PROGRESS OF THE WAR

[February 15 to February 21] The news from the various battle fronts we were very meagre during the week under review, it was undoubtedly due to the fact that there were no events of outstanding importance to report.

In the Western campaign the British made further gains in the Somme sector and further to the north; but in the Champagne district the French yielded some ground to the Germans. But no great alterations in positions were effected.

In the Mesopotamian campaign the British made progress in the Tigris valley and towards the week's close their progress was temporarily checked and they had to withdraw slightly from some of their positions north of the Tigris.

The German submarine campaign was prosecuted vigorously during the week, and the merchant vessels destroyed are mentioned in "News of the Sea" compiled from the daily press dispatches.

No news was received of the campaign in East Africa beyond the bare mention that it was drawing to a close.

WHAT MAN IN MASSACHUSETTS WORKS THE LONGEST HOURS FOR A DAY'S PAY? Marjorie Meader Undertakes to Find Out

When the first sleepy farmer from the outlying market gardening districts drove into Faneuil Hall market between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning and settles himself on the seat of his truck for a brief morning nap he is quite likely to be disturbed by an energetic person in a long white market-man's frock whom he will find poking into the contents of his load of vegetables.

He is encountering Charles Maxwell, one of the best known market-men of the district, who asserts that all claimants for distinction in the length of working hours claim will have to withdraw their paltry eight and ten hours' claims before the amazing duration of his day's work.

Six months in the year, Mr. Maxwell leaves his home in Montreal at 1 o'clock in the morning and arrives at the market between half past 1 and 2. During the summer months, when the market opens at 5 in the morning, the excitement and bustle of the day's work is in full swing. The market begins to swarm into the market between 12 and 1 o'clock, and some of them arrive even the night before to get favorable positions.

The earliest bird obtains the most profitable bargains, the market opens at 5 in the morning, the excitement and bustle of the day's work is in full swing. The market begins to swarm into the market between 12 and 1 o'clock, and some of them arrive even the night before to get favorable positions.

SOME SWEET DAY, BY AND BY WE shall reach the summer land, Some sweet day, by and by, We shall reach the golden strand, Some sweet day, by and by; Oh, the loved ones watching there, By the tree of life so fair, Till we come their joys to share, Some sweet day, by and by.

By and by, some sweet day, We shall meet our loved ones gone, Some sweet day, by and by, Some sweet day, by and by.

At the crystal river's brink, Some sweet day, by and by, We shall find each broken link, Some sweet day, by and by; Then the star that, fading here, Left our hearts and homes so dear, We shall see more bright and clear, Some sweet day, by and by.

Oh! these parting scenes will end, Some sweet day, by and by; We shall gather friend with friend, Some sweet day, by and by; Then before our Father's throne, When the mist and clouds have flown, We shall know as we are known, Some sweet day, by and by.

Mr. Munroe, of the staff of the Public Works department, St. John, was in town last week. He is visiting a number of places in the Province for the purpose of examining locations and buildings that are to be suitable for Convalescent Homes for wounded soldiers.

He was very favorably impressed by this Town and vicinity, where he examined the Town Hall, the Inn, the Andraealeo Hall, and the buildings at Chamcook. If the poor donkey had a worried expression which was hardly to be wondered at when he had a table set for the connection altogether. Mrs. Chas. Wallace placed it nearest to the correct spot and became the winner of a pretty table centre trimmed with Battenberg lace, presented by Miss Besse Grimmer.

Mrs. Frank Kennedy was only four beans out in her estimate of the number contained in the bottle, and she was awarded the prize, a needlebook with a patriotic design on the cover, which Mrs. G. H. Suckley had with her.

The dollys were distributed by Mrs. Street with the assistance of Mrs. Carson and Mrs. E. A. Cockburn. A very few were unclaimed and these were quickly taken up by the other dollys.

Mr. Everett Haddock and Mrs. Loraine Mitchell desire to express their thanks to the people of St. Andrews for the assistance and sympathy received during their recent bereavement.

MY BIT

WHEN William Smithers (yet to be) climbs lightly to his granddaddy's case.

And grasps my whiskers white and hoary. Demanding to be told a story. He'll ask me, "Grandpa, were you one of those who bravely fought the Hun? And did they run away from you? And were you killed? Tell me so!"

"My child," I'll say, "although this chest, in martial genoply compressed, Yearned like the hungry tiger's for Unmeasured gouts of German gore; Through hours by hour I stood, 'on guard' Till every limb was iron hard, And staff instructors came in cabs, To gloat upon my points and jabs, And mark the narrow-freering glare With which I whirled through the air; Though with long practice I became An expert at the killing game, Destined to wade, or so they said, Through driven heads of German dead, And, bridle, see the Big Push through With private deeds of derring-do; I never, strange enough to say, Was present at the actual fray."

"Not fight?" the captious child will pour; "Why, what man you have been about?" And I shall have my answer set: "Dividing first from third class fat: Pressing at the clothing store And scrubbing down the washhouse floor; Watching a thousand rations drawn, And moving on the Colonel's train; Was the man who baked and boiled And kept the charger-loaders oiled, Who swept the roads and sold the stamps And lit the fires and cleaned the lamps. Who taught the new recruits to drill And drove to market with the swill, Tended the sick, removed the dead And made the Sergeant-Major's bed. Who kept the Quartermaster's books And combed the whiskers of the cooks? $22.35, and Mrs. Street is much to be con-

We are quite sure Andraealeo Hall will be crowded on the evening of the entertainment; but it would afford us much satisfaction to be equally sure that the entertainment will result in more men joining the Battalion. This Corps has been widely and extensively advertised, and everyone now wishes to see it brought up to the needed strength and take its place a little nearer the fighting line. Such good material as already possesses should be where its presence will be most appreciated and its services most beneficially utilized. Let us give them a good "Send-off" in St. Andrews.

LEGISLATIVE NOTICE Notice is hereby given that at the next session of the Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick application will be made for an Act to authorize the passage of an Act to authorize and empower the Town of Saint Andrews to provide, establish, operate and maintain a system of water works for fire protection, sanitary, domestic, industrial and other uses and purposes within the Town and adjoining districts to fix, limit and define areas to be supplied and served by such water system; to borrow money for the construction and equipment cost thereof, and to issue sinking fund or serial debentures, or both, in one or more instalments, not exceeding the aggregate Sixty Five Thousand Dollars ($65,000), bearing interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, and redeemable at or within forty years from date of issue, and to provide adequately for the redemption and payment of such debentures, principal and interest, by assessment and appropriation of revenues derived from water service, and from other available sources. Dated Saint Andrews, N. B., February 1, 1917. By Order, F. H. GRIMMER, Solicitor.

Eastern Canada farmers are advised to procure local grown oats of the best quality and clean them to thirty pounds per bushel, or better if possible. There are more than 100,000 bushels of No. 1 Canada Western seed oats from wild oats are available in free. It may be found necessary to make a grade for No. 2 seed oats containing not more than an eight wild oats to the pound. This would be very much superior to the Milling or Feed grades which are foul with noxious and other weed seeds. Seed Branch, Ottawa.

Flour and feed dealers who offer the Feed grades of Western oats should be very careful to warn farmer purchasers against using them for seed. The Feed grades contain oats which are frozen or otherwise unsound and not suitable for milling purposes. They usually give a very low percentage of germination which result in serious crop failures. The seed of these frozen oats in past years has given the general impression that all Western oats will not do well in Eastern Canada the first year. Home grown seed oats of good quality are so scarce this year that farmers should be especially warned against using the Feed grades for seed.

The profitable utilization of the immense quantities of waste material which characterize practically every branch of the fisheries presents one of the chief problems in securing efficient conduct of the Canadian fishing industry. As a result of investigations on the Pacific coast, it has been estimated that the sheer waste of the fisheries of Alaska amounts to 70,000 tons per annum, and of those of British Columbia at from 15,000 to 20,000 tons. The proportion of waste material in the lobster canning industry is extremely high. Mr. R. H. Williams, of Halifax, makes the startling assertion that 32,000,000 pounds of lobster required for an average Canadian season's pack of 160,000 cases only 6,500,000 pounds are utilized, 25,500,000 pounds being absolutely wasted. In other words, the lobster industry as now conducted uses only 20 per cent of the raw material. Even under such conditions, the annual value of this industry to the Dominion is normally around $4,000,000.

From the foregoing figures it will readily be appreciated that few industrial improvements could render more substantial aid to the fishing interests than the perfection of practical methods of converting the offal to economic use. Experiments now being conducted by Mr. J. B. Fielding for the Commissioner's Conservation will prove of material service in solving this problem—February Conservator.

ADVERTISE SEED OATS

A large number of inquiries are being received from Ontario and Quebec farmers asking where they can purchase seeds oats. There was a good oat crop last year in some districts, particularly on the drained land. Farmers having seed oats for sale should advertise them in at least one farm paper. Some have reported the kinds, quantities and prices of seeds for sale direct to the Seed Branch and this information has been applied in answer to the inquiries received.

JOHN EVELYN, THE DIARIST

THE excellent man—the perfect model of the English gentleman of the eighteenth century, and known as 'Silva Evelyn,' from his work with that title on Forest Trees—was born in an ancient and noble family of Wotton House, in Surrey, on the 21st of October 1690.

At four years old, he was taught to read by one Frier, in the church porch at Wotton. He next learnt Latin in a school at Lewes, in Sussex; but when he was nine years of age, he was sent to the Charterhouse school, where he was educated for five years.

But the delight of Evelyn was in the pursuit of rural economy. He was the great improver of English gardening, and first laid out his gardens at Sayes Court, Deptford, which he let to the 'Great Duke' of Tintore for the sum of £150 in three weeks.
