WHO BENEFITS?

The value of Canadian farm-products is greater this year than ever before. Prices are higher, and farmers bid fair to be in a better position than ever.

At present this is a direct result of the war. But, a year, or two years, from now will it still continue?

That market is the towns and cities of Canada, populated by Canada's factory workers.

By buying goods "Made in Canada" you support those workers, you build a permanent, substantial market for your produce.

Investigate Canadian-made goods every time you make a purchase. If they're just as good as others buy them, because you yourself will be benefited by the betterment of Canadian business conditions.

"Made in Canada" will make Canada

THE KAISER AND THE EUROPEAN WAR

Dear Sir,—Reading of the atrocities of the German troops, one can come to but one conclusion, and that is, while the Kaiser will fail to crush the allies, he has succeeded in establishing himself in the opinion of the world, outside of Germany as the one sovereign who unworthy of the fame of his illustrious ancestors, has dragged the flag of his country through the mud and slime of dishonor.

Not for years has there been so few hunters left for the northern woods as in the past season. The extra demand for more land for grain-growing has kept many at the plow.

MISSIONARY CONFERENCE

Scidmore has a better programme been offered in the shape of addresses, than that placed before the public on Tuesday, Nov. 10th, at Wallbridge. In Rev. Dr. Endicott's General Secretary of Foreign Missions for the Methodist Church, one of the best speakers of America is seen; and Rev. John Joblin and Batstone each did very excellent service, the former in showing how the Indian has a very direct claim upon us, and the latter in showing how the patriotic appeals and demands should only serve to make Canadians more loyal to the missions than heretofore.

BELLEVILLE AMATEURS GIVE FINE PRESENTATION

Mr. Chas. A. Macfarlane's "Tallasse" Greeted by Large House Last Evening

Local amateurs made a name for themselves last evening at Griffin's opera house when they played in "Tallasse, the Indian Princess." For some time Mr. Charles A. Macfarlane had with the assistance of Mr. Wm. L. Doyle, an experienced theatrical man, been engaged with a number of young ladies and gentlemen of the city in preparation for the production of a three act comedy, written by Mr. Macfarlane himself. The drama was once before put on in a Sunday school, but last night's presentation was far superior on the score of acting. The play has undergone certain changes in the meantime.

The story is that of a hard-hearted wealthy business man, Robert Grant, who quarrels with his son John, and refuses to accede to his employees' demands for shorter hours with the result that John leaves for parts unknown and a strike is fomented. John, the proprietor, Ethel Grant, who succeeds in making Grant believe he is all of business anxieties and leads him to seek rest. Meanwhile she who is left in charge gives the strikers a week's holiday with an increased wage, sends them to the lake shore for a week and entangles the manager by an article which she has published in the daily paper praising her uncle's generosity. The scene of discovery is worked out. Grant discovers and sends his nephew Alexander Grant in search of his lost son. The quest leads Alex. to the home of Wm. Wheeler, where John had been, but which he had just left had been, but which he had just left had been, but which he had just left had been.

PROFESSOR MUNSTERBERG AND PRINCIPAL PETERSON ON ORIGIN OF THE WAR

Interesting Correspondence Between Harvard and McGill Educationists, in Which the German Professor Admits Britain Was Morally Within Her Right in Declaring War.

"The Origin of the War" has been the subject of correspondence between Principal Peterson of McGill University and Professor Munsterberg of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. As these gentlemen are recognized to be leading educationalists of the day, but of different nationalities and holding diverse views as to which nation is responsible for the great conflict now going on, the correspondence expressed will give readers an opportunity of studying the question from both points of view.

The correspondence began on October 26, when Principal Peterson wrote Professor Munsterberg stating that he was following with great interest all expressions of opinion in connection with the war, and was enclosing him a copy of the British Blue Book, which gave the British side of the events leading up to the conflict, and asking Professor Munsterberg to read the same and indicate by deletion or otherwise which of the statements there made he considered accurate or in need of amendment.

ATTACKS RESUMED. Germans Have Renewed Activities to East and South of Ypres.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—The following bulletin was issued by the War Office last night: "According to the latest advice, the enemy has renewed his attacks to the east and the south of Ypres, but they have not altered the situation. The impression is satisfactory. "During the last two days we have registered progress more or less pronounced everywhere we have attacked; at Hetas, on the Yser, between Armentieres and Arras; in the region of Vailly, in the Argonne, and on the heights of the Meuse. "The afternoon communique says: "From Neuport to Dixmude, in the region of Ypres, cannonading has been resumed with greater violence than on the preceding days. On the canal to the south of Dixmude the work of our engineers has been endeavoring to carry out to keep down the inundations. The enemy was compelled to evacuate a portion of his trenches which had been filled by the waters. "Two attacks of German infantry, one to the south of Bixschote and the other to the south of Ypres, resulted in failure. On our side we have made progress between Bixschote and the heights of the Meuse. "Between Armentieres and La Bassée there has been an artillery duel conducted with great spirit. "On the Aisne certain German detachments which had been in the vicinity of the river in the vicinity of Vailly were either driven back or destroyed. "On our positions on the right bank of the Aisne, upstream from Vailly, there has been violent cannonading. This applies also to the Rheims region. Several shells have fallen on the city of Rheims. "In the Argonne there have not been any infantry engagements. We blew up with mines a certain number of German trenches on the heights of the Meuse, to the south of Verdun, we have made advances at several points. "In the region of St. Mihiel we have taken possession of the first houses of the village of Chauvencourt. These houses served as barracks for the St. Mihiel Garrison. This village of Chauvencourt is the only point of support still held by the Germans on the left bank of the river Meuse in this locality. "On the rest of the front there has been nothing of importance to report."

TO INCREASE TAXES. Lloyd George Presents Proposals to Meet Cost of War.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Proposals by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to increase the revenue of Britain by $1,597,000 were approved by the House of Commons last night with an outburst of enthusiasm. The measures adopted include doubling the income tax, the imposition of an extra duty of three pence per pound on tea and one-half penny on the half pint of beer. In presenting his financial statement, he said that he was making proposals not merely to meet the increased expenditure up to and including March next, but to meet also the deficiency in the revenue. The total sum for which provision had been made already was $555,000,000, covering ordinary and war expenditure. The additional money which had to be found was $339,571,000. A full year of the war would cost $450,000,000. He proposed that the income tax should be doubled, but that this should be collected in respect of one-third of its income. The tea duty, he said, would produce $250,000 this year and $3,200,000 next year. The beer duty would yield $2,000,000 this year and $17,000,000 in the year following. The new taxation this year would realize $15,500,000 and suspension of the sinking fund would give $2,750,000. The total amount of the proposals would be $447,500,000. The tea duty, he said, would produce $250,000 this year and $3,200,000 next year. The beer duty would yield $2,000,000 this year and $17,000,000 in the year following. CHRISTIAN BENEVOLENCE

The following excellent article was read at a recent meeting of the Epworth League at Roxboro Methodist church by Miss Amelia Clark

Some one has said that the Lord must love the common people. He made so many, I think the same must be true of the generous people for he certainly made a great many of them

It is not that the generous people are usually, but they seem always to have time to help those who need assistance

They are always sure that they will turn out right probably because they themselves are always working to make everything turn out right

They never seem to think at the time that they are doing anything remarkable and if you bring up the subject a while after they will scarce know what you are talking about

MISS GUEST PRESIDED

Miss E. J. Guest, M.A., of the staff of the Belleville High School, presided last evening at Convocation Hall, Toronto, at the meeting of the Ontario Women's Institute

At the joy of serving Him lies the greatest reward of all. There is another generosity besides that of deeds—the generosity of words

Many of us, who would be willing to do anything in our power to accommodate a neighbor, do not restrain ourselves in speech where he is concerned

When we do that, the danger lies on the other hand let us never forget to speak the word of praise or encouragement whenever we can conscientiously do so

Many, at some crisis in their life have been wonderfully helped by a word of appreciation and cheer

Many, though at the point of giving up, have come on and removed mountains in the strength that came from the knowledge that some one was watching their efforts with an appreciative interest

Let us remember that they can do little harm so long as we do not give them utterance

SECOND QUARTER Grant outside wing for Belleville who has been tackling like wild fire has two men making him now Soby kicks the ball to Napanee just before quarter time

THIRD QUARTER Green's knee is sore. Root playing right outside for Belleville. Belleville kicks off to Napanee full back, who makes a beautiful dodging run to middle field

LAST QUARTER Green back on Root retires. He is a fast man. Rogers made five yards a round end. Morden kicks to Soby behind his line who is downed by Irwin for a rouge
