Great Development of Lumber Industry in Township of Mayo

Frederick Adams, Formerly of Belleville, Gives Particulars of Huge Cuts of Lumber in District Now His Home.

During the past winter there has been great development of the lumber industry in the Township of Mayo, according to Mr. Frederick Adams of that township, who visited Belleville last week and favored the Ontario with an interview.

Mr. Adams is no stranger to Belleville. For ten years he was manager of the Carmen Opera House and then he did an unusual thing. He left the city to seek his fortune in the wilds of North Hastings.

That was eighteen years ago, and he finally located in Mayo where he engaged in mixed farming and lumbering. He has succeeded well in his new home and, has no notion of returning to the city.

Mr. Adams told The Ontario a most interesting story of the development of the lumber industry in his vicinity. Twenty or twenty-five years ago, the lumbermen went through Mayo, and the adjoining townships and cut off all the pine timber that was merchantable, leaving the other woods as being at that time valueless. Time has brought about great changes. It has now come to pass that the forest trees abandoned there are now worth more as lumber than the pioneers ever dreamed of. Pine is in its palm-leaf days of old was never worth more than a fraction of the timber that was left, as it stands today.

Among the lumber trees that still heavily cover the hills and valleys of Mayo are maple, birch, hemlock, spruce, balsam, ash, basswood and cedar. All of these are now in greater demand than the available supply.

During the winter the following companies have been operating in and about Mayo and have turned out quantities of lumber as indicated: Ferguson & Findley, two million feet.

The Healan Lumber Co., two million feet.

Mackay and MacCreary, one million feet.

The Harris Tie and Lumber Co., many thousands of railway ties and cedar posts and poles.

Frank White, reeve of Mayo, put out a cut of from 200,000 to 300,000 feet of lumber.

In this same township, at Besenmer, at the end of the line of rail leading east from L'Amable, are some of the finest iron deposits in America.

At the God and Hankin mine many thousands of tons of excellent ore are piled on the surface of the ground, ready for shipment, but are held there because of legal complications.

The Child's mine contains tremendous quantities of the finest iron ore, running from 70 to 75 per cent of iron and free from sulphur and other troublesome ingredients.

Mr. Adams grows large quantities of potatoes every year and finds the soil in that vicinity admirably adapted to produce bumper crops of superior quality potatoes, clean and of choice flavor.

He also finds dairying profitable. This last year he shipped cream to Belleville Creamery to the value of $600. He was the first in his vicinity to ship cream to Belleville but later there were many. This year the cream will go to Bancroft where Belleville Creamery now has a large and prosperous branch.

Campbellford Masons Welcomed D. D. G. M.

District Deputy Accorded a Grand Reception by the Brethren of Golden Rule Lodge

The Town of Campbellford is one of the most prosperous and progressive centers in Midland Ontario and its Masonic lodge is but a reflection of the spirit of the town. It has a large membership composed of the leading men and congenial companions from the town and country. The lodge has been appropriately named "Golden Rule" and is numbered 126 on the Grand Register of Canada.

Last night the members of Golden Rule lodge joined in formal greeting to Chas. J. Symons, of this city, the district deputy grand master of Prince Edward District No. 13, on the occasion of his official visit and their greeting was a royal welcome.

The members of Golden Rule tied with one another to make the district deputy and other visitors feel right at home.

The following officers exemplified the work of the first degree in Masonry in the presence of the D.D.G. M. and were warmly congratulated upon their proficiency:

Dr. E. J. Free, I.P.M.
R. J. Allen, W.M.
F. W. Wood, S.W.

Geo. Atwell, J.W.
Dr. O. C. Watson, D. of C.
F. Lang, S.D.
G. A. Kingston, J.D.

Rev. C. E. Clarke, Chaplain.
P. Stephens, I.G.
C. Williams, S.S.
W. J. Ross, J.S.
Roy Hill, Tyler.
J. Mearns, Treas.
F. C. Bonnycastle, Sec.

The work of the lodge being over refreshments were served and a fine program of post-prandial oratory was carried out.

The I.P.M., Dr. E. J. Free, graciously proposed the toast to the "Grand Lodge and Grand Lodge Officers."

District Deputy Symons responded with an address in which he expounded the principles of brotherhood and true fraternalism as opposed to mere association for pleasure or selfish purposes. The district deputy's address was followed with great attention by all present and at the conclusion he was heartily complimented.

The toast to the "Visitors" was proposed in a speech of fine eloquence and gracious hospitality by the chaplain of the lodge, Rev. C. E. Clarke.

Response was made by Bro. Brown of Watford Lodge, Ireland, and other visitors present.

The district deputy then proposed a toast to the "Golden Rule Lodge" and happy responses were made by W. Bro. Allen, the master of the lodge, Wm. Clarke, Rept. Lowery, J. M. Stone, C. H. Harris and Bro. G. A. Kingston and Crozier Moore.

Before "Auld Lang Syne" was sung, the master of Eureka Lodge, Belleville extended an invitation to the Campbellford brethren to visit Eureka lodge and exemplify degree work on the evening of June 2nd. The invitation was accepted and a large delegation of visitors promised to be present.

The Golden Rule lodge is in a very flourishing financial condition and is soon to commence the erection of a new Masonic temple.

Oshawa Team Puts on Work

Quintana Rebekah Lodge Had Big Time Last Night

There was a big time in Rebekah Oddfellowship in Belleville last evening. It was the occasion of the visit of the members of Oshawa Rebekah Lodge No. 3, who paid a visit to Quintana Lodge No. 133 and conferred the degree on eighteen candidates. There was about forty-five visiting members. The degree team was in charge of P. G. Bro. W. Cavoy and Sister Maud Hall, Noble Grand. Past Noble Grand Sister Ormond of Quintana Lodge presided in the absence of Noble Grand Sister Naylor and welcomed the visitors.

After the work, a resolution moved by P.G.P. Bro. R. H. Ketcheson was adopted expressing thanks and congratulations to the Oshawa team for their splendid work. After lodge ice cream, cakes and coffee were served and dancing was indulged in to the heart's content.

Rebekah Oddfellowship is booming in Belleville. There have been no less than 38 initiations in three meetings.

Quite a number of guests were present last evening from Trenton.

The attendance at the lodge numbered nearly two hundred and fifty. The visitors were entertained at supper at the Temple on the arrival of the train from Oshawa early in the evening.

Voice of the African Episcopal Church

Help to higher civilization comes in many ways. When first the opportunity is given for advance- ment, encouragement sways the greater part in achievement. Races like children, must grow and develop gradually until full realization of the real worth of the object sought is clearly realized; for other words catch the vision. Then comes the importance for the high and lofty type of Christian ministry and loyal generous citizenship as I have met while in Belleville; another page of human development to a weary traveller. But in welcoming your aid and encouragement, we fully realize that the centre of activity must be within us like the soldier that is the most wounded, the lesser attention is paid to him, so if he dies, there is neither time nor attention lost. With 47,000 colored citizens in Canada, 1500 are employed on the different railroads as cooks, waiters and porters, 7,000 on the farm and 2,000 domestic in general service in the various homes, 145 in the Government mail service, 100 stenog- raphers, 4 school teachers, 40 church and 20 ordained preachers and the remainder employed in businesses and positions in the different towns and cities.

The prevailing opinion in view of the large acreage of our Dominion, 2,000 domestic and 5,000 and more colored farmers could be profitably used within our own borders.
In viewing the previous record of his adaptation, we feel content to say he will add largely to the agricultural pursuits of our country. As he beneficially aided in our achievements, 4,000 strong in the great war just past, why not try him as a food grower, filling our coffers and making rich our own home-land?

With many thanks to the clergy and citizens of Belleville for their extreme generosity and hospitality,
my only pleas is for you, as a people,
to hold wide the doors and opportunities with patience, generosity and encouragement and let my race pass through into that high standard of civilization wherein you now stand. I beg leave to add I am yours for service at any and all times when within the jurisdiction of your mind you feel that my influence and people can serve your interests in peace or at war, in sorrow or comfort. Be it my lot to die in attempt to reward you for the favorable attitude taken towards me and my people.

Very truly yours,
W. F. SEAY,
President, the Colored Federation
Council, African Episcopal Church.

At the home of his sister, Mrs. H. L. Chambers, 70 Stibbard avenue, Toronto, Joseph Albert Warren died on Monday night from pneumonia. The deceased was 42 years of age, unmarried and was employed on the editorial staff of The Evening Telegram.

Enlisting with the Calgary Rifles in September, 1914, the late Mr. Warren saw much active service in France. He was twice wounded and finally discharged as medically unfit on June 27, 1919. Prior to the war he was connected with The Ottawa Citizen and The Calgary Herald. He was born and educated in Strifling, Ont., where the body will be taken to-morrow morning for interment.

James Downey, Lot 19, Con. 5 of Thurlow will sell by public auction, Sale on Friday, May 7th, his farm stock and implements. S. J. Fisher, Auctioneer. m5&9.

Pinnacle Street Only One of Many Follies

Editor Ontario:— In your last weekly issue you refer to the crime of giving the use of Pinnacle street, to the railroad people as a right of way.

It may have been a crime, but about the time that it was consummated I used to stop at Sam Kyle's hotel about once a week, the year round, and there and everywhere else in the town I heard little else talked of except the prosperity that would accrue to Belleville if the road was built.

If I remember rightly, Belleville gave a bonus of $100,000 as well as the use of the street, and the citizens seemed practically unanimous in branding as a traitor to the town any man who opposed it.

The road was built, and the result was what might reasonably have been expected. Belleville at once lost the trade of all the places touched by the new road or lying beyond it, and when the Madoc branch was built, the trade of the whole north country, Kyle's hotel which used to be crowded every night with teamsters, farmers and country merchants from the north, was practically deserted, and the trade of the town in general fell off as well.

At about the same time the lease which the Rathbun Company held on the island ran out, and the people of Belleville declined to renew it except upon terms which the company would not consent to. The result was that the Rathbuns took down the mill and moved it to Deseronto, and Belleville for the next twenty years furnished a fair imitation of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village."

I am not bringing up these scraps of ancient history to reproach the Bellevillians of the last generation with their folly. The inhabitants of the whole Dominion have been cutting their own throats in a similar way ever since.

Between Belleville and Toronto we have built, largely at the public expense, three railways to do the work that one could have done as well. On each side of the Fraser River in British Columbia run the lines of the C.P.R. and the Canadian Northern, the latter built entirely at the expense of the Dominion. If the latter statement should be challenged I would point out that we paid the interest on the bonds, and that Mackenzie and Mann, who built the road, had no money when they started and are now worth, say, one hundred millions. These are only samples of our wisdom. We have subsidized railways that were built, paid for, and have never had a train run over them after they were completed. We paid last year, by the admission of the Government, forty-seven millions (at least six dollars for every man, woman and child in the country) to pay the interest on the defaulted bonds, and the loss caused by the fact that these roads do not pay running expenses.

To come down from big things to small ones, we are paying hundreds of thousands of dollars to run rural mail routes in places where the whole amount received in postage on the route would not pay ten per cent. of the cost, and the papers are full of the complaints of the men who run these routes that they are not getting living wages. The papers which publish these letters have long editorials to show that the salaries should be increased, and up to the present I have not seen a suggestion that the unprofitable routes should be cancelled.

If we should have a general election this summer, and any man were bold enough to come out in favor of running the public business on the same principles that would be adopted by any man or firm that wished to keep out of bankruptcy, he would certainly lose his deposit, and would be lucky if he were not lynched.

My object in writing this is not at all to throw any slur on the men of Belleville who subsidized the Grand Junction and gave it Pinnacle street, but to show that we have been doing business on the same principle ever since, and probably will so long as we can borrow a dollar.

Fred Mullitt.

Foresees No Drop in Price of Sugar

Secretary of Wholesale Grocers does Not, However, Expect Famine

Sugar stocks in the hands of retailers in Ontario, Quebec and the Eastern Provinces are fairly large, but the wholesalers throughout all Canada have very little on hand. In the Western Provinces there is a general shortage.

Mr. Arthur C. Pyke, Secretary of the Wholesale Grocers of Ontario, stated last night that telegrams of inquiry sent out by him in great numbers gave the above information.

Further, while he did not think that sugar rationing would be at all necessary, he saw no prospect whatever of the price of sugar dropping. "If the refiners had to buy on the present market sugar would cost them about twenty-five or twenty-six cents per pound," he pointed out. The 50,000 tons recently reported on the way to the refineries represented only about six weeks' normal sugar supply for Canada.

So far as Mr. Pyke knew, but one sugar refinery had opened up since the shipments had commenced to arrive. He did not expect that any of the others would open until the end of the month.

"Canada is better off for sugar than almost any other country," Mr. Pyke stated in conclusion. "There is no danger of any positive shortage as yet."

Division of American Destroyers to Sail

(Special 4 p.m. Despatch from Canadian Press Ltd.)

WASHINGTON, May 5—Secretary Daniels today ordered a division of destroyers, now at New York with the Atlantic fleet, to sail immediately for Key West, where they will be held for possible duty in Mexican waters. The destroyers are the Isserwood, Case, Lardner, Putnam, Beale and Reid. The flotilla is commanded by Capt. Byron Long on the tender Black Hawk, which will accompany the flotilla.

Three Dollar Wheat Confidently Predicted

(Special 4 p.m. Despatch from Canadian Press Ltd.)

OTTAWA, May 5—Canadian farmers may get as high as thirty cents per bushel for participation certificates on wheat sold through Canadian Wheat Board, it was predicted today by members of the Commons who have watched the situation very closely. With $2.15 already guaranteed, this will mean a price of $2.40. Many of the farmer members believe that the price will indeed be much higher than the most optimistic had hoped for on account of the abnormal increase in the price of wheat from the time it left the farm until it was sold to the consumer.

Wheat prices will be high. Some members believe that it will go to $3 per bushel providing there are no internal troubles in any of the larger countries of the world.

OTTAWA, May 5—Absolute denial of the story credited to The Halifax Echo, which said that the Government proposed carrying out the naval program recommended by Admiral Lord Jellicoe, was made this morning by Hon. C. C. Baltzley, Minister of Marine.

The story is absolutely false and a pure fabrication from beginning to end said the Minister.

Rev. H. B. Kenny of Campbellford, is a Belleville visitor today. Mr. Chas. G. Mikel, Toronto, spent the week-end at the old homestead, 9th line, Murray.

Miss Dolly Booth left this week for Whity where she has entered upon a course as nurse-in-training.

Reorganisation of the Polish Cabinet Insistently Demanded

REORGANISATION OF THE POLISH Resignation of Premier Patek Asked for And Socialists Want to be Recognized in Government

Special 4 p.m. Despatch from the Canadian Press Ltd.

WARSAW, May 5—Reorganization of the Polish cabinet in the near future is predicted by the newspapers of this city, which give as a reason the opposition aroused by the government's peace policy. Socialists are making insistent demands for peace and have asked that they be recognized in government appointments. The resignation or dismissal of Stanislas Patek, Premier, and Finance Minister Grabski is considered almost certain by the newspapers. Count Von Tarnow, who was sent by Austria as Ambassador to the United States in 1916 but who was not received there, is mentioned as M. Patek's successor. Both Socialist and National Democratic parties are opposing the government over its insistence upon Borisov as the seat of peace conference with the Russian Bolsheviks. They say this is all that remains in the way of opening negotiations.

TALK OF THE TOWN AND OF THE COUNTRY

Two little sisters aged eight and three years wandering about the streets at 11.30 last night formed the unusual sight which met the gaze of a Belleville police officer.

There is a rumor around town that the Chamber of Commerce are contemplating the purchase of Massena Park. A citizen suggests that while they are about it they might also acquire the mineral spring property along the Trenton Road.

In police court this morning Magistrate Mason heard a case of a youth charged with threatening his employer, a farmer. Owing to his tender years the defendant was let go on a suspended sentence.

A Kinross Whig reporter, on his rounds, asked Kingston citizens about daylight saving and found that the majority of the citizens were very much opposed to it.

Winnipeg citizens are themselves responsible for the high cost of clothing and the recent striking and pocketing some of their prizes can bring the cost down to reasonable figures.

The annual conference of the Methodist church convenes at Kemptonville on June 3rd at 8 p.m. Rev. Dr. Armstrong, of Japan, is given the place of honor on Friday evening.

Alex. Kay who umpired local games around Peterboro last season and also was in demand for important games elsewhere, has joined the Empire Union.

It is hard luck to have to move these days with houses so scarce but still worse misfortune overtook a van load of furniture in Kingston.

The once palatial steam yacht, Nettie M. has been sold by Rafferty to Max Kantzman, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

The Nettie M. is lying at Alexandria Bay. A number of horses from the Royal Military College and R.C.H.A. were auctioned at the Kingston market Saturday morning.

James Brown, of 1265 City Hall Avenue, Montreal, returned soldier, was found lying dead between the tracks on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway two and a half miles west of Vaudeville.

A young man of Lindsay still in his teens, who had been mixed up considerably in police court affairs and the selling of liquor, was Thursday morning fined $20 and costs for being under the influence of liquor on the night of April 15.

It looks as if the housewives are going to have a busy time sewing patches on trousers when the Old Clothes League "gets into harness," says a Kingston paper.

The Kingston Regiment held their first march-out of the season on Tuesday evening. After some preliminary company work at the armories, the battalion paraded and marched through the streets.

The following is the schedule of the Trent Valley Baseball League, drawn up at Madoc on Thursday evening of last week:

June 3 Sulphide at Havelock June 3 Deloro at Madoc June 3 Belleville at Tweed June 9 Havelock at Belleville June 9 Tweed at Madoc June 9 Deloro at Sulphide June 17 Tweed at Deloro June 17 Madoc at Sulphide June 18 Belleville at Havelock June 23 Sulphide at Belleville June 24 Madoc at Deloro June 28 Tweed at Sulphide June 29 Madoc at Havelock July 1 Deloro at Belleville July 7 Havelock at Madoc July 7 Deloro at Tweed July 10 Belleville at Sulphide July 14 Madoc at Belleville July 15 Tweed at Havelock July 17 Sulphide at Deloro July 22 Sulphide at Madoc July 22 Tweed at Belleville July 23 Deloro at Havelock July 28 Havelock at Sulphide July 29 Madoc at Tweed July 31 Belleville at Deloro Aug. 4 Havelock at Deloro Aug. 4 Sulphide at Tweed Aug. 5 Belleville at Madoc

Things have not been running as smoothly as they might be with the Port Hope baseball club and at a meeting Thursday evening some changes were made in the list of officers.

A. S. Hanna, local editor of the Smith's Falls Record-News for the last six months, has joined the staff of the Border Cities Star, Windsor, Ont.

William Lafair, who lives at 180 South Water street, Ogdensburg, is in the Ogdensburg jail as a result of a story he told the police regarding alleged mysterious rappings from the spirit world.

terious elements of the case. Lafair appeared at the police station with a bag containing the bones and rags. He then told one of the most fantastic tales ever recorded in local police annals.

A minimum salary of $1,500 for towns with a population exceeding 50,000 and a maximum of $3,000 was urged at a meeting of the Provincial Tailors' Association in Toronto recently.

Virtual authority to increase its rates from $10 to $15 per annum was given on Thursday to the Leeds and Grenville Independent Telephone Co., Limited, by D. M. McIntyre, K.C., chairman of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

"I also give to my said brother all of my office furniture and appliances including my iron safe, typewriter, cabinets, stamps, and other appliances and books. I also give him my boats and canoes, and all scrap books of a literary nature, on condition that he shall on each 24th day of May, at noon, in each and every year, stand out on the front platform or walk of his place of residence and shout out loud the words: 'Hurrah for Laurier and Reciprocity!'"

William Allen, the young man who disappeared from Napanea on the night of his father's death, about two weeks ago, has been located in Montreal. It will be remembered that about an hour after his father's death he disappeared, and friends feared that he had made away with himself, as he was very despondent.

Douglas Fairbanks was painfully injured at Los Angeles, Cal. when a landslide arranged as a thrill in a motion picture fell prematurely. The actor sustained lacerations about the head and numerous contusions. He will be out of the studio for a fortnight, it is reported.

At $4 per bag Mr. Wm. Oldham received a cheque from Mr. Walter Lopp, Unbridge, for $1,885 for his potato crop. He has been located in Montreal. It will be remembered that about an hour after his father's death he disappeared, and friends feared that he had made away with himself, as he was very despondent.

The old cannon ball express showed too much speed Friday morning and when just north from Port Hope jumped the track. Three freight cars and two passenger coaches left the rails and the freight cars overturned into the ditch, a distance of ten or twelve feet.

On Friday evening in the City Hall, the Albert College Dramatic Society will present a comedy entitled "Green Stockings" in aid of no pay or allowance. All he had to live on was $50 from the federal emergency fund. Such cases are to be looked into by the committee.

A man who wears overalls is not barred from carrying his walking stick. One Kingston fellow wearing blue jeans was noticed on Princess street, Kingston, the other day carrying his cane. Citizens looked for the little dog, too, but this part of the outfit was missing.

An evidence of unusual activity in real estate transactions in Brockville at the present time is shown by the fact that this time last year the number of transfers recorded at the Leeds Registry Office for that town totalled 120, and to date this year the number is 248.

When a scaffold on the interior of the Canadian Linoleum & Co. Oil-cloth factory, Cornwall, fell while a number of bricklayers were on it, James Finner had his left ankle broken and J. Denton's back bruised. Both were removed to the Cornwall General Hospital for treatment. The scaffold fell 20 feet.

Announcement of a new scale of fees in the faculties of Arts and Science has been made at Queen's University, which will become effective when the fall session opens. The increases are slight in both faculties and the new scale is rather an attempt to institute a flat rate of fees. In Arts the fee has been fixed at $60. This will include class, hospital, athletic and Arts Society fees, all except the extra fees for students taking science subjects.

Owing to increased business, the Standard Bank of Camden East has been made a separate branch, and Mr. Thompson, who has been in charge since December, has been appointed manager. The bank has recently purchased the building owned by J. A. Haydon, and the apartments above the bank will be occupied by the manager and his family.

After all, perhaps, the Belleville Consumers' league shows a sense of the fitness of things in deciding that vegetable gardening is a better way than boycotting potatoes to combat the high cost of living, says the Hamilton Herald.

Judging from the opinion of Peterborough real estate men, carters and others, May 1, which is the nationally acclaimed moving day was not marked by any great trek of families from one house to another. "There aren't any houses," one Peterborough carter said. There was no as much moving going on as last year, but still were many people moving from one flat to another. From general indications the transient class of tenant that found it cheaper to move than to pay rent, have almost vanished when the available supply of houses has become fewer and fewer. They have found that if they leave their present abode they may have to take the street, so the rent is paid cheerfully, even though they are having a roof over their heads.

The Belleville police rounded up two girls aged 21 years and 18 years last night, who had been under suspicion. They were brought to the lockup and were taken home to Campbellford.

On Friday evening in the City Hall, the Albert College Dramatic Society will present a comedy entitled "Green Stockings" in aid of the Armenian Relief Fund. Miss Jessie B. Tuite will appear in the role of Cella, eldest of William Faraday's three daughters, the second of whom is already married. It transpires that the youngest daughter receives a proposal of marriage but the father will not give his consent so long as Cella remains on his hands. Cella objects to her father's attitude and adopts what at the time seems to her to be a very simple solution but which really involves her so deeply in a mass of screwingly funny intricacies that a happy conclusion is only reached after many amusing experiences.

If the overall fashion is properly related to the approaching season for gardening it will become something more than a fad.

May 1st is surely the real moving day and Saturday there was more moving in the city of Kingston than on any May Day for years. In fact, Saturday morning carters and movers stated that they never experienced a May Day on which there was so much moving. It was also stated that there was a greater scarcity of houses than ever. Many citizens, unable to find houses, have stored their furniture and given up housekeeping until they can find houses. The housing question is as serious now as it ever was, although one well-known Kingston real estate dealer said that he was of the opinion that building would boom this year as never before, and he felt sure that before long the situation would be greatly improved.

Ed. Scott, ex-umberman, and a former slabman, at Lindsay, has had his certificate as player with Hillcrest of Toronto, passed by the T.A.B.A. Loud walls from Hughesville.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of Rideau School, Kingston, was held on Friday. During the afternoon choruses were given by the senior pupils of the class and an enjoyable time was spent after which the business of the Association was dealt with. The Association passed a recommendation asking the board to have the school fumigated each week while the present hot list lasts. A cup and saucer shaker was held by the ladies to provide dishes for refreshments on meeting days.

Edward Couverette, who died in Watertown, N.Y., on Thursday at the age of 88, spent practically all his life at Clayton and on the St. Lawrence, where he was well known as a guide. He was also an experienced river pilot. Six children survive.

Miss Maud Roddy, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Roddy, Water street, Peterboro, had a narrow escape from death on Sunday morning at about 8 o'clock when during the fire at the Union Station at Toronto she was rescued from the building by her temporary room-mate, Miss McKinnon. Miss Roddy, who has been cashier at the Canadian Railway News Company for the past twenty-four years, had come to live in the station building for a few days and was at the time of the fire asleep in her room just above the room in which the fire started. Dashing through the burning building to the room in which Miss Roddy was sleeping and which had been practically cut off by the flames and smoke, Miss McKinnon, who had been relieving Miss Roddy, carried her to safety below. "It was a plucky rescue," the fireman commented. In conveying the news of her escape Miss Roddy made light of the whole affair to her mother, assuring her that she was all right and back at work on Sunday evening.

Many Kingston citizens have complained about the high rents. On Friday one Kingston citizen stated that for years he had been paying $15 a month rent and just the other day the landlord told him that commencing May 1st his rent would be $35.

The marriage of Miss Phyllis Gertrude Newton, daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Newton and the late Dr. Newton, Deseronto, to Howard Bailey, Cleveland, Ohio, took place at the Central Presbyterian Church, Rochester, N.Y., on April 27th. Following the ceremony a small wedding breakfast party was given at the Powers Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left for a short trip through the West, and later will make their home in Cleveland.

The five-year-old son of John Dickson, Perth, and the boy's great-uncle, Thomas Dickson, of the same place, had a narrow escape from drowning last week when the boy fell into the Tay river when playing at the Perth Mill bridge and Mr. Dickson went to his assistance. When dragged from the river by Wellington Douglas, superintendent of the mill, and R. J. Smith, of the Perth Hydro system, the boy was almost beyond reviving and the old man was utterly exhausted. The water at the point mentioned is 16 feet in depth.

Capt. A. E. Frappe, of the employment bureau, S.C.R., Kingston, was injured the other day when he started to go into the cellar of his home. There had been some repairs made at his home and planks that were used were laid on the cellar stairway. Captain Frappe did not know they were there and as he stepped forward he slid into the cellar and was thrown against the wall, sustaining a number of bruises. He wrenched his shoulder also in the fall. He is around again, but is quite shaky as yet.

Mrs. D. B. McTavish, of Ottawa, established a scholarship at Queen's University, Kingston, for honor matriculants of the Ottawa Collegiate Institute, in honor of her late husband, Judge McTavish. The scholarship, which is valued at $25 a year, will be awarded yearly to the student making the highest standing on the honor matriculation papers in English and History. The late Judge McTavish was once a student at the Ottawa Collegiate and for many years chairman of the board.

A real estate boom has struck Brighton owing to the Dominion Cannery's intention to erect a $125,000 plant there, and the Barnard Foundry Co. starting operations. Vacant land is being surveyed into lots which are selling at city prices. Houses are changing hands every day at high prices.

At the I.O.P.E. meeting in London, Ont., Miss Gordon, Provincial Educational Secretary, reported that a survey of Canadian schools was being made to see how many soldiers' children were ready for universities. The more money that came in for War Memorial Fund, the more soldiers' children could be looked after. Thus until the full sum required is raised the plan will necessarily be limited. As for the overseas post-graduate scholarships, which are not necessarily limited to soldiers' children, they will be deferred this year.

The business expansion of the Greene Music Company has resulted in another link being added to their Perth Hydro system, the boy was almost beyond reviving and the old man was utterly exhausted. The water at the point mentioned is 16 feet in depth. The business expansion of the Greene Music Company has resulted in another link being added to their chain of stores. The purchase has just been completed of the building and business of the Barrie Music Store, formerly owned and operated by Mr. Art Garrett for twenty years. The store is well situated in the business district of Barrie, and has enjoyed for a long time the very highest class trade of that district. Mr. Garrett is held in the very highest esteem by all who know him, but owing to his family help leaving him, and a wish to retire after a successful business life, has turned the entire goodwill, stock and building over to the Greene Music Co. Mr. Garrett's influence will be retained as long as possible, but the store management will be put in the hands of Mr. R. S. Mason, son of Wesley Mason, manager of the Lindsay store of the Greene Music Company. Mr. Mason has been in the employ of the company for five years and is familiar with the methods and lines carried by them, so is well prepared to take the important post of manager of the new store.

The dates for the departmental examinations—entrance, lower, middle, and upper school, have been set as follows: Junior high school entrance, June 24 to June 30; lower school (entrance to normal), June 21 to June 28; pass matriculation, June 14 to June 28; upper school (entrance to faculties of education), June 11 to June 29; honor and scholarship matriculation, June 11 to June 29.

A Pill that Proves its Value—Those of weak stomach will find strength in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, because they serve to maintain the healthful condition of the stomach and the liver, irregularities in which are most distressing. Dyspepsia are well acquainted with them and value them at their proper worth. They have afforded relief when other preparations have failed, and have effected cures in ailments of long standing where other medicines were found unavailing.

Talk of the Town And of the Country

Quite a severe hail storm visited this section of the city on Saturday afternoon and again on Sunday morning.

Everybody seemed anxious to see the change of the moon last night, hoping for warmer weather. Incidentally at the same time came a full eclipse of the moon. The evening was fairly mild and a large number of people turned out to witness the phenomenon. Total eclipse began about 8.15, the middle of the eclipse was reached at 8.51, the total eclipse ending at 9.27. The moon left the umbra at 10.41 p.m. and the penumbra at 11.53 p.m. The spectacle was wholly visible here.

A large number of chevaliers of the Belleville Canton Patriarchs Militant were in Stirling yesterday attending the annual church parade of the Oddfellows of that village.

Last night about eight-fifteen a blaze took place on Bridge St. in front of Bridge St. Methodist Church. A car had been standing on the spot for some time and a quantity of gasoline and oil had run out on the roadway. Following the departure of the car came a youth who dropped a lighted match. A big blaze resulted.

While riding a bicycle on Simcoe street south, Oshawa, near the Pedlar plant, Alfred Bert Naylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Naylor, was struck by an automobile driven by Miss Doris Miller. The accident occurred on Thursday evening last, as the lad was on his way to the G.T.R. depot to meet his father, who was returning from Toronto. The lad's hat blew off, and thinking that the boy would stop and get off his wheel in order to run back and get his hat, Miss Miller swerved to the left in order to leave him ample room to do so. Bert, however, evidently not knowing there was a car behind him, turned his wheel to the left, in order to circle back and ride to his cap. He turned so quickly that Miss Miller had no chance to escape striking him. The boy's thigh was fractured in two places and Dr. Rundle, chief of town states that it is a most unusual break, but has been successfully set at the hospital.

On Sunday a change in the G.T.R. timetable becomes effective. Two additional trains are put on between Cobourg and Toronto, the 6.10 a.m. morning train going west, and the 7.45 p.m. returning at night from Toronto.

So great is the mind of a sweet-minded woman on those around her that it is almost boundless. It is to her that we all go in seasons of sorrow and sickness for help and comfort; one soothing touch of her kindly hand works wonders upon the feverish child; a few words dropped from her lips in the ear of a sorrow-stricken sister will do more to raise the load of grief that is bowing its victim down to the dust in anguish. The husband comes home worn out with the pressure of business and feeling irritable with the world in general, but when he enters the cozy sitting room, and sees the blaze of fire and meets his wife's smiling face he succumbs in a moment to the soothing influences which act as the balm of Gilead to his wounded spirits that are wearied by the stern realities of life. The rough school boys find a rage from the taunts of his companions to find solace in his mother's smile. The little one full of grief with its large troubles finds a haven of rest on its mother's breast; and so one might go on with instance after instance of the influence that a sweet-minded woman has in the social life with which she is connected. Beauty is an insignificant power when compared with hers.

Why not join the Belleville Humane Society? It is now fully organized and ready for work. The fee is merely nominal, being only 50 cents a year. There is much work for such a society to do. In fact, such an organization should have been established here a long time ago. The officers are: President—His Honor Judge Wills, Secretary—W. H. Nugent, Treasurer—Miss Ruby Milburn, Chairman of Executive—Wm. Carnew, K. C., Superintendent—Capt. Ruston.

Cases of cruelty to animals should be reported to Capt. Ruston or Chief of Police Newton and proper investigation will be made. A public meeting will be held shortly.

The objects of the Society are: First, To prevent cruelty to animals; Second, To make the lives of animals more happy; Third, To educate people, especially the young, in humane principles.

The Stirling Agricultural Society is proud of the new grounds and park it has acquired and which are to be opened to the public with a grand demonstration on May 24th. Cabinet Ministers and others are expected to be present and address the gathering. The land recently purchased is within the limits of the Corporation of Stirling and consists of Thirty-five acres on which there is sufficient level space for an extensive park.

During the past twenty years a number of patriotic farmers and land-owners in Eastern Canada have sought to test the possibilities of growing groves of forest trees either from seed or from young plants. In some cases these have been walnut, chestnut, or bucket willow, in others sugar maple, oak, pine, spruce, or cedar. The information as to the success of these plantations and the soil and other conditions is of the utmost value to those studying tree growth in Canada. The Director of Forestry, Ottawa, would be glad to learn from the owner of any such plantation, especially those more than ten years old, particulars as to species, size of plantation, location, etc. If conditions and location warrant, an officer of the branch will endeavor to visit the plantation in the course of an inspection trip.

Excellent Race Track. On the grounds is also a beautiful grove in which is a fine spring of good drinking water, making it an ideal spot for holding picnics etc.

The ferry steamer H. P. Bigelow of the Brockville-Morristown Transportation Co., Thursday afternoon at three o'clock made the first trip of the season after being rebuilt during the winter months. The craft was greatly strengthened with the installation of a new frame and planking throughout the hull which has been thoroughly caulked. New steam piping has been installed and the cabin has been re-arranged for the comfort of the passengers. The craft was inspected by U.S. Government officials on Wednesday and pronounced in first-class condition and up to the full requirements of the U.S. marine law. Commencing at 8 o'clock in the morning and continuing until 7.30 o'clock in the evening the boat will leave Morristown on the hour and Brockville on the half hour, with the exception of at 12.30 and 5.30 o'clock. Capt. Wilbur H. Chambers is in command and the crew is composed of Ernest Case, engineer, William Reese, mate, and Anson Noble, deck hand.

Since the increase in barber prices at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, there has been a great demand for both clippers and razors. The employees of the Canadian Pacific freight sheds and roundhouses are going to combat the "high cost of barbering" and have purchased the necessary equipment with which a hair trim will be dispensed at a nominal charge to employees of those departments. "We are not wanting a millionaire's haircut when a workman's will do," declared one of the men. "It's the height of nonsense to expect us to pay 75 cents for a few minutes' work like that."

Friday morning about twenty laborers employed at the excavation work in connection with the building of the new Allen Theatre, Kingston, went on strike for higher wages. The men were receiving 40 cents an hour and demanded 50 cents an hour. They were later offered 45 cents an hour, and while some agreed to accepting the compromise, others held out for their original demands and did not work.

If your neighbor is prosperous, let him prosper. Don't grunt, growl or grumble. Say a good word for him and let it go at that. Don't be a knocker. Your turn will come. No one man is the whole show. If you see that the town is moving along nicely, feel good about it. Help things along, shove a little. Try to get some of the benefit yourself. Don't stand around like a chilly old cadaver. Don't waste time feeling sore because some fellow has a little more sand and sense than you have. Do a little hustling yourself. Don't be a knocker.

A sad occurrence is reported from Sheffield township. Michael Carroll, a respected resident and a farmer, was found drowned in Stinson's Lake on Monday. Last Friday he left the house with the remark that he was going to fix a fence in the rear of the farm and did not return, and on Monday his body was found in the lake. He was fifty-seven years of age and a bachelor. Four brothers and two sisters of the deceased reside on the homestead. Coroner Dr. Cowan of Napanee was called, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Jacob Wolf, whose dead body together with those of his wife, their five daughters, and Joe Hofer, aged 13, was found in buildings on Wolf's farm, three miles north of Turtle Lake, North Dakota, is believed to be a son of Jacob Wolf, senior, who at one time conducted a general store at North Augusta and who moved to North Dakota between 35 and 40 years ago. The elder Wolf, who, it is understood, amassed considerable wealth after removing to the United States, is still alive would be about 75 years of age.

Nut and stove coal are retailing at Cobourg at $14.50 per ton, the half dollar representing the exchange rate on a ton of coal. As is well known, the exchange on all our imports from the United States adds a considerable increase to the cost. Just at present there is very little stove coal in the town.

According to this month's Labor Gazette the time loss on account of industrial disputes during March was less than during both February, 1920, and March, 1919. There were in existence during the month 22 strikes involving about 3,789 workpeople and resulting in a time loss of about 48,169 working days. Of these strikes 8 were on record at the beginning of the month, and 14 were reported as having commenced during the month. At the end of March there were on record 16 strikes involving about 2,603 workpeople.

The high cost of living is still soaring. The average cost of the week family budget of staple foods equalled $15.98 at the middle of March as compared with $15.77 in February, $13.05 in March, 1919, and $7.68 in March, 1914. The index number of wholesale prices averaged 349.0 for March as compared with 343.5 for February, 277.6 for March, 1919, and 137.0 in March, 1914.

The vacating last week of a Chinese laundry at Port Hope has given the public a chance of a look behind the scenes, says the Port Hope Guide. How clean clothes can come from some of these filthy places is a wonder. The foul odors that cling to the dirt on the walls and windows cannot help to stay the progress of sickness when winter epidemic rages. Many of these places look likely spots for the passing of infection to customers.

The result of the present rise in the price of newspaper and the one that will be made next July, will undoubtedly be the suspension of many papers during the coming year. One result will be that those newspapers that desire to live will have to raise their subscription price to $2, at least. In the United States the price of many weeklies is $2 and $3, and some weeklies in Canada have adopted this rate. Certain it is that under prevailing conditions it will not be possible to survive long at the $1.50 rate while twice-a-week papers will have to raise their price to $3.

Potatoes have been dropped from the menus of Deaver's first-class hotels, and will not be restored, it is stated, until a substantial reduction from present prices is made.

Rev. Willard Browning, Bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church and well known in Belleville, has left Toronto on an Episcopal visitation to the churches in British Columbia. He is scheduled to be back by May 22. Rev. A. M. Hubby, former pastor of Emmanuel Church, Belleville, is in charge of the Bishop's work in Toronto during his absence.

Sunday evening while Master James Vaughan, of Trenton, was going home on his bicycle, just in front of Dr. Farley's he saw a Ford car coming and turned into the ditch to get clear of it. The car drove after him and smashed the wheel he was riding and injured the young man's both legs. He was picked up and taken into Dr. Farley's office for attention, and after receiving the aid necessary Dr. Farley took the lad home. The car did not stop and as no tail light was displayed it was impossible to see the number. The occupants were drunk and driving at a terrific speed. The same car collided with a buggy a few minutes after on the Belleville Road. It is a pity such vagabonds get away with such behaviour.

Our old friend, Mr. Henry Sneyd, former manager of the Merchants Bank in this city, was the chairman of the Board of Trade banquet at Preston at which an optimistic note was struck in reference to Preston's future. "Preston a city in 1925 or 1930" was the motto adopted for the occasion. The Galt Daily Reporter thus refers to the event:

"Chairman Sneyd in his opening remarks referred to what a good town Preston was and how rapidly it was forging ahead. He also stated that the local members should attend the Board of Trade meetings the way they are being attended at Kitchener and Galt. He announced that the meetings would be held on the third Monday of every month and he requested a large turnout of members at all the meetings. The speaker referred to the naming and renaming of our streets and also the numbering of the houses. The garbage system was also referred to; also the housing situation was thoroughly gone into by the chairman."

Rev. A. L. Phelps, B.A., of Greenbank, in the Bay of Quinte Conference, and son of Rev. Leonard Phelps, of the Toronto Conference, has accepted an appointment as professor of English in Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa, a strong Methodist institution in that State. He takes up his new duties next September.

An old couple had lived together forty years. The man said that he and his wife never agreed but once in that time, and that was when the house took fire, both agreed that the best thing to do was to get out as soon as possible.

The appointment of several engineers is gazetted by the Civil Service Commission. Philip Earnshaw, Kingston, is appointed instructor in civil engineering in the Royal Military College. A. P. Miller, Glen Miller, Ont., is appointed assistant engineer for the Trent Canal for the Federal Department of Public Works.

Mr. David Price, who has just been granted two months' leave-of-absence, has left to spend some time with his son at Chesherville in hopes that the change will help to restore him to his former vigor. Mr. Price has been giving faithful service to the city for the past 18 years, having been appointed in 1902. He is now in frail health and it does seem as if the city might give him a modest retiring allowance for the remaining time that he has to spend with us. The following are the treasurers of the town and city of Belleville for the past 60 years: Town—Thos. Wills, 1860 to 1888; Jas. Blacklock, 1889 to 1870; R. P. Davy, 1871 to 1876; Robt. Tananahill, 1877. City—Robert Tananahill, 1878 to 1893; L. H. Henderson, 1894 to 1895; J. P. Thompson, 1896 to 1902; David Price, 1902 to present.

A straw vote on the question of daylight saving among five of Oshawa's industrial plants put the employees on record as against the restoration of "summer time" there by a majority of 238. The plants where-in the vote was taken were Pedlars, General Motors, Williams Piano Co., Fittings Limited and Parks Foundry Company. There were 307 votes cast in favor of daylight saving and 1143 against.

According to a ruling made by the Ontario Board of License Commissioners under which the Ontario Temperance is administered, those having summer homes in the province, whether they are citizens of the United States or Canadians, are entitled to import liquor from Montreal to such homes in the same way as persons permanently domiciled here. This announcement doubtless will create not little interest among our neighbors to the south, says the Kingston Whig, who reside in places near the Ontario border and who own or lease summer cottages on that side of the line.

The ferry Ontario No. 1 is busy on the route between Copoung and Genesee dock, the incoming cargo being chiefly coal and the outgoing are being shipped from this port. A considerable quantity of pulpwood is in Cobourg now awaiting shipment. Ontario No. 2 is in Toronto receiving repairs. The big steamers go on schedule time the latter part of May.

A threat to assassinate John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was made just before he left his hotel to address a mass meeting in behalf of the Inter-Church World Movement at Buffalo. This was the reason assigned by the police for the unusual precautions which were taken at the meeting to guard the young oil magnate. A special guard of uniformed policemen was stationed around the platform from which he spoke and many plainclothesmen were scattered through the audience. Mr. Rockefeller was in his room at the Hotel Stabler when a man called him on the telephone and warned him that an effort would be made to kill him while he spoke, according to the police.

On Saturday several women stood on the corners leading to the market urging ladies not to buy potatoes above the figure of $4 or $4.50 per bag. This form of boycott was an effort to bring prices down. The supply of tubers on Saturday was not very large and how far the appeals of the ladies affected sales can not be determined. Prices did not go below six dollars per bag.

Mr. H. W. Martin who has been physical instructor at the Y.M.C.A. since a September, completed his work at the "Y" last Friday and returns to Peterborough tomorrow. Mr. Martin has been very successful in the management of the physical department.

One argument that has been persistently used against the placing of the railway track in the center of the roadway along Pinnacle street is that it would then be over the sanitary sewer and the railway officials would refuse to place the line in such a position. The argument is not sound for it is based on wrong information. The Pinnacle Street sewer is not, to begin with, in the center of the street but well to one side, having been placed in the center of the space between the railway and the east sidewalk. The track, if transferred to the center of the street, would still be clear of the sewer so that there is no such impediment in the way.

More work in overalls and less parading in them is the only thing that will help.

The proposal to heat the Court House and County Jail at Kingston with a central heating plant is again in the air. A representative of a Toronto manufacturing company was at the Court House Friday morning looking over the situation and will submit a proposal at the next meeting of the County Property Committee. The plan would have the plant in the jail and would do away with the four furnaces now needed to heat the buildings. It is claimed it would mean a saving in coal and labor. The suggestion was first made about ten years ago.

The fifth anniversary of the battle of St. Julian was fittingly observed Thursday, April 22, at the plant of the General Motors of Canada, Ltd., Oshawa. Much after the manner of the celebration of the first anniversary of the armistice last November 11, and as was done shortly after the death of the late King Edward, out of respect to him the work at the plant came to a halt for two minutes. At eleven o'clock sharp the whistle at the factory blew two short blasts and all work came to a halt for two minutes in commemoration of the battle of St. Julian, which took place on April 22, 1915.

The Port Hope Guide says: Trout fishing commences Saturday and so many of the disciples of Isack Walton have promised to decorate our deck so that we do not expect to have space for even the paste pot.

It is well to be charitable in our conclusions, mindful that we often need the cloak of charity ourselves. Fill life with sunshine and strew flowers where others throw stones. Make life a bright spot in this world and where you see flowers cast smiles, and whether it be morn, dusk or night, let the sunny side of nature always be at full meridian.

At the meeting of the Belleville Ministerial Association held this morning at the Y.M.C.A. the annual election of the officers was held as follows: President, Rev. W. H. Wallace; Vice-President, Rev. A. S. Kerr; Secretary-Treasurer, Rev. Wesley Elliott. The Rev. Mr. Elliott gave a paper on "The Fundamental of Christianity." In the discussion that followed, those taking part were Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Rev. W. H. Wallace, Rev. A. H. Foster, Rev. W. Seay, Rev. George Brown and Mr. F. F. Brookes.

Charles Moore, John Moore and Douglas Moore, were on Saturday after a hearing in police court committed for trial on a charge of assaulting City Assessor J. A. Kerr and causing him bodily harm. They were granted bail.

The police had a call to the Newfoundland Cafe to settle a dispute on Sunday night. They did it.

For the benefit of the Belleville Consumers' Economy League and others interested in breaking the high price of potatoes by producing more potatoes were smothered to death in their beds as the result of a fire which occurred at their home on Isabella street on Wednesday night. No details are to hand of how the fire started. Mrs. Flin-

Irish Cobbler or some early maturing variety for seed. If a large yield is desired for a main crop it is better to defer planting until about the first of June. Some of the sod lots around the city, if plowed and well cultivated, afford ideal soil for the potato. This is especially true of the lighter soils in East Belleville. No fertilisation is required where sod is planted. Plant either in furrows or on the surface, with pieces cut with two or three eyes and one in a hill, rows 2 1/2 feet part and hills 14 inches apart in the row. This spacing has been found by exhaustive tests at the Ontario Agricultural College to produce largest yields. If large seed is not obtainable small potatoes may be planted whole and fairly good results obtained. Potatoes planted now should, under favorable conditions, be ready for digging any time after the middle of July.

The finding on Saturday of some seeds and a can of paint belonging to Geen's drug store in the doorway next, led to a belief that some one might have hidden them with the idea of taking them later. A policeman watched the articles but nobody came for them. They were handed over to Mr. Geen.

The Rev. Mr. Seavy, of Toronto, representing the Methodist Episcopal Church of North Africa was the preacher at Holloway St. Methodist Church last evening. His talk was on the brotherhood of man and his subject "Oil in the Vessel." He traced the growth of the church for the colored race in Canada and remarked on the great help the whites had been. He asked for a continuance of that assistance to build up the best type of character among the negro elements of our society. He outlined the emancipation of the slaves and the building up of the church in the United States.

The Rev. W. Harris Wallace, of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church on Sunday morning in the absence of Rev. Dr. Scott, who is indisposed. The evening service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Baker. In the Baptist Church yesterday morning the Rev. Mr. Brown officiated.

Cheese sold for 30 cents at the meeting of the Frontenac Cheese Board Thursday afternoon, being a jump of four cents over last week's price. There were 310 boxes of colored cheese boarded as follows: Model, 60; Cold Springs, 35; Elginburg, 40; Railton, 75; Keenan, 30; Sunbury, 177. The bidding opened at 25 cents and rose to 30 cents, at which price Mr. Smith bought Cold Springs and Railton, while Mr. Gibson bought Keenan and Sunbury, and Mr. Murphy secured Model.

Universities are not to escape the high cost of living. Following up increases to the professional staff of McGill University, the Board of Governors has found it necessary to increase the sessional fees to the students. Even so, the actual cost of the education given by the university is three times as much as will be paid by the student. Not only have the professors' salaries had to be raised, but the price of scientific instruments and all the appurtenances of education has gone up. In applied science the fees has been raised from $197 to $205, in arts from $58 to $100, in medicine from $147 to $200, in dentistry from $125 to $200, in law, for those proceeding to the degree of B.C.L., from $77 to $150, and for those proceeding to that of LL.B. from $77 to $100. In music the increase is expected to be 15 per cent. Part of these increases is accounted for the inclusion of the gymnasium fee of $5 and the new health insurance fee of $2. It is not yet settled whether these fees are to be effective for students who have already registered, but the probability is they will be, and they will certainly apply to all students registering in the future.

Some of the automobiles around Kingston are making a bad start this season on the country roads, as already three accidents of a serious nature have been recorded. One man lost his life, four were seriously injured, while five others had a miraculous escape. In two cases, the cars turned turtle and the other one caught fire.

Commencing on May 1 the Peterboro Milk Products Co. will retail milk at 16 pints for a dollar. Only 15 pints have been given up till now but the abundance of milk on the market has necessitated the drop. The price of a single quart will still be 14 cents.

FREE OF TERRIBLE KIDNEY TROUBLE

After Three Years of Suffering, "FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brought Relief

MADAME HORMIDAS FOISY

624 Champlain St., Montreal.
"For three years, I was ill and exhausted and I suffered constantly from Kidney Trouble and Liver Disease. My health was miserable and nothing in the way of medicine did me any good. Then I started to use 'Fruit-a-lives' and the effect was remarkable."

I began to improve immediately and this wonderful fruit medicine entirely restored me to health. All the old pains, headaches, indigestion and constipation were relieved and once more I was well.

To all who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatic Pains or great Fatigue, I advise the use of 'Fruit-a-lives'.

Madame HORMIDAS FOISY.

"The Art of Telling a Story" was described by Mrs. Horace Parsons before the Women's Art Association, of Toronto. The speaker showed the importance of stories as a channel through which some vital power may be added to the child soul, stimulating imagination and extending vision. A fairy story, though untrue in itself, is the medium through which truth may be taught. As the mind expands and matures, taking on a desire for hero-worship, historical studies should take the place of fairy tales. Children should then be given well-chosen books of action and adventure.

A girl named Partridge married a man named Robin. He died. Then she married a Sparrow. Now she has married a Unitarian minister named Quail. She takes good care not to marry a Hawk or there might be a dead Partridge.

The potatoes have "eyes." If they had ears they would certainly be burning these days, over all the talk about them.

The overall fad having struck Peterboro, says The Examiner, the next natural thing was that it be noticed by the clothing men either to encourage it or fight it. Evidently the Merrell and Meredith store was ready to cater to the popular demand, for their window this week was an overall and khaki one exclusively. Wishing to test the feeling of the clothing men, the buyer for this store was consulted and he stated that of course a growing demand for overalls would naturally shorten the supply, and one result would be that the working man, who really needed this class of clothing, would have to pay more for his garments. His opinion of the necessity for the movement was negative. Their store had working suits at $25 to $35, and even where a blue serge was wanted prices ranged from $40 to $55, and made to order at $75. These he considered were moderate charges in the face of conditions and showed that buying could be done with economy if desired.

The ice continues to block navigation at Kingston. On Wednesday afternoon there was so much ice to conquer that the steamer Missisquoi had to cancel her trip from Cape Vincent to Kingston. This is an unusual condition of affairs for this time of the year, and mariners state that it is many years since they were up against such a proposition for the spring opening. A number of vessels are in port at that city ready to clear just as soon as the weather is favorable. The steamer Phelan, which has been laid up there during the winter is in readiness to get away. The members of the crew have arrived. The steamer Jeska arrived from Oswego with its third cargo of coal. The Jeska will be kept busy on the coal-carrying trade all season.

THE Good Judge finds that nearly all Flours look good, most Flours feel good and many Flours bake good, but all Flours do not contain the proper high percentage of nutritive or digestive qualities, consequently have not the same muscle and nerve building constituents. Some times it is bad milling. Some times it is bad wheat. We only adopt the best. Our Flour cannot be made as cheaply, but with the co-operation of your local dealer, we are trying to put it on the market at no higher price than ordinary brands. Insist on getting it. We do not think any dealer wishes to let a little in the way of profit stand between him and furnishing you with the best possible goods.

DELICATE GIRLS MADE STRONG

Rich, Red Blood Needed to Keep up Their Vitality.

If growing girls are to become well developed, healthy women their blood supply must be carefully watched. Mothers should not ignore their unsettled moods or the various troubles that tell of approaching womanhood. It should be constantly borne in mind that pale, bloodless girls need plenty of nourishment, plenty of sleep and regular open-air exercise. But a lack of appetite, and tired, aching limbs tend to hinder progress. To save the weak, thin-blooded sufferer she must have new, rich, red blood and nothing meets a case of this kind so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only enrich and increase the blood supply, they help the appetite and aid digestion, relieve the weary back and limbs, thus promptly restoring health and strength and transforming anaemic girls and women into cheerful happy people. Among the thousands who have obtained new health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Miss Violet Booth, Glenora, Ont., who says: "For a long time I was in a bad run down condition. I was pale, breathless at the least exertion, and could hardly do my household work without stopping to rest. I often had severe headaches, and my appetite was poor and fickle and I would get up in the morning without feeling the least bit rested. I had tried several medicines, but did not get benefit from anything until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I had taken two boxes I could see an improvement, and after using six boxes I found my health fully restored. I feel altogether different since I used the pills that I strongly advise them for all weak, run down people."

If you are weak or ailing in any way, avail yourself at once of the splendid home treatment which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills so easily afford, and you will be among those who rejoice in regained health. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville.

The following verses were composed on the death of Maurice Lott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lott:

Where has my darling baby gone?
He's numbered with the dead;
They tell me that to worlds of light
His happy spirit fled.

We miss our little winsome one,
We cannot see him now,
They say he walks the golden street
With glory on his brow.

They say the Saviour comes to earth
And picks the fairest flowers,
And that is why he cannot come,
To cheer our lonely hours.

Beneath a little grassy mound,
We've laid him there to rest;
To be a little white robed saint,
And dwell among the blest.

And while he cannot come to us;
To cheer us with his love,
We'll try and serve the Saviour here
And meet with Him above.

Composed by Mrs. N. B.

This Trade Mark Represents Threaded Rubber Insulation

This Still Better Willard is the only battery which has Threaded Rubber Insulation.

Every battery has to have some sort of insulating material between the plates inside the cells. This is in order to separate positive plates from negative to prevent the active material from coming into contact and causing short circuits, which would ruin the battery.

The superiority of Threaded Rubber is in its durability. It lasts as long as the plates. Ordinary insulation does not. It wears out and has to be renewed.

Re-insulation is never wholly satisfactory, even if the plates are found to be uninjured, but often we find that they have already been damaged.

Why wasn't an ideal material like rubber used before? It was—but was never found practical for general adoption in starting and lighting batteries till Willard found how to make it porous by piercing it with tiny threads. Thus the acid solution can extend through the insulation, allowing free passage of current.

Any Willard Service Station will be glad to explain in detail. No other battery has this "armor plated" protection against insulation troubles. Therefore be sure of the trade mark.

5. Don't propose to a young woman whose tongue keeps wagging during church service; there would be other sermons in store for you.

6. Don't marry a man who thinks more of a good time than a good name; your good time would likely never arrive.

7. Don't choose a young woman who is more concerned about how she looks than how she acts; she would be apt to break both your heart and your purse.

8. Don't marry your opposite in religion; your religious beliefs are likely to outlive your love.

9. Don't marry in haste; it's a life leap; be sure before you jump.

10. Don't marry while you have any doubt; wait till head and heart bring in a unanimous verdict.

For some days there has been a persistent rumor on the streets of Kingston that "C" unit of the D. S. C. R. Kingston would shortly be closed and the administration transferred to Toronto.

The work and staff of the Information and Service Branch will be transferred and the local office closed and the publication of this fact by a Toronto paper may be responsible for the local rumor regarding the Kingston work of the D. S. C. R.

The Presidents of the cheese factories of the Madoc district met in the Town Hall, Madoc, on Friday, April 23, for the purpose of considering the sale of cheese through the United Co-operative Company.

Mr. Cowan, of Peterboro, Mr. Pulow and others addressed the meeting. Two phases of the cheese industry were emphasized by the speakers, the advantage of buying their supplies in large quantities from the manufacturer and selling their products through some Co-operative Company.

The principles enunciated by the speakers were that it was the duty of the producer to follow his products as far as possible to the consumer and to buy his supplies as cheap as possible.

A Smile in Every Dose of Baby's Own Tablets

Baby's Own Tablets are a regular joy giver to the little ones — they never fail to make the cross baby happy. When baby is cross and fretful the mother may be sure something is the matter for it is not baby's nature to be cross unless he is ailing.

To Form Signal Corps

Authorization has been issued in order from headquarters for the organization of a non-permanent Canadian Signal Corps, to be composed of units in each of the military districts throughout Canada.

The special units will comprise two sound ranging sections and four artillery observation sections for each unit, but no instructions have yet been issued as to where they will be stationed.

These plans, it was stated, are the beginning of the organization of a complete non-permanent signaling corps service, along the lines following the lessons learned during the war, in which the work of the signallers became one of primary importance in connection with troop movements, locating enemy troops and finding the location and distance of enemy artillery.

It is expected that the organization of this non-permanent signal corps will take some time, and that it will have as a nucleus a number of signallers who have had experience during the recent war, who will form a teaching center to show recruits the real work of signallers on active service.

Best Medicine He Has Ever Taken FATHER TELLS OF SON'S HELP FROM DODD'S MEDICINES.

He Recommends Everybody Who Has Shaking or Pain in the Heart to Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills. Birmingham, Sask., May 3. (Special)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best medicines my son has ever taken."

This is the statement of Mr. Johannes Reinson, a well-known resident here. "When he started to take them," Mr. Reinson continues, "there was not much hope of him. Soon after starting to take the Dodd's Medicines he began to improve in health and now he is well."

He advises everybody who has shaking or pain in the heart to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. The Dodd's Medicines act on the two essentials to good health. The Tablets help to digest the food and produce good blood. The Pills act on the kidneys, healing and strengthening them, thus ensuring that the blood is kept free from impurities. For the work of healthy kidneys is to strain all impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen the kidneys.

GLEN ROSS The eclipse on the moon Sunday evening was one attraction. A large number from this appointment attended sacramental service in the Methodist Church at Stirling on Sunday last and also the Oddfellows' sermon at 2.30.

Former Bellefleur Catcher Highly Praised by Knotty Lee. Manager "Knotty" Lee of the Brantford team scouted Catcher W. Mills on several occasions last year and at the close of the season endeavored to secure his signature on a Brantford contract. Lee believes that the success of Goyer, the local southpaw, was largely due to the expert handling of his pitching by Mills. The Brantford manager is of the opinion that he has secured a catcher who will bring a fancy price on the baseball market when he becomes a little more experienced.

Talk of the Town And of the Country

A total eclipse of the moon was visible here on Sunday evening, the eclipse beginning about 8.15 and lasting until 9.30 o'clock. An eclipse of the moon occurs when the earth is in a straight line between the sun and our satellite. It is the earth's shadow that we can observe crossing the disk of the moon, covering the whole surface for one hour and receding gradually till the end of the eclipse. This celestial phenomenon is one out of many others which...

corps, when interviewed regarding the trouble at Peterboro, when the officers of the battalion resigned in a body, stated that the matter was satisfactorily settled. The action of the officers arose over the bumpiness of the late appointed commander. He endeavored to impose observance of his rank at all times, demanding that his officers salute him. This was too much, and a mutiny was the result. A proper understanding was reached, and the officers are back at their posts.

There are too many box closets in Peterboro, according to Dr. Clinton, District Officer of Health, who made another inspection visit in that city on Thursday. With the sewer facilities provided on most of the city's streets, Dr. Clinton declared that there should be comparatively few houses unconnected. He deplored the leniency that had evidently been exercised toward those persons who were content with out-houses, and intimated that there should be a firmer attitude toward those citizens. Dr. Clinton visited the county House of Refuge at Lakefield and was not satisfied with the conditions he found there. There was not the degree of cleanliness that should obtain in such a community of old persons.

Rev. N. B. Topping, of Perth, who was in Kingston on Friday, stated that although he has been preaching for forty-one years he hoped that the conference would see fit to give him another charge. He says that although superannuated he is anxious to go back into the ministry.

Oshawa Club has called in all last year's uniforms in order that they may be sent to the laundry and be cleaned. This is a good idea for the Port Hope Club to follow, says the Guide. Nothing like starting the season with a brand clean suit. It should not be necessary to purchase new suits this year when it is considered that it costs $100 to outfit a baseball team with uniforms today.

For the past few weeks supplies of airplanes, engines and accessories, totalling over a million dollars' worth, have been shipped to Camp Borden, and are now being stored there in readiness for the Military Air Force, which, it is said, will have their training grounds there for all Eastern Canada. The aircraft and supplies are part of the equipment donated to Canada by the Imperial Government, and have been arriving from over the water for the past month. The shipments include British war planes, some former German planes which have been remodelled, four or five seaplanes, engines, parts and accessories, and the total value of the goods as passed by the customs office will total over a million dollars. During the time of the late Col. Low, who was doing construction work at Borden, the Barris customs office passed goods to the value of many thousands of dollars, but these are the biggest shipments that have ever passed through the customs there. It is rumored that if the air force training camp is held at Borden that Kempenfelt Bay will be used for instruction in seaplane flying. In all probability Barris will again have the once-familiar sight of daily airplane exhibitions while the training season is on.

At Thursday night's meeting of ladies called by the Peterboro National Council of Women in the lecture room of the Free Library to discuss the high cost of living, they went on record in favor of the continued manufacture and sale in Canada of oleomargarine, a partial boycott of potatoes for a month, and an embargo on the exportation of potatoes to the United States. It was the intention of the meeting to go into the cost of many other articles, but the ladies got lost in a maze of motions and amendments, and by the time that they had finished with the above two commodities, the hour was too late to proceed with anything else.

A middle-aged man who has for the last ten nights been sleeping in a hollow log in Belton's bush, adjoining St. Catharines, was found by the police and locked up. He wore a lurid black beard, and appeared half starved. He is believed to be an escaped lunatic and has been locked up until inquiries can be made. The log was so short, his feet stuck out. He had no protection from the cold other than an overcoat. The man, whose mind seems a blank, said he thought his name was either Michael Delaney or McCarthy and he thought his home was in Brantford.

It would astonish many of us sometimes if we could know what our neighbors think of us. Every man has some kind of a standing in the community where he lives, and he is sized up a great deal closer than he has any idea of. You may set it down as a fact that there isn't a twelve-year-old boy in the neighborhood who hasn't his opinion of you, and he wouldn't be slow about expressing it either, if a stranger should ask him for it. Every man is always making character, whether he is doing anything else or not.

The temporary "Oshawa Isolation Hospital" at 66 Bruce street, closed on Thursday. The hospital has been running about five weeks, ever since Alfred Omanden, 11 years old of Verdun Road, developed scarlet fever while a patient at the Oshawa General Hospital. The hospital has, during the five weeks of its existence, been under the able direction of Mrs. Edna Kirk, of Toronto, who was discharged from the hospital last week, and on Thursday the place was fumigated with formaldehyde by Sanitary Inspector Palmer. The house was then closed for a period of twenty-four hours and will be returned to the owner as soon as it has been put in as good shape as it was when it was taken over by the town. The law regarding the housing of contagious cases is interesting. If, in the opinion of the Sanitary Inspector, it is deemed necessary to have an isolation hospital, he has the power to take over any place suitable for the purpose. The owner, after the property is returned to him, then forwards the bill to the Board of Health. In the judgment of the Board, the price charged is excessive the Board has the privilege of laying the matter before a Justice of the Peace.

Toronto Star: Every man on the Winnipeg "Falcon" hockey team and in the party, except the trainer, was born in Canada and out of nine players seven were in France and saw service and so did their trainer Sigurzonson. There is more than one decoration in the party too. Captain Frederickson did brilliant service in the Flying Corps. Hata, off to those Canadians of Icelandic descent. They have been a credit to the country, both as sportsmen and gentlemen. The score of the European hockey team against the Canadian and U.S. teams and the personnel of the teams shows that hockey in Europe is more a pastime than a sport. They play hockey there about the way we play croquet here. It will be a real sport after this, because such nations of skaters as the Swedes, Norwegians and Danes will be quick to pick up the play of the Canadian and United States teams.

There appears to be a movement of farmers and farm hands into the city and travellers in the country state that throughout the country loads of household goods are passed heading for the cities. Farmers in the northern townships are migrating to the south and a number of families from back north have recently moved to farms around the City of Peterboro. At the Peterboro G.T.R. station it was learned that there was scarcely any moving going on by the railroad, but moving by motor has become so common that long distances are now traversed and they are now able to compete with the railroads.

London citizens tiring of constant appeals for aid have decided to raise in one big campaign sufficient funds to meet the needs of all welfare organizations in the city for one year. A splendid idea.

The first of the wooden crosses to mark the graves of Canadian soldiers who are buried in Canada arrived at Cobourg last week, one being for Pte. Chubb, of Alderville, and the other for Pte. Burwash, of Baltimore. The crosses are of wood painted white and are similar to those that mark the graves of Canadian soldiers overseas. At the top are the letters R.I.P., and on the arm of the cross are the dead soldier's name and number.

Queen Mary School cadet corps were inspected this morning by Col. Gillespie of Kingston and made a highly creditable showing. The High School corps was reviewed yesterday afternoon and executed the drills with precision.

Honourable Mr. Justice Logie took the case of Gartshore vs Westfall from the jury at the assize and dismissed the action. It was a suit for damages for alleged malicious arrest and arose over the removal of an automobile. K. Langdon for the plaintiff and A. Abbot for the defendant.

The Belleville Bar had the honor of entertaining Mr. Justice Logie and Mr. Leighton McCarthy, K.C. and Mr. W. E. Foster, K.C. at dinner at Hotel Quince last night. After dinner adjournment was made to the club and several very pleasant hours were spent with anecdotes and exchange of experiences in the drama of legal life. The County

Crown Attorney presided. Colonel Lasher with over 50 years' professional standing added his benediction. Judge Wills and Colonel Pon-ton proposed the toast of the guest of honor, Mr. Justice Logie, referring particularly to his service for King and Country when as General Logie he exchanged the toga for the khaki and sent over a battalion after battalion on active service during the war. His Lordship responded most felicitously with the brevity of the soldier and graceful diction of the Judge.

Mr. Claude Bonisteel, until recently with the Steel Company of Canada has decided to move to Toronto, where he has purchased a home. Mr. Bonisteel will leave to reside in the Queen city about the middle of the present month.

On Saturday last The Ontario published, on the editorial page, a long extract from a sermon delivered by Dr. Kelman at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York. Dr. Kelman is an exceedingly brilliant and able pulpiteer who has lately come to New York from Scotland. This sermon was delivered on Sunday morning, March 28, last. By a somewhat singular coincidence, Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie Robertson of the city were in New York on that date and heard this particular sermon. Mr. Robertson on seeing the quotation in The Ontario at once remembered it as having been used in the sermon. It was a fervid appeal to the United States to join the Allies in the great work of rescuing the nations from the consequences of war. The church was crowded to the doors and Mr. and Mrs. Robertson had difficulty in securing a seat.

LATE ARTHUR SALISBURY The funeral was held on Monday afternoon of the late Arthur Salisbury, Rev. Mr. Squire, officiating at the service at Crofton Church. Interment was made in Albury cemetery. The bearers were W. A. Clarke, R. Boyce, P. Boyce, A. M. Munroe, S. R. Munro and J. Covert.

W. HOGAN LOST HIS LEFT FOOT

Limp Terribly Mangled Between Wall and Wagon this Morning

Mr. William Hogan, Carter, 26 North Front Street, met with an unfortunate accident this morning at eleven o'clock, as a result of which he will be permanently maimed.

Mr. Hogan had entered the gangway east of the Lewis and Stafford Hardware stores driving a team of horses, one of them a colt. On the platform of the dray and projecting ten feet or so beyond was a piece of shanking which struck one of the walls causing the wagon to swing around. The colt got restive and started to back up. Mr. Hogan was on the platform and in some way his left foot became caught between the wall and the box of the platform, and the ankle and foot were terribly crushed. After the accident help came and he was removed from his position. The foot was cut off and then the serious nature of the injuries were revealed. He was rushed to the hospital and the foot was amputated above the ankle.

Mr. Hogan is suffering much from the shock of the accident and the operation. His many friends regret the unfortunate accident and will wish him a speedy recovery.

MEET ON MOUNTAINS.

An Indian poet says: "Great things are done when men on mountains meet. They are not done by jostling in the street."

Our leaders should endeavor to meet on the mountains. The necessity is great and the opportunity is great.

How great those things might be for Canada and the world who can foresee. The great bulk of mankind, particularly in old lands, can do little to better their position in life.

"Great things are done when men on mountains meet. They are not done by jostling in the street."

With a Canadian ambassador at Washington we may expect to have the Beaver's tail twisted from time to time.

Our excellent contemporary The Brockville Recorder and Times has issued a valuable memorial and historical number in reference to the men from that town who were overseas during the Great War.

Exit the ex-kaiser. The Dutch Government has solemnly pledged itself to see to it that Wilhelm Hohenzollern will be so closely watched that he will not be able to stage a "come-back."

This is an entirely different chastisement from the one the Allies had promised the world. Lloyd George scored one of his greatest political triumphs largely on his declaration that the imperial criminal would be brought to trial and punished after some spectacular fashion.

Where is there a more fitting emblem of love—Love that grows stronger 'midst trouble and sorrow?

Not for these graces alone, little flower, Do Acadians love and cherish thee so; Nor is it because, in sunshine and shower, We oft see thee smiling from drift of the snow.

As natives of Scotia, we're proud of thee too; For where is there emblem so royally grand, With record so noble, so loyal and true, As never to live in an alien land?

The rose of Old England, and Scotland's thistle And Ireland, too, has her shamrock so grand; Transplanted by aliens, they flourish and grow, But Scotia's sweet emblem knows no other land.

And for this gilt and gold, spurred and helmeted, semi-mad strutter, who gorged himself on pageants and hoche, could there be any more terrible punishment than confinement on an insignificant and isolated Dutch estate?

Lord Curzon, speaking officially for the Supreme Council, protests against press reports telling of dissensions in the council which threaten to split it wide open.

There are a number of homes placarded for the measles in town. Mr. Wm. Tripp had a new metal roof put on their house this week.

Mr. W. D. Ketcheson is taking the census of the village. Mr. and Mrs. S. Palmer and baby arrived home on Saturday after spending three weeks' holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer at Drumbo.

THE MAYFLOWER

The Ontario is indebted to Rev. A. M. Hubby, of Toronto, for the following original and beautiful poem.

This note accompanies the poem.—The Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Mayflower is a species of trailing Arbutus which grows most profusely in the woods and barren plains, but cannot be transplanted.

Dear little Mayflower, thou art the emblem Of purity, loyalty, friendship and love; For emblem the same, no other I know Like thee in thy constancy braving the snow.

Pure as the dewdrop that sparkles on lily, When morning sun shines on the grass covered lea;

Thou in thy humbleness bloom'st in the forest And light'st up the trunk of some, old withered tree.

And oh, for thy loyalty! Where is the heart As loyal as thou? Thou wilt never depart From thine own Acadia—land of thy birth— No other can nurse thee on face of the earth.

Thy friendship so constant, is friendship most rare, Not such as will fall us when peril is near, Nor cool when the winds of adversity blow; We love thee! Sweet flower that bloom'st 'mid the snow.

Where is there a more fitting emblem of love—Love that grows stronger 'midst trouble and sorrow?

The storm of today only makes thee more bright, With sweet fragrant bloom to gladden the morrow.

Among those in attendance at the funeral of the late O. Wardhaugh, yesterday were, Commandant Chas. Wiseman, New York City, Mr. James Perkins, of Syracuse, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Salisbury, Fulton, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reid and daughter of Moscow, and Mr. N. Babcock, of Newburg.

License Inspector Goodrich, of Cobourg was busy last week. He was at Coderington, 10 miles north of Brighton, where two men were drunk and running horses. They were brought before Justices Tweedie and Phillips and were fined each $25.00 and costs. At Hastings Richard Walsh was fined $25 and costs by Justices Fowlds and Hess for consuming liquor on premises where it was not lawful for liquor to be consumed. At Cobourne a man who had too much in while on the street was fined $10 and costs.

Sylvia Tensen Echo, a Holstein 3-year-old heifer, owned by D. B. Tracy, of Cobourg, has just broken the world's record for milk for one day, giving 110.3 lbs. in one day. She is out of a son of May Echo Sylvia, the only cow in the world to give 1,000 lbs. of milk in 7 days. This heifer, freshening as a three-year-old, gave 110.3 lbs. of milk in one day, a world's record for her class, and 704.5 lbs. in 7 days, which is the Canadian record, and at her present rate she will hold the world's record for 7 days within a week. One of Sylvia Tensen Echo's sire's brothers sold to the Carnation Milk Co. for $108,000, and another for $75,000 to John A. Bell, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa. May Echo Sylvia is owned by Mr. A. C. The Deseronto Post says that if Belleville can step out into the township of Thurlow and Tyendinags and pick up men that are good enough to go on the police force of this city, Deseronto could do the same with regard to an enforcer of the law for this town. But what we do want is a man who will live here and who will spend his money here the same as the rest of us.

Baseball sports of Cobourg have been having a few workouts, and with the opening of the town league next week the season will be under full swing. Lipsday opens the season in the C.O.B.A. here on May 24, and to get off to a good start by a win the team will have to put in hard practice. With Manager Mulchall at the helm, Cobourg should make a better showing this season. Most of the teams in the league, if rumors are true, will have outside help this season. So far Cobourg has made no attempt to "ring in," and will rely on home talent. If baseball is to go ahead, the homebrew way is the only way. The other way has been tried in Cobourg quite often, but the results were not any too satisfactory—financially or in the standing of the club at the end of the season.

The name of Frederick G. Bourne is familiar as the owner of Dark Island, near Alexandria Bay. Mr. Bourne's death occurred a little over a year ago, at his home in New York, and having some holdings in Ontario his will was recently admitted to probate in Brockville. His bequests to religious and charitable objects form an outstanding feature of his will, and are so generous, and in such striking contrast to those of other wealthy men, as to make an interesting reading. Among other things his will reads: "I give and bequeath to the Cathedral church of St. John the Divine in the city of New York, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars to help in building the Cathedral nave. For some time residents in and around Napanee have been suffering as a result of the work of chicken thieves. On Tuesday morning Chief of Police Barrett placed under arrest Bert Evans, about twenty-six or twenty-seven years of age, at Deseronto, on a charge of theft from Elias Smith, of the Belleville road, about a mile and a half west of Napanee. About 12.30 o'clock on Tuesday morning Mr. Smith was aroused from his sleep by a noise in his chicken house and on an investigation being made, it was found that the house had been robbed. Chief Barrett got busy on the case, with the result that he rounded up Evans and also recovered seventeen chickens. The birds were found in a buggy, the chief also finding a dead pig in the vehicle. The "porker" is believed to be the property of Mr. Miller, a farmer, living a short distance from Napanee. Evans appeared before the Magistrate at Napanee on Tuesday and was remanded till May 4th.

The Portsmouth delegates appointed by the village council to proceed to Ottawa and lay certain matters before the Kingston member, Sir Henry Drayton, delayed their departure pending the reported visit of the member to Kingston. As he was prevented from coming on the occasion of the celebration of Langemarker day, the delegates will go to the capital at an early date in order to support their representations on behalf of the village.

A carriage occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Noble, of Morrisburg, was struck by a car driven by a man named Lindley, from Syracuse, on the state road between Morrisstown and Brier Hill on Thursday evening last. The carriage was demolished and Mrs. Noble sustained a fractured arm. The horse broke loose from the wreckage and ran away. The car was thrown into a ditch at the side of the road and was considerably damaged. The cause of the accident was not learned.

In 1919 Ontario had, out of a total of 5,757 rural schools, five schools with an average attendance of two, thirty-five schools with three, forty-six schools with four, seventy-nine schools with five, 479 schools with six and 1,400 schools with less than ten pupils.

William Henry Hicks, late of Napanee, died on Monday in his 73rd year after a lingering illness at his son's residence, Arthur Percival Hicks, Toronto. The late Mr. Hicks, whose wife predeceased him eighteen years ago, is survived by his six children, seven grandchildren and one great grandchild. He was a member of C.O.F. Royal Lodge, Napanee. Interment will take place at Napanee cemetery.

The title of the world's homeliest woman is claimed by Mrs. Mary A. Devan, of London, who has just arrived to join an American circus. While distinctly proud of her facial assets, Mrs. Devan feels very peevish because she did not find out many years ago that a superlatively homely countenance has financial compensations. It was only last year that the judges at an English seaside resort "beauty show" proclaimed her the ugliest woman in England, at the same time awarding her first prize of $5,000. Then Mrs. Devan began to capitalize her looks. She has two sons, two daughters and a husband who never makes personal remarks.

Among accessions to the Provincial Museum at Toronto mentioned in the Archaeological report for 1919 just issued, are two articles presented by Frank Eames, of Gananoque, which were found in the vicinity of that town. One is an unfinished stone pipe fashioned by Indians out of granite and found on the property of W. J. Gibson on one of the old trails of early days, and the other a sandstone pipe found on Hay Island. This pipe is very well made and shows evidence of considerable use. At the lower part of the bowl a face has been carved.

The organization of the Canadian Nashua Paper Co., Ltd., at Peterboro, has now been completed. The stockholders' meeting of the company was held on Monday. Mr. H. T. Kehew, the treasurer, and Mr. Carter, general manager, expressed themselves as more than pleased with the progress of the work in Peterboro and anticipate a growing and successful industry for that city. Ten years ago the plant at Nashua employed 75 men, while today it counts over 800 on its payroll. It is confidently expected that from 500 to 1,000 men may eventually be employed by the plant. Two classes or divisions of gummed paper are manufactured by the Nashua Co. Labels, trading stamps, make up the first class, while gum box stays and binding tapes are in the second class. The wax paper products manufactured cover the full line of wrapping for food products, soaps, cigars, chewing gum and, countless other things being put up in sanitary packages. In the States there has been a universal demand for wrapped bread and the company has manufactured special waxed wrappings. From experience it has been determined that the people once they have used this sanitary wrapped bread, never can return to the old decidedly unsanitary way. The company will manufacture special waxed wrappers for the Canadian trade and endeavor to impress on the bakers the desirability of using the material available and a strong team will represent Lindsay in the C.O.B.L. Workmen are at present engaged in getting the diamond in shape for the season. The unfavorable weather conditions have delayed practice considerably.

A meeting of the Lindsay baseball players was held Tuesday night to deal with several matters of import. The executive is getting a line-up of the material available and a strong team will represent Lindsay in the C.O.B.L. Workmen are at present engaged in getting the diamond in shape for the season. The unfavorable weather conditions have delayed practice considerably.

Tuesday the members of the roads and bridges committee of the counties council met at Burritt's Rapids for the purpose of a joint conference with a similar committee from Carleton county with reference to the matter of rebuilding the bridge over the Rideau river at that point. Those present from Leeds and Grenville were Warden Jont, reeve of South Elmsley; Wm. J. Morris, reeve of Beektown; W. J. Morris, reeve of Bastard; Omer L. Buel, reeve of Yonge; W. Hanton, reeve of Kitling; R. Weir, reeve of Edwardsburg, and County Engineer E. R. Blackwell. It was decided at the conference to rebuild the bridge at an estimated cost of $40,000. It will be a two-span of 100 feet each, resting on Howe steel truss. It will have a capacity of fifteen tons live weight and will thus meet the class A requirements of the Ontario Highway Department. Engineers Patterson and Bryan, of Carleton county, and Engineer Blackwell, of Leeds and Grenville, were instructed to prepare plans and specifications and ask for tenders. The cost will be borne jointly by the counties interested.

People take newspapers nowadays, read them and then throw them away. They never think what a source of pleasure and profit—or reminiscence and thought, a file of even a few numbers of such a paper would be to them twenty or thirty years afterwards. Pay for your papers and then keep them.

When two boys, Frank Jones, aged 14, and another named Preston, of Smith's Falls, tried to force a .32 calibre shell into a former German army revolver by hitting it on the ground, the shell exploded, the contents penetrating the cheek of Jones just below the eye. He was removed to the Public Hospital, where he is receiving treatment and where a physician probed for the bullet from the back of the head without result.

The Prescott fire brigade was called out Tuesday morning to a fire on the corner of Dobbie and Edward streets where a barn owned by F. Grey was totally destroyed and also a car owned by J. McIntyre which was in the barn. Mr. McIntyre was his car. In some unknown manner a fire blazed up at Mr. McIntyre's feet, igniting his clothing. He hurriedly sent in an alarm, but before he could get the burning clothing off, his hands, arms, neck and face were quite badly burned. His wounds were cared for immediately by Dr. Featherstone and last reports are that Mr. McIntyre is resting comfortably.

The emergency fund for returned soldiers out of employment, issued from the Canadian Patriotic Fund for the last four months, terminated on Saturday, and no more money will be issued. The Patriotic Fund, it is understood, is as yet by no means exhausted, and the question will soon arise as to what will be its ultimate destination. Many favor retaining the balance of this fund intact in case relief similar to what was issued this winter may be needed during the winter of 1920-1921.

On Tuesday night a meeting of the women of the city of Kingston, or rather the consumers, as a large number of men were present, was held in the City Hall under the auspices of the Local Council of Women. The following resolutions were passed by the women: "That this meeting go on record as believing that there are no permanent short-cut solutions to the problem of rising prices, and that any local attempt to interfere directly with prices would probably lead to increased local scarcity and other evils, and that this meeting recommend that a Consumers' League be formed to encourage the conservation of supplies and increased production during the coming summer; to study thoroughly the question of markets and the desirability of further boycotts and to give the utmost publicity to its findings; to prevent panicky buying and to promote the rational and economical method of purchasing on the part of consumers in every possible way."

This is the only country where all earthly honors are within the reach of every citizen and where it depends upon the individual himself whether he will be a senator or a street-sweeper, a railroad president or a railroad section hand, a millionaire or a pauper, a general or a policeman, a banker or a bankrupt.

Commencing on Monday, Brockville union barbers will close their places of business on Monday and Friday of every week at six o'clock in the afternoon. On Saturday evenings they will remain open until 10 o'clock and other evenings until 7.30 o'clock. Also commencing Monday an increased scale of fees will be charged, the principal items of which are hair cuts and shaves which will now cost 50 and 20 cents respectively. It is also proposed to hold the Wednesday half holiday during the months of May, June, July and August.

A report made public in Brockville on Tuesday and prepared by Deputy Fire Marshal H. Cowan, of Toronto, blames spontaneous combustion for the fire that destroyed the barn and contents on the farm of Hugh Fife, Otonabee township. The net loss was $110,000. According to the report, the fire originated under the gangway of the barn, where 80 boxes of ice had been stored and covered with sawdust. The action of the sun and the moisture generated sufficient heat to cause a combustion fire. Deputy Fire Marshal Cowan condemns the practice of building ice houses close to barns or buildings of any kind.

Our Canadian hockey artists appear to have carried everything before them at the Olympic games in Antwerp. They made mincemeat of Czech-Slovak, Swedish and Swiss teams, and handsomely beat the United States team, although about half the players on that team were Canadians. Those men from Winnipeg have done honor to Canada.

Dr. J. R. Irwin, of Cobourg, has announced his intention of retiring from his medical practice in Cobourg owing to ill health, the result of his four years' service overseas. He has recently perfected a pyrrhoes cure, and expects to devote some time to this. The pyrrhoes cure developed from a treatment of trench mouth with returned men, the two diseases being closely allied.

The chronic kicker doesn't seem to realize that there are railroads and dirt roads leading out of this town he so thoroughly dislikes. You couldn't find a better town, old fellow, but why not try to build one for your own satisfaction?

The proposal to merge the Kingston high school cadet corps with the militia regiments for the purpose of securing recruits is calling forth criticism from Kingston parents on the ground that it is an effort to put into force universal military training and introducing lads to associations calculated to divert their attention from their studies and by substituting military control for school control, weakening the position of school teachers.

When daylight saving goes into effect this week-end in Kingston, says the Whig, it will mean at the post office that the front offices, such as the stamp office, general delivery, registry office and others will observe the daylight saving time, while the postal clerks will remain on the old time, in order to be in line with the railways, they having decided not to observe daylight saving this year. The change in the time will also mean that the business men will not get their late afternoon delivery as the stores will be closed at the time for this delivery. The usual morning and afternoon deliveries will be made.

A Lindsay farmer named Gillies was fined $200 and costs for selling liquor without a license. Weeks ago he got in fifty cases and took an affidavit that the whiskey was for his personal use and for medicinal purposes should his stock get sick, and said it would probably last him twenty-five years. License Inspector Thornbury visited the farm a few nights ago, only to find three empty cases, the farmer claiming that the other forty-seven had been stolen by some person two nights previous.

The supplementary estimates of the province just passed and published by the Legislative Assembly of Ontario disclose that $105,200 has been set aside to carry on as a provincial institution the present military hospital at Cobourg. Of this sum $30,000 has been passed to bear the necessary expense of groceries and provisions. For purposes of clothing patients, $5,000; furniture and furnishings, $5,000; fuel, light and water, $20,000; chief attendant and attendants and wages of nurses, $10,000; while for domestic help $4,500 has been voted. Evidently the present Provincial Government are determined to have an institution of the highest possible efficiency for the cure of all mental derangements.

The Standard Paving Company has completed the excavating on Coleman street and this morning began the work of taking the surface of Pinnacle street south of the market.

The many Belleville friends of Beatrice Lillie, who used to sing at the Palace Theatre, a few years ago when the photoplay fan considered the program was not complete without the introduction of an illustrated song, will be interested in the British-Canadian news reel being shown at the Palace Theatre this week-end, which shows her recent marriage in Fazel, England, to Robert Peel of the famous family which has been associated, for centuries with English politics. Miss Lillie is now an established London favorite, having essayed prominent roles in "Oh Boy" and other London musical successes. That Miss Lillie did not forget her old Belleville friends was evident during the war, when she entertained many Belleville boys when they were on leave in London.

The remains of the late Roy Vancott who died in Flint, Michigan, are expected to arrive in Belleville today.

Belleville is in the throes of a potato famine. It's not a question of boycotting the man who is hardy enough to ask six dollars a bag, but a question of getting any potatoes at all. Mr. Geo. Brickman, manager of the Belleville Produce Company who handles large quantities of potatoes informed The Ontario that he has no potatoes on hand and doesn't know where he can get any. A few days ago he went out to the Bancroft district and purchased a carload, paying for the tubers $4.25 a bag delivered at the railway. The potatoes failed to arrive and, upon inquiry, Mr. Brickman ascertained that another buyer followed him and offered the honest farmers five dollars per. The five-dollar offer won out. Mr. A. E. Bailey, another large dealer, is in a similar position and has no stock on hand whatever. A few grocers have small stocks in hand that they are dealing out carefully to customers, in small quantities at a dollar or more a peck.

A Prince Edward County farmer asked $6.00 a bushel for a load of potatoes on Picton market on Saturday, with the result that he was boycotted by the buyers and failed to sell any on the market, even at the reduced price of $4.00, selling later to a grocer who retailed them at the above price. This remedy for high prices seems to have worked out very well and is the best known method to combat the present high cost of living in the opinion of The Gazette.

Many citizens are growing anxious as to where they will find seed potatoes. The time is near at hand for planting and the scarcity is very great. One dealer who supplies various institutions about the city with potatoes says that yesterday he could have sold one hundred bags of spuds. The price is six dollars yet for the table variety.

The Toronto Boot and Shoe Bulletin says that: There are so many factors entering into and affecting business conditions today that he would be a brave man indeed, who would venture to predict what the next six months may have in store for those engaged in the shoe business or any other. The great uncertainty lies in the purchasing public, and the question is whether the point has not been reached where consumers will manifest a spirit of economy that will balk at the continued high prices of footwear. This depends a good deal upon whether those who have had the money to spend, and who have been inclined to spend it freely, will continue to enjoy the comparative affluence they have possessed for the past year or so. Some think that the limit has been reached and that high rentals, costly food and costly clothing will bring a strong reaction.

Some residents of the city, who own vacant lots, when approached by people who desire to cultivate them, have asked exorbitant rents. The owners prefer to produce crops of thistles and nettles to crops of potatoes. However, the city has large numbers of vacant lots in many parts of the corporation, and is only too willing to turn them over to all who are willing to work. Information may be had at the city hall.

The Belleville Consumers' Economy League is finding far more people willing to stand around and grumble about the high cost of potatoes than they are finding of people willing to take off their coats and grow potatoes on some of the vacant lots around town.

The newly organized Belleville Consumers' Economy League is seriously discussing the matter of vacant lot gardening around the city. It is understood that there is enough of land around the city, not doing anything more useful than growing thistles and burdocks at present that might be brought into cultivation and made to produce enough potatoes and other vegetables to feed our entire population and leave a considerable quantity for export.

There is hope of relief, to some extent at least, from the threatened or actual potato famine. The Ontario was informed by Mr. A. E. Bailey, produce dealer, that he expected a car of the tubers next week, which he would dispose of at $5.50 a bag or thereabouts. Owing to the extreme scarcity of potatoes and the difficulty of procuring seed, it seems to The Ontario that consumption for table use should be cut down voluntarily by everybody to the lowest possible point. If this is done there will be no serious trouble about securing abundance of seed, though the price will necessarily be high.

Mr. Patsy McAvoy, of Zion's Hill, who two weeks ago was so badly burned by an explosion of gasoline, which he was straining was able to leave the house yesterday and take a short walk. His eyesight is, fortunately, not injured, although his face was badly burned. His mother, who suffered slight burns, has quite recovered.

BRINGING HOME THE CHILDREN

Ten years ago, this coming July, Belleville held an Old Boys' reunion that was an important historical event in the annals of our city and a lasting credit to all concerned.

It is proposed on this tenth anniversary to carry out an even more elaborate reunion and strong committees have been organized to execute the plans.

Belleville has given lavishly of her best young men and women to enrich the life and enhance the progress of other communities.

There is no large city in Canada or the United States that does not number among its leading and influential citizens natives of this City of the Bay.

But in the breast of every one of Belleville's sons and daughters, no matter where they happen to be located, there resides the animating spirit of loyalty to the old home town.

To bring back all these patriots, or as many of them as can be induced to come, for a big family reunion, is for all a work of potential inspiration. And it is, besides, mighty good business and advertising. Every one of the old boys and girls will go away enthused with the spirit of progress now manifest in the old home and each and all will spread abroad the news that Belleville is now definitely on the map.

It is to be hoped that every citizen will do all in his power to assist the committee and help push forward this laudable enterprise to the hugest kind of success.

STILL LEADER OF THE WORLD

One of the most significant of after-war developments is the rapidity with which Great Britain is regaining her position as the financial leader of the world. Cocksure comment from Wall Street that the financial center of the world would be there in future was all along discounted by the really big men in American finance, and with the announcement that next fall London will retire the half billion Anglo-French loan, there has been driven home to the United States, as to the whole world, the realization that already Britain has "turned the corner."

In the minds of those who understood British character there could never have been any real doubt as to the ability of a nation which weathered such storms of war as came between 1914 and 1918, to weather any tempest that peace time might bring. What is remarkable, however, is the rapidity with which the process of recovery has advanced. It is not being done without great effort, one may be sure. The fiscal year just closed saw a deficit, a big deficit at that, but it is already provided for. Economies did not cease with the pressure of war. The British people still know what it is to be under war measures though fighting ended a year and a half ago. This year will see the national debt reduced, not greatly reduced perhaps, but indicating nevertheless the direction of British policy.

Figures which have been issued show that Great Britain had a foreign trade last year that was the greatest in money value in her history, though, on account of higher prices, the volume of production was much less. The upward trend is maintained by the figures for the early part of this year. The British foreign trade in January of this year totalled 1,200 million dollars, just four millions less than the trade of the United States for the same month. As might be expected a large amount of the British trade has to be on credit, and British purchases are also largely on credit, owing to shortage of gold. A factor, however, that will soon begin to turn the scale in her favor is found in the so-called "invisible items," ocean freights, insurance and interest on investments abroad which will soon be pouring into London's strong boxes. The British still have the largest mercantile marine in the world, despite all their losses in the war, while those losses are being replaced rapidly. It must be remembered, too, that there is more than fifteen billions of dollars of British investments abroad paying dividends back into the common store and steadily strengthening British finances. Last of all it is important to note that the war taught the old land many lessons, among which were the need of standardization, scientific management and the elimination of waste, and those lessons have been thoroughly learned. Of Britain's future there is not the slightest doubt. Even today she is dominant in the world's markets and her power in that regard is increasing every day.

THE SITUATION IN GERMANY

According to some observers the Allies, instead of being able to obtain indemnities from Germany in the near future, will have to loan her money in order to effect an economic recovery. Great Britain, despite her other enormous obligations, has been talking of raising a loan to assist the beaten enemy. Apparently since the armistice Germany has been going from bad to worse, and there is now a question whether any loan, which Britain could possibly spare, would save her from economic collapse. Recently the Echo de Paris published the following from its Berlin correspondent:

"Germany is moving inevitably toward a catastrophe and she has no man of genius to change the course of events. The catastrophe will come because, though Germany can no longer feel more than 35,000,000 inhabitants, she counts 52,000,000, the Rhineland included, after losing by the treaty 6,000,000 peasants out of 17,000,000, to say nothing of 900,000 Russian agricultural workers.

"The rate of her exchange forbids her to buy food abroad. The loss of Silesia, which appears certain and imminent, foretells a complete upset of her industry by depleting her of 43,000,000 tons of coal annually.

"She is hopelessly doomed to chaos. The present of 100,000,000,000 marks would not save the country from perishing under a debt of 300,000,000,000 marks, and with an indemnity of 1,200,000,000,000 marks to pay, she cannot recover, and is headed irremediably toward bankruptcy and bloody disorder."

Possibly this is a pessimistic view. The tragedy of the situation is that the collapse of Germany would probably spell disaster for France.

John Maynard Keynes, who was a financial adviser to the British delegates to the Peace conference, but who has since written a book, declaring the economic provisions of the Peace Treaty impossible, points out that, though Britain to a certain extent, stands outside the European economic entity, France and Italy are bound to their recent enemy by hidden economic and psychic bonds, and that if they insist on demanding the fulfillment of the Peace treaty they will ruin Germany and invite their own destruction. Mr. Keynes says:

"The statistics of the economic interdependence of Germany and her neighbors are overwhelming. Germany was the best customer of Russia, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy and Austria-Hungary; she was the second best customer of Great Britain, Sweden and Denmark; and the third best customer of France. She was the largest source of supply to Russia, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Austria-Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria; and the largest source of supply to Great Britain, Belgium and France. In our own case we sent more exports to Germany than to any other country in the world except India, and we bought more from her than from any other country in the world except the United States.

In the United States there has been talk of making a big loan to Germany, and the proposition, though it is doubtless repugnant to many Americans, may have an attractive face for the great financial and industrial interests, who may think it would give them an opportunity to make Germany an economic vassal. Recently the American Shipping Board has been urged to put a large number of its ships in service between Germany and America, and man them with German crews. But before the United States comes to the rescue of Germany it is more than likely that she will demand a revision of the Peace Treaty, relieving Germany of a great proportion of the burden of the indemnities she owes France and other Allies. This demand has already been voiced in strong terms in the American Senate, no doubt with the idea that any prosperity which may come to Germany in the future will rebound to the advantage of American trade.

It would appear that Germany has taught the world a lesson that she never intended. If the victors have to come to the rescue of the vanquished, nations in the future ought to be deterred from any thought of wars of aggression.

The Allied Supreme Council in session at San Remo announces that it has agreed on a settlement of the Turkish question, and that it is prepared if necessary to carry out the conditions of the treaty made with the Ottomans. Under the conditions of the pact the Turks remain in control of Constantinople, but Armenia, Georgia, Mesopotamia, Arabia, Palestine and Kurdistan have been taken from the Turk and declared to be independent states, although mandatory until such time as they are able to stand on their own feet. Marshal Foch, along with the British and Italian chiefs of staff, has mapped out a plan of campaign should Turkey offer resistance to the carrying out of the treaty. In Syria, Mesopotamia and at other points, strongly stationed strategically, are more than two hundred thousand allied troops, while powerful fleets have been gathered in the Bosphorus and the Black Sea. The Christian world will be disappointed that the Moslem retains a footing in Europe, but his fangs have been drawn there, and elsewhere it looks as if he had reached the end of his career of bloody misrule.

It seems trite to repeat that money is only a medium of exchange, but it is a truism which the public must understand in order to solve the present problem. The things which the individual produces in reality are to be exchanged for the things he wants. If another individual is not producing the things he wants he cannot get them at any price.

When a person says he is entitled to have his pay raised to meet the increased cost of living, does he mean that he wants it raised to a point where he can buy as much clothing and sugar as in normal times? If he does, he is seeking the impossible. No amount of money can purchase as much clothing or sugar as if the individual worker may say or feel about his own productivity, the fact remains that the supply is not normal.

If organized labor will turn its attention to increasing production instead increasing wages, it will find that eventually the old wages will buy things which the new wages can never buy, if the things themselves are not being produced.

April may be capricious and fickle, but we love her all the same. Scowling leaden skies, a downfall of rain, she whisks her tears away in a second and cheers our wavering spirits with a sunny irresistible smile. She coaxes all the tender buds to birth, and with delicate tracery on the trees she leaves a trail of tenderest greenery, and 'neath the witchery of her smile the delicate crocus lifts a dainty head, and shyly opens its heart to the mischievous spring breeze. At her bidding the violet awakens up, and robins sing their sweetest notes, thrilling their happiness in wonderful bird sonatas, and what is more wonderful than Robin Redbreast singing in the rain? The grouch may scowl as he reaches for his umbrella, and mutter to himself as he searches for his raincoat and rubbers, Miss Youth with her silk stockings and Easter bonnet may scold and fume because her new Easter suit is ruined but April with your smiles and tears, your fickle fancies and your bewitching vagaries, we love you still.

An American newspaper has discovered that the population of New York now exceeds that of London and asserts that therefore the American city is the globe metropolis, "the heart and brain of the civilized world." But why should numbers be the gauge as to which of the world's cities stands first? We doubt whether New York ranks ahead of London or

Pairs in the matter of "brains," whether applied to finance, commerce, or the pursuit of the arts. In the matter of music, the drama and the classic arts, for instance, can it be truthfully said that New York leads the French capital? In its financing, so safe and solid, does not London set the pace? Especially is it not superior to feverish, erratic Wall Street? At a time when Rome ruled the world, dictating by its power of gold and arms, Athens remained the centre of the culture of that day, and culture and refinement, quite as much as financial and commercial power and enterprise, go to the making of the "heart and brain of the world." Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia, have a bitter right to lay claim to these than has Gotham. The population of Greater New York may exceed that of any other city, and because of America's fortunate position, New York for the time being has become in a sense financial dictator, but it is nonsense to base the boast of being the world's metropolis on these things solely. Dollars, noise and numbers cannot be the standard. Rather it is the influences exerted on the world at large that should decide which of the world's cities leads all others, and certainly in the matter of literature, art, music, the drama, dress, New York does not set the pace for the rest of us, and is not the brain and heart of the world. London and Paris have much better claims to that distinction.

SPRING'S SARABAND

Over the hills of April, With soft winds hand in hand, Impassioned and dreamy-eyed, Spring leads her Saraband. Her garments float and gather And swirl along the plain, Her headgear is the golden sun, Her cloak the silver rain. With color and with music, With perfumes and with pomp, By meadowland and upland, Through pasture, wood and swamp, With promise and enchantment Leading her mystic mime, She comes to lure the world anew, With joy as old as time.

Quick lifts the marshy chorus To transport trill on trill; There's not a rod of stony ground Unanswering on the hill, The brooks and little rivers Dance down their wild ravines. And children in the city squares, Keep time to tambourines.

The bluebird in the orchard Is lyrical for her, The starling with his meadow pipe Sets all the world astir, The hooded white spring beauties Are curtsying in the breeze, The blue hepaticas are out Under the chestnut trees.

The maple buds make glamor, Viburnum waves its bloom, The daffodils and tulips Are risen from the tomb. The lances of Narcissus Have pierced the wintry mold; The commonplace seems paradise Through veils of greening gold.

O heart, hear thou the summons, Put every grief away, When all the motley masques of earth Are glad upon a day, Alack, that any mortal Should less than gladness bring Into the choral joy that sounds The Saraband of Spring!

OSHAWA'S MILK SUPPLY IS DIRTY

From a report recently received by the local health department from the Provincial laboratories on several samples of milk submitted for analysis, it is evident that the supply of milk being furnished the people of Oshawa is far from what it should be.

Stripped of the technical language with which such reports are always clothed, the plain truth is that Oshawa's milk supply is dirty. There are a hundred and one ways in which dirt can get into milk, even milk delivered in bottles, and the only way of keeping the dirt out of the milk is by the milkmen and their employes exercising that eternal vigilance which is truly said to be the price of liberty.

Next to a town's water supply the supply of milk is perhaps of greatest importance from a health standpoint. To safeguard that supply should be the constant endeavor of the health officers and if the milkmen cannot be made to supply clean, safe milk, by means of a friendly warning, then prosecutions should follow, as provided for under the law. The matter is far too important to be treated lightly.

The recent analysis of the Department showed not only dirt in appreciable quantities, in the milk supply of all the three local dealers but also in the case of one dealer the presence of Colon Bacilli. In the case of this dealer the matter should be followed up by the health officials immediately and if necessary every source of supply visited and the producers compelled to put their stables and milk houses in proper condition or their supply of milk should be cut off without delay. If samples were taken from each of the sources of supply and same analyzed the exact location of the source of this serious menace to the public would probably be apparent and action in the right direction could be taken. Of course in any case if pasteuriza-tion were being properly carried out there should not be the slightest sign of colon bacilli in samples taken from drivers' wagons, which we understand is the way in which the samples submitted were obtained.—Oshawa Reformer.

ONE REASON FOR BOLSHIEVISM

Many people wonder at the birth and persistence of Bolshievism in our midst, and yet if they look about they will find many reasons—none to be sure, that justify the Bolshievism of murder and anarchy and property confiscation, but some that at least explain why the fight is on for greater opportunity for the poorer classes and the working people, for shorter hours and for a more generous living wage.

Take, for instance, the report The Standard published only the other day of the Russian sable coat to cost $120,000, which has just been ordered in San Francisco by Mrs. N. Denbigh, the American wife of a Yokohama and Siberian merchant. Fancy it, one hundred and twenty thousand dollars for a coat weighing twenty pounds and that will not keep its owner one whit warmer than an ordinary fur coat at two or three hundred dollars. Is it any wonder that the surge of many people rises when they read of this shameful and shameless extravagance—when they think that the price of this showy garment, to be used only a few months of the year, more than equals the earnings and therefore the living expenses for a full year of one thousand average families, reckoning $1,200 a year as the earnings of the average working man—and there are many who are earning a good deal less than that and not only living upon it, but educating their families as well.

There are several cures for the present unrest in the land. Among these are a heavy tax upon luxuries such as $120,000 sable coats (though not upon ordinary fur coats which in our climate are an absolute necessity as well as an appeal to the common sense of the "new rich" and the other rich not unready to flaunt their riches in the faces of their neighbors, the great majority of whom are today grinding out a none too happy existence by the sweat of their brow, and with little or no opportunity to put up a single penny for a proverbial rainy day—Kingston Standard.

WOMEN CONFESSORS FOR WOMEN

Truly this world is upside down. No one knows what a day may bring forth. If it be not prohibition or female franchise or birth control, it is something else. The something else just now is the demand for women confessors for women. The London Illustrated Sunday Herald declares that women's latest demand is for sister confessors in High Anglican Churches. With the battle cry of "Equality, and nothing but equality," the extremists, apparently, are prepared to carry the fight for what they consider woman's rights to the very last ditch. Man, they say, must hold no advantage, and if, in the church, he does, then in the church his position must be attacked.

Miss Picton-Turberville, of the London Y.W.C.A., told the National Union for Equal Citizenship that all over the country women and girls were demanding women confessors in High Anglican churches. "And their numbers strengthen my opinion that there should be such an innovation. I myself never go to a confession, but there is not the slightest doubt that when women and girls do confess, they should have the opportunity of confessing to a woman."

Another supporter is Mrs. Hubback, Parliamentary Secretary to the National Union for Equal Citizenship. "Certainly we are in sympathy with the idea," she said, "although we have no wish to enter any question of theology. We advance the same argument that applied to the case for women doctors. Personally, I think it must be very difficult for a young woman to pour her soul in confession to a man." The Marchioness Townshend was doubtful when questioned by the Sunday Herald. "Confessing," she said, "is rather like using the telephone, in that it is impersonal. But this controversy puts everything on such a material basis. The confessor is not a man or woman, but a listening person, and I should think anyone in deep distress, and with repentance, would regard him as such. At the same time, I do not know that such an innovation would matter, if it would help people. Those who advocate such a thing have no knowledge of true Catholicism."

"The confessor," said a priest appealed to, "is an instrument and nothing more, and that is all that there is to be said. The whole thing is impossible." Nevertheless, it is asserted that the question is to be raised at the Lambeth Conference in July next.—Hamilton Times.

A STILL GREATER SHOCK

A Brantford girl fainted at the sight of her father in church wearing overalls. That's nothing. Why the R. and T. knows girls who'd faint if they caught a glimpse of their father entering church at all.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Peculiar Interpretation of Equal Rights for All

Wheat Growers of West Got Fifty Cent Advance For Wheat and Maritime Provinces Paid Dearly—Pay Big End of Bill.

(Maritime Farmer, Sussex, N.B.)

"The New National Policy as laid down by the Organized Farmers condemns Class Legislation. Their policy advocates equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

This quotation constituted the first lines of an editorial in a recent issue of the Farmers Sun, of Toronto, the official organ of the United Farmers of Ontario.

And yet! If the grain growers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have not had "special privileges" during the past year, what class in Canada has? In the first place the price of wheat was guaranteed at $1.75 per bushel. The United States Government guaranteed $2.26 per bushel. That meant that the Canadian price would also soar. Nobody objected particularly to this because it was a war measure.

But how did it work out? Canadian wheat was sold to foreign countries by the Canada Wheat Board, an organization appointed for the express purpose of handling the Canadian wheat crop for the benefit of growers, at $2.15 per bushel. It was sold to Canadian mills, on the other hand at $2.30 per bushel, or fifteen cents per bushel more than the foreign buyer could get for it. As it takes four and a half bushels of spring wheat to make a barrel of flour, it cost the Canadian consumer just 67 1/2 cents per barrel more for his flour than it did the man in Greece, Roumania, Serbia, or wherever bought it.

Have you considered what this little 15 cents per bushel meant to the population of the Maritime Provinces, particularly the farmers of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island?

The Dominion government estimates local consumption of flour at about one barrel per head of population. Therefore the consumption and the increased cost for the Maritime Provinces was as shown in the following tables:

Flour
Total Consumption in Maritime Provinces per year.
Province	Amt. Consumed	Increase	Total
Nova Scotia	492,333 bbls.	@ 67 1/2 cents	$332,313
New Brunswick	351,899 bbls.	@ 67 1/2 cents	237,525
Prince Edward Island	93,728 bbls.	@ 67 1/2 cents	53,151
Total Increase for Farmers $430,172

Here is a tidy little sum which the farmers of the Maritime Provinces paid for flour in excess of foreign buyers. And for what reason? We suppose it was to make a little donation to the Grain Growers, or to pay for the cost of administering the scheme. Certainly it must have been for one reason or the other. The second reason we may shelve for the cost is excessive. So inordinate that there might be "equal rights for all, special privileges for none," the farmers of the three provinces contributed at the rate of $430,172 per annum.

If the "special privileges" stunt had stopped there it might not have been half so bad. But it didn't. In the course of time hard wheat was in demand in the United States, and pressure for a further increase was so insistent from the supporters of the "New National Policy" that hard wheat was given another boost of fifty cents per bushel to $2.80. And

Total Consumption for Farmers.
Province	Amt. Consumed	Increase	Total
Nova Scotia	306,210 bbls.	@ 67 1/2 cents	$206,691
New Brunswick	252,342 bbls.	@ 67 1/2 cents	170,330
Prince Edward Island	78,758 bbls.	@ 67 1/2 cents	53,151

So that the farmers of the Maritime Provinces pay the piper, when an increase of fifty cents per bushel is made on wheat, the neat little sum of $1,413,945 per annum. This of course does not include the increased price of feeds, which will be dealt with in another issue of this paper.

And mind you, the "wicked miller" cannot be blamed this time. As it takes four and a half bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour, the exact increase in cost at 50 cents per bushel was $2.25 per barrel. When the order for the increase was issued flour was selling wholesale at $11.80 per barrel, St. John. It is now $14.05. St. John, just the amount which was paid to the United Farmers of the west, the men who are so strong on professions of "Equal rights for all, special privileges for none."

And not content with what they have already accomplished, these same persons are getting ready for another excursion to Ottawa for more treatment of the same kind. Let us again repeat our warning to Maritime Province farmers. This whole deal is one for the benefit of the west. The figures published above furnish the strongest reason in the world why the Maritime Provinces should unite, not to support

Induced to handle wheat, who can say whether fifty cents will be the limit of increase in flour prices. Is it any wonder that western farmers are anxious to bind eastern farmers hand and foot to the so-called "New National Policy" in the preparation of which not a single eastern farmer was ever consulted.

Already, the Maritime Farmer understands, denial of this plot is being made by the paid agents sent here from Winnipeg. The figures submitted herewith prove beyond question what fixed prices of wheat mean in part to the farmers of the eastern provinces. Denial will not do in the face of this incontrovertible evidence. At meeting after meeting, addressed by the paid organizers of the west, this question has been as lightly touched upon as possible. However, it is a live issue and will not down. The men from Winnipeg are discovering that in the disappointingly small results which their labors are accomplishing.

The Maritime Farmer is for the east. The United Farmer movement should be directed that way. That is the kind of union we want. A union which can meet and defeat the kind of "Equal Privilege" suggested in this article.

The Maritime Farmer is in no wise opposing organization by the farmers of the East—but it believes there should be no Winnipeg string to that organization. We are selling farm organizations supplies far below the selling price of United Farmer stores—(so-called)—and we are tired of the misleading propaganda issued from Winnipeg. In a word we are out to serve the farmers of the Maritime Provinces—not to gold brick them. Thousands of farmers in these provinces trust the Maritime Farmer on its record of a quarter of a century.

What Does a Newspaper Offer as a Career

By Solomon Buckley Griffin.

Solomon Bulky Griffin, the author of this article on "Journalism and Service," was nearly 40 years directing editor of the celebrated Springfield Republican. He succeeded Samuel Bowles as editor of that paper. The North American Review refers to him as an editor who is known throughout the country as one of the most accomplished journalists of his time, who, now in retirement, speaks with a professional authority unsurpassed by any other American.

"What does the newspaper offer to a young person choosing his career?" is a question often asked. In replying there are many things to be broad weighing of values. Especially there must be consideration of the individual predilections and tastes. If a young man or woman regards money and what it brings as the most desirable thing in life, the answer is easy. Newspaper work is the last thing to be undertaken by such persons. In other professions—journalism is more and more becoming comparable with what were long termed "the learned professions"—as the years bring knowledge and accomplishments, the financial returns increase. Lawyers and specializing doctors, engineers, architects, professional men generally—clergymen excepted—in case they are competent, can count on getting more money as the years pass. What they have learned and practised becomes capital that pays dividends. Not so of newspaper work that falls short of ownership in a paper. The newspaper worker may reach in comparatively early life the highest place on the editorial payroll. Having exhausted the possibilities on the money side, here he remains so far as pay goes. The aspirant who is doubtful in making choice of the line along which he will labor, should promptly discard the newspaper field of toil as too sterile and unattractive on the material side. Presently, helping to make newspapers is a toilsome life, where the possibilities of securing big financial returns are the poorest.

The saying that "poets are born, not made," applies in about equal measure to newspapermen. I have seen too much of newspaper offices and men who work in them not to know that the "nose for news," the instinctive and lasting love of ink, type and presses, is born with some men and women. Others may and do acquire the news instinct and familiarity with things that enter into the production of newspapers, and such get on, but there is lacking with them the spur of compelling love for one's work, the thing that glorifies service. So the rest of a great and enduring joy is not theirs. Out of this understanding I have always advised young men who felt they could be happy in other callings to eschew the newspaper, knowing that the hardships it would impose must irk and depress them, and so results be narrowed. Expert insight into the meaning of news needs to be sought and cultivated, but all are inclusively served with the world's news through co-operative effort. It is share and share alike when membership is gained in the most comprehensive news-collecting agency ever developed. The intent is to secure accurate, unbiased reporting, and the purpose is as nearly attained as it is possible for fallible human effort to bring it about. This means that a power beyond the reach of personal or government intrigue, and that is Argus-eyed, keeps watch for the enlightenment and protection of the people. It is news that informs and stirs mankind and every reporter should be proud of his calling and respect the obligations it imposes. There has been set on foot in countries of the Old World a like movement among newspapers for co-operative news-getting that is likely to prove one of the chief agencies for promoting good government in this period of world rebuilding. In the launching of this departure overseas, Melville E. Stone has been an inspiration and guide. The attainment of such collecting agencies should put old commercialized news agencies across the water out of business, and so lessen the output of tainted news.

But adventure and romance that appeal so powerfully and legitimately to the young, and to all who remain youthful in spirit, do not constitute the deeper part of newspaper life. They are incentive to growth and they yield many satisfactions along the way, but if the purpose to serve does not dominate the mind and heart the newspaper worker has fallen short of full stature. Consecration, devotion and willingness to sacrifice self must have large play as compelling forces in a life work that is to be potential for good. In this journalism does not offer an exception, but a surpassing opportunity. The ownership of a paper can obstruct but never wholly block the resolve of the worker who means to serve the common weal as it is touched at all points by the newspaper, and to embrace every chance to do so. Often he will have to bide his time. All parts of the paper can be made to yield openings for social service and for presenting sound views of life.

Newspapers are no exception to the laws of growth. The theory that an endowed newspaper would produce the summit of excellence in journalism seems to be of doubtful foundation. Much striving lies back of every successful undertaking, and assured ease is not an incentive to striving. Endowed newspapers would by their nature be disposed to dullness, however lofty their aims, and so lose touch with most of us. Of significance in this connection is the fact that newspapers of every kind feel forced to appeal for patronage by professing devotion to the best interests of the people, even when such profession is mingled with a considerable measure of pretense. Of this selfish and venal kind of newspaper ownership there is too much when ownership has the power to dictate policies. But even then, saving grace can be and is put into such newspapers by men and women of character who contribute to filling their columns. Such workers will find their opportunity, be the fettering little or much, if patience and determination pursue their Statesmanship, which accomplishes results, learns to accept situations as they are and to make the best of them. So it is with life in a newspaper office. Honest resolve and resolute intent tell when diffused through the staff of any journal. In many an instance character on influence have thereby become stamped upon the product.

WEDDING BELLS

ALEXANDER—DEAN

A very happy event took place on Wed. 28th of April, at Trinity Methodist parsonage, Napanee, when Mr. Lorne Alexander, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Alexander of this city, and Miss Maybus Dean, of Napanee, were quietly united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. Mr. Shroy officiating.

The bride and groom left on the afternoon train for Toronto and Niagara Falls. Upon their return the young couple will reside in this city, where the groom is a popular employee of the Grand Trunk. The best wishes of their many friends go with them through their journey in life.

When their house burned during the night the barking of their dog woke a Rochester man in time to save his wife and ten children.

VANISHING GOLD

Written for The Ontario by Chas. M. Bice, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

A nation that produces an increasing supply of gold from the earth every year is the one that has the advantage over other nations in times of stress. The world has had accented proof of this in the last half dozen years, although this fact has been in evidence throughout history. The British Empire has gained and held its foothold through its gold supply. Wherever gold is there is John Bull. It may be in South Africa or Alaska, in Asia or at the Southern Cross, but he is there at the first opportunity to deal in the discovery and secure as much of it as possible for the London market.

It is said that "gold is the standard of value," but that is a mistake, for there is no standard of value. Value is opinion of worth and varies with human judgment. Gold may be the standard of account, but never of value. Its value is fixed by law, and can never vary one iota, but is itself that in which all values are expressed, not measured. The entire body of the outstanding indebtedness of all the leading countries of the world is payable in gold coin of the present weight and fineness. Outside of Asia, gold is recognized everywhere as the unit of account and the basis of monetary systems. The gold standard (if the expression is to be used) of the world was reached through a process of evolution, as the development of commerce and financial relations made it more and more important that there should be a common denominator of values.

Making a single standard of account may have been wrong or right, but we have it and are not likely to get rid of it. Centuries were required to bring this about and the system cannot be overthrown in a day or a year. The aim of all countries that were forced from the gold standard in the war is to get back into the great family of nations as soon as possible. One of the highest banking authorities in the United States, Mr. George E. Roberts, of the National City Bank of New York, declares it to be a fundamental issue to re-establish the gold standard as the basis of world intercourse, and this can be done only through the production of more gold. Do not imagine that gold production by itself will solve the world's problems. Greater production of the essentials of life has the first call. By the sweat of the brow must we make up for the devastations of war. But more so than ever, on account of international trading and interdependence, the medium by which commerce is contracted and upon which all obligations rest must be increased, not diminished.

It is not a question, fortunately, in which the gold miner has the single or only interest. The American Bankers' Association is on record that the Government should do everything in its power to increase the supply of gold so that the monetary reserves may be protected. Colorado, that once was the first gold-producing state in this country, has an abiding interest in gold production as a state and as part of the Union; and she has suffered more than most states from the economic revolution that has resulted in the marked decrease in gold production. For the current year its gold total will be insignificant compared to what it was half a dozen years ago. The gold is in the mines but it cannot be produced because of the H.C.L.

The situation of gold production in the United States is more serious than in any part of the world. It is estimated that for this year the gold used in manufacture will be more than double the production of new gold. This means we have to import a large amount of gold to make up the difference in supply and demand for gold in industry. Nothing in fact has been added to the gold coinage of the country for two years, from the country's mines. Gold production in the United States declined from $101,000,000 in 1915 to $58,000,000 in 1919. While this is a great loss to the producer it is not the most important loss. If it were a loss in base metals only it would not be such as things go and could be made up in other ways. The decreased production has involved a decrease in credits in everyday business. All credits are based on gold and a million dollars of gold means an additional credit of ten millions from bank to borrower.

England is taking care of gold production. Just as soon as possible following the armistice an open market was provided for gold producers. So, African gold was sold at auction recently at 25 per cent premium; for months gold has been selling at a premium of from ten to fifteen per cent. The decrease in production from the British Empire since the war has been about 9 per cent; the decrease in the United States has been almost 20 per cent; and the British Empire is producing 70 per cent of the world's supply, while as present the United States does not produce over 12 per cent.

But we frequently hear of the arrival in New York of large gold shipments from London and a spurt in stocks, as well as in exchange rates, in consequence. Congress now has a measure before it to stimulate gold production by paying a premium of $10 an ounce on new gold produced in American territory. It is either this or something else or American gold production will go to zero before the year's end. The cost of mining gold in the United States has increased 85 per cent above pre-war figures.

All the other metals not governed by a fixed price have gone up, but gold remains stationary. Gold from by-products cuts little figure in the total gold production. It is not proposed to interfere with the gold dollar, but the purchaser of jewelry would meet the increase. Some men would have more money if their friends would pay up. Excessive politeness seldom has anything in common with the truth. Sometimes a divorce makes a woman feel nearly as good as if she had just taken off a pair of tight shoes. An exclamation of joy breaks forth when a mother discovers her baby's 1st 2th.

Big Shipment of Cuban Raw Sugar on Way

OTTAWA, April 29.—Fifty thousand tons of Cuban raw sugar are expected to arrive at sugar refineries at Halifax, St. John and Montreal within the next few weeks. Thirteen Canadian Government vessels are transporting this huge amount of sugar, one, the Canadian Adventurer having already reached Halifax, where it is unloading. Three other vessels are on the way, and nine cargo vessels are loading at Cuban ports.

Of this amount of sugar, 10,000 tons have come in connection with the "toll" contracts of the Atlantic Sugar Refinery to refine 10,000 tons of sugar for the Casmiko-Rionda Company in New York for delivery to the Fox-Muller Brokerage Company of Chicago, which has already sold the sugar to various firms throughout the Middle Western States. Export permits have already been granted for this sugar, as the raws for it would not have come to Canada lacking the permits.

There are other United States contracts which Canadian firms cannot fill because of the export embargo. As the Canadian Trade Commission is now on the point of going out of existence, it is not believed that it will grant any other export permits. It will, therefore, from now on become a matter of Government policy as to whether the export embargo shall still remain on sugar exports, and as to whether further permits will be allowed.

CARD OF THANKS

Miss Mather wishes to thank her many friends for the kindness shown her in the recent sad bereavement caused by the death of the late Mrs. (Dr.) Mather.

Mrs. Annas Hannah Abraham Passes Away

Was One of Most Remarkable Figures in the City—Came of Wellknown U. E. L. Family.

In the death of Mrs. Annas Hannah Abraham, which occurred at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at her home 73 Dimer street, one of the most remarkable figures of this city passed away. She was always in possession of the best of health and was capable of the greatest endurance. During the last few days she suffered with a slight affection in the nature of bronchitis and pneumonia, which ultimately proved fatal owing to her great age.

The late Mrs. Abraham was born Nov. 15th, 1830 in Bertie Town ship, Welland County, of a famous United Empire Loyalist family—the Millers. The family was well-known on the Niagara frontier. Her grandfather, Andrew Miller was born in Pennsylvania in 1766 and settled in Niagara in 1779. He married Elizabeth Everett, the daughter of a United Empire Loyalist by whom he had eleven children. One of their sons, Peter Miller was the father of Mrs. Abraham. He took a leading part in the Mackenzie Rebellion of 1836-37.

Annas Hannah Miller was united in marriage at Buffalo, N.Y., on Oct. 29th, 1851 to Joseph Abraham. They removed to Picton, Prince Edward County the year of their marriage, where Mr. Abraham's father had an extensive farm in Cherry Valley. The family later removed to Belleville, where her husband died in 1880. Of the marriage there were born twelve children, of whom eight survive—Frederick Abraham, a leading Montreal citizen; Mrs. Emma Brown, of Montreal; Charles A. Abraham, manager of the Vancouver World; Mrs. Adeline Kruger, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. J. F. Barker, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. Henry Ketcheson, Prince Edward County; Mrs. N. M. Ostrom of Belleville and Mrs. Martha Campbell, of Vancouver. Mrs. Abraham was a great grandmother through four of her children and her descendants numbered several hundred.

Mrs. Abraham's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stockdale, died at Bridgeburg, Ont., in 1916 at the age of 90 years. Mrs. Abraham had lived for half a century in the same house in Belleville, where many unique family gatherings have been held. Mrs. Abraham was a faithful member of Holloway St. Methodist Church for half a century and enjoyed the esteem and good will of all who knew her.

Until the last she was in complete possession of all her faculties. She could converse with the keenest interest of the days now past when Canada was little more than a wilderness, when there were no railroads, telegraphs, steamships, electricity, machinery or automobiles, when people led the quiet sturdy life of pioneers, when every family was self-sustaining. Those were the times when farmers thrashed with the flail, when money was kept in crocks because there were no banks, when clothing was homespun. Mrs. Abraham was a typical girl of her time. She wore her own wedding trousseau. She possessed one of the first coal oil lamps in this section, where it was looked upon as a curiosity by those who knew only candle dups as the source of light. Mrs. Abraham remembered Buffalo when it was a mere village, her family hunting game all over the district, a favorite preserve being Grand Island, near their land on the Niagara River.

Her ancestors were among the earliest English settlers in the district of Niagara. The original Andrew Miller received one hundred acres of land from the Crown in Bertie Township, opposite Buffalo, on what is known as the Garrison Road. Afterwards more land was ceded by the crown and five sons received each one hundred acres of land for military services. This land was taken up in Burford, Brant County and in Elgin County where St. Thomas now stands. The prominent portion which the Millers held in the district is shown by the fact that the east end of St. Thomas was formerly known as Millersburg. In Ketcheson, Prince Edward County, Mrs. Abraham, uncle of her uncles, Edward Miller established the Elgin County Loan Company. The Lincoln property in Niagara remained in possession of the family until 1907 when a part was sold to electric interests. During the Fenian Raid the Miller property was pillaged of its live stock and provisions. Mrs. Abraham was a keen conversationalist and an admirable raconteur. Her life was marked by simplicity, piety, and devotion to her family, who with a wide circle of friends mourn her passing.

The Spiritual Temple

Delivered Recently By Rev. W. Harris Wallace, of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church.

"Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile and hypocrites and envies, and all evil speakings, as new-born babes, long for the spiritual milk which is without guile, that ye may grow thereby unto salvation; if ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious, unto whom coming, a living stone, rejected indeed of men, but with God elect, precious, ye also as living stones, are built up a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God, through Jesus Christ."

What an ascending scale we have in this chapter—from the unclean and undressed stones, to a "spiritual house," from the separated bits to the full communion of the household of faith. Every member of the family must be fitted for home feeling and fellowship. Each member of the choir must be in tune and "good form" to give harmony to the full chorus. Each member of the brotherhood must be true and faithful to give strength and unity to the brotherhood. How can we be fitted for God's spiritual temple?

Preparation for the Temple
We must have a spiritual experience for ourselves before we can be fit for the Temple of God. "If ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious," we have to taste and see that the Lord is good. That implies two things: sense and judgment, palate and perception. Feed on the Word of God and enter into fellowship with God by prayer. We have to eat the Word, like the prophets and saints of old. We find it sweeter than honey. And the only way to eat it is to obey it, and find grace, mercy and peace. When we learn how precious is the Lord, we come to delight to do His will. Along with our delights, we have repulsions. We have "tasting" and "putting away." The taste of grace implies the "putting away" of sin—all wickedness, guile, hypocrites, envies, evil speakings. This is the second step in the creation of the family of faith—cleansing of the individual. This is necessary in the science of life. We see it in surgery. One of the greatest discoveries in the past fifty years is that of dirt, and its destroying influence. Sin has the same evil results in the mind and soul of man. In preparation for God's spiritual temple we have set before us high ideals to feed on day by day. Having tasted of the grace of God, and been cleansed and set free from sin's defilement, we are now asked to adopt an exacting diet—"long for the spiritual milk." Note the warning: "which is without guile." We must have no adulterating compromise to enter our spiritual diet. "We nourish ourselves with the true manna sent down from heaven and grow spiritually according to our aspirations."

Building Up the Temple
The "living stones" are now cleansed, shaped, dressed, ready to be built into the "spiritual house." What is the next step? Union and fellowship with Christ. "Unto whom coming." None of us are so near Christ but we can come nearer. Jesus is the pattern for every man. We must keep coming to Him that He may conform us as "living stones" and put us in our place in the "spiritual house." It is faith in Christ, the sure foundation, that invites us to the chief "corner stone." "He that believeth in Him shall not be put to shame. What is the implication? We cannot have union without Christ. He is the bond of true brotherhood, fellowship. And what is true of Christ is true of all who are one with Him. He is the light of the world; so are we the light of the world. He is the "living stone," the "chief corner stone," so are we "living stones." Our vital relation to Christ settles everything for time and eternity. All the prepositions seem to be exhausted by the Gospel of God's grace in emphasizing the necessity of a fundamental relationship with Christ—"In Christ," "through Christ," "by Christ," "with Christ," "unto Christ." He becomes a "stone" of stumbling and a rock of offence to all who ignore Him. Why are Christian sects separated? Creeds, rituals, forms—these set men apart. Christ alone unites men "into a spiritual house," an "elect race," and a

A ROMAN HOME

The lie of the country is charming. Imagine a kind of amphitheater of immense size, and such as nature alone can construct. A broad and spreading plain is surrounded by mountains; the mountains on their lofty and venerable forests, and in these there is game in plenty and variety. Next to these are woods for cutting, following the downward slope of the mountain; and interspersed with them are rich and loamy knolls (indeed a stone does not readily present itself anywhere, even if you look for one) which do not yield in point of fertility to the flattest plains, and bring to maturity a rich harvest, though it be a somewhat late one. Below these, vineyards stretch along the whole side of the mountain, and present a uniform appearance far and wide. They are terminated, or fringed, so to speak, at the base by shrubberies. Then come meadows and cornfields, fields which can be broken up only by the largest oxen and the strongest plow; the soil is so rich and rises in such huge clods when first cut into, that it is only by a course of deep plowings that it can finally be reduced. The meadows, garnished with flowers, rear the trifolium and other kinds of herbage always soft and tender, and in a manner never-falling streams. Yet, where there is the greatest quantity of water, there is no marsh, because the land, being on an incline pours into the Tiber all the moisture which it does not absorb. That river runs through the middle of the estate; it is of a size to carry ships, and conveys the whole of our produce to Rome, that is to say, in winter and spring. In summer a large river to a dry channel. In autumn it resumes its character. You would be greatly charmed if you viewed this situation from the mountains; you would fancy yourself looking not at so much country, but at a kind of landscape painted with the most exquisite beauty, such is the variety, such the harmonious disposition, which refreshes the eye wherever it turns. My villa commands as good a view of what lies under the hill as though it were on a summit; so gentle and gradual is the unperceived rise to it that you find you have made an ascent without knowing that you have been ascending. At its back it has the Apennines, but some way off. From the hill it enjoys breezes, however calm and untroubled the day, sharp or cutting ones, however, but such as are softened and broken by the mere space they have passed over. It has, for the most part, a southerly aspect, and invites—if I may so speak—into a broad and slightly projecting cloister the summer sun from the sixth hour, the winter sun rather earlier. In this cloister there are several apartments, and a hall, too, after the ancient fashion. In front of the cloister is a variegated terrace walk, with borders of box, then a descent to a sloping garden bank, with forms of animals cut out in box facing each other. On the flat ground is an acanthus so soft that I had almost called it liquid. Round this is a walk, enclosed by evergreen planted close, and cut into different shapes. Beyond this is a promenade in the form of a ring, which encloses the variously shaped boxes and the low trimmed shrubs. All this is protected by a wall covered and concealed by a sloping hedge of box. Then comes a green expanse not less worthy to be viewed for its natural than for its artificial beauties. There are fields further on and many other green meads and coppices.—From "The Letters of the Younger Pliny."

A WONDERFUL NEW ETHER

By William S. Dutton
A youth recently underwent a painful operation for the resection of a tubercular mass in his abdomen. For one hour and ten minutes he was in the hands of the surgeons, perfectly conscious and in possession of all his faculties excepting one—he was insensible to pain. His pulse remained at normal; he joked with the nurses and devoured a small meal while the surgeons were operating. Pain had been killed by a marvellous discovery growing out of the war, a discovery that is now being developed in one of the greatest of our American war plants.

Either was administered for the operation upon this youth, but it was a new kind of ether. It possessed a mysterious power of removing all sense of feeling, while at the same time it did not produce unconsciousness in the patient. Only one part of the youth's brain became deadened, the other parts went on with their usual functions without any noticeable deviation from normal.

The discovery and development of this new ether offers so many possibilities that it is expected to revolutionize a countless variety of operations. It has already been used widely by physicians, dentists and in hospital work. In all these large classes of ill and accidents where, up to the present, although the patient suffered pain, the dentist or surgeon has not believed it necessary to give an anaesthetic, the way is now clear to have what can be painless operations. The most timid will be able to undergo the necessary treatment for minor injuries and for preventive medical and dental work, with all fear of pain removed.

The thoroughness of the experimentation and research work which followed the discovery of the new ether in 1917 is shown by the fact that announcement of its commercial development was not made until very recently. Even after the other was thought to be so perfected that the best results could always be obtained, it was tried out extensively by physicians, surgeons and dentists in many places throughout the country. These trials showed that in addition to its ability to produce insensibility to pain and not destroy consciousness, it possessed several other splendid qualities which made it far superior to the old ether. For example, in the case of all normal patients, its use was not followed by nausea, and instances after instance was noted where men and women took the anaesthetic, underwent painful operations, and then proceeded about their business without feeling any after-effects. It was found that the new ether was not so hard to take as the old and that not so much of it was required to cause insensibility to pain. Still another advantage that commended it to the experimenters was its ability to produce complete unconsciousness when enough of it was administered.

A Canadian physician, Dr. James Cotton, of Toronto, is the discoverer of the new ether. He has been interested for many years in the characteristics of many researches other and has conducted many experiments into its qualities for the purpose of finding an ether that would be free from certain objectionable elements. His researches and experiments led him back to pure ether, and analyzing the gasses and elements "carried" by ether, he finally produced the new anaesthetic for the attention of his profession.

LATE O. WARDHAUGH

The obsequies of the late Oliver Wardhaugh were held on Thursday afternoon under the auspices of Court Moira No. 33 I.O.F. The Rev. W. H. Wallace, of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church conducted services at the residence, 392 Front street. Citizens of all classes were present to pay their last tribute to the departed. Many beautiful flowers had been received. The bearers were members of the order, R. Waddell, G. Seams, A. Harrow, C. L. Walters, S. Flagler and J. O. Herity. The interment was made in Belleville cemetery. The I.O.F. service at the grave was conducted by Chas. L. Walters, S. Flagler and J. O. Herity.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. O. Wardhaugh and family desire to express their deep gratitude to their friends who showed them so many kindnesses and tendered so many expressions of sympathy during their recent sad bereavement in the loss of husband and father.

Noted Musician Composes Native of Ontario

Mrs. John Ferguson of Ontario—Canadian side Little town called Picton three churches, one store and a lively stable people whose ancestor Empire Loyalists. These people in Picton particularly proud of who is now a citizen of the United States. There from New York year. The name of the Branscombe, who is the composer of international ever born in this Branscombe of Picton, Mrs. John Ferguson told York. Her songs, violano works and choruses to musical circles all over States. There is in the nation of musically speaking no woman composer who if any, women composers high. Carrie Jacobs Brame more popular. You can see who knows "Dear one who knows "Dear (words by a Canadian heroine) Hale. But the "Dear Lad O' Mine" music that lives in the imagination of the heart. You know "Perfect Day" sentiment.

There's a vast difference in a great force in probably the greatest sentimental composer, (Kil) Harris on down to 18 ways had a lead on even composers. The nearer to the mauling in the better people like it. Gena songs are newer—just they are imaginative, descriptive, dramatic, tender—and a few because you have to add to a great variety of Gena Branscombe's—likely to pass them over are in search of something starts people going with why or whither.

Yes, sentiment is a force, but it's like the way was a great power. Gena combe had put a lot of into her compositions, the power of a great friend in one of the simplest of men that ever came to audience.

She was born musical Picton when a little girling how many years ago, notice that she has three all born in New York—play the piano a good deal sings. She had but one till she was about sixteen, list of the Methodist Church there was a druggist and was in a very simple way one brother, who is now a clergyman. In her lessons always a bit wayward, study just like any other local teacher ever had. Gena was simple. Gena's things by note. She was herself thinking her music had the capacity for being depressed. In fact moods; the sort of disposition a teacher considers cranky and when anybody famous the people who write graphical sketches always you know, she has a great moods in her work. That so charming," etc. Gena sometimes wandered into herself written verses of her own songs. But ways melody, harmony and that got her most. Not music came direct to Picton she was a girl she never orchestral, very few instrumental artists, and graph had not invaded homes as it is doing now.

So in the absence of direct stimulus much young Gena's imagination, sit at a piano and make. Sometimes her mother said "What's that you just play. And the answer often was, something or other that my head. Maybe I'll never again." For she could not play and put the accompaniment without knowing always did it, and her local pianist said it was quite remarkable. But that was about as discovery went until Gena from Picton—and when she

Noted Music Composer is a Native of Picton

Mrs. John Ferguson Tenney, of New York—Who Was Formerly Miss Gena Branscombe of Picton, Ont.—Music To Her the Most Instantaneous Road to God.

Down to the eastern edge of Lake Ontario—Canadian side—there is a little town called Picton with about three churches, one school, one drug store and a livery stable, and a lot of people whose ancestors were United Empire Loyalists. And most of these people in Picton, Ontario, are particularly proud of one woman who is now a citizen of the United States, and who comes visiting back there from New York about once a year. The name of the lady is Gena Branscombe, who is the only woman composer of international eminence ever born in this country. Gena Branscombe of Picton, Ont., is now Mrs. John Ferguson Tenney of New York. Her songs, violin pieces, piano works and choruses are known to musical circles all over the United States. There is in that vast population of musically spending people no woman composer who has a higher standing among musicians. Few, if any, women composers stand as high. Carrie Jacobs Bond is much more popular. You can find ten people who know "A Perfect Day" to one who knows "Dear Lad O' Mine" (words by a Canadian author, Katherine Hale). But the one who knows "Dear Lad O' Mine" knows the music that lives in the constructive imagination of the heart. The ten who know "Perfect Day" understand sentiment.

There's a vast difference. Sentiment is a great force in music. It is probably the greatest force. The sentimental composers, from Charles Kellerman on down to 1920 have all had a lead on even the comic composers. The nearer a song gets to the mauling the better, a lot of people like it. Gena Branscombe's songs are never—just sentimental. They are imaginative, emotional, descriptive, dramatic, martial, romantic, tender—and a few more. And because you have to adjust yourself to a great variety of moods to "get" Gena Branscombe's songs, you are likely to pass them over when you are in search of something that just starts people going without knowing why or whether. Yes, sentiment is a great song force, but it's like the wind—not always a great power. Gena Branscombe had put a lot of brain work into her compositions, along with the power of a great friendly heart in one of the simplest cultured women that ever came before an audience. She was born musical. Down in Picton when a little girl—not saying how many years ago, but you'll notice that she has three children, all born in New York—she used to play the piano a good deal like a bird sings. She had but one teacher until she was about sixteen, the organist of the Methodist Church. Her father was a druggist and the family lived in a very simple way. She had one brother, who is now an Anglican clergyman. In her lessons she was always a bit wayward, never would study just like any other pupil the local teacher ever had. And the reason was simple. Gena never did things by note. She wanted to feel herself thinking her music out. She had the capacity for being enchanted or depressed. In fact she had moods; the sort of disposition that a teacher considers cranky or incorrigible and when anybody becomes famous the people who write the biographical sketches always say—"Oh, you know, she has a great variety of moods in her work. That's why it's so charming," etc. Gena's moods sometimes wandered into verse. She has herself written verses for some of her own songs. But it was always melody, harmony and rhythm that got her most. Not much big music came direct to Picton. When she was a girl she never heard big orchestras, very few singers or instrumental artists, and the phonograph had not invaded people's homes as it is doing now. So in the absence of powerful direct stimulus much was left to young Gena's imagination. She could sit at a piano and make up things. Sometimes her mother asked her—"What's that you just played Gena?" And the answer often was, "Oh, just something or other that came into my head. Maybe I'll never do it again." For she could make a melody and put the accompaniment to it without knowing always how she did it, and her local piano teacher said it was quite remarkable. But that was about as far as the discovery went until Gena got away from Picton—and when she did she went a long way from home. She ignored Montreal and passed by Toronto. She was only 17; much too young to be in a big city alone, so her mother, who had always been a great inspiration to Gena, went with her while her father stayed in Picton and sold drugs. The two of them had very little money. But they went to Chicago where Gena at once began to study piano at the Chicago Musical College. Chicago was a huge place for a Picton girl and her mother. It was the strangest big mud-dle of people and things Gena had ever seen; much bigger than she had ever dreamed it was. There's something somehow more human about Chicago than about New York to a young girl who has just lately quit wearing her hair in a braid and picking violets out around a place the size of Picton. With all its size and some times just seemed to the young musician to be like a vasty overgrown Picton. And it had a lot of wonderful music. At the College she studied successfully under Dr. Ziegfeld, Arthur Friedham, who was the solo pianist at the opening of Massey Hall in 1894 and Rudolph Ganz, who lately conducted an orchestra in Carnegie Hall, while a Duost piano played a concerto in imitation of himself. She studied composition with Felix Bordowski, the versatile gentleman who writes the program notes for the Chicago Symphony, criticisms for one of the newspapers and occasional operas, one of which Boudour, was recently performed in New York. It was Bordowski who made the discovery that Gena Branscombe, clever pianist was a born writer of songs, piano pieces and melodies for the violin; that it was partly due to his encouragement that she twice won the gold medal for composition given by the Chicago College. Two or three years later, after seven years of continuous hard work at the College, graduating with all the honors possible against an array of competitors, but always working as though slavery had been invented just for her, Gena Branscombe was appointed Head of the Piano Faculty in the Whitman Conservatory in Walla Walla, Wash. Afterwards she went to Europe. In Berlin she studied piano again with Rudolph Ganz and afterwards took a course in higher composition art with Prof. Hamperdick, the talented composer of Hansel and Gretel. Ten years ago Gena decided that she would settle down in the country where she had learned most about her art. She married Mr. John Ferguson Tenney and settled in New York. She is the mother of three children of the United States, for whom she keeps house in a flat and continually works at her music because she has yet more to accomplish than all she has done in composition. New York and Chicago musicians know and respect her because they know that the once moody little girl in Picton, Ont., has a deep well of natural inspiration added to fine scholarship. There is nothing Gena Branscombe creates that is dull, because she is forever illuminating scholarship by intuition and the love of nature. Her own "artistic creed" she has briefly expressed in the words: "Commenting further on the fact that though her family for generations has been Canadian and her home people still live in Canada, she is now a citizen of the United States, she says: "It is to be ever constant in my endeavor to express through music a firm faith in the joy, beauty and harmony underlying life, the certainty of a loving and sustaining High Power which helps us in all our undertakings and the value of a high courage. Music is to me the most potent force for regeneration operating on earth." "My Canadian birth is a great heritage. I am tremendously proud of it. And who could fail to be grateful to the country that furnished friends and institutions that made a musical education possible when the future looked a bit dark for a little girl just entering her teens? I've never been able to see much difference between the people I love in Canada and the people that mean the most to me here. There is a noisy minority here that would sometimes throw a superficial dust to arouse misunderstanding, but only the true can endure, and the great silent majority are strong and true." Mrs. Tenney's publisher often tells her that if she would go less after art in her songs she could make more money. But she prefers the art—because it is more life like than money is. "Every song she writes is a direct interpretation of the words, which is a large inspiring item—because Gena Branscombe will not choose verbal puffs to hang sentimental music upon, but always chooses the best lyrics she can find. So there is a fair chance that a lot of her songs will be alive when most of the "popular" are dead.—Canadian Courier, Toronto.

OBITUARY FRED POPE Mr. Fred Pope, 48 Yeomans St., passed away in Kingston General Hospital at two o'clock this morning. About two weeks ago he underwent an operation and for a time seemed to be making recovery. Latterly no hopes were held out for his recovery. Mr. Pope was 59 years of age and was well known in Thurlow and in this city. For many years he was engaged in farming. Some years ago he removed to Belleville and took up his residence on Yeomans St. He was a member of Christ Church. The remains will be brought to his home in Belleville. The deepest sympathy is extended to his widow and daughter Ethel in their bereavement. Surviving also are a daughter in Spokane, Washington, three brothers, Walter of Spokane, Albert in Manitoba and Samuel of Sidney and two sisters, Mrs. Skeggs and Mrs. J. McCreary, of Brantford. The late Fred Pope was a native of Torquay, Devonshire, England and had lived in Canada for the past forty-nine years. He was a member of Lydford Lodge, Sons of England. MRS. JOHN EMBURY At Beresford, Manitoba, on Easter Monday, April 5th, 1920, the subject of this brief obituary passed on to a life to the greater life beyond. A brief service was conducted at the house of mourning, after which interment took place at Souris cemetery. Mrs. Embury, born in the township of Rawdon, Ont., in the year 1824, had reached the ripe old age of 96 years. She had lived under the reign of five British Sovereigns, and she was also privileged to live contemporaneously with four generations of her children. This is surely a favor granted to but few of our mortal race. Some time after her marriage to Mr. John Embury the family settled as pioneers in the township of Madoc, where they carved out a home for themselves and resided until 1902, and where also the death of the husband and father occurred in 1898. In 1902 Mrs. Embury went to Manitoba with her son, Ransford Embury and his wife, with whom she resided in the Beresford neighborhood until the close of her life. Two of her children, Thomas and Nancy predeceased their mother, but the remaining five sons and two daughters still live to mourn their loss. They are: Albert, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Peter, Fairlight, Sask.; Wm. J. Newbury, Mich.; Frederick C., of Belleville, Ont.; Mrs. J. B. Morton, Regina, Sask.; Mrs. L. Hurst, Beresford, Man., and Ransford, of Beresford, Man. Mr. W. D. Embury, of The Ontario news department, is a grandson of Mrs. John Embury. MISS MARGARET BELLE KELLEY The death occurred on Thursday afternoon of Margaret Belle Kelley at the residence of Mr. W. H. Smith, 8 King street. Miss Kelley had been ill for four months past. She was only eighteen years of age and was a daughter of the late Richard Kelley, of Napanee. Surviving are three brothers, Richard, Wilfrid and Donald of New York and one sister, Madeline, of Belleville. Mrs. M. Luffman is an aunt. EMILY TERESSA BENN On Saturday last Emily Teressa, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Benn, aged eighteen years, succumbed to an attack of Bright's disease. The funeral service at the Methodist church on Monday was conducted by Rev. A. L. Brown. A large number of sorrowing friends followed the remains to their last resting place in Victoria cemetery. The Sunday school class, of which the deceased was a member, marched in the procession. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Benn in their bereavement.—Tweed News.

NATHANIEL L. SWETMAN On Tuesday, April 20th, Nathaniel L. Swetman, one of the oldest residents of the county, passed away at his home on the Belleville Road, in Hallowell township. The deceased was a remarkably active man for one of ninety-two years, and had enjoyed good health until the last year. The deceased was born in Montreal, and when only four years of age his father died, and he came to Hay Bay to reside with his grandfather. Later he went to Huntingdon, where he conducted a large saw-mill. In 1851 he was married to Isabella Nash, of this place, who survives him at the advanced age of ninety years. He then removed to Presqu'ile where he followed the occupation of sailor for a few years, moving then to Murray, Adolphustown, Ameliasburg and in 1875 to Hallowell, where he resided until the time of his death. Mr. and Mrs. Swetman had enjoyed married life for sixty-nine years, and to them was born a family of five girls and three boys. They are Mrs. Alice Hodgson, of Saskatchewan; Mrs. Delong, of Belleville, and Miss Josephine at home; Alfred, of Saskatchewan; J. H., of Bloomfield, and George, on the homestead. Two daughters, Miss Hannah and Mrs. Florence Foster, predeceased their father. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, Rev. Alfred Brown officiating. Interment at Glenwood cemetery. The deceased was a member of the Friends' church and a Conservative in politics.—Picton Gazette. SHANNONVILLE We regret to report the death of little Bruce King, son of Wm. King, who died in Belleville Hospital last Sunday. The funeral was held at his home at Shannonville Tuesday following, and burial in Melrose vault. Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., conducted the service. Miss Olive Greatrix returned home to Buffalo Friday. Mr. Noble Clarke has a new Chevrolet car. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Loft has moved to Belleville. Mr. Edgar Morden, of Picton, was the guest of his brother, T. F. Morden last Friday. STIRLING Mrs. B. F. Butler, of Belleville, spent a few days this week with her son, Mr. Jack Butler. Mrs. Jas. McC. Potts was in Belleville a few days this week. Mr. Bob Parker is visiting his mother, Mrs. C. E. Parker. Rev. B. F. and Mrs. Byers were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wallace, Frankford, on Tuesday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Booth, of New York, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Alger over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Morton spent a few days last week with friends in Belleville. Miss Innis, of Campbellford, spent Friday with Mrs. Geo. Leary. Mrs. John A. Ketcheson, of Belleville, spent the week end visiting her sister, Mrs. Robert Reid. Miss Jane Westcott, of Napanee, was the guest of Mrs. R. B. Jones over Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Luery and Mrs. E. Luery and daughter Madeline, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Rosebush, Foxboro. Mrs. C. Parker and son Bob, who is home from Toronto University, spent the week end in Belleville with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parker. Miss Sophia Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Curtis, also Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Cooney and Little Howard spent Sunday at Mr. Joshua Richardson's, River Valley. General Ross will be here for the big demonstration on the 24th of May and will give an address. Other members of Parliament are also expected. Mr. W. R. Linn, of Marmora, has been appointed Dairy Inspector and Sanitary Inspector to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Robt. Grey, Marmora. Mrs. Arthur Girdwood and three children, of Barrie, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Girdwood over Sunday. Mrs. Girdwood and the two youngest children have now gone to Ottawa to visit friends. The death took place in Toronto General Hospital on Friday, April 23rd, of Florence M., wife of Wm. Constable, formerly of Rawdon township. She was the mother of Eric, Oliver and Harold. The latter enlisted in the great war and was killed in action overseas. All are well remembered in Rawdon and Stirling.—Leader and News-Argus. BANCROFT Mr. Ed. Maxwell has a number of men and teams engaged on county road construction. Miss Grace Davy has resigned from the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia and left for Hamilton on Saturday. Mr. Joe Labarge, of Carbridge, and Antoine, of Kingston, attended the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Frank Labarge, on Friday last. Mr. Jordan, of Arnprior, is relieving Mr. Lawson as manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who is now improving after a serious illness. Mr. D. Stoughton has disposed of his property to Mr. Ed. Maxwell and purposes leaving with his family for Windsor, where he has secured a position. Several large flocks of wild geese have been seen recently winging their way above us to the northern waters, coming from their winter retreats in the south. The ice on the lakes and rivers, as well as the small ponds and creeks, is gradually disappearing and the farmers are beginning the usual spring work. Robert Bartlett and Sons are the first farmers in this district to indulge in the use of a caterpillar tractor. The machine was unloaded at Hybla on Friday last and taken to its new home in the valley where it can now be seen in operation. Four plows can be operated at once, thus doing the work of four teams. Six gallons of kerosene is said to keep it in working trim for ten hours. Like the automobile, tractors are wending their way into the north.—Times. SHANNONVILLE We regret to report the death of little Bruce King, son of Wm. King, who died in Belleville Hospital last Sunday. The funeral was held at his home at Shannonville Tuesday following, and burial in Melrose vault. Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., conducted the service. Miss Olive Greatrix returned home to Buffalo Friday. Beauties, Productions, Resources and Capabilities of California

Editor Ontario:— There are nine public parks here. Westlake Park has multitudes of a species of wild duck and several swans. Many boats are used. Beautiful peepers and palm trees afford shade. Exposition Park is an immense site. Many flowers, two lawn bowling greens for use of the club, race track, ball, tennis and golf grounds. Two splendid museums, and a military home for the troops where arms are stored. Some beautiful English pheasants are here, in company with other birds.

The museums afford keen enjoyment. All the products of the country exhibited. I was astonished to find that large quantities of cotton are produced. Lakes of salt and magnesium exist. Oil is extracted in large quantities in close proximity to the city, and many oil millionaires live here.

The most beautiful pictures of the California valleys are seen in the museums. The light is thrown from above on the picture, giving the effect of sunlight.

The islands of Hawaii with their capital, Honolulu, are now American property. Many pictures of it are here shown of various parts of what is described as a terrestrial paradise. One feature is the lake of asphalt which has been on fire for many years. The great billows of fame dash upon the shores.

A few miles distant from this city, in a place called Brea, excavations have disclosed vast quantities of bones of Asiatic animals. There must have been a causeway between the eastern lands and America. The Historical Department in Canada, alluding to the discovery of pre-historic animals in Red Deer district, declares that such a causeway must have existed, and also that the British Islands were at one time connected with the main land. Excavations here show three kinds of elephants, camels, scores of sabre-toothed tigers, sloths, mammoths. The skull and body of a man has been found in Brea. Several double-teeth are preserved. The skull is normal. The man must have lived millions of years ago. Underneath the grass is oil. These animals walking upon the grass founded and died in the oil, which has preserved the bones. In Red Deer they have found an animal which existed many millions of years ago, called the deinosaurs—twelve and a half feet tall. This animal could travel very rapidly and undertake any animal.

Frequent rains have made this country a floral paradise. I was astonished to see so much barley grown. Not much oats or wheat. Alfalfa is a very fine crop this year, bringing $32 per ton. Seven crops are cut, sometimes eight. The machinery which gathers it, presses it in the field and discharges it bound with wire in bundles.

The great valley of Southern California is really a prairie, level and surrounded by mountains. Two crops are raised each year.

I have just returned from the greatest mountain trip I have ever taken, but a description must be the subject of another letter.

Sir Oliver Lodge, speaking of the rapidity of the search's motion, rapped upon the table twice, and said the earth had travelled thirteen miles in the interval between the raps, two seconds. He said we were constantly discovering new stars, in colonies. That every space and every thing was permeated with indestructible ether. The life we enjoy is the life of an animal. When death happens, the ether still remains, and is our soul, and we live. As all animals possess ether, possibly they survive death, as John Wesley believed.

There is at Sycamore Heights a museum on the summit of a hill, made entirely fireproof. You pass through a tunnel excavated through the hill, and are raised to the interior of the museum by an elevator. There is a most remarkable collection of objects of interest in this building; extremely old pictures taken from early missions; collections of birds, butterflies, Indian weapons, Spanish swords, cannon, insects, rags. I have seen many collections of butterflies and moths in different countries, but none as brilliant as this collection. Nature in forming butterflies has indulged in all sorts of fantastic tricks; the most beautiful tints, exquisite coloring. A day there is well spent. The museum is in a large park.

Catalina Island is a great attraction. The purchaser (a chewing-gum magnate) has expended a million and a quarter on the island; erected a splendid hotel. Two hours and a half sea trip takes you to the islands from San Pedro.

A railway strike of great magnitude has tied up nearly all railways. Five passenger trains were left stranded in the desert.

At Dr. Locke's church there was an immense congregation. The British consul and his daughter were upon the platform and made brief addresses after the sermon. The pulpit was draped with British and American flags. The speaker in eloquent language spoke of the great work accomplished by the British in the war; advocated that everything should be done to strengthen the alliance with Great Britain. People generally condemn the Hearst papers, as the English condemn that infamous English newspaper, John Bull.

One great charm of this city is its eloquent preachers. There are many highly educated and eloquent men. There is no Sunday law here. Sports and exhibitions, concerts, movies, are held on Sunday; yet the churches are crowded. Governor Coolidge of Bosnia has signed a bill which authorizes sports of all kinds on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Robinson and many ministers and officials joined in the petition to the Governor. They urged that the Master meant what He said when He declared that the Sabbath was made for man. Since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers the United States has abandoned the strict religious observance which were certainly carried out by the early settlers of the country to an abnormal extent. Two highly intelligent men said to me that there would be a revolution in the United States; that it would certainly happen through the foreign element and Bolshevism.

THE BOY AND HIS LIFEWOR

Vocational Campaign Held in the City Saturday

A "vocational conference" or "find yourself campaign" was an event in the lives of some seventy Tuxis boys of this city at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday. Mr. Angus Buchanan, Boys' Secretary, had this work under his charge and the success of the campaign owes much to him. The ages of the boys interested are from thirteen to twenty. Those attending were High School boys and Albert College students. The chief speakers were Rev. Manson Doyle, of Toronto, who spoke on "The Fundamental Motives in the Choice of Life Work," Prof. W. T. Brown, of Victoria University, Toronto, whose address "Does Education Pay?" was very instructive and Mr. Statten who led in the self-analysis.

Recreation was had at the Armouries at indoor baseball by the boys and young men attending the conference. At six-thirty they assembled at the Y.M.C.A. and banqueted.

Prof. Brown in his address on education and the professions said that if the boy did not love books, meeting other minds, the professions were not his field. The boy must be a lover of humanity. Dr. Brown pre-empted the claims of the teaching profession, showing the great opportunity in moulding the ideas of the children of the foreigners in Canada, bringing them to our view of life and making of them real Canadians. This means sacrifice on the part of strong vigorous men going out as teachers to impress upon the children the ideals of Christian and Canadian manhood.

The claims of the Christian ministry were presented by Rev. Dr. C. T. Scott. "I want every man to feel that his own calling is the highest. If a man does not, he is surely in the wrong calling. There is a great debt owing to the teachers for incalculating real Christian principles. In the calling of the ministry, there is an opportunity to touch all phases of life.

"The minister of today is the robust man, the man of good appetite, the man in touch with life, who realizes that his power comes through his association with men, that through this interest he may be able to touch each man.

"If the ministry does not instruct men in right living there is little chance of Christian ideals pervading society. We must understand our fellows. No sphere of life may be neglected; no type of man ignored. "The leader in the ministry today must be highly cultivated and educated if he is to meet the needs of the minds of men in the business world and other spheres of activity.

"We never want the ministry put on a financial basis with the other professions, for that would eliminate the element of sacrifice, which often attracts the best type of men to the ministry. There must be the appeal to the higher manhood. "I don't know of any minister who has started to death. The time has come when a decent old age is guaranteed the minister."

"The minister often diverts money from unworthy to the best channels by his influence. "Some say that there is not the room in the ministry as in the other callings, as literature. We have a splendid press and literature, but who ever knew of a young Romeo satisfied with a photograph of Juliet? Literature never takes the place of personality. Nowhere is there such an opportunity for influence as through public address.

"For success in a calling, one needs taste, talent and opportunity. "Men never regret the call to the ministry. It is the grandest career on earth, linking men to God.

Mr. Taylor Statten, of Toronto looked at life to the boy of thirteen to twenty in terms of baseball, with its training, its team play, its sacrifice hits and the scoring. The only way to live is the Jesus way. Christ came to minister, not to be ministered unto. He profits most who serves most. The conference then went into the work of self-analysis.

What Has Happened to Girl Shellmakers

Many Have Been Absorbed into Industrial Life—Others at Home—A Few Saved Money

Women munition workers who received $5 per day and upward, who lived and dressed accordingly, have been a puzzle to many since this work came to an abrupt termination. With the cost of living on the increase and the source of the supply of luxury goods, how have these workers managed? It was expected that there would be multitudes of them seeking employment of any sort shortly after the works closed down, but like other anticipated disasters following the readjustment from war to peace, the expected did not happen.

"I worked at munitions with a girl who earned from $5 to $10 a day. A few of them saved, and I know of two girls who have not worked since munitions closed down over a year ago, but have lived on their savings since. But these were exceptions. The majority of the girls who were accustomed to earning their own keep, took the extra gift from the gods as something to be enjoyed at the time."

This munition worker who had been in a position to come closely in contact with the employes, has a reasonable explanation as to the method of keeping up appearances on the part of those who became accustomed to the feeling of silken linings and well tailored garments.

Wear Munition Clothes

"These girls bought the best," she affirmed, "and materials were good at the time. They are still wearing many of their munition clothes. Especially during the winter was this easy, for many of the girls bought seal coats. Now a seal coat with neat boots, a new veil and a few touches, gives a fine appearance. It was a good investment, too, for a coat which cost $350 three years ago would cost $850 now."

"These girls who are willing to put all their earnings into their clothes, naturally know how to make the most of things, and even, although only $11 a week, they are still able to appear smart, well dressed. Others have good positions, and are earning as much as $25. Two girls who were living models before they chose the more strenuous occupation of munitions, have returned to that work.

"It seemed strange to me," continued the former munition girl, "to see the transformation many of the girls made from greasy overalls to fine frills and feathers. No effort was spared by these girls when work was over to remove all traces of grime and to make themselves into the smartest of fashion parades, ready for appearance on the street.

Have Been Absorbed

As a class the women munition workers faded into obscurity, and have apparently become absorbed in other occupations. A survey of the various elements which were brought together into the army of women who for reasons more often patriotic than commercial, undertook the heavy and arduous work in the munition factories, explains to a large extent the disappearance of many of them. Large numbers went into the industrial world as a wartime service only, and when the need was over went back to their homes. There were many married women whose husbands were overseas, and whose homes were waiting. The appeal of munition work drew many girls and women from the surrounding towns and country, and these too returned home, either from choice or necessity when their work was finished.

The remaining class, those who must seek some other occupation without delay, were quickly absorbed in various directions. Domestic service was open to many more than cared for such a method of earning a living. No domestics have been brought from Great Britain for two years, and the munition workers might have filled this gap in far greater numbers than they cared to do.

It Pays Well to "Know Thyself"

Make Regular Physical, Mental, Moral Inquiry And It Will Pay Well, Says Expert.

New York, April 27.—Dr. Gabriel R. Mason, principal of Public School 37, The Bronx, holds that the maxim "Know thyself" can be observed with as much profit today as when it was enunciated by Socrates. He says every one, old and young, should keep posted on their physical, mental and social conditions.

If this is done accurately health, intelligence and character are improved and possible deterioration of one's powers or attributes is averted.

This can be done, he says, by every one holding a self-examination about every two weeks, and making a point to pass the test. The following forty questions have been drawn up by Dr. Mason. Answer each of them honestly and strictly on a basis of fact. To pass you must not fall below 320.

Part A—Physical

- 1. Are you in perfect health?
2. Are you athletic?
3. Is your posture good?
4. Can you swim?
5. Do you bathe regularly?
6. Do you brush your teeth daily?
7. Do you move your bowels regularly?
8. Do you chew your food well?
9. Do you exercise daily?
10. Do you sleep in a room with open windows?

Part B—Mental

- 11. Are you well educated?
12. Do you speak English correctly?
13. Do you enunciate clearly?
14. Are you studious?
15. Are you fond of reading?
16. Is your penmanship good?
17. Do you observe things?
18. Have you a good memory?
19. Can you concentrate?
20. Do you think before you speak?

Part C—Moral

- 21. Is your personal appearance neat?
22. Are you punctual?
23. Are you polite?
24. Are your table manners good?
25. Are you kind?
26. Are you obedient?
27. Are you honest?
28. Are you tactful?
29. Do you exercise self-control?
30. Are you systematic?
31. Are you courageous?
32. Are you ambitious?
33. Are you industrious?
34. Are you modest?
35. Are you cheerful?
36. Are you thrifty?
37. Have you a sense of humor?
38. Have you initiative?
39. Are you optimistic?
40. Are you patriotic?

Played Both Ends Against the Middle

How Grandfather Labouchere Won Wealthy Wife and Partnership in Bank.

A good story concerning the grandfather of Henry Labouchere, editor of "Truth," is related by George Greville in his newly-published "Memories of an Old Etonian."

When he was quite a young man, it appears he was a clerk in a bank at a salary of £80 a year. But he moved in good society, amongst other families he was on visiting terms with Sir Francis Baring, the millionaire financier.

This gave him an idea. Presenting himself before the senior partner of the bank where he was employed, he inquired whether it would be possible for him to become a partner forthwith.

"Certainly not!" was the reply. "Why, you are only a junior clerk." "But, supposing," rejoined Labouchere, "that I had received the consent of Sir Francis Baring to marry his daughter?" "Oh, that alters the matter entirely! In that case we shall be only too pleased."

FRANCE, GERMANY AND THE ALLIES

Written for The Ontario by Chas. H. Blee, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

The name of the United States appears in the official correspondence in what is known as the Ruhr affair as though it were a full-fledged member of the League of Nations.

If the United States had been functioning as a member of the League in good standing through the ratification of the peace treaty by the Senate, the unfortunate disagreement in the Supreme Council over the Rhine invasion would not have taken place, or it so, in a materially modified manner.

It is our failure to act, the determination of the politicians to make the question a political issue, that has caused France to do as she has done in the face of what she believed to be a studied violation of the peace treaty so soon after it went into effect.

Strictly speaking, France was technically in the wrong. She overstepped the limit to such an extent that the other nations joined with her in the war, with one exception, entered a solemn protest against French forces entering neutral ground. The exception was Belgium. The latter is in the same position as France. It is never a theory that confronts them when Germany is involved. They are face to face with a dangerous condition.

Yet in this particular case Germany is not entirely to be blamed. She, too, was faced with a crisis not provided for in the terms of the treaty. The Ebert government for self-preservation ignored the letter of the treaty. Following the letter of the treaty, the Ruhr industrial district rose in revolt and soon fell under the control of Spartacists or Bolshevists. To put down the rising under the red flag of communism the Ebert government on its return to power ordered some fifty thousand troops into the revolutionary district. The French Government took exception to this act. The Ruhr district under the Versailles treaty was to be neutral territory for a period. It was argued at Paris that the Ebert government should have called on the Supreme Council for aid to put down the rebellion, instead of taking forcible possession by a German army. French troops occupied Frankfurt, Hamburg, Darmstadt and lesser cities. In doing so the Paris government declared that the sole object was to bring Germany to a due respect for treaty obligations, and the occupation was precautionary on the part of France.

France looked at the matter from just one standpoint—her proximity to Germany and the necessity for prompt action to protect her rights. France stands alone practically against a greater power.

The recent allies and associates of France in the war viewed the Ruhr affairs in a different light. They beheld first the danger of Bolshevism spreading further into Europe. They were willing that Germany should disobey the treaty technically on the ground that the end justified the means. They do not wish to keep open the wounds of the war; there is now a greater danger than Prussian militarism and blockadedness.

If peace is to be kept just now, and if peace is to be guaranteed for the future; if France is to be restored to a normal state and her nerves soothed and her hurts assuaged, there must be a league of nations to enforce peace, all for one, one for all. If not, the Russian menace will give all the nations uneasy days and nights. And the United States of late has been receiving notice that it is far from immune. The spirit of Bolshevism is abroad in all our industrial centres. Defiance of the constituted order is not confined to Central Europe by a good deal.

While it is true that Bolshevism in this country is mainly manifested at centres where the largest foreign element is concentrated, and seldom or never manifests itself where British or American inhabitants predominate, it is a dangerous element because it appeals to the man who has failed to make a success in life and offers him the property and goods of others who have succeeded.

and at the same time oppose the idea of gradation in church courts. In existing on the independence of each congregation. Under the division Presbyterian we include all churches which insist upon the parity of ministerial rank, but recognize a gradation in church courts through session, Presbytery, synod and general assembly. Thus Presbyterianism stands for the unity and the democracy of the church.

"The word Presbyterian has a Greek root (presbuteros) which means elder or presbyter. This word was used first of age, then as a term of rank or office. Among the Jews the presbuteros was a member of the Sanhedrin, and as such was a ruler or judge. Among the Jews also the presbuteros was one who in a city managed public affairs and administered justice. Among Christians the presbuteros presided over churches, assemblies and in the Book of Revelation presbuteros composed the heavenly sanhedrin. Presbyterians maintain that the words presbuteros and episcopos (bishop, overseer) are used interchangeably in Scripture and signify one office. This view is taken by Jerome, one of the early Christian Fathers. The word "episcopos" being taken from Greek institutions and the word "presbuteros" from Jewish, "episcopos" we believe indicates the function of the elder's office (oversight, superintendence), "presbuteros" the dignity of that same office.

"The doctrinal standards of the Presbyterian church are found in the Westminster Confession of Faith, the shorter catechism, the longer catechism. But as we have said Presbyterianism is essentially a form of church government and not a creed, although it is not without a creed as we see. The theology of the Presbyterian church is Calvinistic, but it claims no monopoly of Calvinism. Calvinism in doctrine may be found quite consistently placed themselves under a prelatial or congregational or Presbyterian form of church government. There are different kinds of Calvinism. We find it in the theology of the churches in extreme and in modified forms. In its extreme form it has been ridiculed and laughed at a good deal in certain quarters but this has more often resulted from misunderstanding and superficial knowledge than anything else. It is a modified Calvinism which constitutes the working theology of the Presbyterian church today. A theology that insists on the sov-

Address to the Brotherhood

Rev. A. S. Kerr spoke on "Presbyterianism Before John Street Society."

"Presbyterianism" was the subject of an address given before the Brotherhood of John Street Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon last, by the Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., of St. Andrews. John Street Brotherhood was recently organized and will become an active factor in the progress of the church. The Rev. Mr. Kerr said:

"It is not my purpose this afternoon to deal with this subject in a controversial spirit but taking Presbyterianism as a fact it is well for us to know what it really stands for. We appreciate the fact that in recent years denominationalism has not been uppermost in the minds of the people of the church but it has rather been union of the denominations, the securing of a common standing ground for the different communions of the Christian church. We are not dealing with that matter at the present time but with the fundamental meaning of Presbyterianism.

"Presbyterianism is primarily a placing of church government under a prelatial or congregational or Presbyterian form of church government. There are different kinds of Calvinism. We find it in the theology of the churches in extreme and in modified forms. In its extreme form it has been ridiculed and laughed at a good deal in certain quarters but this has more often resulted from misunderstanding and superficial knowledge than anything else. DEATHS

ABRAHAM—In Belleville, on Wednesday, April 28, 1920, Annas Hannah Abraham in her 80th year.

It Will Cure a Cold—Colds are the commonest ailments of mankind and if neglected may lead to serious conditions. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve the bronchial passages of inflammation speedily and thoroughly and will strengthen them against subsequent attack. And as it eases the inflammation it will stop the cough because it allays all irritations in the throat. Try it and improve it.

creignty of God—but not in such a way as to make man a helpless puppet and God an irresponsible tyrant saving some and damning others of His mere good pleasure. Calvinism gives us a strong, rugged theology that has produced fearless, honest, pious men such as George Wishart, Andrew Melville and John Knox.

"Presbyterianism stands for the application of a true representative system, the thorough carrying out of democratic principles. The elders are elected by the people. The minister occupies no higher position than an elder. He too is chosen by the people and ordained by representatives of the people. As many laymen as ministers occupy seats in Presbytery, synod and assembly and have an equal voice in all matters which come before these bodies. Presbyterianism is therefore the/ constitutionalism which at once recognizes popular rights, assigning the right of church power to the whole church and even serves these rights for the adequate accomplishment of those ends for which they have been conferred.

"The Presbyterian church has always stood strongly for education. Ever since John Knox established his parish schools in Scotland, Presbyterian people have been staunch supporters of colleges, universities and schools of learning. The clergyman of the Presbyterian church must spend seven years at college after matriculation before he is ordained and set apart for the ministry.

Missions also have occupied a large place in the program of our church. Dr. James Robertson gave visibility to the Presbyterian church in the great north west, and largely through his leadership in vision we find the Presbyterian church has, and we desire to say it in no spirit of boastfulness, more claiming connection with than any other church in the Dominion as shown by last census. The church annual budget of the church for mission purposes at home and abroad is over one million dollars a year. That is what Presbyterian people give not for the support of themselves but for industrial, social, medical and evangelical missions in Canada and in distant lands.

"Nec Tamen Consumebatur" is the motto of our church. "Nevertheless it was not consumed." The unburnt bush. It is an interesting story how the device was adopted by our church. But it is true of its past history and is we believe prophetic of the future. It has survived the old days of persecution. Will it survive our present period of prosperity? If persecution tried the church in the past, prosperity is trying her spiritual life today. We march on in faith and in hope, shoulder to shoulder with our brethren of other communions for one is our Master even Christ, and all we are brethren. We appreciate what other communions have done and are doing and what they stand for and believe that the united contribution of all will cause the Christian church to move forward "fair as the moon, clear as the sun and terrible as an army with banners."

MINING ENGINEERS MET LAST NIGHT

First Year of Hastings Branch Closed—Election of Officers

The Hastings District Branch of the Canadian Mining Institute has just closed its first year's activities with a record of success. Last evening the branch met in the City Hall, Belleville and elected officers for the ensuing year. The new officers are:

Chairman—George H. Gillespie, Madoc. Vice Chairman, J. W. Evans, Belleville. Sec. Treas., R. A. Elliott, Deloro. Council: Deloro and Marmora, W. L. Rigg Madoc, R. L. Bryden, Tweed and Sulphide, W. H. DeBios

Kingston, Prof. Drury Belleville and Trenton, Capt. A. D. Harper Havelock and Cordova, R. Rayner The branch decided to hold a meeting in Belleville in mid-June and Mr. J. W. Evans will map out a program which will take in trips to various industrial plants in Belleville and Point Anne.

Chairman S. B. Wright, of Deloro, presided and referred to the success of the branch in the first year of its organization.

Secretary R. A. Elliott read the treasurer's statement, showing receipts of $90 from fees and disbursements of $54.82, leaving a balance of $35.18. He also presented his report as secretary. Sixty-two were members during the year 1919. He recommended that the general meeting be always held in Belleville. He made suggestions as to maintaining interest in a restricted territory as in this district.

Mr. George H. Gillespie, of Madoc, offered a suggestion to the branch of taking an interest in new fields.

Mr. J. W. Evans spoke in favor of this. Mr. Gillespie stated that the branch members would be willing to go over any new field of exploration at all authentic.

A LOT of folks AND all eyes ALL over the country. THE Continent. FOR that matter, HAVING been asked TO pay for a suit OF ordinary clothes WHAT they might expect TO pay for A HOUSE and lot IN pre-war days, OR thereabouts, ARE dashing around LOOKING for chic bargains IN overalls AND calico AND duck AND khaki drill, WITH the idea OF protesting THE present scale OF too high prices AND forcing a reduction, AND it's all right, AND they can go ahead AS far as I'm concerned, AND good luck to them, ONLY I think THAT as long as they CONFINE their attention TO overalls THE only practical effect WILL be to force THE price of overalls UP in the air FOR those who wear them AS a regular matter, AND not as a fad, BUT if there is TO be a really efficient CAMPAIGN to reduce THE cost of clothing IT seems to me THAT if people WOULD just make THEIR ordinary old clothes DO them until THEY are worn out AND would not be ashamed TO put on a patch IF a patch is needed AND wear the patch RATHER than pay THROUGH the nose FOR new garments, THE desired end WOULD be more quickly reached. THE idea that patches ARE a disgrace AND that nothing

BUT the most expensive OF anything IS worth having ISN'T doing THE present generation VERY much good, AND it's worth while RECALLING at this time THAT homespun clothes AND home-made shoes WERE worn by A LOT of folks WHO had much to do WITH making Canada THE great nation she now is, AND that's all.

TRIBUTE TO LATE MRS. ABRAHAM

Impressive Obituaries at Holloway Street Church

All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Annas Hannah Abraham was laid to rest on Friday afternoon in Belleville cemetery. After a short service at her late residence, 38 Elmer street, the funeral cortege proceeded to Holloway St. Methodist Church, where the pastor, the Rev. A. H. Foster, officiated in the presence of a large concourse of friends of the deceased and her family. The last sad rites were very impressive. The pastor delivered the funeral sermon, based on the words "And they shall fade as a leaf." The brevity of life and certainty of death were emphasized. He voiced the public's esteem of the deceased and of her sterling character. The hymns were appropriate for the solemn occasion. "God Moves in a Mysterious Way," "Servant of God, well Done," and "Amen in Jesus." Miss W. Pearce presided at the organ. During the service Miss Strehel Walton sang "Face to Face."

At the conclusion of the service, the friends filed past the open casket to take a last look upon the features of the departed they had known so well in life. Three generations of descendants were present at the obsequies, the sons and daughters of the deceased, her grand children and great grand children. Among the floral offerings were: Pillow, "Mother" from children of deceased. "Wreath, "Grandma" from grand children.

Wreath, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Waters. Wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin and Jessle. Sprays, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ostrom, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vornilyea, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ostrom, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Sinclair.

Six grandsons of the late Mrs. Abraham bore the casket. They were Charles A. Ostrom, George H. Ketcheson, Roy E. Ketcheson, Harold F. Ketcheson.

The Rev. Mr. Foster officiated at the funeral at Belleville cemetery. The friends have been receiving many telegrams and messages of condolence from different points in Canada and the United States.

Women's Canadian Club

The seventh annual meeting of the Women's Canadian Club was held Tuesday afternoon, April 20th, in the Y.M.C.A. lecture room. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved. The president, Mrs. George Gorman, gave a very interesting address and then called for the reports of the secretary and treasurer. These showed a successful year. A vote of thanks was moved to the Board of Education, the Y.M.C.A. and the press. Regret was expressed at the anticipated departure of the president, Mrs. Gorman, from the city.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Hon. Pres.—Mrs. G. Gorman. Pres.—Mrs. S. D. Lazier. Vice-Pres.—Mrs. F. S. Wilson. Sec.—Mrs. O. A. Marshall. Ass't Sec.—Mrs. A. A. Atleek. Treas.—Mrs. R. W. Tinsman. Executive—Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Roberts, Miss Fraisek, Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Dean. Pianists—Miss MacCuaig, Miss Ackerill.

Talk of the Town and of the Country

Engine No. 390 from Kinmount, due in Lindsay about 6 p.m., met with an accident Wednesday night half a mile north of Kinmount, when one car left the rails. A delay of 45 minutes was caused, and the Lindsay auxiliary was despatched to the scene to clear the track, the line being cleared within two hours, very little damage being done. Conductor Abbott and Engineer Hutchinson were in charge.

The D.S.C.R. at Kingston is not to be closed up as indicated in a despatch from Ottawa stating that all branches would cease to operate by June 30th. When interviewed on Tuesday morning Capt. Smith, head of the Kingston branch, stated that the order that had been issued from Ottawa referred only to the closing of the employment agencies conducted by the "Information and Service" branch during the past winter. Such an order was anticipated as soon as labor conditions became settled once more. The officers effected are Lt. W. G. Bailey and Capt. Frame. Capt. Smith stated that the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment would continue to do business and allow the branches will carry on as heretofore, looking after the complaints of discharged men, directing vocational training, and administering the hospitals for treatment of the sick and wounded.

The Lindsay workers' present grievance because the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission having advanced the wages of its employees in what is known as the central division, by $5 and $10 a month, later raised the rentals of dwellings which it has built for its employees by $10, is the complaint made to the Department of labor by union electrical workers of Oshawa, Trenton, Campbellford, Belleville, Peterboro and Lindsay. John Noble, a general organizer for the Electrical Workers' Union, and Mr. E. N. Compton stated Wednesday that they were endeavoring by conferences with Sir Adam Beck, to adjust the grievances of these men. The number one hundred and fifty. The wage schedule which they have presented asks for a 30 per cent increase in wages which it is admitted accompanying the schedule, but it is a delicate situation," said Mr. Compton. Electrical workers from the Chippewa development scheme met Sir Adam Beck Thursday morning and discussed wages and conditions. They have not met known their demands and will meet at the Elliott House, Lindsay to finally draft them before interviewing Sir Adam.

Last evening about seven-thirty an automobile struck a buggy on Front St. near Bridge St. corner. The occupant of the carriage was thrown out but escaped injury. The buggy was not damaged much.

Last night the Y.M.C.A. put on a Grand Concert in aid of the City Boy's Camp. This camp is for any boy in the city who wishes to go camping this summer.

Mr. Herbert W. Piercy, one of Canada's leading interpreters of literature, recited the story of the life of Jean Valjean, taken from Les Miserables, the masterpiece written by Victor Hugo.

Mr. Piercy has great dramatic force and gave a very clear interpretation of that touching story of the life of Jean Valjean, holding the audience's attention to the very last.

During the recitation the story was interrupted several times with violin selections played by Miss Joy Higgs. Her numbers were enjoyed very much and she was encored again and again.

Mr. Piercy also gave several humorous sketches in between times, that relieved the tenseness of the masterful story of Victor Hugo's.

The audience was not quite as large as expected but those who did attend, would not feel their time had been wasted as it was highly educating as well as entertaining.

At the Men's Brotherhood meeting in Bridge St. Church Sunday afternoon, Mr. E. O'Flynn will fall about some of his observations while in California. Mr. O'Flynn has just recently returned from that sunny clime and no doubt will have many things of interest to tell his hearers.

Police Constable John M. Trutch last evening created a sensational scene on Front street. He had three young men coming over the hill and they were questioned. He placed them under arrest and marched the three via Front street to the lockup. Two went ahead and the officer accompanied the other. They are charged with vagrancy and come up in court today. Their names are Ernest Rod 25 years; Albert Large, 17 years, and Napoleon Harelle, 24 years.

Only two boys and two girls out of the fifty-two who arrived at the Marchmont Home last week from England are now in the Home. The rest have all been taken into foster homes. Quite a large number are located in Prince Edward County.

Mrs. A. May Ralston, Worthy Grand Matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, the ladies' branch of the Masonic order, paid an official visit of inspection to Belleville Chapter No. 55 last night. There was a very large turnout of members and many visitors were present, among the latter were Mrs. McKee, Toronto, Mrs. Lachie, Brockville, Miss Colling, Nebraska, the Misses Mills, Chicago and a number from Ameliasburgh, representing Quince Chapter No. 58. The drills, parades and ex-emplications of lodge work were carried out in faultless style and received warm praise from the worthy grand matron. The latter addressed the chapter at some length, giving a criticism that was searching, sympathetic and constructive. Brief addresses were also delivered by the worthy matron, and worthy patron of Belleville Chapter, Sister J. W. Barlow, and Bro. E. T. Cherry. The Grand Matron was presented with a fern dish by the chapter, which she gratefully acknowledged. On Thursday night, Mrs. Ralston, inspected Quince Chapter, Ameliasburgh, and was accompanied by a number of the officers and members of Belleville chapter. Mrs. Ralston was presented with a piece of hand-decorated Dresden china and the visitors were delightfully entertained.

This talk about a beautiful Belleville is not all valueless moonshine but if translated into action will bring greater dividends in dollars than almost any other effort we can make. In the Belleville Horticultural Society we have right at hand an organization ready, willing and fully equipped to help us realize our aims. Mr. Ernest P. Fredericks of the Chamber of Commerce has also taken upon himself the duty of pushing the work of the Horticultural Society, knowing as he does that the motto of the Chamber, "A bigger, better and busier Belleville," is inseparably bound up with the idea of beautification. He therefore offers to all persons sending in their names together with a fee of $1.00 to the Secretary-Treasurer on or before the 27th day of May next, will be entitled to receive their selection from the following:

(1) Either 10 (in 3-inch pots) or 8 (in 4-inch pots) bedding plants of geraniums; or 20 Coleus (in 2-inch pots); or 3 salvias or 8 fuschias or 8 heliotropes (in 4-inch pots); or (2) 5 boxes of asters, or 5 of pansies, or 5 of sinias, or 5 of calendulas; or (3) 8 canna bulbs (in 4-inch pots); or (4) 5 boxes of cabbage or 5 boxes of tomatoes, or 5 boxes of cauliflower, so long as they last in stock, or other plants may be selected instead so as to fill the $1.00 order of the Society.

No premium is guaranteed after the 27th of May. Members can make a selection from one class, or a part from each of any of the above premiums.

Magistrate Masson this morning remanded for ten days three young men accused of vagrancy, Ernest Rod, Albert Ruzge and Napoleon Harelle.

The remains of the late Frederick George Pope who died in Kingston yesterday morning arrived here last evening and was taken to the family residence, 48 Yeomans St.

The committee room or old police court room in the city hall has been divided into two sections. In the one adjacent to the city clerk's office the City Engineer J. G. Mill has his office. The Belleville Cheese Board meets in the other section.

Cheese sold at a record price on Belleville Board today—32 1/2c. Only two factories boarded, Sldney Town Hall, 40 colored, and Zion 65 colored. Zion factory sold and the other refused the bid.

A resident made a good suggestion to The Ontario this morning and also a good suggestion to the Belleville Consumers' Economy League. He recommended that the Boy Scouts and boys generally be organized as potato batallions to cultivate vacant lots around this city by growing crops of the useful spud. He was of the belief that many residents who have considerable acreage of vacant land out of use could be induced to turn it over to such excellent use. It would be better for the land and better for the boys. He suggested the offering of prizes for the boys producing best results, and although not a wealthy man, he offered to donate ten dollars to get the movement going.

Here is one man doing his share to cut down the H.C. of L. Mr. A. McNab, the local agent of the G.T.R. at Peterboro, and formerly of Lindsay, who recently acquired the 50-acre farm of Mr. William Athely on the loop line of the Gravel road, North Monaghan, has moved with his family to the farm. His son Allan carries on the agrarian duties, while Mr. McNab helps him do up the chores at night. Mr. McNab says that it sure seems funny to be out in the country at night far away from the light and the noise of the city, but reports that he is enjoying the novelty fine so far.

At Bridge Street Methodist church Thursday evening Rev. Dr. C. T. Scott delivered an illustrated lecture on the "Sunset Province" in aid of the Boy Scouts' fund. Dr. Scott's remarks on the coast province were very illuminating.

The Argyll Light Infantry, the G.W.V.A. and the Scouts and Cadets will parade to St. Thomas Church on Sunday morning. The Ven. Archdeacon Beamish will officiate.

Several changes of location are about to take place among business houses along Front street. Some time ago Mr. D. V. Sinclair, whose store has for twenty-five years been located in the Robertson block, on the west side of the street, purchased the block in which are located the jewelry store of Mr. T. Blackburn and the adjoining barber shop, Nos. 238 and 240 Front St. Mr. Sinclair proposes to join the jewelry store and the barber shop into one large, commodious front will be placed in the block and when improvements are completed, we may expect to see here one of the most up-to-date stores in the class in the Dominion. Mr. Blackburn has taken a long lease of No. 247 across the street, the premises until recently occupied by E. C. Sprague, cleaner, presser and dealer in clothing. Mr. Blackburn already has a force of workmen busy putting in a new front and making other improvements which will make the premises thoroughly modern in every respect. He expects to move his stock across in the course of two or three months. Mr. Sprague has taken apartment upstairs in the East Robertson Block.

Everybody in Kingston is pulling for the two local teams in the newly formed St. Lawrence Amateur Baseball League. Citizens are asked to give what financial assistance they can to help along the teams. Stanley Trotter is the "live wire" secretary. A baseball game, without "Stan" would be like a ship without a rudder.

The Peterboro agent of the G.T.R. indicated Thursday that the company was considering putting a sleeper on the train for Port Hope, leaving Peterboro at 9.19, and making it a through car to Montreal. This would be a welcome change to passengers who have often to make this trip east. The original scheme which was under consideration, and which Mr. MacNab believes is now in the waste basket, was to take off this 9.19 train, and put it on the other line going to Belleville. This step would inconvenience only Millbrook and several smaller places on that line, while it would provide an adequate service that is not possible now to Hastings, Campbellford, and Striving, and would be of inestimable value to the city of Peterboro for shoppers from that city, who have to leave on the 2 p.m., as it is now. This service would attract many buyers to Peterboro that now patronize Belleville. Outside of these materialistic reasons it would provide a sleeper service through to Montreal, just as this other service will. Nevertheless there is no prospect that the train will be changed over, and all that will be provided is the sleeper service to Montreal. Mr. MacNab said he did not know why the other plan had been sidetracked.

Dr. Walter E. Dandy, associate in surgery at Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore, Md., discovered a process by which purified air is pumped into the channels of the human brain, thus making possible a study of the living brain, something that has been the dream of scientists for generations. The discovery is of tremendous importance in that it already has saved scores of persons from idleness and premature death, by making possible the exact location of brain tumors and thus, after having been located, their removal. The discovery of Dr. Dandy is the result of a long series of experiments on animals whose lives have been sacrificed that human beings might be saved.

mand for the latter in this our island county. On the south side of the clump of cedars that crown the hill, the sun is warm and inviting, and as we bask in its welcome rays a pair of Killdeer are singing their song of love in the adjacent meadow. It reminds one of dreamy midsummer and sweet-smelling meadows, where their "Killdeer, Killdeer," floating over the quiet waves of the spring air. Their cousins, the sandpipers, were among the last of our feathered friends to leave the shore of the lake last autumn. In the old orchard the robin and the song sparrow are singing their cheering songs, and although the wind keeps chill, and "winter letters in the lap of spring," there is very much in the out-of-doors to proclaim the presence, and the power of this joyous season.

The Women's Missionary Society have passed a resolution relative to immodest dress by ladies, at a recent convention held at Stratford. The resolution is as follows: Resolved, that we, the members of the Ontario Provincial W.M.S., express our strong disapproval of the senseless, indecent, immodest modes of dress adopted among so many of our women even amongst the members of our churches and worn even in the house of God. We deplore the lack of modesty displayed in a most glaring way on the streets, and especially at evening entertainments because of its pernicious effects, believing that it lowers the standard of our womanhood, disgraces our sex, leads to gross immorality, and is a most serious menace to the health, especially of our young girls. We deplore the practice of teaching young children fancy dances in immodest dress, practically ballet dancing, on the plea of making them graceful, bringing them on to the public stage on behalf of charitable objects, and thus destroying all the sweet innocence of childhood. We also view with serious apprehension the alarmingly rapid growth of cigarette smoking amongst the women of our country, particularly in fashionable circles, and would urge upon all our Christian women, especially the mothers, to use all their powers and influence to combat these great evils, threatening the moral life of our country and set before their young people the fatal consequence of all these practices, and above all, the great sin of bringing dishonor upon the sacred name and glory of our God and our Saviour Jesus Christ, who gave Himself a sacrifice for us.

Everybody in Kingston is pulling for the two local teams in the newly formed St. Lawrence Amateur Baseball League. Citizens are asked to give what financial assistance they can to help along the teams. Stanley Trotter is the "live wire" secretary. A baseball game, without "Stan" would be like a ship without a rudder.

The Peterboro agent of the G.T.R. indicated Thursday that the company was considering putting a sleeper on the train for Port Hope, leaving Peterboro at 9.19, and making it a through car to Montreal. This would be a welcome change to passengers who have often to make this trip east. The original scheme which was under consideration, and which Mr. MacNab believes is now in the waste basket, was to take off this 9.19 train, and put it on the other line going to Belleville. This step would inconvenience only Millbrook and several smaller places on that line, while it would provide an adequate service that is not possible now to Hastings, Campbellford, and Striving, and would be of inestimable value to the city of Peterboro for shoppers from that city, who have to leave on the 2 p.m., as it is now. This service would attract many buyers to Peterboro that now patronize Belleville. Outside of these materialistic reasons it would provide a sleeper service through to Montreal, just as this other service will. Nevertheless there is no prospect that the train will be changed over, and all that will be provided is the sleeper service to Montreal. Mr. MacNab said he did not know why the other plan had been sidetracked.
