restitution will begin. "The Second Coming of Jesus, the Messiah, and the establishment of His Kingdom. Then 'Times of refreshing shall come from the presence of Lord; and He shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you; whom the Heavens must retain until the Times of Restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all His holy Prophets since the world began.'—Acts 3:19-21.

from human nature. Thinking of our Lord at His Second Advent as a glorified Man, they associate Him with a material throne and an earthly court. The unreasonableness of this error leads other Christian people in an opposite direction. Realizing that such an earthly kingdom would be a step backward rather than forward, they deny the Second Coming of Christ to establish the long-promised Messianic Kingdom. The proper thought, a speaker declared, is Jesus accomplished in the flesh the work which the Father had given Him to do, when He sacrificed His earthly life. The Father rewarded Him gloriously by exalting Him to the highest spirit plane. Now our glorified Lord is waiting for the gathering of His Elect, His Church, His Bride. These are to share in His resurrection as the Divine nature and to sit with Him in His Throne. Then the Kingdom of Messiah, so long promised, will begin to bless the world, using as its earthly representatives, visible to men, Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the Ancient Worthies mentioned in Hebrews 11.

The Pastor then showed that his text figuratively represents the ascension of our Lord from the earthly plane to the Heavenly as the triumph of a great Conqueror. Sin had gained ascendancy over Adam and his race, and had brought them down to the dust, mentally, morally and physically. Moreover, the victory over mankind had been gained in a legal manner, through the one man's disobedience. The Logos divested Himself of His glory on the spirit plane, was made flesh, fulfilled the demands of the Law, proved Himself competent to pay the sinner's Ransom-price, and "gave Himself a Ransom for all, to be testified in due time." Having finished His sacrificial work He was again received to the spirit nature with exceeding glory and to the right hand of God.

Thus, he continued, the great Conqueror is seen returning to the Heavenly state, and far down the centuries the prophetic view sees following Him a great procession. First comes the Church, the Royal Priesthood, His brethren, delivered from the power of Sin and Death through the merit of Jesus' blood. These are only the vanguard of an advancing host; they are "a kind of first-fruits of God of His creatures," rescued from Sin and Death, delivered on for a period of a thousand years beyond the deliverance of the Church, the prophetic pen foretells countless hosts of every nation, people, kindred and tongue, to be delivered from the power of Sin and Death through the merit of Him who died on Calvary.

MORNING COMES! AWAKE! AWAKE!

Majority of Humanity Are Not Awake.

STATE OF MENTAL INACTIVITY

Some Asleep in Ignorance—Others Asleep in Ignorance and Superstition—Still Others Asleep in Worldliness—Some Christians Half Asleep—The Awakening of the Soul—Mental Eyes Opening—To See Things in a New Light—The Light of the World—The Sun of Righteousness Rising With Healing in His Beams Will Dispel Darkness.

PASTOR RUSSELL

shall give these light.—Ephesians 5:14.

The Pastor introduced his theme with the observation that the majority of humanity are not awake; that they seem to be passing through life in a dreamy state; that as a rule they are not thinking about the important matters of life, but about the trifling things that eat and drink, what to wear, where to go, etc.

Then the Pastor reminded his audience how this state of mental inactivity has been brought about. While the world in general may be said to be asleep, in one sense of the word it is dead. Thus the Apostle declares of the Church, "You were dead in trespasses and sins."

But this death sentence that was passed upon all has been changed, the speaker asserted, to be a sentence of sleep, from which there is to be an awakening. God foreknew the fall of man, and purposed to redeem the human family from death. In the Divine Program Jesus was the Lamb of God slain from before the foundation of the world.

Proceeding to his text, the Pastor discussed his theme in three divisions: the awakening of some of the world in the present time, the awakening of the Christian, and the future awakening of the world during the Messianic Reign.

Then the Pastor showed that the majority of children reach this important crisis between the ages of twelve and fifteen years. At that period there is a great change in human nature; and therefore it is a most advantageous time for the forces of spiritual growth to spring up in those who have reached the age of responsibility.

Those begotten of the Holy Spirit are now on trial for life on the spirit plane. All thus on trial will fall into one of three classes. One of these classes will get the highest place—the Divine nature—as members of the Royal Priesthood.

Applying his text to the Church, the Pastor said that he was not sure but that many professed followers of Christ are asleep. In the context of the people of God who have escaped the bondage of sin and death, and have come into Christ as New Creatures, have become overcharged with worldly cares, and thus may figuratively be said to have fallen asleep again.

Those of the Church who go to sleep now are they that are to remain awake and be sober, looking for the great salvation which is to be brought unto them at the Second Coming of our Lord.

One great difficulty, the Pastor declared, seems to be that children lose confidence in those whom they find to be deceitful. Even if the person has never deceived the child, it soon finds out whether he deceives in any way, and as a result of that knowledge the child mind is perverted. It loses faith in others, and imbibes that same dishonesty of purpose and thought.

Those who awaken to a sense of responsibility to their Creator should arise from the dead condition as far as the mind is concerned. He re-creates the mind that when one first awakens in the morning, there is a mental freshness which is invariably lost if one turns over and falls asleep.

The speaker declared that merely to give the realization of one's condition, merely to arise from the dead condition of the human race as respects higher things, is not to be a Christian.

Next the Pastor pointed out the mistake which many Christians have made in the past. We did not really know what it is to be a Christian. We do not become Christians, members of the Body of Christ, when first we awake or when first we arise from a dead condition.

The Pastor then drew a soul-inspiring picture of future conditions as figuratively shown in the Scriptures. The New Age will not be a time of darkness and gloom, but a time of light and glory.

In conclusion, the Pastor showed that those who fall to the right will be destroyed in the Second Death, and that this action on God's part will not be unjust or unkind.

by its influence; or whether by business entanglements or alliances or partnerships, or what not, that may be advantageous to their spiritual interests and their consecration to God.

The Pastor then discussed his text from the standpoint of the future. At the beginning of the New Day of Christ the world will be asleep—some in death, others in ignorance and superstition.

The Pastor then drew a soul-inspiring picture of future conditions as figuratively shown in the Scriptures. The New Age will not be a time of darkness and gloom, but a time of light and glory.

400 of the World's Greatest Songs in a Single Book—

to its READERS

Joe Mitchell Chapple's $10,000 Prize Backs
PRIZES AWARDED BY

VICTOR HERBERT, one of America's most popular composers and conductors; and
G. W. CHADWICK, one of the greatest native American composers, and director of the New England Conservatory of Music.

The Heart Songs of 100,000,000 People

Many of the songs cannot be found in any other collection. They came in yellow, time-worn, tear stained sheets—that had been sorely treasured from childhood—others were written out from memory—some were given by titles only—or remembered verses, involving a long search to obtain the whole.

Of the thousands received it is safe to say that the several hundred finally selected—as having the largest number of votes and the highest endorsement—represent today the taste of the American people in its choice of music.

We believe that the distribution of this unrivalled song collection will bring more happiness into the homes of our readers, will do more to make them attractive to young and old; do more to inculcate a love for music into so many hearts, and will do more to cultivate the nobler and higher virtues of the fireside—than any other means we could adopt.

Big Book, 518 Pages—Cardinal Seal Grain, Flexible Binding, Red Edges, Round Corners

EVERY SONG chosen for some personal association; some tender memory; some life-lasting effect; for the haunting beauty of its words; for the lilting melody of its melody. The familiar songs of the long-ago, that are treasured in the heart forever.

The "Ontario" Special Offer to You

We consider it a great privilege to be able to place before our readers this marvelous offer. With more than 100,000 copies already sold at $3.00 each—it was no easy matter to persuade the publishers to consent to a great daily newspaper practically giving away thousands of copies. Yet we have done this, and they now agree with us that it will enormously increase the demand for their work.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR PASSED

Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary Reached Record Membership.

The past year the ladies' organization reached a membership of 288. Throughout the year the attendance and interest has been splendid. It reflects credit on the efficiency and fidelity of the president, Mrs. L. V. Sinclair. Her associates share with her the ambition of raising the membership to 400.

During the past year the ladies raised $481.51. They always require a Furnishing Fund. In addition to this they assist the maintenance of the Association in its work.

A very audible work last year was the providing of teas to groups of young men arriving as strangers in the city, in this, the ladies of the various churches assisted in turn. Over 125 young strangers were so entertained last season.

At the annual meeting the conveners of the Social department came in for a good deal of praise for all they had accomplished.

When we think of the diversity of banquets, lectures organizations and clubs which meet and have their headquarters in the Association Building, we wonder how Belleville managed to exist for so many years without the building.

Much credit was paid the Governor of the Membership Committee for the splendid results they had attained during the year.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—
Hon. Pres.—Mrs. J. L. Hess

FOSSAL BALM Goes Right to the Spot

If you have a cold in the head—if your nasal passages are inflamed, stuffed up, smarting—or if you suffer from chronic nasal catarrh—you can get quick relief by using Fossal Balm.

This is an antiseptic, healing salve put up in a collapsible tube so formed as to make its use remarkably easy to use. When the elongated cap is removed it uncovers the nozzle-shaped end of the tube, about half an inch long. This is inserted in the nose and the tube squeezed gently, depositing a little of the balm well up in the nasal passages. A little rubbing of the nose, and the withdrawn breath, distribute the Fossal Balm throughout the passages, where it comes directly into contact with the inflamed membranes and the germs of disease. The latter it kills—the former it soothes and heals. The smarting irritation disappears—the nostrils are cleared, making breathing easy—and the catarrhal conditions, if they exist, are corrected.
Get a 50c tube of Fossal Balm from your Druggist, or write for it direct to us, National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

NEARLY IN CONVULSIONS

With Acute Indigestion.

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured Me.

NEWBURY, ONT., MAY 29th, 1913
I am not an asthmatic user of medicines or patent medicines, but I have taken nearly everything recommended for Indigestion and Constipation.

I have been so bad with Acute Indigestion that I was nearly in convulsions and had to be held. I have used "Fruit-a-lives" and I have not had another attack since I started at all with Indigestion since taking them.

"Fruit-a-lives" is the only remedy I ever used that did me any good, and I am grateful to "Fruit-a-lives" for making me as well as I am today, and everyone agrees that I look in first class health.

My husband likes "Fruit-a-lives" very much and takes them whenever he has occasion to use a remedy for Constipation.
Mrs. D. MCRAE

"Fruit-a-lives" are sold by all dealers at 6c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c, or will be sent to any address on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

KINGSTON NOTES.

Did Not Have Price.

A young German, who has been in the city but a short time, started out on Monday for Buffalo, but when within a few miles of his destination he was sent back as he did not possess the required sum, $40 in his possession and he landed back in Kingston on Wednesday morning. He reported to the police and has decided to stay in Kingston for a time at least and try and get work.

Tug Umbria Affair.

About 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning the tug Umbria, owned by Fallon Bros. contractors, was on fire. The six men who were on board decided that to save the tug it would be better not to start the engines, and the tug drifted as far as Belle's Island. The men worked hard, throwing water on the blaze, which was in the region of the wheel house, and the fire was soon extinguished. The tug was working again at noon, toiving seawards.

Was Quickly Engaged.

M. Lowry, expert track-man, who was taken off the payroll of Foley and Jackson, the contractors for the new pavements, to be succeeded by a foreigner, was taken on immediately by H. C. Nickle, superintendent of the Street Railway company, and commenced this morning in charge of the men laying steel at the corner of Brock and King Streets. Six foreigners were laid off the work on Princess street this morning and twelve city men were engaged. The foreman, Mr. McGregor, who asked the reason for this, said that the only reason for the discharging of the foreigners was that his company insisted that only men who were good, steady and sober work men were wanted on their work.

Saved From Drowning.

Capt. "Pan" Rooney, of the schooner Marshall saved a young man from drowning in the slip at the foot of Princess Street about nine o'clock on Tuesday night. The young fellow missed his way and stepped into the slip. His cries for help brought Capt. Rooney, who was on his schooner close by, to the scene in quick order and the young fellow was pulled out.

The schooner Marshall cleared on Wednesday to load coal at Oswego for Patrick Walsh.

Plugged C.P.R. Express.

The out-going one o'clock C. P. R. express, on Tuesday, narrowly escaped hitting a man, who was walking the track near Angus's mile. The man was standing in the centre of the track and did not notice the approach of the train until it was almost on him. As soon as he realized his danger, instead of trying to jump out of the way, he became so frightened that he could not move a muscle. Engineer Collins, who was watching from his window after giving the man the warning signal, and seeing him remain motionless, plugged the train, which stopped with a jerk, and the man escaped by the closest of a margin.

Osgoode Hall.

Plint v City of Belleville—W. C. Mikel, K. C., for plaintiff, moved for order continuing an injunction in S. Masson v. C. C., for defendant. Motion refused. Defendants to go on with work at their own risk. The case to go on at next court. Costs in cause unless trial judge otherwise orders.

Billiousness

is certainly one of the most disagreeable ailments which flesh is heir to. Coated tongue—bitter taste in the mouth—nausea—dizziness—these combine to make life a burden. The cause is a disordered liver—the cure Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. They go straight to the root of the trouble, put the liver right, cleanse the stomach and bowels, clear the tongue and take away the bitter taste from the mouth. At the first sign of billiousness take—

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

Mr. and Mrs. B. Ketcheson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Board, of Wallbridge last Sunday.
