

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.

Port Arthur the Most Wonderful Industrial Creation of Recent Years in Canada.

The following are some conclusions with which Mr. R. J. Barrat, the author of "Canada's Century," sums up some of his chapters:

INDUSTRIAL CREATION WONDERFUL.

Port Arthur is one of the most wonderful industrial creations of recent years in Canada. The future of the city and the port is assured, and will be of the greatest importance in the further development of the natural resources of the Canadian West.

The grain elevators of Port Arthur are unquestionably the largest, most noteworthy and most completely equipped in the world. The mechanical equipment of the docks at Port Arthur is unique in Canada, and represents the most perfect plant of its kind on the American continent.

The development of Port Arthur as the lake terminal of the Canadian Northern Railway is of the greatest prospective significance to that system. The plants installed at Port Arthur for the handling of hard and soft coal represent the last word in mechanical equipment of their kind.

The Atkocan Iron Company, Limited, has every promise of a brilliant industrial future. History is repeating itself, and the once famous mining camp at Silver Mountain may yet prove one of the richest in the world. Time, enterprise and the judicious employment of capital will enable Port Arthur to become one of the great industrial centres of the Dominion.

OPTIMISTS ARE JUSTIFIED.

The boundless optimism which reigns in the West is justified by what has been done in the past and is being done at the present time. This year will witness the greatest rush of immigration in the history of the American continent. Every English farmer who is not doing well in this country (England) should make for the West.

There is room for all now, but there will not be in a year or two. The Canadian Northern Railway, which is opening up the wonderful wheat-producing country, has done great work not only for Canada, but for the Empire. Some of the towns in the Province of Alberta and Saskatchewan are likely, at a later period, to attract British investors. The projects are being introduced under unquestionable auspices.

If developments in ranching and stock farming in Alberta are wisely directed on a large commercial scale they are likely, at a later period, to attract British investors. The projects are being introduced under unquestionable auspices.

MIRAMICHI PRESBYTERY.

NEWCASTLE, Sept. 25.—The Presbytery of the Miramichi convened here yesterday at 11 o'clock. The delegates present were: Revs. G. A. Colquhoun, moderator; Milleron; J. M. McLeod, secretary; Rev. Miss; Dr. A. F. Campbell; F. C. Simpson, Douglass; J. M. McLean, D. Henderson, Chatham; J. H. McKay, Tabusintac; A. D. Fraser, Loggieville; A. J. Fraser, Blackville; A. J. W. Myers, Black River; R. H. Staver, Harcourt; W. M. Townsend, Bass River; Geo. Latrice, Ned Caslake; S. J. McArthur, Newcastle; and R. A. McDonald, Doaktown, catcher, and Alex. McKinnon, James Edgar, D. P. MacLachlan and Mr. Carruthers from Chatham.

The call of Rev. W. H. McCallum of Pennsylvania to New Richmond was strongly supported by Rev. Geo. Latrice, moderator in the call, and was agreed to. Rev. Mr. McCallum will take charge the first of next month.

The call of Rev. George Wood of Amherst to St. Andrews church, Chatham, was also sustained. Mr. Wood will come early next month.

A. T. Firby was ordained missionary to Trinidad last night, the Presbytery adjourning to Chatham for that purpose.

THE DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

The dairying industry of Canada is one of the most promising branches of agriculture in the Dominion. The manufacture of Canadian cheese and butter is an industry of increasing importance, and one which must necessarily advance from the points of view both of exportation and of home consumption.

The year 1906 was, in many respects a remarkable year in the annals of Canadian dairying industry, and prospects are generally favorable to great developments. While the dairy industry flourishes in all the Canadian Provinces, it has nowhere made more progress than in Alberta, where butter-making is expected to become a leading industry. As the British demand for Canadian dairy products increases, numerous fresh channels for the investment of British capital will present themselves.

The dairying industries of Canada, although already extensively developed, are in many Provinces still in comparative infancy. Immense scope exists for the dairying industry on a large commercial scale in the Western Provinces.

SUITABLE FOR MIXED FARMING. Alberta, in particular, offers itself as a suitable centre for dairy farming and "mixed" farming operations under modern conditions of capitalization. Nowhere in the world is the dairying industry carried on under more complete and scientific conditions than in Canada.

The live stock farming interests of Canada represent one of the most important and progressive branches of agriculture in the Dominion. Notwithstanding the competition of the western Provinces, there is still great scope for the development of stock farming in the eastern and Maritime Provinces, and especially in Western Ontario.

The practical success which the stock farmers of Eastern Canada have achieved in competition sufficiently proclaims the vitality their branch of agriculture in the Dominion. Judiciously cultivated, the future of agriculture in Eastern Canada and in Manitoba and Saskatchewan is, apart from crop farming, fully assured.

WILL ATTRACT BRITISH INVESTORS.

Alberta is the greatest present and prospective field for cattle and horse ranching and live stock farming generally in Canada. Its resources (both these and its agricultural possibilities) are practically inexhaustible. They add a future source of wealth to the otherwise remarkable industrial possibilities of the Province.

Developments in ranching and stock farming in Alberta are wisely directed on a large commercial scale they are likely, at a later period, to attract British investors. The projects are being introduced under unquestionable auspices.

LIPTON'S CHALLENGE TURNED DOWN BY N. Y. YACHT CLUB

In a Lengthy Interview He Discusses the Yachting Situation and Sets Forth His Views—Is Bound to Have Another Try

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for a contest for the America's cup in 1908 was declined tonight by the New York Yacht Club. Sir Thomas asked for a race for sloops under the 60-foot rating, and the members of the club based their refusal to accept the America's cup trophy for the speediest type of yacht that can be produced on a water line length of 90 feet, and that therefor any proposition to limit the size of the boats must be refused.

The members of the New York Yacht Club at the meeting called voted to reject the challenge after Lewis Cass Lydiard, former commodore of the club, made a speech which he described as the deed of gift governing cup contests as drawn up by Geo. L. Schuyler, in 1887. Mr. Lydiard then put a resolution that the club could not break their rules and could not take the proposition limiting the water line length of the boat, Commodore Vanderbilt, chairman of the meeting, appointed a cup committee to convene immediately after the meeting and prepare a reply to the challenge.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Sir Thomas Lipton is bitterly disappointed at the failure of the New York Yacht Club to accept his challenge for another series of races for the America's cup, and is anxiously awaiting official information about the subject through the Royal Irish Yacht Club, which he hopes will give in detail the reasons for the American club's action.

In an interview today, Sir Thomas said he did not understand why his challenge had not been accepted as he had been led to believe that if he challenged under the universal rule, namely, that prevailing in the United States, there was every possibility of his challenge being favorably received. He added, however, that he had not given up hope of sending a boat to Sandy Hook in 1908 and already had telegraphed to William Fife, the designer, to come to London for a consultation. There was but one thing which Sir Thomas was emphatic about, and that was that he would not challenge under the old rule. One reason for this is that there is no designer of note in Great Britain which includes both Fife and Milne, who will design a boat similar to the previous Shamrock. They say that to do so would necessitate the production of even a greater freak than those which have already gone to defeat. Besides the danger of sailing such a boat across the Atlantic must be taken into account, and Sir Thomas is not prepared to again risk the lives of men in such a venture.

Sir Thomas, however, authorized the Associated Press to say that he was prepared to challenge with a ninety-foot boat under the new New York Yacht Club rules.

The first clause dealt with the labor situation, and stated that trade unionism had continued to follow the aggressive course in seeking to further its interests at the expense of the general public. Immigration its influence was still exerted to some effect to the detriment of the manufacturing industries, and the country generally. That the legislators in order to obtain favor from unionist and labor bodies who had steadily declined to assume their lawful responsibilities should adopt measures which reacted upon those whose interests were centred in the up-building of the nation, indicated a regrettable degree of weakness, and pointed to the necessity for vigorous and concerted action by employing classes if they were to protect their own.

The parliamentary committee referred to the effort, made by unions of bringing about an eight-hour day on government work, and described the proposal as most objectionable. An eight-hour day at the present stage of Canada's development was an industrial impossibility.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 25.—Both the Dominion and Ontario Governments were subjected to criticism at the convention of the Canadian Manufacturers Association today, the former because they had refused to comply with the request of the parliamentary committee to aid the immigration of skilled mechanics and the provincial government because they were reported to have filled three new factory inspectorships with the ranks of organized labor. The members protested against the indifference of legislative bodies to the interests of manufacturers and their deference to the demands of the labor unions.

E. S. Henderson, Windsor, thought it was time a protest was made against the way in which requests of the association had been ignored by the members of the labor unions and labor organizations had their representatives considered, but when a body like the Canadian Manufacturers' Association made a request it was entirely ignored.

The chairman pointed out that there would be an opportunity of discussing that point when the parliamentary committee's report came up. The report of the parliamentary committee, which was submitted by A. S. Rogers, was taken up in sections.

"In sending the challenge," said Sir Thomas, "I conformed with the deed of gift of the America's cup, which says that sloops must be over sixty feet on the water line and under ninety feet. I adhered in this respect to also, inasmuch as the boat I challenged with would have about seventy-six feet on the water line. This also conforms with the New York Yacht Club's rules for the class 'J' boats.

"I am prepared, now that they have declined to accept my challenge, to make a measurement of the boat, to enter a ninety-foot under the New York Yacht Club rules. There is no class expressly defined in this boat, the next class 'H' providing for boats of eighty-two feet on the water line, and I am prepared to build a boat up to about ninety-four feet on the water line."

In explanation of his action in challenging under the New York Yacht Club rules, Sir Thomas said, "The America's cup rule, which applies to Great Britain, France, Germany, Spain and Portugal is different from the rule now existing in the United States, which is known as the 'Universal Rule' and which has been in use in America for three or four years. It is a measurement of the boats has been built. Some of the most famous, such as the Queen, Error, Avenger, Letania, Winsome and Neos, are well known to racing men. On the other hand, a boat built under the 'Universal Rule' in Great Britain under the 'Universal Rule' have all the best of it."

"Freaks such as the three Shamrocks which I have been racing with for eight or nine years, were built under the present rule, which now does not exist in any part of the world and to prevent such freaks from being raced in America, the 'Universal Rule' was adopted. So naturally, I concluded that by challenging under the 'Universal Rule' I was meeting all the wishes of those interested in sports. After a race, win or lose, a boat built under such a rule, is of some use, the winning boat being an example to naval and marine architects, whereas in the other case, the boat is only fit for the rubbish heap and the education of designers. It was prepared to build two boats and taken the fastest of the two to the starting line, had the New York Yacht Club given me permission to do so, I have always found for members of the New York Yacht Club to be more than kind. They have always been most ready to meet my every request and it would be impossible to get better men to sail against me. I do not accept my challenge, the reasons for which I am anxiously awaiting to know. I certainly would not have sent a challenge had I thought for a moment that it would not have been accepted, and I hope that any difficulty in the way of a race for 1908 will be overcome, as I would love once more to find myself on Sandy Hook, fighting supremacy."

"When the challenge was sent, from what had been said to me, I fully believed it would be accepted, especially as I considered it to be a fair sporting proposition.

"The great difficulty of challenging under the old rule is that no designer in Great Britain will undertake to work, and personally I feel sorry to see the lives of what necessarily would be a more advanced and exaggerated freak than my previous ones."

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The announcement that Sir Thomas Lipton is prepared to follow up his first challenge, which was declined by the New York Yacht Club last night, with one stipulating for a ninety-foot boat, was not wholly a surprise in yachting circles. One paragraph in the club's reply to the challenge was pointed out significantly. The paragraph follows:—"Especially should no argument be made requiring the contesting vessels to be constructed under any rule of measurement designed as is the present rule of the New York Yacht Club to produce a vessel of a special or limited type." As Sir Thomas indicates that his second challenge will be under the "New York Yacht Club" rules, yachting men already foresee the possibility of a second declaration.

MANUFACTURERS FEEL HURT

Liberal Govt. Has Favored Labor, They Say

Complain of Attention Shown to Unions—Eight Hour Day Policy Denounced.

OATS ARE AWAY UP AND MAY NOT COME DOWN

Advances of From Twelve to Fifteen Cents in the Past Few Weeks—Crop Shortage Said to be Cause.

A feature of the local produce market for some time past has been the boosting of prices in oats. Since last May the price has jumped in stages upon the market as yet and only a very small quantity of Upper Canadian new crops.

Usually at this time of year the coming of the new crop have retarded prices in this line. It is very doubtful if such will be the case this year; at any rate not falling off in price that will compare with that of other years.

Just to what the coming month of October will bring in the way of price is a matter of conjecture. At this date Manitoba oats are being quoted wholesale at 56c per bushel, delivered in St. John. Under the circumstances it would not be at all surprising to those interested if oats would be selling at 65c per bushel, wholesale, f. o. b. St. John before the week have passed. There is a feeling in some quarters that market prices will be partly responsible for the increase.

MERCHANT SHOT BY CARELESS COMPANION

QUEBEC, Sept. 25.—Atheletan Gaston, a retired merchant of Meadsville, Pa., was shot and almost instantly killed on Monday, by Mr. Johnson, of the same place. Both men were hunting on the Triton Club's preserves 35 miles north of this city. They wounded a moose, Johnson and the guides pursued it for a while leaving Gaston in a boat on the lake. After a while they abandoned the chase. Returning to the place where Gaston had been left, Johnson thought he saw a cartridge in the bushes. He fired at it twice. The second shot killed Gaston.

PHYSICAL TRAINING IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

HALIFAX, Sept. 24.—Details are now being arranged between the Militia Department and the provincial education authorities for a system of physical training in the schools of the province.

Sir Frederick Borden, minister of militia, and General Lake, chief of staff, had a conference with Dr. A. H. McKay, superintendent of education, and other educationists yesterday, at which the details were discussed.

The plans are for a system of physical culture and elementary military drill to be taught in the schools by the regular teachers, and the militia department undertakes to provide instruction for these teachers.

Sir Frederick Borden has always been in favor of having a system of physical culture for all children taught in the schools and has wished to combine with that, as the children get older, a system of elementary military drill, hoping to teach the children order, discipline and alertness as well as develop their bodies and also qualify them to defend the country should the necessity ever arise.

He has been in consultation with the educational authorities in the various provinces for some time and recently has had a conference with the Militia Department authorities.

The matter has been taken up by the general principle that drill and instruction should be carried out by the teachers, and the militia department would supply the proper military instruction and teach the teachers.

The instruction of teachers is to take the form of provisional qualifying instruction at the normal schools with the idea that a certificate of qualification to instruct in physical culture and military drill would in the future form part of the diploma of every teacher. Physical training is also present included in the curriculum of our schools, but hitherto scant attention has been paid to it, and no definite system of instruction has been instituted.

This work is to proceed side by side with the work of the Cadet Corps at the various schools, with the hope that it will lead to more interest being taken in the cadet companies.

Provision is to be made for the instruction of teachers who have already their diplomas, but are not qualified to give instruction in these branches and it is proposed to have special courses for them which would be held when and where most suitable.

The physical training is to embrace all children, boys and girls, with elementary drill added as they get older. Boys of about fourteen will be given instruction in arms and rifle practice will be given the older boys.

No special legislation will be necessary in Nova Scotia, as provision is made for this instruction.

A COMPLICATED CASE NOW IN COURT

Prominent People and a Large Amount of Money Involved. Creditors Bring Action Against Assignees and Trustees of Estey Estate and Bank of New Brunswick.

Suit is brought by A. H. P. Randolph, B. Edgemoor and Mabel Phillips on behalf of themselves and other unsecured creditors of Richard A. Estey against Allan H. P. Randolph, Hon. Fred B. Thompson and George McKean, assignees and trustees of the estate of Richard A. Estey, and John Estey, the complainant, and the People's Bank of New Brunswick. The estate has assets of approximately $400,000. The estate's liabilities are in the vicinity of $160,000. The object of this suit is to pass on the questions raised by four of the creditors as to their right to participate in the distribution of assets in property and preference to the general creditors. There was a contract between R. A. Estey and Mr. Moore made in Dec., 1903, by which Mr. Estey was to cut for Mr. Moore 4,000,000 feet of spruce on the Rockaway River on Crown lands. The license for these lands were at that time in the name of Mr. Moore, who had made advances to the extent of $40,000 or thereabouts on account. Mr. Moore claims that he is entitled to the 4,000,000 feet of logs. The general creditors claim that the estate is the owner of the logs and that Mr. Moore can rank against the estate solely in respect of the advances made on the contract.

Mr. McKean had a contract with Mr. Estey for the purchase of 3,000,000 of deals and his advances to Mr. Estey were in the vicinity of $20,000, made before Mr. Estey's assignment in 1904. His claim is that he is entitled to the deals according to the terms of his contract, and also according to the course of dealing between lumbermen and particularly between Mr. Estey and himself during the past years.

He seeks to have his claim to the deals specifically mentioned in the contract, declared by the court. The general creditors resist this claim on the ground that the deals belong to the assignees of the estate and that Mr. McKean can rank against the assets of the estate only to the extent of the advances made to Mr. Estey. The claim of the People's Bank is very much the same as Mr. McKean's, except that the contract was with Mr. Estey made with A. F. Randolph & Sons, who professed to be acting for the People's Bank. The bank claims that under the Bank Act it has a lien. The bank had advanced money to Mr. Estey to the extent of about $8,000 on Mr. Estey's contract to deliver to the bank 4,000,000 feet of spruce logs to be cut upon the Tobique, during the winter of 1903 and 1904. On the advice of the creditors the trustees have refused to recognize the bank's claim to such time as the People's Bank claim rests upon the convenants in a lease between himself and Estey. Mr. Thompson is the owner of the place upon which Mr. Estey's mill stood, when the premises were leased to Mr. Estey in 1892. There were then certain buildings on the premises which Senator Thompson valued at $2,000. Senator Thompson made additions to these buildings to the value of about $2,000, by fire in January, 1905. At that time the assignees were operating the mill and sawing up the Estey logs.

According to the terms of the lease all the buildings on the mill lot, whether there at the time the lease was erected by Estey while the lease was running were to become the absolute property of Senator Thompson. The mill buildings were not insured, but there was $7,000 insurance on the machinery and boilers, that amount was paid by the insurance companies to the assignees of Mr. Estey's estate. The assignees moreover provided that improvements were to be made by Mr. Estey in the way of wharves and water fronts, upon the mill lot to the value of $2,000, and by the terms of the lease these were to become the property of Senator Thompson at the expiration of the lease, which has yet several years to run. Senator Thompson claims that he is entitled to have the assignees carry out the covenants on the lease's part, and that he should be paid $5,000 for reinstating the mill and buildings in connection therewith, and also $2,000 because of the improvements, which should have been made by Mr. Estey, but which he failed to make, but says that the trustees might properly appropriate the $7,000 which they received from the insurance companies for that purpose.

This claim is resisted on the part of the general creditors, who say that Senator Thompson cannot claim for a breach of covenants in the lease until such time as the lease should be expired. Mr. H. Barry, K. C., appears for the plaintiffs and the unsecured creditors. Dr. A. O. Earle, K. C., is counsel with him, as against the special claimants excepting George McKean, Hon. A. S. White, K. C., and A. P. Barnhill, K. C., appear for John E. Moore, A. L. Trueman, K. C., and W. H. Trueman for Senator Thompson, J. A. McCready for the People's Bank, and Dr. A. O. Earle for George McKean. Today R. A. Estey, Moses Mitchell and Senator Thompson of Fredericton gave evidence. Counsel argued briefly. Judgment in reserve.

EXHIBITION WAS SUCCESS

Attendance at Fredericton Larger Than Ever Before

But Management is Disappointed at the Small Patronage Received from St. John

FREDERICTON, Sept. 22.—The best exhibition in Fredericton's history closed last evening. The total attendance for the week amounted to 25,443 as compared with 24,778 in 1919 and 25,615 in 1918.

Much disappointment is expressed at the small patronage received from St. John. The horse races brought a few hundred from the outside city, but outside of this the number of St. John visitors was comparatively small.

It is stated that a Liberal convention for this county will shortly be called for the nomination of a candidate for the Dominion House, and rumor is quite prevalent that E. H. Allen, at present agent of the I. C. R., will be the choice of the gathering.

Tomorrow is nomination day for Alderman of Carleton Place to fill the vacancy caused by Ald. Haslam's death.

GENERAL WILLIAM BOOTH WELCOMED TO ST. JOHN

Head of Salvation Army Tells of Its Success and the Great Work Which is Being Accomplished the World Over—Says He Has Decided to Live as Long as He Can—Excellence of Staff Band.

GENERAL WILLIAM BOOTH AND HIS DAUGHTER

(Saturday's Sun.)

Somewhat tired by the long journey from England, but in excellent health, General William Booth, founder and head of the Salvation Army, arrived in St. John at 10 o'clock last night to begin the campaign which in all human probability will be his last on this side of the water. About a thousand people were on hand to greet him, including several hundred members of the Salvation Army, and he received an enthusiastic reception. Mayor Sears read an address welcoming the General to the city. General Booth made a short reply, in which he referred to the pleasant memories of his former visits here and the satisfaction with which he regarded the work of the Army in Canada.

As soon as the train stopped, the Mayor entered General Booth's private car, accompanied by a number of prominent citizens, and by Colonel Pugmore, Brigadier Turner and Major Phillips of the Army. The Mayor cordially welcomed the General to the city, and those present were presented to him, after which the General left the car and proceeded by the Mayor and escorted by Commissioners Coombs and Nichol, proceeded to the western end of the platform. The General, the Mayor, Recorder Skinner and Commissioner Coombs stood upon a baggage truck, where the Mayor read his address.

On General Booth coming out of his car, he was greeted by rousing cheers, which continued as his tall and impressive figure appeared above the crowd. The General has aged somewhat since his last visit here. The fire and sparkle in his eye is as bright as ever, though, and his energy and enthusiasm in the great work which he has taken upon himself seem practically unimpaired. At 79 years of age he has undertaken this campaign, which might well daunt a younger man. Coming within the magic circle of his influence, watching the play of his features, and listening to his voice, one cannot help but marvel at the remarkable help and achievements of this man.

The Mayor's address was as follows: General William Booth, thoroughly in the communities and endeavored to so sensibly within the heart of the great world, that it would seem to belong to its very arterial system through which its virile blood courses in hearty, healthy measure.

Impressed more deeply than I can convey to you with that wonderful personal which God has given you with the power with which He has seen fit to clothe your efforts with the success that is carrying forward His mission through you, I feel a great pleasure in welcoming you on behalf of the citizens of St. John. I think there is not a single soul within this city, interested in your biography, but feels it an honor and a great privilege that has fallen to me in being here to greet you this evening.

I have been deeply interested in all your undertakings. Morally, socially, and religiously, they touch the springs from whence humanity imbibes, illustrating so beautifully the oft-forgotten fact, "The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man." Your long life has been a marvelous testimony; God grant that in His providence it may be vouchsafed for you to live to see yet larger and more glorious returns meet the noble ideals and plans you have set on foot, before you are called to your rest.

In the name of the fathers, mothers, husbands, wives and children of St. John, citizens without distinction of sect, creed or class, I extend to you a loyal greeting. Right here we take you into our hearts, and shall ever pray your continuing years may be full of happiness, and that their end may be peace.

Kindly accept this imperfect expression of our people's affectionate regard and believe me, dear General, with respect.

Very faithfully yours,
EDWARD SEARS, Mayor.

After the cheers which followed the reading of the Mayor's address had subsided, General Booth replied as follows:

"Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen, Comrades and Friends of this City: "I wish to thank you for the unexpected reception you have been pleased to give me. I thank you also, Mr. Mayor, for those kind and eloquent words, giving me the assurance of the pleasure with which you greet me on my return to your midst. The memories of my short sojourn here on that former occasion, and of the meeting which I was privileged to hold here have followed me, and I trust my present visit may be equally profitable to those whom I may have the privilege of addressing.

"At the close of a wearisome day on the land, after a tedious journey on the ocean, I am sure you will not expect a lengthy address from me. I expect to see all of you at the meeting tomorrow night, and a great many more on next Sabbath.

"With the assurance of the great pleasure I have in meeting you and of the satisfaction with which I regard the work of the Army in Canada, and the blessings which have followed that work, I again thank you for your greeting, shake hands with you, Mr. Mayor, and wish you all good night."

At the close of his address the General was enthusiastically cheered. He called for cheers for the Mayor, which were given.

Escorted by the Mayor, Commissioners Coombs and Nichol and the other members of his staff, and followed by the cheering crowds, the General then entered Dr. Eugsley's automobile and was conveyed to the residence of Joseph Bullock, Germain street. He will be Mr. Bullock's guest during his stay in the city.

Being wearied by the long journey, General Booth retired immediately on his arrival at Mr. Bullock's, and could not be seen. Commissioner Nichol said, however, that the ocean passage had been very disagreeable. Fog, rain and a cold breeze from the northeast were experienced. At the entrance to the Straits of Bellefleur a very unpleasant sea was encountered, and for two or three hours the Virginian was hoisted. The General, who is a philosophical sailor, accepted the situation in good spirits, lashed himself to a chair, and continued his literary and other labors in his cabin.

(Monday's Sun.)

General Booth was supposed to be resting on Saturday, but even when he rests he seems to accomplish much. He gave a lengthy interview to press representatives, received a large number of callers, attended to a lot of correspondence, and was almost continually in conference on Army work, with members of his staff and other officers.

The evening he conducted a rousing Army meeting in the auditorium of the new Army building.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock he presided for an hour to an audience of over a thousand persons in the Opera House. In the afternoon his lecture on The Secret of Success of the Salvation Army was heard by a gathering which filled the Opera House to its full capacity.

In the evening he addressed another large meeting in the Opera House.

Tonight General Booth will address the Canadian Club, at the luncheon to be given him by them in the Keith assembly rooms. His address will deal with some aspects of Army government and work in relation to the cultivation of thrift and industrial prosperity, and other points on which the work of the Army comes within the scope of the objects of the Canadian Club.

The great interest in General Booth's visit has been shown by his enthusiastic reception, the large numbers who have gathered to hear him on every occasion, and the close attention paid to every word he utters.

The playing of the Toronto headquarters staff band has been a feature of the General's meetings. The band is under the direction of Brigadier Howell, and led by Major Morris. It is a well balanced collection of instruments, and its performances show much talent and careful training. That the members of the band also know how to play is shown at the concert on Saturday night at King Square and last night's meeting at the Opera House.

Public Opinion

As evidence he would refer to public opinion—an unreliable and changeable quantity, but one which spoke with some authority.

Twenty-five years ago the Army had unfurled its flag in Australia. They had been given the opportunity of reaching the classes they desired to benefit, and what had been the result? On his recent visit he had been assured by governors, prime ministers, clergymen and others in a position to judge, some of whom did not approve of Army methods that the Army had been a great blessing, and those colonies which the Army's operations to the extent of about 2,000,000.

In the United States the Army had met with every kind of difficulty and opposition, but had fought on, until he had the assurance of President Roosevelt, that the Army's operations to the extent of about 2,000,000.

He had gone to Japan in doubt as to the reception he would get, other than from officers, soldiers, Christian missionaries and friends of philanthropic interests. He found the whole nation, from the emperor down, waiting to receive him, and the common people by whom he set most store, came by tens of thousands to bless him and the Army.

The Work in Germany

He would take the German nation as an instance. When the Army flag was unfurled the police regarded them as probable authors of confusion. The police arrested about 100,000 men, and would not allow them to play organ or even to clap their hands on the street—and what would an Army meeting be, without those demonstrations? They had fought their way, however, to what would become a parade of 100,000 men, and on his last visit he had preached to 5,000 people in the largest hall in the world, 2150 had been taken as an offering for his great salvation.

In England the principal civic authorities had told him of the great benefits of the Army's work. Oxford had honored him by conferring a degree on him, and he had received many assurances of sympathy from the King and Queen.

What had been done to secure these evidences of approval? What was the secret of the Army's success?

Secret of Army's Success

To an audience which packed the Opera House from pit to dome, General Booth spoke yesterday afternoon on The Secret of Success of the Salvation Army. He made all arrangements to his subject would be enough to draw an enormous audience anywhere, for who is more qualified to speak of the secret of the Army's success than the man in whose brain and heart the organization originated, who has seen his life to its growth and extension as a great agency for the moral and material uplifting of mankind?

Lieut. Gov. Tweedie presided, and welcomed General Booth to the province.

The general spoke for an hour and twenty minutes. He was listened to with rapt attention and frequently applauded.

At evidence that the Army has been successful, General Booth referred to public opinion in Britain, the United States, Germany and other countries, which from active opposition had become one of approval and acclaim.

At evidence that the Army has been successful, General Booth referred to public opinion in Britain, the United States, Germany and other countries, which from active opposition had become one of approval and acclaim.

Won't Die Till He Has To

There was the organization itself. It was a great movement which he did not believe earth or hell could ever destroy. There had been a good deal of talk about what would become of the Army when the General had passed away. Don't worry about the General. He had become possessed of the idea that his life was of some importance to his own people and to the world, and he would live as long as he possibly could. But if he were called away by the death angel, even from this city, the same electric flash that carried the news would also say, "Long live the General." He would make all arrangements generally possible that when one General stepped off the stage another would step on.

Is the Army worth keeping alive? Remember she is still in her infancy. It is only three years since she stood alone, and that is not a long period in the history of an organization. Only 42 years ago he did not know who would lend him a hand or give a shilling. Look at the Army today, and you will see the opposition and obstacles she had overcome. Saints and sinners had opposed her.

In 53 Countries

Today the Army flag is planted in fifty-three countries; other nations are begging them to enter, but their hands are tied by their steps stayed by the lack of suitable man and of money. Seven thousand five hundred separate societies preach salvation in thirty-two different tongues. There are 15,000 officers working to forward the movement. Five papers are published in seventeen different languages. Twenty thousand musicians, many raised from the lowest dregs of the people and taught every note of music they know, and march 7,000 miles a year in England, and play the glory of God—for no other reason than for any musical performance. He did not pretend their music was perfection, but they had lately received a high compliment. Bernard Shaw, who is not in sympathy with religion had said that so far as rendering religious music was concerned, the Army bands are at the top of the tree.

Army's Social Work

In social work the Army had 700 institutions, which housed about 22,000 homeless people every night. Six thousand unfortunate girls passed through their 130 rescue homes every year, two-thirds of them being permanent. There were the bureaus, homes, emigration efforts and a host of other agencies maintained by the Army. The organization is not only evidence of its success but is one of the secrets of its success.

General Booth next spoke of the Army's work among the churchless multitude. They were found everywhere. Even in Japan he had found people grown careless about their idols and looking for a new religion. Are these multitudes to be allowed to travel the dark precipitous and fall over the dark precipitous? The Army workers formed a mighty force to save souls, not because they were called to the appointed or paid, but for the love of God.

He felt that the Army had been a

The General's Address.

The topic, The Secret of Success of the Salvation Army, implied that the Army had been successful. They had done something, and his only regret was that he were not able to do more. It had not been every day, and always a success, because war meant disasters and backward movements as well as progress. He did not consider the Army the only organization in this world. What attracted the soldiers of the cross who had fought under other banners in days gone by, he claimed that in the estimation of the trust friends of mankind the Army in its particular sphere had been a success.

Helps to Wayward Girls

Proceeding, he said the Army had done something for the daughters of shame. Something like 40,000 girls had been rescued from a life which is the nearest thing to damnation.

Much had been done for the inebriate classes. He did not know the statistics of this province, but believed there were more than 100,000 in the world today than at any other period in its history. Much remained to be done, but a great host had been reclaimed. He mentioned the case of 25 men who had come to him for help. When he had told in detail of an incorrigible drunkard who had been handed over to the Army by an English magistrate. They had washed him and dressed him in a new coat, and he had become a different man. He had converted him to his wife. And then they had sent him to Canada, and the last the general had heard of him he was doing well. "He may become a Canadian millionaire, and then I do hope he won't forget the dear old general, who wanders about the world begging money from lieutenant governors and other millionaires."

The Criminal Classes

The work of the Army among the criminal classes and unemployed was next taken up by the general. The unemployed he divided into three classes: those who are not able to work, and those who are willing and able to work, but who cannot find work. Of the latter class the general said the nation owed them remunerative work, but where were they to find it? Not in the great cities, in the mines, nor in the great workshops, for they were overworked. The Army was experimenting with small land holdings in England, but if they could not find land enough there they could in the new land. They had sent 40,000 to Canada alone, and for the year had ten ships chartered, and expected to send 20,000 out. The only limitation to the work was the lack of means.

He would have to leave the last part of his topic untouched until he came to St. John again. He said that the Army had done something. They had set their hearts on helping the churchless crowd. The secret of their success was the power of Divine grace combined with human sympathy, and their methods, which were now being spoken by other organizations.

Speaking to his staff personally, he would say that they must not think the burden could be left upon the Army. All must do their share.

The general concluded with an eloquent appeal to the audience to help the Army here in Canada. Help with their prayers, their sympathy and their money.

At the conclusion of his address there was prolonged applause, after which a vote of thanks was moved by J. D. Hazen, M. P. P., and seconded by George Robertson, M. P. P., both speaking in highly appreciative words of the work of the Army and of General Booth.

After the vote of thanks to General Booth had been put by the Governor, and carried unanimously, a vote of thanks to the Governor for presiding had been proposed by the General and carried. The Doxology was sung, Commissioner Coombs read a benediction and the meeting closed.

MORNING AND EVENING SERVICES

Yesterday morning at the Opera House General Booth took as his text "I have done something to bring Canada before the world—at least before the people of Great Britain. I have discovered it to great masses of British people and have raised the conviction among thousands that here they may find homes and food. I have sent 40,000 people here in the last three or four years and will send out 20,000 more during the coming year, having already chartered ten steamers for a voyage."

"For fifteen years I have pleaded with the Dominion Government and with most of the Colonial governments to the effect that they were mistaken in asking for the young men with 2,000 in his pockets. I claim that it is not the class of people wanted, but those who would be more suited are men who come with no higher ambition than settling and becoming satisfied with sufficient to meet the wants of their families."

"Thousands of men who are working for only sufficient to satisfy their bare wants in England seek the necessary capital. They would gladly repay the amount necessary to effect their transportation, is to give up your sins and put away evil things."

The general concluded by inviting to the penitential form any who felt under conviction. Some 25 responded. The meeting was led by Commissioners Nichol and Coombs and Col. Pugmore, and the musical services by the headquarters staff band.

Yesterday evening the General took as his subject, "What Shall I do with Jesus?" The audience was immense. The Opera House was filled before the meeting opened, and over a hundred were turned away.

COLLINS SENTENCED TO BE HANGED NOVEMBER 15

The Prisoner Remained Absolutely Unmoved

Jury in the Third Trial in New Ireland Murder Case Found a Verdict of Guilty—Judge Hanington's Impressive Charge.

THOMAS F. COLLINS

HOPEWELL CAPE, via Albert, Sept. 24.—At four o'clock this afternoon Thomas F. Collins was for the second time sentenced to death for the murder of Mary Ann McAuley at New Ireland on the 20th of August last.

Pale but with marvellous composure, and motionless and erect of figure, the youthful prisoner stood in the dock and watched Judge Hanington as the fatal words were uttered, never once giving the slightest trace of emotion during the terrible ordeal. The trial, which has lasted seven days, has been carried through in a manner that has been creditable to all concerned, and the result would appear to be the only one that could reasonably be expected.

Judge Hanington's charge to the jury was most favorably commented upon, and was certainly a model of impartiality. The counsel for the defense considered it absolutely fair and satisfactory.

After the opening of court, Judge Hanington began his charge to the jury, speaking for one hour and a quarter.

He first impressed the twelve men in whose hands the prisoner's fate rested with the very grave responsibility that lay on their shoulders, stating that they must decide as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner at the bar who was charged with the awful crime of murder. As it was for the judge to decide as to the law, it was for the jury to determine the facts, which had been presented in the case before them by the Hon. Solicitor General in a most thorough and capable manner. His honor complimented Mr. McKewen, senior counsel for the defense, and thought it did him and his associate, Mr. Sherren, credit to undertake and carry out the defence of the prisoner, unremunerative as the task had been, and that he would further do for their client, than they had done.

In proceeding, his honor urged that nothing that he had heard of or concerning the former trials, or any outside information, whatever should be considered by the jury, but that they should give their verdict entirely on the evidence presented to them. The blood of the victim of this terrible crime cries for vengeance, and they must put out of their minds anything that would tend to prevent them from giving an honest, sincere verdict on the evidence heard. His honor dwelt on the matter of capital punishment, saying it was not only the law of the British Empire but the law of Almighty God, and he wished to impress them that so far as the penalty was concerned they had nothing whatever to do with it. His honor dwelt quite lengthily on the question of circumstantial evidence, claiming that as with direct evidence, its value depended on the credibility of the witness. The law requires that there shall be no reasonable doubt before the conviction is made, this not meaning any fanciful or fictitious doubt, but there were any reasonable doubt in their minds as to the guilt of the prisoner at the bar he should get the benefit of it, but if as practical men they considered there was no reasonable doubt they must give their verdict.

The judge referred to the famous Munroe trial, where a chain of circumstantial evidence had proved sufficient to convict. Instances also were cited where direct evidence had failed owing to the fact of the witness being discredited. His honor went briefly into the details of the murder and said the jury must draw their own conclusions. In connection with Collins' movements on the morning of the murder his honor impressively asked the question, "Where did the prisoner pack his goods which were found in the valises in his possession?"

"Would he pack them at the house of the prisoner?" Miss McAuley, a strong, active woman, were there at the time alive and well, and he knew it? "Was this reasonable?" It was also for them (the jury) to say, not for him. It was also for them to say whether the prisoner, who certainly committed theft, was also the person who had the bloody axe and broke in the doors. They should inquire of themselves if there were any other reasonable hypothesis that that set up by the crown. If there were they might reasonably acquit the prisoner, but if on the other hand they saw no other rational conclusion, they should find the prisoner guilty.

His honor also traced the prisoner's movements and told the jury to ask themselves whether they considered the prisoner was at the priest's house when the murder was committed, referring in this connection to the evidence of the medical man, who stated that in their opinion the victim had been dead 48 hours when the body was viewed on Wednesday morning. His honor, in conclusion, admonished the jury to do what was right in their own consciences, and he trusted God would enable them to do their duty.

For absolute fairness and impartiality, his honor's address was beyond criticism.

At the conclusion of the judge's charge, at ten minutes to eleven the jury retired to the jury room and at one o'clock court was adjourned to meet at 2.30. At this hour his honor resumed his seat and at once instructed Sheriff Lynds to inquire of the jury if they had arrived at a verdict.

The sheriff in a few moments returned to the room and reported that the jury had reached a verdict and were ready to come out. The prisoner was ordered to be brought into court, and the jury, in charge of the constables, filed into the court room and took their places in the box, while intense silence fell on the throng of people that filled the building. All eyes were turned to the prisoner, who stepped lightly into the dock, laid down his cap and took his seat. He showed a consciousness of the presence of a supreme moment, but in the trying hour when the tick of the clock would tell his fate his wonderful nerve did not forsake him. With a composure that was simply marvellous he watched the jury as Clerk of the Court Dixon asked the momentous question: "Gentlemen, do you find the evidence to be true and correct?"

Not a muscle of the prisoner's face moved as he listened to the words of Foreman Newman Beryman, "Yes, Guilty."

His honor on hearing the verdict at once remanded the prisoner until four o'clock, when sentence would be pronounced. At that hour the prisoner again took his place in the dock, when his honor in a low voice, with evident emotion, proceeded to pronounce the terrible words that condemned the youthful prisoner to death on the gallows.

Before the judge began his address the prisoner was asked if he had any explanation to make. He had none, and he replied that he had none. His honor, addressing Collins, told the prisoner that he had been indicted for the murder of Mary Ann McAuley, and after a fair trial by an independent jury had been found guilty, a verdict in which, he, the judge, entirely agreed, as any reasonable person must.

The result was that the prisoner's life was forfeited for the awful crime. He had had astute and able counsel and had found that in this country there was honest and efficient administration of justice that did not fail. "You were taken," his honor said, "into the service of Father McAuley, a warm hearted and kind clergyman, and there in the quiet hours of morning while the priest who treated you as a guest and whose house you believed your trust and took an innocent life, striking down most ruthlessly a lone and defenceless woman. I do not know how you could be betrayed into the morning of the murder, I implore you now to seek forgiveness of Almighty God and prepare for that moment a few weeks hence when you must stand before your Maker, with all kindness and earnestness to seek repentance and that consolation which is not withheld from the vilest by the blessed God, who said, 'Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow, though they be red like crimson they shall be as wool.' Yes, though as red as the blood of that sacrificed woman whose life you took away, you have only a short time to live, and I implore you to make good use of that time."

"It is now my solemn and imperative duty to pronounce upon you the sentence of the court, which is that you shall be taken hence to the place from whence you came and there kept in close confinement until Friday the 15th day of November when you will be taken to the place of execution and hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul."

The prisoner stood firmly erect with his eyes steadfastly fixed on the judge's face, apparently unmoved, and after sentence was pronounced was taken back to jail.

The crime for which Collins has been three times tried and twice found guilty was committed on Sunday, August 20th, 1906. The victim was Mary Ann McAuley, eldest of Father McAuley, of New Ireland, Albert

FAIRVILLE MAN WAS BROWNED AT ST. STEPHEN

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., Sept. 24.—A tragedy enacted here at an early hour this morning is traceable directly to the drink evil. William P. Cowie, employed during the past two years as engineer on the steamer Viking, has been drinking heavily of late, so much so that his engagement with the steamer boat people had terminated and he was to have left for his home in Fairville today. Soon after midnight Officer McClure found him on Water street in a demented condition, and took him to the lockup where the services of a physician were secured. Cowie pleaded earnestly for permission to go aboard the steamer and refused to take the physician's medicine unless this permission was granted. Officer McClure escorted him to the boat, where the crew was at work loading freight, and he was placed in his bunk and soon appeared to be asleep. The crew watched at his room as well as possible but on a trip to his door at about two o'clock discovered that his berth was empty. Nobody had heard a splash, but Capt. Richardson ran to the stern of the boat and soon heard a cry from Cowie and saw him drifting rapidly down stream. A strong current was running at the time. A boat was quickly lowered and search commenced but before he could be reached the unfortunate fellow had disappeared beneath the waves. The body was recovered about eight o'clock this morning within a few hundred yards of the steamer. Captain Lawson viewed the remains, but considered an inquest unnecessary. The body was placed in charge of J. R. Sedgwick's undertaker, to await instructions from relatives. Mr. Cowie was twenty-six years of age and unmarried.

Three brothers and four sisters survive. George W. Cowie, of the steamer Westport, is a brother; as are John, of the steamer Acadia, and Alexander P., captain of the Arthur, the Dominion Pulp Company's steamer at Chatham. The six sisters are: Mrs. Strothart, Chatham; Mr. Wm. Berrett, and Mrs. Annie Jackson, of Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. Ernest Scott, of Fairville; Mrs. Melbourne Watson, Manawagonish road, and Mrs. F. Brown, in the west. Mr. Cowie left for St. Stephen last evening to attend to the removal of the remains.

What Many Men Need DR. HAMILTON HAS A PRESCRIPTION THAT "SETS" YOU RIGHT UP.

When a man has lost ambition to "dig in" and stay at things—when he complains of headache, fullness in the right side, pains in the shoulder blade—it's purely a case of "Liver."

These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half paralyzed.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver into activity in one night. Being a mild vegetable laxative, they produce results in a few hours. The bilious headaches and constipation are cured, the spirits rise, complexion clears, animation returns. Nothing in the calendar so efficient for that tired, lazy feeling as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Very mild, don't interfere with work, invariably do lots of good. Try a 25c. box; all dealers.

WEDDING AND GOLDEN WEDDING WERE OBSERVED ON THE SAME DAY

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N. S., Sept. 24.—On Thursday last an interesting event took place at Digby, when the marriage was solemnized of Clara Clyde Robbins, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Robbins of Rossway, to Miss Janet Augusta Cowan of Digby. The ceremony was performed in Trinity church at noon, Rev. H. H. Stanley officiating. The bride was attired in white silk and was given away by her brother, J. Leigh Cowan of Boston, Miss Helen Cowan, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and was attired in pale blue. The wedding march was played by Miss Kathleen Vieta, about 3.30 the bridal party and a large number of guests left for the home of the groom at Rossway, where the groom's parents celebrated their golden wedding, the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, which took place at Rossway, the knot which has remained so firm for half a century being tied by Rev. Mr. Claff. The ceremony took place in the Episcopal church at Rossway. Luncheon was served during the evening, more than fifty guests partaking of a sumptuous repast, Mr. and Mrs. Robbins showing that kind hospitality for which they have been noted all through life, and which has won them hundreds of friends. Appropriate remarks were made by Rev. H. A. Harley. He spoke about the faithful work of the aged couple in church circles, referred to the groom's connection with the church, how the bride had assisted in the work in Digby and elsewhere, and how regularly she had been in Holy Trinity choir when in town, and how she would be missed.

Jacob Corvelli Robbins, who is a son of the late John Robbins of Yarmouth, was born in Waterford, Digby county, August 23rd, 1829. His wife, Mrs. Charlotta Victoria Robbins, is a daughter of the late Robert K. Timpany, and was born in Rossway February 25th, 1836.

NEWFOUNDLAND KICKING AGAIN OVER FISHERIES ARRANGEMENT

ST. JOHN'S, N. E., Sept. 24.—A command that the imperial authorities now assert that an old British act fully sanctions the modus vivendi of 1905. The newspaper declares that the act of 1819 was passed when fishing admirals ruled the colony and their constitutional government was devised. The paper berates the cabinet and asks them to repudiate the act, and appeal to the clear autonomous colonies in the British Empire to take action toward vindicating the rights of colonial peoples. The Telegram in a long denunciation of the order in council, passes it as a practical suspension of the constitution.

The imperial act of 1915 empowered the cabinet to enforce the law through the agency of orders in council. The Newfoundland cabinet contends that the treaty of 1819 does not allow Americans to hire colonial fishermen and that therefore the latest order is unlawful. It has been submitted to the Hague tribunal for judgment, the imperial authorities having agreed to abide by its decision.

GIVES DAMAGES TO LORD ASHTOWN THE PROPER APPLICATION FOR ALIEN LABOR LAW

Court Awards Seven Hundred Dollars and Costs for Alleged Outrage With a Bomb. Judge Choquette Decides Against Unions in the Case Against the Car Company.

WATERFORD, Ireland, Sept. 24.—Lord Ashtown has been allowed $700 and costs in a suit for compensation growing out of the explosion of a bomb in his hunting lodge near Clonmel the night of August 13.

Lord Ashtown is one of the landlords whose activity in the cattle grazing war has aroused bitter animosity. He was asleep in the lodge at the time of the explosion. He has characterized the outrage as an attempt to kill him, and declared that it was the work of persons from the West of Ireland.

The trend of the defense was in support of thinly veiled allegations that Lord Ashtown himself planned the explosion of the bomb, and this with the police report suggesting that the alleged bomb had been prepared within His Lordship's own residence, drew great attention to the case from all over the United Kingdom.

Much of the evidence was contradictory, and there was stubborn swearing to alleged facts by both sides. Judge Baggard declared the outrage to be malicious and said there was no foundation for allegations against Lord Ashtown.

The defense was conducted by Timothy Healey, nationalist member of parliament for the North District of Ireland, and brilliant counsel were engaged on both sides.

LOCAL MATTERS OF INTEREST.

SATURDAY

Under the terms of the new Dominion Inspection Act, an inspector will be maintained at the factory of the Sussex Packing Co. Mr. Edgett, of Moncton, has been appointed to the position by the Department of Agriculture, at a salary of $1,200 per annum. It is understood that he will move to Sussex—Sussex Record.

The newly instituted time table on the Shore Line was not conceived with any friendly feeling towards the St. John people. So long as the road was but a bye word and reproach and unfit to handle traffic in safety, the trains were run into and out of St. Stephen. Now that it has been placed in a decent chair and the station established in the centre of the town, its train service has been so arranged as to carry the purchasing public from along its line away from St. Stephen and into St. John, a condition that cannot easily be tolerated. The new arrangement also practically deprives this town of one mail per day to St. John. Under the old arrangement, we had a train in the morning and one at night to St. John on the C. P. R. and an afternoon train to St. John via the Shore Line. Now the Shore Line train and C. P. R. morning train leave at practically the same hour and there is no afternoon service. The condition that should receive prompt consideration from the local board of trade—Courier.

An interesting case is that of a little boy of about five years of age and who is of English parents and who had been adopted by one of the members of the Assyrion colony. This lad cannot speak English at all, but can speak as well in the Assyrion language as any ordinary child of five can speak in the English language. Another five year old boy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, both Assyrions and living in the Assyrion colony, is unable to speak in the language of her parents, but is a good talker for her age, in the English language. In appearance the little girl is clearly an Assyrion, but she is unable to speak in her own language being brought with her own people, where it is talked a large part of the time. She acquired however, the English language, which she speaks for a short time in the children's convent, and now when her people try to get her to talk their own language she refuses to do so.

A few days ago The Sun published a paragraph stating that an English young man who had escaped from a mill while under arrest for rape. A letter has been received signed by five young ladies and a young man of that town saying they had actually under arrest, and further stating that the girl was "sixteen years of age, and there was no rape about it." They admit, however, that the constable stopped a couple of teams in search of the party accused of the offense, but say he was not justified in doing it.

The New Brunswick board of fire underwriters have placed a rating on the new school house. The rate granted is 50 cents on the building and 70 cents on contents, or $1.20 and $1.40 for three years. It is understood that this is the lowest rate given on any building in the town, which speaks volumes for the quality of the structure. The rate on the old building was $1.20 and $1.40 for three years. It has been effected—Sussex Record.

The police are still seeking for the thieves who stole the safe from J. S. Gibson and Co.'s office some time ago. The police suspect two men who were seen driving on Charlotte street early before the time of the break. The circumstantial evidence against the men is said to be fairly strong, but direct evidence is still lacking.

MONDAY

The Grand Bay mill was burned to the ground at noon today. A barn in the rear of the building was also destroyed but up to 2 o'clock, with the fire house, the mill was in the vicinity of the mill had escaped. The mill was formerly the property of Dunn Bros. and was sold about a year ago to George Dunn. It has not been burning for two years. The mill was bought in last year for $7,000, but is valued at about $15,000. The wind is blowing into Grand Bay, so that the house master will probably escape with the mill was one of the older type of saw mills and contained a gang saw, lathe machine, patent edger and box machine. The capacity would be in the vicinity of 50,000 feet of lumber and $5,000 lath per day. The mill formerly employed about sixty men.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The mill was insured for $100,000 as follows: Commercial Union, $5,000; Norwich Union, $2,000; Richmond and Drummond Co., $2,000; Royal, $2,000.

It is not often that a man over ninety years of age is arrested in this city for drunkenness, but this was the age given by Denny McCarron, arrested last night by Officers Brown and Ward on a charge of drunkenness. The aged man went bitterly because he should have to be placed behind prison bars bearing the burden of his advanced years. Once behind the bars the prisoner had more time to consider his situation, and then he confessed that he had become a little muddled about his age and that his imprisonment for that he was only 27 years old. His condition, it is said, during the last three weeks had been such that even the best mathematician might slip a cog.

The boys, Cornelius Doyle, Florence Crowley and another named Travis, lately involved in an air gun on an outlay of $1.25, spent yesterday getting in practice on Pond street and the vicinity. Going to the yard of the Webber house they also practiced until they unfortunately took Herman, who was considerably younger than the others, as their target. Upon police intervention the gun was passed over to Mrs. Doyle, who promised that she would have it destroyed if it was used hereafter except on the wild denizens of the forest. The chief damage which Herman suffered was the indignity to his feelings. The big game season has commenced in earnest. Moose and venison are now on the market, and yesterday three boys brought down a youthful companion with an air gun in a yard off George street. As a result the father of Herman Webber made a complaint to the police charging them with shooting Herman in the arm and the report on the police books was made against the boys by Officer Ross.

The Rev. Archbishop McDonald of Grace Harbor, Newfoundland, preached a very eloquent sermon in St. John the Baptist church yesterday morning, taking his text from St. Matthew 23rd chapter 8 verses 12 and 13, "Ye are the light of the world, as long as ye stand in the light, ye shall be the light of the world." The sermon was an exposition of the beauty of the Redeemer's human character.

His grace will leave by the steamer Victoria for Fredericton this morning, this being his first trip up the St. John river in thirty-five years. He will be accompanied by Rev. Father Chapman. There was no further advance in the flour and meal prices yesterday. The market held strong, however, and a further advance is almost certain as wheat is booming in a remarkable manner. December wheat closed yesterday at 197-8, a very high figure. The enormous advance in flour and meal prices is perhaps best illustrated by the fact that a local firm bought a consignment of flour at $1.15 per barrel higher than they paid last May. One mill in Manitoba is quoting oatmeal at $1.45 per barrel higher than in May.

The two men who stole the bicycles from R. D. Cole's on Monday are now supposed to be in the United States. On Tuesday evening two men answering to the description of these men boarded the Boston train and paid their way to Vancouver.

J. A. Springour of Amherst, who has during the summer been occupying the pulpit of the Presbyterian church in St. Martins, preached at both services at Calvin church yesterday in an able manner. Rev. Word reached this city last night of the death in Sackville of Mrs. Joseph VanDine, mother of Mrs. Palmer, wife of J. M. Palmer, principal of the M. A. Allison Academy. Mrs. VanDine was seventy-four years of age. She belonged to Fredericton, was visiting her daughter at the time of her death. She had been in ill health for some time. Her husband represented St. Ann's ward, Fredericton, in the city council. Miss Minnie VanDine, of Fredericton is a daughter.

The Dominion government geological work for this section has been completed for this season. Surveys have been made on the outskirts of the city in many directions. E. P. Curtis has imported from England a Rex de Lupe motor cycle. The machine, which cost 50 guineas in England, and well on to $100 more in freight and duty, is superior to any of the motor cycles at present in use in this city. It has a 51-3 horse power engine and all the latest features.

At the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. (St. John, North), the following ladies were appointed delegates to attend the provincial convention to be held at St. Stephen the first week in October: Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Patterson delegates. Mrs. James McAvity, Mrs. Starkey, Mrs. J. E. Eagles and Mrs. W. Myles, superintendents of departments.

It is a pleasure to see among the names of those awarded prizes at the Fredericton exhibition many from this province. The success of our stock breeders is all the more gratifying because, owing to various circumstances, they are more or less handicapped when competing with the wealthy stock raisers of the larger provinces. But they make a good showing every time.

Dr. Ami of the geological survey, who spent some weeks in August going over the Pictou coal fields, said that all the former reports would have to be rewritten. Dr. Ami says the field is much more extensive than was supposed and says that a bore hole should be put down near the Stellarton pumping station to determine if the Eastmond seam extends across the Eastmond river. If the seam can be tapped there the Albion seams may extend as far as the Vale. The cost of the bore hole would probably be less than $7,500. To this the local government ought to contribute $5,000, the Acadia $2,000, the Intercolonial $1,000, and the Road Commission $500. If the growing belief that all the seams cross the river can be confirmed it will mean more than can be calculated for Pictou county and the province.—Mining Record.

THURSDAY

That New Brunswick can grow as good pears as any province in the Dominion was illustrated on Monday, when D. J. Purdy received a barrel of pears which were shipped from Harry Orchard at White's Cove, Queens county. The fruit was considered to be the finest every received by any grower in the North End, or in fact in any part of the city. Yesterday a lot of people interested in fruit growing visited Mr. Purdy's store and expressed much admiration at the barrel of beauties. One of the pears, and which was by no means the biggest but of only the average size, weighed twelve ounces.

The Maritime Baptists will this year endeavor to raise $40,000 for foreign missions, this being an increase of $12,000 over any previous year. In connection with this work Rev. W. V. Higgins, foreign mission secretary for the Maritime Baptists, who succeeds Dr. Manning in that position, will make his first visit to St. John on Saturday night in October and will preach in Main street Baptist church.

Thomas Anderson, a brakeman on the I. C. R., who has been boarding at the Victoria Hotel, fell from the St. John train on Saturday night and sustained rather severe injuries. He was taken to the hotel where he remained until today, when it was deemed advisable to remove him to the hospital. Surgeon General Berriman has given a permit for the burial of the unknown man found in a ditch off the Marsh road. The body will be buried this morning in the Potter's field.

The Fredericton Gleaner says: The University Engineers who have been camping at Oranocote during the past two weeks in charge of Prof. Perrott, pulled down their tents yesterday afternoon and bade good-bye to the "hot bed" for another year. They returned to their city homes last evening, and report having had one of the best outings held in a long while. All have a good word for Prof. Perrott, and three of the classes at least hope to be with him again next year.

The Express returned last evening from Vancouver, B. C., where it had been for some months past connected with the C. P. R. telegraph offices. Mr. Fraser was formerly in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city, but some months ago accepted a position with the C. P. R. and went west. He expects to return about the middle of October.—Fredericton Gleaner.

Clarke and Adams expect to strike No. 3 crib of the new wharf tomorrow. This crib goes in from the C. P. R. and forms a third of the southerly part of the new wharf. The site of the No. 3 crib is also pretty well advanced, and if all goes favorably it will be placed in a few weeks.

The regular meeting Tuesday evening, Granite Rock division, S. of T., elected the following officers for the ensuing quarter: E. S. Henniger, W. P. D. Thomas, R. S. Mrs. Henniger, A. R. S. An accident at the Portland Rolling Mills had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon. As a red hot bar of steel came through the rolls he went to catch it with tongs. He missed it, and the bar continued to curl up, in jumping back to get out of its way he tripped, and the bar struck him, inflicting severe burns on his back and one of his arms. He was able to walk home, accompanied by another workman.

Mrs. David Raymond, a widow residing at Middle Sunday, was seized with paralysis on Sunday. Neighbors found her lying unconscious in a garden. She was promptly cared for and recovered her senses in a short time, but one side of her body is completely paralyzed. She is 72 years old and has been alone with her son who is a helpless invalid.—Woodstock Dispatch.

The dulse industry is an important feature of Grand Manan's business. The best dulse is picked on the shore at White Cove, near the fog whistle. Mr. Thomas is the dulse plant in this locality, though a large business is done by J. R. Moores and others. The value of the island crop is estimated at about $5,000. There seems to be little danger of the time of this business, as the dulse plant is very prolific and will renew itself in a fortnight after being picked.—Beacon.

A party of yachtsmen lying at a point just above the Mansion House, Robbinston, arose between five and six Wednesday morning, and on looking across the bay saw a cow moose take water at Brandy Cove, St. Andrews, and head for the Robbinston shore. The animal was a monster, and would weigh about 1,500, and came across the bay at steamboat speed. She landed on the Robbinston shore, shook herself, and trotted off into the woods. Although the distance is three miles, the animal appeared fresh and vigorous when she landed.—Caledonian Advertiser.

Some fine moose, deer and caribou heads arrived by Canadian Express today at noon, assigned to Emack Bros. A fair sized moose head from an animal shot by Mr. Albert Fitz, New York, who went into the Miramichi woods with R. Morehouse as guide, is among the lot, and also a small deer head, taken by the same gentleman. Mr. T. N. Vincent has sent in the head of a moose, shot at Grand Brook, Gloucester County, and another head taken at the same place belongs to Mr. Weldon. While returning from St. George, N. B., on Monday last, when off Clam Cove, Deer Island, the trim little steam tug Mizpah, owned by the Deep Cove Manufacturing Co., had an experience with a man-of-war whale which rose just under her bow, nearly capsizing the little craft. He was a good-natured fellow, however, often splashing about for a few minutes, throwing great volumes of water over the somewhat alarmed occupants of the boat, blew a great waterspout into the air and disappeared. Had the great fish come up directly under the little steamer she would have in all probability been turned over, as the whale is reported to have been very nearly her size.—Sentinel.

E. T. P. Shewen, engineer of the public works department, and R. E. Armstrong, of St. Andrews, were passengers by Friday's steamer. The alarm was given and the nurses, seizing fire buckets, went willingly to work. By the time the city firemen arrived the blaze was under control. The patients were kept in ignorance of what was going on.

Grand Lodge of New Brunswick, delivered an address in the Methodist church here last night, which was listened to with much interest. The wind and rain storm of Monday night was one of the most violent with which this section has been visited in a long time. Rain fell in torrents, practically all day Monday and Monday night, and the downpour, and the flow from the mountain streams. On the marshes, where the haymakers have been struggling against the most adverse weather conditions, hundreds of haycocks were blown down, and the water when day dawned yesterday, the conditions today being very little better. Not for many years has there been such an unfavorable harvest season, and the outlook is discouraging. The storm this week also did considerable damage to the roads.

PUTS THE "GINGER" IN

The Kind of Food Used by Athletes

"While I was training on the track athletic team, my daily 'jogs' became a task, until after I was put on Grape-Nuts food for two weeks I felt like a new man. My digestion was perfect, nerves steady and I was full of energy.

"I trained for the mile and the half mile runs (those events which require so much endurance) and then the long daily 'jogs' which before had been such a task, were clipped off with ease. I won both events.

"The Grape-Nuts food put me in perfect condition and gave me my 'ginger.' Not only was my physical condition made perfect, and my weight increased, but my mind was made clear and vigorous so that I could get out my studies in about half the time formerly required. Now most all of the University men use Grape-Nuts for they have learned its value, but I think my testimony will not be amiss and may perhaps help some one to learn how the best results can be obtained.

There's a reason for the effect of Grape-Nuts food on the human body and brain. The certain elements in wheat and barley are selected with special reference to their power for rebuilding the brain and nerve centres. The product is then carefully and scientifically prepared so as to make it easy to digest. The physical and mental results are so apparent after two or three weeks' use as to produce a profound impression. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

WATCHING TRIP OF LUSITANIA

Canadian Government Giving Her Close Attention

All-Red Line Project the Reason—No Word from British Government in Regard to Subsidy.

OTTAWA, Sept. 25.—The Canadian government is giving close attention to the performance of the new Cunarder Lusitania in view of the All-Red Line project. The success of the turbine principle in developing speed is expected to give an added stimulus to the project which Sir Wilfrid has at heart and may result in the placing on the route between Canada and Great Britain of steamers of twenty-five knots speed.

Up to the present time there has been no word from the British government as to the share of the subsidy for the line which they are prepared to assume. The London authorities have still under consideration the advantages which may be realized and the cost of the project, and it is anticipated that they may be heard from at any time. When the All-Red route is finally organized it is expected that both the C. P. R. and the Allans will be represented. The growth of the trans-Atlantic business makes it certain that there will be plenty of passengers and express freight for the steamers of the new line and for the existing steamers as well.

SYNOD TO TO BU

Committee on the Charge Make an Report—Such Done at This Session.

At this morning's session a telegram received from Coadjutor Bishop from St. John was presented. It was grateful for the loving sympathy. I pray that you may promote the honor and the furtherance of His Very Reverend Bishop's benevolent report of the memorial.

REV. THOS. NE. He spoke of the life of Rev. Thomas Neales, a history of his life work good he had done and that had given to many.

He then treated of the personality of the deacon who "was called man." There was no "right hand" or to the "flesh" in the living flock who are living knowledge of God.

The resolution passed the late Archbishop Neales. This Synod would be its tribute of respect to one who in all the past as pastor and teacher, whom he came in contact with Thomas Neales, M. C. of Fredericton.

"Ordained a deacon on 1888 and priest on September by Bishop Medley, he was a devout and a devoted pastor and afterwards a Parish of Woodville, M. C. of Fredericton.

"His advancement to first as Canon of Christ Church and later as Archbishop, was a recognition of a life consecrated to his Lord and Master. His many excellent qualities, his modest, unassuming character and benevolence—about charity which thinketh not of the high regard and whether in the General Diocesan Synods of the more arduous administration of his parish, where he was the faithful pastor and friend of his people.

"His beautiful life has given us an object we all may well follow. Exemplar—our Lord Jesus Christ.

A resolution was also presented by the synod preceding his death. A resolution was also presented by the synod preceding his death. A resolution was also
