OTTAWA, THURSDAY, 7TH NOVEMBER, 1940

This being the day on which Parliament is convoked by Proclamation of the Governor General for the despatch of business, and the members of the House being assembled:—

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter which he had received:—

GOVERNMENT HOUSE

OTTAWA

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNOR GENERAL

SIR,—I have the honour to inform you that His Excellency the Governor General will arrive at the Main Entrance of the Houses of Parliament at 3 p.m. on Thursday the 7th November next, and, when it has been signified that all is in readiness, will proceed to the Senate Chamber to open the Second Session of the Nineteenth Parliament of Canada.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

A. S. REDFERN, Secretary to the Governor General.

The Honourable J. A. Glen,

Speaker of the House of Commons, Ottawa.

14875-1

A Message was delivered by Major A. R. Thompson, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod:-

Mr. SPEAKER.

His Excellency the Governor General desires the immediate attendance of this Honourable House in the Chamber of the Honourable the Senate.

The House attended accordingly; and being returned,

Mr. Mackenzie King introduced a Bill, No. 1, An Act respecting the administration of Oaths of Office, which was read the first time.

Mr. Speaker reported, That when the House did attend His Excellency the Governor General this day in the Senate Chamber, His Excellency was pleased to make a speech to both Houses of Parliament, and to prevent mistakes, he had obtained a copy which he read to the House as follows:-

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

Since last you met for deliberation, all countries have come to have a clearer conception of the magnitude of the present conflict and its menace to civilization. Additional nations have been threatened with war, or have become involved in war. But little of freedom is now left in Europe. Force and fear have been supplemented by subtle intrigue. International tension has been heightened by the formation of an alliance between the Axis powers and Japan.

While these events have added enormously to the uncertainties of the world situation, other events of even greater significance have served to confirm our confidence in the ultimate outcome of the struggle. First and foremost has been the magnificent resistance of the United Kingdom. For four months, Britain has constituted the front line of battle against the forces of aggression. The spectacular advance of the enemy has been halted by the indomitable spirit of her people.

The destruction of freedom throughout Europe has awakened, in the Western Hemisphere, a fuller consciousness of the Nazi menace. In the face of the common peril there has arisen a closer association and an increasing measure of co-operation between the United States of America and the nations of the British Commonwealth.

You have been summoned at this time that opportunity may be afforded for the fullest consideration and discussion of Canada's war effort and of national problems which war has served to intensify or create. You will be fully advised of international developments; of Canada's co-operation with the United Kingdom, and of relations with the United States. The measures which will be submitted to you are such as seem necessary to My Advisers for the welfare of the country, and for the prosecution of the war to the utmost of our strength.

Members of the House of Commons:

You will be asked to make financial provision for expenditure caused by the state of war which now exists. The estimates for the current fiscal year will be duly submitted to you for your consideration and approval.

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

In the discharge of your very responsible duties may Divine Providence guide and bless your deliberations.

A.D. 1940

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was ordered,—That the Speech of His Excellency the Governor General to both Houses of Parliament be taken into consideration on Friday next, and that this order have precedence over all other business except the introduction of Bills, Government Notices of Motion and Government Orders, until disposed of.

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King, a Special Committee consisting of Messrs. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), Casgrain, Casselman (Grenville-Dundas), Taylor and Johnston (Bow River), was appointed to prepare and report, with all convenient speed, lists of Members to compose the Standing Committees of this House under Standing Order 63.

Mr. Mackenzie King, delivered a Message from His Excellency the Governor General, which was read by Mr. Speaker, as follows:—

ATHLONE.

The Governor General transmits to the House of Commons a certified copy of an approved Minute of Council appointing the Honourable T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines and Resources, the Right Honourable Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, the Honourable J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, and the Honourable J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, to act with the Speaker of the House of Commons as Commissioners for the purposes and under the provisions of Chapter 145 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, initialed: "An Act respecting the House of Commons."

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was ordered,-That when this House adjourns on Friday the 8th of November, it stand adjourned until Tuesday, the 12th of November, 1940.

Mr. Speaker laid before the House the Report of the General Librarian of Parliament, which is as follows:-

To the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons:

The General Librarian of Parliament has the honour to submit the Report on the Library for 1940.

The Supplementary Catalogue of books donated and purchased during 1940 will be issued early in 1941.

Through the co-operation of the Minister of Public Works very important and much needed improvements have been made in the library heating system as well as in the lighting, and the antiquated fire-protection devices have been replaced by up-to-date equipment.

Considerable relief from the congested condition of the library has been afforded through the transfer of 80,000 Sessional Papers to the new Records Building; but lack of space still remains an acute problem.

There has been a very large decrease in the vote available for the purchase of books, and war taxes have added to their cost. The strictest economy has therefore been used, especially in the purchase of lighter literature. A number of important books relating to various aspects of the war and to the special needs of Parliament have, however, been added to the Library. Despite the difficulties and hazards of ocean transportation no official papers or documents of Great Britain or the Dominions have been lost or unduly delayed.

War conditions and greatly advanced prices make it increasingly difficult to procure French books.

A.D. 1940

A list of donations will appear in the Supplementary Catalogue. It should be pointed out that many of these donations are received under the system of exchange which exists among the important libraries of the British Dominions and the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) FELIX DESROCHERS, General Librarian.

Library of Parliament, Ottawa, November 7, 1940.

Mr. Speaker informed the House that he had appointed J. Laundy, to be Acting Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms during the present session.

The House then adjourned at 3.55 o'clock, p.m., until to-morrow at 3 o'clock, p.m.

Mr. Church, seconded by Mr. McGregor, by leave of the House, introduced a Bill, No. 2, An Act to amend the Railway Act, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

RULING OF MR. SPEAKER.

Mr. SPEAKER: Before the orders of the day are proceeded with I should like to amplify my ruling in connection with Standing Order 37. I have been giving further consideration to the interpretation of this standing order in view of the discussion which took place yesterday. For the purpose of the record I shall read again Standing Order 37, which is as follows:-

No member, except the Prime Minister and Leader of the Opposition, or a minister moving a government order and the member speaking in reply immediately after such minister, or a member making a motion of "No confidence" in the government and a minister replying thereto, shall speak for more than forty minutes at a time in any debate.

It will be recalled that this standing order was adopted on March 22, 1927, but since that date changes have been made in several departments to deal with the exigencies of these days; and where formerly there was only one minister of defence there is now a Minister of National Defence, a Minister of National Defence for Air and a Minister of National Defence for Naval Affairs. There are also two new departments under the Minister of Munitions and Supply and the Minister of War Services.

I ruled yesterday that the Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Gardiner), who is also Minister of War Services, in his reply was not limited to forty minutes. I am of opinion that is a correct interpretation of Standing Order 37. I am now asked as to that interpretation should other ministers make reply. It will be noticed that the amendment moved by the Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Hanson) is as follows:-

"That the following be added to the address to His Excellency:-

We respectfully submit to Your Excellency that this house regrets that the government has continued to soothe the Canadian people regarding the war effort of the nation, thereby creating a false sense of security when a clear-cut call to action is desperately needed.

And this house further regrets that despite the serious condition of agriculture no effective action is proposed to alleviate that condition and to ensure to the Canadian farmer a just, fair and reasonable return for his products."

And the amendment of the Leader of the Social Credit group (Mr. Blackmore) is as follows:-

"That the following be added to the amendment:----

And this house further regrets that failure of the government to adopt a monetary policy that would permit a maximum war effort without either increasing debt or reducing the standards of living below that necessary for maintaining maximum efficiency;

Furthermore this house is of the opinion that a continuation of the present financial policy will further destroy the precious liberties so essential to, and recognized as being inherent in a true democracy."

Both of these amendments make use of an embracing term namely "war effort of the government" and express their dissatisfaction.

I think I am correct in stating that the intention of the standing order was to give wide latitude to the opposition to attack the policy of the government and just as wide latitude for the government to make a full reply.

During the course of the debate the theme of every speech has been directed to the activities of the government in prosecuting the war effort and a request for a full and complete statement of such war efforts to the House. In order that this should be done properly and adequately each minister could only speak for his department and it would be impracticable if not impossible for one minister to reply for all departments.

I am inclined therefore to take the view that I should give as wide and as broad an interpretation of the rule as is possible in order that the very evident desire of the House be satisfied. I believe I will be giving effect to the sense of the House in the manner I have indicated so that in these war days a complete reply, unhampered by time could be made by the ministers whose departments may be the subject of attack.

This ruling would affect six ministers namely: The Minister of Agriculture and War Services (Mr. Gardiner), who has already replied, the Minister of National Defence (Mr. Ralston), who is now replying. The Minister of National Defence for Air (Mr. Power), the Minister of National Defence for Naval Affairs (Mr. Macdonald), the Minister of Munitions and Supply (Mr. Howe), and the Minister of Finance (Mr. Ilsley), These ministers are all directly connected with the amendments which have been made.

The House then resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Claxton for an Address to His Excellency the Governor General, in reply to his Speech at the opening of the session, and on the proposed motion of Mr. Hanson (York-Sunbury), in amendment thereto, and on the proposed motion of Mr. Blackmore in amendment to the said proposed amendment.

And the Debate still continuing; the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Adamson, adjourned.

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King, the House then adjourned at 6 o'clock, p.m., until Monday next, at 3 o'clock, p.m.

Mr. Golding, from the Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the First Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee has given consideration to the following order of reference dated November 25:---

Ordered,—That the Standing Committee on Standing Orders be instructed to enquire and report on the advisability of accepting as sufficient for this session, the proceedings taken last session in respect of the presentation of a petition, the filing of a bill, and the publication of notice relative to the proposed incorporation of The Alberta Provincial Bank.

When Parliament adjourned in August last, a notice of motion was on the order paper requesting that Bill No. 26, to incorporate The Alberta Provincial Bank, be given second reading. It was hoped by the promoters that when Parliament re-assembled on November 5, an opportunity would be given to proceed with the said Bill No. 26.

It is desired to re-introduce the bill at the present session; but, not anticipating the calling of a new session during the present year, no steps have been taken to meet the initial requirements.

Your Committee is of the opinion that no interests will be prejudiced if the proceedings taken last session in respect of the presentation of petition, the filing of draft bill, and the publication of notice relative to the said proposed incorporation be accepted as sufficient for the present session, and recommends accordingly.

Mr. Howe, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,— Annual Report of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940. On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Dupuis be substituted for that of Mr. Cloutier on the Joint Committee of both Houses on the Printing of Parliament.

Mr. Gardiner, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of Order in Council passed under the provisions of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, 1939, as follows:—

Order in Council P.C. 6650, approved November 20, 1940: declaring the 1940 crop year to be an emergency year, for the purposes of the said Act.

Mr. Black (Yukon), seconded by Mr. Black (Cumberland), by leave of the House, introduced a Bill, No. 5, An Act to amend the Migratory Birds Convention Act, which was read the first time and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The House then resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Claxton for an Address to His Excellency the Governor General, in reply to his Speech at the opening of the session, and on the proposed motion of Mr. Hanson (York-Sunbury), in amendment thereto, and on the proposed motion of Mr. Blackmore in amendment to the said proposed amendment.

And the Debate still continuing; the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Gladstone, adjourned.

Mr. Howe, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,— Annual Report of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940 (French edition).

Mr. McLarty, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of Order in Council passed under the provisions of The Unemployment and Agricultural Assistance Act, 1940, as follows:—

Order in Council P.C. 6947, approved November 28, 1940: authorizing an accountable advance of $675,000 to be made to the Province of Manitoba to provide for the Dominion's share of direct relief expenditures, said advance to be charged to Vote 120 of the Estimates, 1940-41 (Special).

The House then resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Claxton, seconded by Mr. Jutras,—That the following Address be presented to His Excellency the Governor General of Canada:—

To His Excellency the Right Honourable Earl of Athlone, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, a member of the Most Honourable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Grand Master of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:

We, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the House of Commons of Canada, in Parliament assembled, beg leave to offer our humble thanks to Your Excellency for the gracious Speech which Your Excellency has addressed to both Houses of Parliament.

14875-5

And on the proposed motion of Mr. Hanson (York-Sunbury), in amendment thereto: That the following be added to the Address to His Excellency:—

"We respectfully submit to Your Excellency that this House regrets that the Government has continued to soothe the Canadian people regarding the war effort of the nation, thereby creating a false sense of security when a clear-cut call to action is desperately needed.

"And this House further regrets that, despite the serious condition of Agriculture, no effective action is proposed to alleviate that condition and to ensure to the Canadian farmer a just, fair and reasonable return for his products."

And on the proposed motion of Mr. Blackmore, in amendment to the said proposed amendment: That the following be added to the amendment:—

"And this House further regrets the failure of the government to adopt a monetary policy that would permit a maximum war effort without either increasing debt or reducing the standards of living below that necessary for maintaining maximum efficiency.

"Furthermore this House is of the opinion that a continuation of the present financial policy will further destroy the precious liberties so essential to and recognized as being inherent in, a true democracy."

After further Debate thereon, the question being put on the said proposed amendment to the proposed amendment; it was negatived on the following division:—

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, 6TH DECEMBER, 1940

PRAYERS.

The Clerk of the House laid upon the Table the Seventh Report of the Clerk of Petitions stating that he had examined the following petitions presented on the 5th instant, and finds that all the requirements of Standing Order 68 have been complied with in each case, namely:—

Of Clavell Filliter Stroud, of Montreal, Quebec, praying for the passing of an Act to declare his marriage with Geraldine Elizabeth Pimm Stroud, of Montreal, Quebec, to be dissolved, and that he be divorced from her.—Mr. Abbott.

Of Marie Alice Veillet Piché, of Montreal, Quebec, praying for the passing of an Act to declare her marriage with Elzéar Piché, of Montreal, Quebec, to be dissolved, and that she be divorced from him.—Mr. Boucher.

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of November 27, 1940, showing: How many of the following have been produced and delivered to the Government for the Department of National Defence, (1) by Canadian factories, (2) from outside of Canada: (a) pairs of boots, (b) suits of battle dress, (c) blankets, (d) pairs of braces, (e) service shirts, (f) greatcoats?

And also,—Return to an Order of the House of November 20, 1940, for a copy of all correspondence, reports, memoranda and other documents passing between Allan B. Plaunt, formerly a member of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and any official of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation or the Minister of Transport or any other Minister, since January 1, 1939.

Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of Order in Council passed under the provisions of the War Measures Act—Chapter 206, R.S.C., 1927, as follows:—

Order in Council P.C. 6282, approved November 27, 1940: constituting the Veterans' Welfare Division of the Department of Pensions and National Health, the functions of which shall be to advise and assist former members of the forces in matters pertaining to re-establishment in civil life, and to perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the Minister of Pensions and National Health relating to the welfare of such former members of the forces.

Mr. Gardiner, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,--Return to an Order of the House of November 20, 1940, for a return showing: the name, address, age, sex and marital condition of every employee in the office of the divisional registrar under the National War Services organization at Winnipeg, Manitoba;

Also a statement showing whether there are any married women so employed, and whether any such have husbands gainfully employed and, if so, their names.

Also a statement showing whether any of such employees are in receipt of any Government annuity, either Dominion, provincial or municipal, and, if so, the name of such person or persons, the nature of such payment and the amount thereof;

And also a statement showing whether any of the said employees are returned soldiers, and, if so, what are their names.

He also laid before the House,—Copy of Heads of Agreement for the purchase of Canadian bacon by the British Ministry of Food for the period November 1, 1940, to October 31, 1941; together with a memorandum illustrating the difference between the arrangements at Canadian ports last year and this year under the old and new bacon agreements.

Mr. McLarty, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House, by command of His Excellency the Governor General,—Annual Report of the Department of Labour for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1940, which includes reports of proceedings under the following statutes: Labour Department Act, Conciliation and Labour Act, Fair Wages and Hours of Labour Act, Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, Government Annuities Act, Employment Offices Co-ordination Act, Technical Education Act, Combines Investigation Act, Unemployment and Agricultural Assistance Act and Youth Training Act—(English and French editions).

Mr. Cardin, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House by command of His Excellency the Governor General,—Report of the Minister of Public Works on the works under his control for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940.

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was resolved,—That, on account of the pending adjournment of the House, the six weeks period allowed by Standing Order 92 for the presentation of petitions for private bills be deemed to expire on Wednesday, February 26, 1941, instead of on Wednesday, December 18, 1940.

The Bill No. 8, An Act to amend the Special War Revenue Act, was again considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Ways and Means and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to sit again, this day. On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was resolved,—That there shall be no intermission between the hours of six and eight o'clock, p.m., this day.

The House then resolved itself again into Committee of Ways and Means.

(In the Committee)

WAR EXCHANGE CONSERVATION ACT, 1940

Resolved, That it is expedient to introduce a measure to be called the War Exchange Conservation Act, 1940, and to provide—

- 1. That the importation into Canada of any goods enumerated and described in Schedule One is prohibited except in such cases as the Minister of National Revenue in his discretion deems desirable and under and in accordance with the terms of a permit granted by him: Provided however that this prohibition shall not apply to—
  - (a) any goods imported from, and being of the growth, produce or manufacture of, any country within the sterling area or Newfoundland, except, at the discretion of the Minister of National Revenue, goods composed wholly or in part of silk;
  - (b) any goods which on or before the second day of December, 1940, were in transit to Canada.
- 2. That notwithstanding anything contained in the preceding resolution, the Minister of National Revenue may, in his discretion, exempt any goods from the operation of the preceding resolution for such periods of time as he may deem desirable and notice of any such exemption shall be published in the Canada Gazette and the exemption shall take effect on and after the date of such publication or any later date fixed in such notice.
- 3. That for the purposes of these resolutions "sterling area" means the territories under the sovereignty, protection, suzerainty or mandate of His Majesty (except Canada, Newfoundland and Hong Kong) and such other territories whether or not under the sovereignty, protection, suzerainty or mandate of His Majesty as may be designated by the Governor in Council.
- 4. (1) That in the event of any person taking advantage of the prohibition of imports to increase the prices of goods to the consumer or to maintain the prices of such goods at levels deemed by the Governor in Council to be higher than should prevail, having regard to changes in the cost of production of such goods, the Governor in Council may, in addition to permitting entry of such goods, reduce or remove the duties of customs imposed upon such goods.

(2) That in the event of any person taking advantage of the prohibition of imports as aforesaid, the Governor in Council may, for such period of time as he may determine, impose, levy or collect upon all the products of such person or any of them, an excise tax of 25 per cent of the sale price thereof payable by such person at the time of delivery of such goods to the purchaser thereof and the provisions of the Special War Revenue Act as to the collection of taxes imposed by Part XIII of the said Act shall be applicable thereto.

5. (1) That goods enumerated and described in Schedule Two, the growth, produce or manufacture of the United Kingdom, when imported into Canada in a manner and under conditions which entitle such goods to entry under the British Preferential Tariff of Canada, shall be exempt from the rates of duty set out in Schedule A to the Customs Tariff and shall, in lieu thereof, be subject to the rates of duty set out in Schedule Two.

(2) That any enactment founded on this resolution shall apply to all goods enumerated and described in Schedule Two imported or taken out of warehouse for consumption on or after the second day of December, 1940, and to goods previously imported for which no entry for consumption was made before the said date.

- 6. That the Governor in Council in order to increase Canada's supply of foreign exchange may, on the recommendation of the Minister of Finance, enter into agreements with individuals, partnerships or corporations to grant assistance by way of special tax credits and/or special allowances for depreciation or depletion under the Income War Tax Act and The Excess Profits Tax Act, if, in the opinion of the Governor in Council, such assistance is necessary in order that an expansion of the exports of any individual, partnership or corporation receiving such assistance may take place.
- 7. That any enactment founded on these resolutions shall be deemed to have come into force on the second day of December, 1940, and to expire on the date of the issue of a proclamation under the War Measures Act declaring that a state of war no longer exists or on such earlier date as may be fixed in a proclamation of the Governor in Council.

Whereupon, Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), a Member of the King's Privy Council, informed the House, That His Excellency the Governor General, having been informed of the subject-matter of the said proposed Resolution, recommends it to the House.

Resolved, That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the said proposed Resolution.

Mr. Howe, for Mr. Cardin, moved,-That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House to consider the following proposed Resolution:-

That it is expedient to introduce a measure to authorize the Minister of Public Works on behalf of His Majesty to enter into an agreement to pay to the Corporation of the City of Ottawa the sum of $100,000 for the year ending July 1, 1941.

Whereupon, Mr. Howe, a Member of the King's Privy Council, informed the House, That His Excellency the Governor General, having been informed of the subject-matter of the said proposed Resolution, recommends it to the House.

Resolved, That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the said proposed Resolution.

Mr. Howe moved,-That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House to consider the following proposed Resolution:-

That it is expedient to amend the Trans-Canada Air Lines Act, 1937, changing the period for the fixation of rates for the current year, as defined in the Act, and extending the initial period during which a subsidy may be payable to Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Whereupon, Mr. Howe, a Member of the King's Privy Council, informed the House, That His Excellency the Governor General, having been informed of the subject-matter of the said proposed Resolution, recommends it to the House.

Resolved, That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the said proposed Resolution.

The House then resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Ilsley: That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of the Whole to consider the following Resolution :--

"That it is expedient to introduce a measure to provide, inter alia,

1. That sums not exceeding $1,300,000,000 be granted to His Majesty towards defraying any expenses or making any advances or loans that may be incurred or granted by or under the authority of the Governor in Council during the year ending March 31, 1942, for-

- (a) the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada;
- (b) the conduct of naval, military and air operations in or beyond Canada:
- (c) promoting the continuance of trade, industry and business communications, whether by means of insurance or indemnity against war risk or in any other manner whatsoever; and
  - (d) the carrying out of any measure deemed necessary or advisable by the Governor in Council in consequence of the existence of a state of war.

2. That the Governor in Council be empowered to raise by way of loan under the provisions of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, 1931, such sum or sums of money, not exceeding in the whole the sum of $1,300,000,000 as may be required for the purpose of defraying such expenses or making such advances or loans, the principal and interest of any such loan to be a charge upon and payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

3. That the Governor in Council be empowered to re-expend, advance or loan moneys that may be received by way of refund or repayment of advances, loans or expenditure under the War Appropriation Acts of 1939 (2nd Session), 1940 and 1941."

And the question being proposed:

Mr. Coldwell, seconded by Mr. MacInnis, moved in amendment: That all the words after "That" in Paragraph 2 of the Resolution be struck out and the following substituted therefor:-

"the Governor in Council be empowered to raise, under the provisions of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, 1931,

- (1) by way of compulsory, interest-free loans to be levied according to ability to subscribe, and
- (2) by the public ownership and control and planned use of the entire financial system, such sum or sums of money, not exceeding in the whole the sum of $1,300,000,000 as may be required for the purpose of defraying such expenses or making such advances or loans, the principal of any such loan to be a charge upon and payable out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund."

Mr. Speaker ruled the amendment out of order on the ground that the question before the House was a motion that he leave the Chair and that, at this stage, it was not permissible to amend the terms of the proposed Resolution.

And the Debate still continuing, the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Church, adjourned.

At six o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put, pursuant to Standing Order 6, until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

Mr. Crerar moved,—That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the following proposed Resolution:—

That it is expedient to introduce a measure to amend The National Parks Act for the purpose of withdrawing certain areas of land from the Prince Albert National Park as presently constituted, and for establishing new boundaries for the said park as a consequence thereof.

Whereupon, Mr. Crerar, a Member of the King's Privy Council, informed the House, That His Excellency the Governor General, having been informed of the subject-matter of the proposed Resolution, recommends it to the House.

Resolved, That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the said proposed Resolution.

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to consider a certain proposed Resolution to amend the Pension Act.

(In the Committee)

The following Resolution was adopted:-

Resolved, That it is expedient to amend the Pension Act to make its provisions applicable to certain members of the Canadian Forces serving in the present war and to their dependents, to extend the benefits of the Act to certain persons serving in the forces of the United Kingdom and also to make further changes and adjustments in the procedure and administration of the Pension Act.

Resolution to be reported.

The said Resolution was reported, read the second time and concurred in.

Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre) then, by leave of the House, presented a Bill, No. 17, An Act to amend the Pension Act, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The House then resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Mackenzie King:-

Whereas Order in Council P.C. 2483 was passed under the authority of the War Measures Act on the 3rd September, 1939, making regulations known as the Defence of Canada Regulations;

And whereas the said Regulations have been amended from time to time;

And whereas by Order in Council P.C. 4750 of the 12th September, 1940, the said Regulations were revoked and the Defence of Canada Regulations (Consolidation), 1940, numbered one to sixty-four inclusive, were made and established in substitution therefor;

And whereas since the 12th day of September, 1940, several Orders in Council have been passed amending, altering or adding to the said substituted Regulations; And whereas at the last session of Parliament a select Committee of this House was appointed on the 13th June, 1940, to consider and review the said Defence of Canada Regulations made on the 3rd September, 1939, and amendments thereto;

And whereas the said Committee reported to this House on the 1st August, 1940, and amongst other things recommended, in effect, that at the next session of Parliament a special committee of the House be appointed to again consider and review the Defence of Canada Regulations; to consider and review the law relating to naturalization and to review as well the law relating to deportation;

And whereas it is deemed advisable that a Committee of the House be appointed accordingly to ascertain whether the Defence of Canada Regulations (Consolidation), 1940, and amendments thereto and the law relating to naturalization and deportation reasonably meet the requirements of the country in time of war;

Therefore be it Resolved, that a select Committee of this House consisting of the following members: Messrs. And whereas by Order in Council P.C. 4750 of the 12th September, 1940, the said Regulations were revoked and the Defence of Canada Regulations (Consolidation), 1940, numbered one to sixty-four inclusive, were made and established in substitution therefor;

And whereas since the 12th day of September, 1940, several Orders in Council have been passed amending, altering or adding to the said substituted Regulations;

And whereas at the last session of Parliament a select Committee of this House was appointed on the 13th June, 1940, to consider and review the said Defence of Canada Regulations made on the 3rd September, 1939, and amendments thereto;

And whereas the said Committee reported to this House on the 1st August, 1940, and amongst other things recommended, in effect, that at the next session of Parliament a special committee of the House be appointed to again consider and review the Defence of Canada Regulations; to consider and review the law relating to naturalization and to review as well the law relating to deportation;

And whereas it is deemed advisable that a Committee of the House be appointed accordingly to ascertain whether the Defence of Canada Regulations (Consolidation), 1940, and amendments thereto and the law relating to naturalization and deportation reasonably meet the requirements of the country in time of war;

Therefore be it Resolved, that a select Committee of this House consisting of the following members: Messrs. Bertrand (Laurier), Black (Yukon), Claxton, Coldwell, Dupuis, Hansell, Hanson (Skeena), Hazen, Martin, Maybank, McKinnon (Kenora-Rainy River), Michaud, Ross (Calgary East), Ross (Souris), Slaght, be appointed to consider and review the Defence of Canada Regulations (Consolidation), 1940, and amendments thereto, and the law relating to naturalization and to review as well the law relating to deportation; with power to send for persons, papers and records; to examine witnesses under oath; and to report their opinions and observations from time to time to the House.

After still further Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

By leave, the House reverted to Government Notices of Motions.

Mr. Mackenzie King then moved,—Resolved that a select committee be appointed to examine the expenditure defrayed out of moneys provided by parliament for the defence services, and for other services directly connected with the war, and to report what, if any, economies consistent with the execution of the policy decided by the government may be effected therein, and that notwithstanding Standing Order 65 the committee shall consist of twenty-four members, as follows: Messrs. Abbott, Bercovitch, Black (Cumberland), Bradette, Chevrier, Cleaver, Diefenbaker, Fournier (Hull), Gladstone, Golding, Graham, Gray, Green, Harris (Danforth), Macdonald (Halifax), MacInnis, Marshall, Mayhew, McGeer, Picard, Pottier, Ross (Moose Jaw), Sissons, Thorson, with power to send for persons, papers and records; to examine witnesses and to report from time to time to the House.

And a Debate arising thereon; the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Church, adjourned.

At eleven o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put, pursuant to Standing Order 7, until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, 7TH MARCH, 1941

PRAYERS.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bill, to which the concurrence of this House was desired:—

Bill No. 18 (Letter B of the Senate), intituled: "An Act to incorporate General Security Insurance Company of Canada."

RULING OF MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: On Wednesday last, 5th March, I was asked by the honourable member for Rosetown-Biggar to take into consideration Standing Order 41 and give an interpretation particularly of paragraphs 315 and 316 of Beauchesne Parliamentary Rules and Forms, which deal with the question of the reading of documents and whether these documents should be laid on the Table. When the honourable member made the suggestion I indicated that it was not the function of the Chair to give advice to honourable members but rather that the Speaker was required to judge and interpret the Rules of the House on any question raised in the course of a debate or in its proceedings.

The honourable member had in mind the discussion which took place that day and which had just been completed, on the question of privilege raised by the honourable member for North Battleford, in the course of which she read a letter received from a correspondent. It might be well to state to the House the Rule governing questions of privilege and it has been well stated in May's Parliamentary Practice, 13th Edition, Page 317. "The House is always willing to extend its indulgence when an honourable member wishes to clear up any misrepresentation of his character, but that indulgence ought to be strictly limited to such misrepresentations and ought not to extend to any observations other than by way of correction."

It was not necessary for me to give a decision during the discussion for the reason that the honourable member for North Battleford agreed to lay on the Table the letter which she read.

There is no doubt as to the parliamentary rule which requires a Minister of the Crown who refers to a public document in the House and upon it bases an argument or assertion. That document, if called for, must be produced. The principle involved in such a proceeding is so obvious and reasonable that there does not seem to be any room for argument. It is the principle established in courts of law which prevents counsel from quoting documents which have not been produced in evidence. It has however been held that a demand for production and filing of any document should be made immediately and not at a subsequent sitting of the House.

There is no Standing Order which governs the quoting of private communications and we are guided mainly by custom and precedents. I have no doubt in my mind as to the decision I would have rendered with regard to the portion of the letter which the honourable member for North Battleford read into the records on Wednesday last. The contents of that letter are so serious that unless the honourable member, as such member, assumed responsibility for it, then, as Speaker of the House, I would have asked the honourable member to lay the letter on the Table of the House or, alternatively, I would have sought the consent of the House that it should be laid on the Table. However, the honourable member took the proper course in laying the letter on the Table.

It will be noticed that in the letter there is a serious statement concerning an officer of the R.C.M.P., one of the Departments of Government, that it refers specifically to a function of Government of a most contentious and delicate character in these war years, namely, the question of internment, and by reason of the publication of the portion of letter in Hansard, it may be properly considered of the nature of a public document. That is all the more reason why it should have been laid on the Table and it might have been retained as a parliamentary paper.

It may not be, in other cases of a like nature, so easy to interpret the Rules of the House. For instance, an unsigned letter should not be read in the House. Mr. Speaker Lemieux so decided on the 16th May, 1928. Or, a member may desire to summarize information contained in a communication, but the member giving the summary must take the responsibility, as a member of this House, of the correctness of the information he or she seeks to give. If an honourable member proposes to read a communication in its entirety, or even a portion, without divulging the name and address of the sender and the member refuses to take the responsibility for the truth and accuracy of the contents, I am clearly of opinion that such a communication should be laid upon the Table, and, particularly, if so desired by any member of the House. In the present case I agree with the Prime Minister that an honourable member is not entitled to read from communications unless prepared to place them on the Table of the House. The principle upon which this is based is that where information is given to the House, the House itself is entitled to the same information as the honourable member who may quote the document.

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of February 26, 1941, for a Return showing:—

What acreage has been acquired for the Debert airport and military camp, (a) airport; (b) military camp?
 From whom were such lands secured, stating, (a) the acreage from each

2. From whom were such lands secured, stating, (a) the acreage from each party; (b) the prices asked by each party, (c) the amount paid or offered in payment?

3. What has been the total expenditures for drainage, stating, (a) the quantity of tile or drainage or sewer pipe purchased, (b) from whom such pipe was purchased and the delivered prices for each size?

And also,—Return to an Order of the House of February 26, 1941, for a copy of all correspondence, reports, estimates, recommendations, bills and vouchers, bearing on the payment of the sum of $14,332.50 by the Government to Bertrand and Brother, L'Orignal, Ontario, as compensation for the cancellation and termination of a contract awarded in 1939 for the construction of a wharf at Baie-des-Sables, County of Matane, for the approximate sum of $76,832.86, and covered by a Budget appropriation of $25,000.

Mr. Macdonald (Kingston City), a Member of the King's Privy Council, for Mr. Power, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of March 3, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. Was any inquiry held respecting an outbreak of scarlet fever at Manning Pool, Toronto?

2. Were any officers and men quarantined?

3. If so, how many of each rank?

4. How many cases of scarlet fever were there?

5. How many of such cases are now in the Toronto Isolation Hospital?

9. How many civilians are serving at this depot?

10. Are the depot heads of this pool transferred or changed from time to time?

11. Has any revision been made in the number of Royal Canadian Air-Force guards doing duty on the Toronto water front since the last reply on this question?

12. What length of time, on the average, does each recruit spend at this depot, and what new courses, if any, have been added?

Mr. Gardiner, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House:-

2. How much of this was for unemployment relief and how much for agricultural aid?

And also,—Return to an Order of the House of March 3, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. Did the Government buy a number of tractors to be used to pack snow on the air fields in the three western provinces?

2. If so, from whom, how many, and what was the total amount paid in this regard?

The Bill No. 19, An Act for granting to His Majesty aid for National Defence and Security, was again considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, and ordered for a third reading, later this day.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Ilsley moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

(In the Committee)

INTERIM SUPPLY

MAIN ESTIMATES, 1941-42

Resolved, That a sum not exceeding $37,725,207.65, being one-sixth of the amount of each of the several items to be voted, as set forth in the Estimates for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1942, laid before the House of Commons at the present session of Parliament, be granted to His Majesty, on account, for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1942.

Resolution to be reported.

By leave of the House the said Resolution was reported, read the second time and concurred in, and the Committee of Supply to sit again later this day.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Ways and Means;

Mr. Ilsley moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Ways and Means.

(In the Committee)

The following Resolution was adopted:-

Resolved, That towards making good the Supply granted to His Majesty on account of certain expenses of the Public Service for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1942, the sum of $37,725,207.65 be granted out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada.

Resolution to be reported.

A.D. 1941

By leave of the House the said Resolution was reported, read the second time and concurred in, and the Committee of Ways and Means to sit again later this day.

Mr. Ilsley then, by leave of the House, presented a Bill, No. 22, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1942, which was read the first time.

By leave of the House, the said Bill was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The Order being read for the third reading of Bill No. 19, An Act for granting to His Majesty aid for National Defence and Security;

Mr. Ilsley moved, That the said Bill be now read the third time.

Mr. Coldwell, seconded by Mr. MacInnis, moved in amendment thereto:-That the said Bill be not now read a third time but that it be referred back to the Committee of the Whole with instruction that they have power to amend it by striking out all the words after the word "raise" in paragraph one of section IV, line 16, and substituting the following therefor:

"under the provisions of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, 1931. by way of interest-free loans to be levied according to ability to subscribe such sum or sums of money, not exceeding in the whole the sum of one billion, three hundred million dollars as may be required for the purposes of this act."

and that paragraph two, of section IV, be amended by the deletion in line twenty-six, of the words "and the interest thereon."

And a Debate arising thereon;

Mr. Quelch, seconded by Mrs. Nielsen, moved in amendment to the said amendment: That the words "to be levied according to ability to subscribe," be struck out, and the following substituted: "from the Bank of Canada."

Also that the following words be added after the words, "purpose of this Act," in the thirteenth line: "This method to be used only to the extent that government expenditures cannot be met from the receipts of taxation and the sale of interest-free War Savings Certificates."

Mr. Speaker ruled the amendment to the amendment out of order on the ground that the Bill was a loan Bill which was adopted in principle on the second reading, while the amendment to the amendment made it partly a loan measure and partly a taxation measure.

And after further Debate, the question being put on the said amendment; it was negatived on the following division:-

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to consider a certain proposed Resolution to provide that sums not exceeding $135,000,000 be granted to His Majesty in addition to the sums granted by The War Appropriation Act, 1940.

(In the Committee)

The following Resolution was adopted:-

Resolved, That it is expedient to introduce a measure to be called The Supplementary 1940 War Appropriation Act to provide inter alia—

1. That sums not exceeding $135,000,000 be granted to His Majesty in addition to the sums granted by The War Appropriation Act, 1940, towards defraying any expenses or making any advances or loans that may be incurred or granted by or under the authority of the Governor in Council during the year ending March 31, 1941, for:—

(a) the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada;

- (b) the conduct of naval, military and air operations in or beyond Canada;
- (c) promoting the continuance of trade, industry and business communications, whether by means of insurance or indemnity against war risk or in any other manner whatsoever; and
- (d) the carrying out of any measure deemed necessary or advisable by the Governor in Council in consequence of the existence of a state of war.

2. That the Governor in Council be empowered to re-expend, advance or loan moneys that may be received by way of refund or repayment of advances, loans or expenditures under The War Appropriation Act, 1939, The War Appropriation Act, 1940, and The Supplementary 1940 War Appropriation Act.

Resolution to be reported.

Mr. Howe, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to the foregoing Order forthwith.

The following Address was voted to His Excellency the Governor General, and Order of the House issued to the proper officer:—

By Mr. Douglas (Weyburn)—Address to His Excellency the Governor General, for a copy of all letters, telegrams and other correspondence exchanged between the Dominion Government and any of the provincial governments in respect to the Federal Government's decision to discontinue its contribution to relief on and after March 31, 1941;

Also a copy of all letters, telegrams and other correspondence exchanged between the Federal Government and any of the provincial governments, during the fiscal year commencing April 1, 1940, in respect of moneys owed by the provincial governments to the Federal Government.

By Mr. Fair:—Order of the House for a copy of all correspondence, reports, letters, telegrams and other documents from July 1, 1940, to date, in the possession of the Department, with respect to acreage bonus on N.  $\frac{1}{2}$ -52-1-W 4, and E  $\frac{1}{2}$ -52-2-W 4.

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was resolved,—That the Resolution adopted on Monday, the 24th of March, 1941, respecting the Easter adjournment, be rescinded, and that when the House adjourns on Tuesday next, it stand adjourned until Monday, the 28th of April, 1941.

The Order of the Day being read for resuming the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of the Minister of Finance for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply and on the proposed amendment thereto by Mr. Senn, the House not being ready for the question and desiring to go into Committee of Supply to consider a grant of $35,000,000 for payments on reduction of wheat acreages, Mr. Speaker pointed out that the House in going into Committee of Supply immediately would thereby supersede the amendment and automatically adopt the main motion, and he ruled, That the withdrawal of the amendment now would not prevent Mr. Senn from moving it again at a later date.

Thereupon Mr. Senn withdrew his amendment.

The amendment was then withdrawn, and the question being put on the main motion; it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply, and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to sit again at the next sitting of the House.

At eleven o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put, pursuant to Standing Order 7, until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, 8TH APRIL, 1941

PRAYERS.

Mr. Golding, from the Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Pursuant to the Orders of Reference of Friday, March 28, 1941, and of Monday, April 7, 1941, your Committee has considered the suspension of Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) in relation to the following petitions, each praying for the passing of an Act to dissolve the marriage of the petitioner:—

1. Manson Wilton Roach-Petition presented March 11, 1941.

2. Elizabeth Marie Rossenberg Hatfield-Petition presented March 25, 1941.

3. Vera Black Slatkin-Petition presented March 25, 1941.

- 4. Eileen Henrietta Seville Orchin-Petition presented March 25, 1941.
- 5. Sarto Desnoyers-Petition presented March 28, 1941.

6. Dorrien Edson Weaver-Petition presented April 7, 1941.

1. Manson Wilton Roach

The evidence in this case was only completed on the 4th of March, 1941, and immediately thereafter proceedings were instituted.

2. Elizabeth Marie Rossenberg Hatfield

The offence was committed on or about the 25th day of February, 1941, but as soon as the petitioner heard of it, and obtained the evidence, proceedings were immediately instituted.

3. Vera Black Slatkin

The offence was committed on or about the 28th of February, 1941, but as soon as the petitioner heard of it, and obtained the evidence, proceedings were immediately instituted.

4. Eileen Henrietta Seville Orchin

The offence was committed on or about the 27th day of February, 1941, but as soon as the petitioner heard of it, and obtained the evidence, proceedings were immediately instituted.

5. Sarto Desnoyers

Proceedings in this case were instituted on March 11, 1941, but a great deal of difficulty was experienced in locating the respondent in order to effect the service on her. Even after the respondent was located further difficulties were placed in the way of effecting service due to efforts on the part of the respondent to evade such service, which was eventually completed on March 27, 1941.

6. Dorrien Edson Weaver

The offence was committed on the 29th day of March, 1941, but as soon as the petitioner heard of it, and obtained the evidence, proceedings were immediately instituted.

Your Committee having heard the Parliamentary Agents appearing on behalf of the above petitioners and after having considered the submissions presented, recommend:—

- 1. That in relation to the petitions of Hatfield, Slatkin, Orchin and Weaver, Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended. No penalty charge would be incurred.
- 2. That in relation to the petitions of Roach and Desnoyers, Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (c) be suspended, and that Standing Order 93 (3) (a) be suspended only in its application to the suspension of Standing Order 93 (3) (c). If adopted these recommendations would involve the payment of a penalty charge of $100 in respect of each of these two petitions.

Your Committee recommends that the petitions be read and received.

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House, —Report of the Public Archives for the year 1940. (English and French editions.)

Mr. Crerar, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House, by command of His Excellency the Governor General,—Annual Report of the Department of Mines and Resources including Report of Soldier Settlement of Canada for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940. (French edition.)

Mr. Mulock, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of March 31, 1941, for a copy of all correspondence, reports and other documents in the possession of the Post Office Department, relative to the transferring of the mail route from Kuroki, to Sub Rosa, Saskatchewan, and from Margo to Sub Rosa, Saskatchewan, during the years, 1938, 1939 and 1940.

On motion of Mr. Golding, the Second Report of the Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented to the House this day, was concurred in.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Gardiner moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply, and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to sit again this day The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Crerar moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

Mr. Diefenbaker, seconded by Mr. Perley, moved in amendment thereto: That all the words after "That" in the motion be struck out, and that the following be substituted therefor:—

"it be resolved that the Government should take immediate steps to create a parity of prices as between agricultural and other products in order to improve the condition of Canadian agriculture and in order that it may receive a just and fair return, and thus be enabled to make that contribution to Canada's war effort which is so desirable, and which our agricultural population so greatly desire to make."

And a Debate arising thereon; the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Diefenbaker, adjourned.

Mr. Crerar then moved,-That the House do now adjourn.

And the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to, on division.

The House accordingly adjourned at 6.05 o'clock, p.m., until Monday, April 28, 1941, at 3 o'clock, p.m., pursuant to Special Order made April 7, 1941.

9. If so, what were such changes?

10. What position does he occupy now and what is his salary? 11. Is he a veteran of the last war? If so, what was his military unit?

12. What is the educational standing of the said man?

13. Does he hold any university degrees? If so, from what university and when were same obtained?

14. What was his employment immediately prior to his employment by the government?

Mr. Ralston, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,-Return to the foregoing Order forthwith.

By leave, Mr. Black (Yukon) moved,-That the House do now proceed to Public Bills and Orders; which was agreed to.

The Order being then read for the second reading of Bill No. 5, An Act to amend the Migratory Birds Convention Act;

On motion of Mr. Black (Yukon), the Order was discharged and the said Bill withdrawn.

The Order being then read for the second reading of Bill No. 7, An Act to amend The Divorce Jurisdiction Act, 1930;

On motion of Mr. Black (Yukon), the Order was discharged and the said Bill withdrawn.

The House then, by unanimous consent, reverted to the Orders of the Day.

The House thereupon resumed the adjourned Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Ilsley,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply, and on the proposed motion of Mr. Diefenbaker in amendment thereto: That all the words after "That" in the motion be struck out, and that the following be substituted therefor:-

"it be resolved that the Government should take immediate steps to create a parity of prices as between agricultural and other products in order to improve the condition of Canadian agriculture and in order that it may receive a just and fair return, and thus be enabled to make that contribution to Canada's war effort which is so desirable, and which our agricultural population so greatly desire to make."

And the Debate continuing;

Mr. Douglas (Weyburn), seconded by Mr. Nicholson, moved in amendment to the said amendment: That the amendment be further amended by adding the following:-

"And furthermore this House disapproves of the 1941 wheat marketing policy announced by the government on March 12, 1941, and urges as the minimum required in the present circumstances the consideration of the following six point wheat policy passed unanimously by the Saskatchewan legislature on February 28, 1941:---

1. That the minimum price for the 1941 wheat crop be set at 85 cents per bushel, basis No. 1 at Fort William.

2. That a processing tax of 50 cents a bushel be levied on all wheat processed for consumption in Canada, the proceeds of such tax to be added to the minimum price of 85 cents a bushel.

3. That the delivery of the 1941 crop be made on an acreage quota, such quota to be determined by the storage space available during the crop year 1941.

4. That the government of Canada make advances to farmers for the purpose of providing funds with which to build essential farm storage.

5. That the government of Canada make provision for advances to farmers on the credit of the quota to be delivered.

6. That the government of Canada maintain and carry the wheat surplus as an essential part of its war policy.

And the Debate still continuing; the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Quelch, adjourned.

At eleven o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put, pursuant to Standing Order 7, until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

PRAYERS.

The Clerk of the House laid upon the Table the Twenty-first Report of the Clerk of Petitions stating that he had examined the following petitions presented on the 7th instant, and finds that the time for receiving petitions for private bills having expired they should not be received, viz:—

Of Elizabeth (Elspeth) Brown Rattray Selkirk Morphy, of Montreal, Quebec, presently residing in Verdun, Quebec, praying for the passing of an Act to declare her marriage with Lawrence Mansfield Morphy, of Montreal, Quebec, to be dissolved, and that she be divorced from him.—Mr. Bercovitch.

Of Irene Coadic Murphy, of Montreal, Quebec, praying for the passing of an Act to declare her marriage with Nelson Peter Murphy, of Montreal, Quebec, to be dissolved, and that she be divorced from him.—Mr. Bercovitch.

Mr. Golding, from the Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Pursuant to the Order of Reference of Friday, May 2, 1941, your Committee has considered the suspension of Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c)in relation to the petition of Stanley Jackson presented on April 28, 1941, praying for the passing of an Act to dissolve the marriage of the Petitioner.

The information in this case was obtained on or about the 14th day of March, 1941. Proceedings were forthwith instituted but by the time the evidence was completed the House was adjourned and the presentation of the petition could not be made until the resumption of the sittings of the House, on April 28, 1941.

Your Committee having heard the Parliamentary Agent appearing on behalf of the above petitioner and after having carefully considered all the facts of the case recommends:—

1. That in relation to the above petition, Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) be suspended. No penalty charge therefore would be incurred.

2. That the said petition be read and received. 14875-20

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King, it was resolved,—That the provision of Standing Order 28 relative to Mr. Speaker leaving the Chair without putting any question be suspended for the present sitting of the House.

The House then resumed the adjourned Debate (pursuant to Special Order made this day) on the proposed motion of Mr. Ilsley: That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Ways and Means, and on the proposed motion of Mr. Quelch in amendment thereto: That all the words after "That" in the said motion be struck out and the following substituted therefor:—

"this house regrets the failure of the Government to establish effective control over the issue of credit by the Chartered Banks to the end that the amount by which the proceeds from reasonable taxation and sale of interest free War Savings Certificates fails to meet Government expenditures, may be met by funds from the Bank of Canada, without fear of inflation."

And the Debate continuing;

Mr. MacInnis, seconded by Mr. Douglas (Weyburn), moved in amendment to the said amendment: That all the words after "Banks" in the said amendment be struck out and the following be substituted therefor:—

"Further that in order to achieve a maximum and equitable war effort, the nationalization of the financial system and its use as an instrument of public policy are fundamental steps in the elimination of interest and the dangers of inflation."

And the Debate still continuing; the said Debate was, on motion of Mr. Tucker, adjourned.

The House then adjourned at 10.48 o'clock, p.m., until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

Bill No. 73 (Letter O-2 of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Gertrud Kohn Storper."-Mr. McIlraith.

Bill No. 74 (Letter P-2 of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Frederick William James Hobbs."-Mr. Bercovitch.

The following Questions on the Order Paper were passed by the House as Orders for Returns, under subsection 4 of Standing Order 44, and Orders of the House were issued to the proper officers accordingly, viz:-

By Mr. Pouliot:--1. Are government motor cars and chauffeurs available to members of the Ottawa staff of the Department of National Defence at all hours?

2. If so, (a) how many cars; (b) of what make; (c) when purchased or rented; (d) at what cost in each case; (e) what has been the total cost of upkeep, repairs and garage rent of such cars since the beginning of the present war; (f) to what particular members of the said Ottawa staff are they available?

By Mr. Parent:—1. Has the National Harbours Board made any changes in the scale of wages of its employees at the Port of Quebec?

2. If so, what classes of employees have been reduced, if any, and what was the reduction in each case?

3. Has the National Harbours Board increased the salaries of some of the employees in the offices of the Board at Quebec?

4. If so, (a) to whom have such increases been given; (b) what amount; (c) what was the previous salary of each employee who has received an increase?

5. What is the scale of wages of each class of employee of the National Harbours Board at Halifax, Saint John, Quebec, Montreal, Chicoutimi, Three Rivers and Vancouver, respectively?

6. What are the respective salaries of office employees, engineers and port managers under the jurisdiction of the National Harbours Board?

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Ways and Means.

And the House continuing in Committee;

Objection being taken in Committee to the decision of the Chairman (Mr. Vien) on a point of order, and an appeal being made to the House;

Mr. Speaker resumed the Chair, and the Chairman of the Committee made the following Report:—

"When the Committee was considering a Resolution to impose an Excise Tax of three cents per Imperial gallon on gasoline, Mr. Douglas (Weyburn) moved in amendment to add a proviso that a rebate of the full amount of the tax paid by any farmer or fisherman shall be made upon satisfactory proof that the gasoline upon which the tax was paid was utilized by such farmer or fisherman exclusively for power purposes upon his farm or his fishing boat and in lieu thereof that the general tax on gasoline shall be increased to a figure sufficient to compensate the Treasury for the amount lost by reason of the proposed rebate.

The Chairman ruled this proposed amendment out of order on the ground that it increased the proposed tax and was not moved by a Minister of the Crown.

Whereupon Mr. Neill appealed from the ruling of the Chairman."

The question being put by Mr. Speaker: Shall the ruling of the Chairman be confirmed?—It was decided in the affirmative on the following division:—

Vote No. 417—Prince Edward Island Car Ferry and Terminals Deficit 1941	400,000	00

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of April 30, 1941, for a copy of all letters, telegrams, reports, recommendations and other documents in the possession of the department relative to the disposal of the Immigration Hall at Falher, Alberta.

Mr. Crerar, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of March 26, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. How much money has the government received to date in the way of gifts towards the care of evacuated British children?

2. How much of this money has been spent respectively on, (a) hospitalization; (b) dental work; (c) clothing?

3. Do provincial governments make any contribution towards the above services? If so, how much?

4. Do any National voluntary organizations supply clothing for evacuated children? If so, what organization or organizations?

5. Do any of these organizations receive a government grant for this purpose? If so, which and for what amount?

6. Have any National organizations undertaken responsibility for certain evacuated children? If so, give the name of such organization or organizations.

7. Do these organizations receive grants from the government for their work?

8. As these children are in voluntary homes, what expense does the government incur in regard to them?

9. Did the federal government pay part of the cost of transportation of the government-assisted children to Canada? If so, state the total amount.

10. Were any of these children placed in their foster homes by provincial welfare agencies without cost to the federal government? If not, what portion of the cost did the federal government bear?

Mr. Ilsley, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House, by command of His Excellency the Governor General,—Report on the Administration of Old Age Pensions and Pensions for Blind Persons in Canada, under the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Act, Chapter 156, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, as amended by 21-22 George V, Chapter 42 (1931) 1 George VI, Chapter 13 (1937), for the Fiscal Year ended March 31, 1941.

Mr. Gibson, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of May 19, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. Was it brought to the attention of the Department of National Revenue that some distillers producing gin were not complying with the regulations under the Food and Drugs Act?

2. If so, on what dates, and what distillers were not complying with said regulations?

3. Did the above mentioned department issue several circulars to that effect?

4. If so, when and to whom?

5. Did the Department make a distinction as between gin and blend?

6. If so, what was it?

7. Were there specific instructions given by the department to collectors of Customs and Excise?

8. If so, when and what were they?

9. Were there any extensions granted to distillers, manufacturers or companies to comply with departmental regulations?

10. If so, (a) what were they; (b) for what distillers, manufacturers or companies; (c) through the intervention of whom or what counsel; (d) for what reason were they granted?

11. Did the said distillers, manufacturers or companies finally comply with departmental regulations?

12. If so, when in each case?

On motion of Mr. Ilsley, it was ordered,—That Estimates Items Nos. 403, 404, 416, 417, approved and reported upon by the Standing Committee on Railways and Shipping owned, operated and controlled by the Government, be referred to the Committee of Supply.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Ways and Means.

and that section 88 (8) (e) of the Act be repealed.

4. That the rates of National Defence Tax be increased from 2 per centum to 5 per centum wherever 2 per centum is mentioned and from 3 per centum to 7 per centum wherever 3 per centum is mentioned, and that these rates be effective from the first day of July, 1941.

5. That the amount of $600 mentioned in the National Defence Tax section be raised to $660 for the second half of the calendar year 1941 and for each year thereafter.

6. That the maximum allowance for a dependent under the National Defence Tax be $4 for the calendar year 1940; $14 for the calendar year 1941 and $20 for each year thereafter.

7. That the tax imposed by section 9B (1) shall not be exigible if no part of the premium is paid to the taxpayer.

8. That the rate of tax imposed by section 9B (2) of the Act on all non-residents be increased from 5 per centum to 15 per centum.

9. That the rate of tax applicable to Non-Resident-Owned-Investment Corporations be increased from 9 per centum to  $22\frac{1}{2}$  per centum, and that the following deduction be allowed:—

(iii) One-third of the interest received from Canadian debtors.

10. That the tax of five per centum on non-resident persons, other than corporations, in respect of the total amount of the royalties, rentals or similar payments for the use in Canada of patents, real or personal property, or for anything used or sold in Canada, be increased to 15 per centum provided that in respect of real estate rentals the taxpayer may file an income tax return and pay on a net income basis in Canada, and any over-payment by way of deductions at the source may be refunded.

11. That the date of filing annual returns of income by taxpayers, other than corporations, be the 31st day of March in each year in lieu of the 30th April as heretofore. Provided that in the case of businesses carried on by proprietors or partnerships, the return may be made on or before the 30th of April in each year in respect of business fiscal periods ending after November 30th each year.

12. (a) That the provision granting a deduction not exceeding 50 per centum of the net taxable income of any taxpayer which has been paid to any patriotic organization shall be repealed.

(b) That donations to charitable organizations described in the Act, up to 10 per centum of the net income of any taxpayer other than a corporation, be allowed, provided that this 10 per centum may be increased to 40 per centum of the taxpayer's net income in respect of gifts to the Canadian War Services Fund if subscribed on or before April 7, 1941, and paid on or before December 31, 1941.

13. That donations to charitable organizations made in 1942 and during any fiscal period ending therein or any fiscal period thereafter by any corporation be allowed up to five per centum of the net income of such corporation, provided that this five per centum may be increased to forty per centum of the corporate net income in respect of gifts to the Canadian War Services Fund if subscribed on or before April 7, 1941, and paid on or before December 31, 1941.

14. That the exemptions provided in paragraphs (c), (e) and (i) of subsection 1 of section 5 be allowed only if such dependents are maintained in Canada or within the territory composing the British Commonwealth of Nations or in a country contiguous to Canada; and similarly that for the purposes of National Defence Tax a taxpayer's marital status and any credit to which he is entitled for dependents be allowed only in respect of dependents maintained in Canada or within the territory composing the British Commonwealth of Nations or in a country contiguous to Canada.

15. That any taxpayer, other than a corporation, who enters upon a monthly instalment basis of tax payment on or before the 30th September each year, may pay, without interest, in respect of the income of that year, provided at least one-twelfth of the estimated tax based on the income of the prior year is paid in each of the months September, October, November and December, and one-eighth of the unpaid balance of the newly estimated tax based on the income of the calendar year in respect of which the tax is payable is paid in each of the months January to August inclusive.

16. That any corporation which enters upon a monthly instalment basis of tax payment before the commencement of the third month before the close of the fiscal period may pay, without interest, in respect of the income of that year, provided that at least one-twelfth of the estimated tax based on the income of the prior year is paid in each of the four months immediately prior to the close of the said fiscal period, and one-eighth of the unpaid balance of the newly estimated tax based on the income of the fiscal year in respect of which the tax is payable is paid in each of the immediately succeeding eight months following the close of the fiscal period.

17. That the resolutions numbered 1, 2, 5, 9, 11, 12, 14 and 15 shall be applicable to the income of the 1941 taxation period and fiscal periods ending therein and all subsequent periods.

18. That any enactment founded on resolutions numbered 3, 7, 8, 10, and 16 shall come into force on April 30, 1941.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX ACT

Resolved, That it is expedient to introduce a measure to amend the Excess Profits Tax Act, and to provide:—

1. That the definition of profits in the case of a corporation be amended if and to the extent that the corporation is subject to the tax on excess profits set out in the Second Part of the Second Schedule so as to exclude from profits for such purpose any dividends deemed to have been received by it as a result of distribution of assets on the winding up or discontinuance of business of any other Canadian corporation, which distribution is by section 19 of the Income War Tax Act deemed to be a dividend and to be taxable income of the company receiving the said dividend, provided that if the company receiving the said dividend is owned to the extent of fifty per centum or more of all its issued capital stock and bonds and any other type of security by or on behalf of twenty-five individual stockholders or security holders or less or is in fact controlled by such number of individual stockholders, this provision shall not apply.

2. That the definition of standard period, and also of standard profits, be amended to require the taxpayer to apportion to the four calendar years, 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939 the profits of their corresponding fiscal periods which do not coincide with the calendar year. The apportionment must be on an equal daily basis.

3. That the definition of standard period, and also of standard profits, be amended to allow standard profits to be computed from the time of actual commencement of business rather than from the legal date of commencement of business, the date of actual commencement to be determined by the Minister in his discretion in the light of the circumstances of the particular taxpayer.

4. That the definition of standard period be amended to give the taxpayer the choice of his three best years if the profits of his fourth standard year after adjusting for capital additions or withdrawals were less than fifty per centum of the average of the profits of the other standard years.

In the case of taxpayers who have been in business only three out of the four standard years and the profits of one of the three years after adjusting for capital additions or withdrawals were below fifty per centum of the average of the other two years the proposed amendment will allow them to use the profits of the two best years in computing their standard.

5. That the definition of standard profits be amended by adding thereto a proviso that in no case shall a taxpayer's standard profits be less than five thousand dollars.

6. That the adjustment to standard profits by reference to any increase or decrease in depreciation allowances or other charges as provided by paragraph (d) of subsection 1 of section 4 be repealed.

7. That the adjustment to standard profits by reference to increases or decreases in capital be amended to provide for an adjustment at a fixed rate of seven and one-half per centum on the capital change, with the proviso that if new capital to the extent of thirty-three and one-third per centum has been added since the standard period the taxpayer will have the option of being considered a new business.

8. That the procedure for a depressed business applying to have its standard profits determined by the Board of Referees on a capital-standard basis be altered so that the taxpayer may file his Return and pay his tax on the basis of a standard profits computed by the taxpayer himself, at a percentage on capital which he deems fair and reasonable but being not more than ten per centum on "capital employed" as defined in the Act, with the right of the Minister to refer any case to the Board of Referees to have the standard profits finally determined by that body. 9. That power be given to the Board of Referees in the case of both new businesses and depressed businesses to ascertain a fair and reasonable standard profits on some basis other than the capital-standard basis in those cases where the capital employed in the business is so small when compared with the earning power of the business or where other special circumstances of the taxpayer are such that to utilize the capital-standard basis would result in an unjustifiable hardship or would create extreme discrimination or jeopardize the continued existence of the business of the taxpayer.

10. That the inventory-reserve provisions in the Act be amended:

- (a) to give the taxpayer the right to provide against a decline in inventory values having regard to a normal quantity of stock in trade as indicated by the quantity on hand during the standard period;
- (b) to give the taxpayer the right to provide against a decline in inventory values either to the prices obtaining at the close of his 1939 period or to the prices obtaining during the month of August, 1939; and
- (c) to provide that a taxpayer who has any unutilized inventory reserve on hand at the end of the year when this Act terminates shall have only the year following the said year of termination in which to utilize such reserve against any possible price decline and must add any unutilized portion of such reserve existing at the beginning of the second year following the said year of termination to the profits of the last year of the application to the taxpayer of this Act.

11. That the exemption from the provisions of this Act given to taxpayers with profits of five thousand dollars or less be amended by a proviso to the effect that in the case of taxpayers with profits above five thousand dollars the tax imposed by the Act shall not reduce the profits below five thousand dollars.

12. That the profits of diversified investment companies the capital of which is to the extent of eighty per centum or more invested in stocks, bonds or securities, and the gross income of which is to the extent of ninetyfive per centum or more derived from dividends or interest on such investments, shall be exempt from taxation under this Act provided that not more than 5 per cent of the capital of such companies is invested in stock, bonds or other securities of any one company or debtor, and provided further that the shares of such diversified investment companies have been offered for public subscription or are listed on any recognized stock exchange in Canada or elsewhere, and provided further that each year the profits of such diversified investment companies have been distributed to the extent of eightyfive per centum or more to its shareholders and provided further that the company has not any obligations in the form of bonds or debentures.

13. That the allowance for excess profits taxes and income taxes paid to Great Britain, other British dominions or dependencies or to any foreign country allowing reciprocal deduction with respect to Canadian-paid taxes, be enlarged to provide a combined deduction of the British or foreign income and excess profits taxes from the combined liabilities to Canada for income and excess profits taxes.

14. That the provision for time and manner of payment of any tax exigible under the Act be amended in accordance with the amendment proposed for the Income War Tax Act in this respect, namely to provide an optional instalment basis of payment with respect to taxes on 1940 income and fiscal periods ending December 31, 1940, and also to provide an optional instalment basis of payment for taxes on the profits of 1941 and future years.

15. That the definition of capital be amended to require the deduction from the original asset values of the total amount of depreciation which has been taken into account in computing net income or loss for income tax purposes plus any accumulated depreciation reserves as at January 1917, as recognized by the Minister for purposes of the Income War Tax Act, and further that the definition of capital be amended to require the deduction of such amount of depletion as the Board of Referees deems fair and reasonable.

16. That the definition of capital be amended to enable the non-interestbearing advances from parent to subsidiary corporations, which advances are of a permanent nature and in fact represent invested capital actually employed rather than borrowed capital, to rank as equity capital rather than debts of the subsidiary.

17. That the requirement in the First Schedule that dividends paid during the taxation year shall constitute a deduction from the capital employed at the commencement of the period to the extent of one-half the dividends, shall be amended to make it clear that this applies only to cash dividends and not to stock dividends.

18. That the rate of tax on profits provided by the First Part of the Second Schedule shall be increased from twelve per centum to twenty-two per centum.

19. That all proposals above mentioned except proposals 12, 14 and 18 shall apply to the profits of the year 1940 and the profits of fiscal periods and portions thereof ending in 1940 and to the profits of all years and fiscal periods thereafter, and that proposals 12 and 18 shall apply to the profits of all years and fiscal periods ending in 1941, and to the profits of all years of the year 1941 and of fiscal periods ending in 1941, and to the profits of all years and fiscal periods thereafter. Provided, however, that if any such fiscal period ending in 1941 does not coincide with the calendar year then that proportion of the profits shall be subject to the twenty-two percentum tax which the number of days of such fiscal period in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-one bears to the total number of days of such fiscal period and the balance at the previously existing rate.

20. That every person liable to tax under the Excess Profits Tax Act in respect of the 1940 taxation period shall have until the 30th April, 1941, to estimate and pay their Excess Profits Tax for 1940 without interest. Thereafter interest will be paid as in the Income War Tax Act provided, as if the fiscal period of all such companies had ended on 31st December, 1941.

SUCCESSION DUTIES ACT

Resolved, That it is expedient to enact a Succession Duties Act to provide inter alia:---

1. That succession duties be levied upon or in respect of the following, that is to say:—

(a) The succession to property, wherever situated, and beneficial interests therein, except real property situated outside of Canada, where the deceased was at the time of his death domiciled in Canada or in one of the provinces thereof;

14875-26

(b) The succession to property situated in Canada, or to beneficial interests therein, where the deceased was at the time of his death domiciled outside of Canada.

2. That, in addition to the properties owned by the deceased at his death, the succession shall be deemed to include, for purposes of taxation, the following properties, namely:—

- (a) Property transferred by the deceased in his lifetime in contemplation of death;
- (b) Property transferred by way of donatio mortis causa;
- (c) Property transferred by gift in the lifetime of the deceased after April 29, 1941, and within three years prior to his death;
- (d) Property transferred by gift in the lifetime of the deceased where benefits are reserved to the deceased during his lifetime;
- (e) Property held jointly by the deceased and one or more persons and payable to or passing to the survivor or survivors, except that part of such property which was contributed by the survivor or survivors, provided that where the joint tenancy or holding is created by a person other than the deceased and the survivor or survivors, such property shall be deemed to have been contributed to equally by the deceased and the survivor or equally by the deceased and each of the survivors;
- (f) Property comprised in a settlement;
- (g) Annuities or other interests purchased or provided by the deceased to the extent of the beneficial interest arising on his death;
- (h) Money received or receivable under policies of insurance effected by the deceased or by a personal corporation on his life in proportion to the premiums paid by the deceased or by such personal corporation;
- (i) Property of which the deceased was at the time of his death competent to dispose;
- (j) Property transferred to or settled on any person after April 29, 1941, by the deceased and within three years before his death in consideration of marriage;
- (k) Property transferred for nominal or insufficient consideration to the extent of the difference between the consideration and the value thereof:
- (1) Estates in dower or by the curtesy.
- 3. That the rates of taxation be based upon the following factors, namely:-
- (a) The "aggregate value" of the succession, that is to say, the fair market value of all property, wherever situated, owned by the deceased at the time of his death together with the fair market value of the properties mentioned in paragraph two of this resolution, after funeral expenses and debts are deducted therefrom;
- (b) The value of the individual property or benefit passing to each successor; and
- (c) The relationship, if any, existing between the successor and the deceased.

4. That, for the purposes of taxation, the successors or beneficiaries shall be divided into four classes, as follows:—

(a) Class A.—The widow of the deceased, any child under eighteen years of age at the date of the death of the deceased, and any child who at that date was dependent upon the deceased for support on account of mental or physical infirmity;

- (b) Class B.—The grandfather, grandmother, father, mother, husband, sonin-law, or daughter-in-law of the deceased or a child of the deceased eighteen years of age and over at the date of the death of the deceased, and who, at that date, was not dependent upon the deceased for support on account of mental or physical infirmity;
- (c) Class C.—A lineal ancestor of the deceased (except the grandfather, grandmother, father or mother) a brother or sister of the deceased or any descendant of a brother or sister, or a brother or sister of the father or mother of the deceased or any descendant of any such brother or sister;
- (d) Class D.—Any person in any other degree of consanguinity to the deceased than as previously mentioned, or a stranger in blood to the deceased.

5. That the rates of taxation shall be according to the following scale for the values mentioned, the rates for intervening amounts to be specified in greater detail in the Bill:—

Aggregate value of the succession to property passing in the case of initial duties dependent on such value	Initial rates dependent on aggregate value	Value of indi- vidual benefits, including exemptions in the case of additional duties	Additional rates dependent on value of th individual benefits, including exemptions		ue of the mptions

RATES

6. That the exemptions from duty under the said Succession Duties Act shall be as follows:—

- (a) Where the whole property passing does not exceed $5,000 no duties shall be payable;
- (b) Property passing to or for the benefit of the widow of the deceased to the extent of the first $20,000 in value or amount;
- (c) Property passing to or for the benefit of the widow to the extent of $5,000 for each child of the deceased under 18 years of age at the time of the death of the deceased or dependent upon him for support at that time, if such child does not benefit in respect of property passing on the death of the deceased, provided that if such child does benefit the exemption shall be $5,000 less the amount of the benefit:

- (d) Property passing to or for the benefit of a child of the deceased under the age of eighteen years or dependent upon him for support at that time on account of mental or physical infirmity to the extent of the first $5,000 in value or amount;
- (e) Property passing to or for the benefit of the orphan child or children of the deceased under eighteen years of age at the time of his death or dependent upon him for support at that time on account of mental or physical infirmity, where such property does not exceed $15,000 in value or amount, provided that this exemption shall be in addition to those provided for in the preceding paragraph (d), and provided further that where more than one child benefits the exemption herein provided for shall be divided among such children in proportion to the value of the property or benefit passing to each of them;
- (f) If the deceased died from wounds inflicted, accident occurring or disease contracted on active service with the Canadian naval, military or air forces in or beyond Canada, in such circumstances that if the deceased left a widow she would be entitled to receive a pension in respect of his death under the Canadian Pension Act; (i) the exemptions granted in the preceding paragraphs (b), (c), (d) and (e) shall be increased by 50 per cent; (ii) the amount of the tax payable in respect of the succession by persons in Class A and Class B shall be reduced to the sum which, if accumulated at compound interest at the rate of 3 per cent per annum from the date of death with half-yearly rests, would at the expiration of the period of the normal expectation of life of a person of the age of the deceased at the time of death (calculated in accordance with approved mortality tables) amount to the tax which would otherwise be payable;
- (g) Property passing to any one person and not exceeding $1,000 in value or amount;
- (h) Property passing to or for the benefit of any charitable organization in Canada operated exclusively as such and not operated for the benefit or private gain or profit of any person, member or shareholder thereof;
- (i) Property passing to or for the benefit of the Dominion of Canada or any province or political subdivision thereof;
- (j) Property given by the deceased in his lifetime and representing the ordinary or normal expenditure of the deceased;
- (k) Property on which gift tax has been paid under the provisions of the Income War Tax Act, except to the extent to which the duty payable under the Act exceeds the gift tax so paid.

7. That there shall be a provision in the said Succession Duties Act making the executor or administrator liable in his representative capacity for all the duties imposed thereby, and making each successor personally liable for the duty on the share of the property or benefit passing to him, with the proviso that if the executor or administrator pays the duty he shall have the right to deduct the same from the property or benefit passing to the successor.

8. That any enactment founded on the foregoing resolution shall come into force on the date when it is assented to and shall apply to deaths occurring after that date.

WAR EXCHANGE CONSERVATION ACT, 1940

Resolved, That it is expedient to introduce a measure to amend The War Exchange Conservation Act, 1940, and to provide:—

1. That Section 7 of the said Act be repealed and the following substituted therefor:—

- "7. Resolved, That schedule A to the Customs Tariff, as amended, be further amended by deleting from The Customs Tariff Amendment Act, 1939, being Chapter two of the statutes of 1939 (second session), the following enumerations of goods and rates of additional duties of customs:

Wines of all kinds except sparkling wines, containing not more than forty per cent of proof spirits,  $7\frac{1}{2}$  cents per gallon.

Champagne and all other sparkling wines, 75 cents per gallon.

and by substituting therefor the following enumerations of goods and rates of additional duties of customs:

Wines of all kinds except sparkling wines, containing not more than forty per cent of proof spirit,  $32\frac{1}{2}$  cents per gallon.

Champagne and all other sparkling wines, $1.25 per gallon.

Resolved, That any enactment founded upon the foregoing resolution shall be deemed to have come into force on the thirtieth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, and to have applied to all goods mentioned in the foregoing resolution imported or taken out of warehouse for consumption on and after that date, and to have applied to goods previously imported for which no entry for consumption was made before that date.

2. Resolved, That any enactment founded upon the foregoing resolution shall be deemed to have come into force on the thirtieth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one, and to have applied to all goods mentioned in the foregoing resolution imported or taken out of warehouse for consumption on and after that date, and to have applied to goods previously imported for which no entry for consumption was made before that date.

SPECIAL WAR REVENUE ACT

Resolved, That it is expedient to introduce a measure to amend the Special War Revenue Act and to provide:—

1. That the definition of "British company" in Section thirteen of the said Act be amended by deleting therefrom the following words "and includes any association of persons formed in the said Kingdom or in any such Dominion or possession on the plan known as Lloyds whereby each associate underwriter becomes liable for a stated, limited or proportionate part of the whole amount insured by a policy."

2. That subsection one of Section sixteen of the said Act be amended by deleting the words "or of any province thereof" where they appear in the fourteenth line thereof.

3. That the tax on long distance telephone calls be increased from six per cent of the charge made to ten per cent; provided however that upon long distance telephone calls made from any public pay station there shall be paid in lieu of the tax hereinbefore provided for the sum of five cents for each such call for which a charge of more than twenty-five cents and not more than fifty cents is made and five cents for each additional charge of fifty cents or any fraction of fifty cents; and provided further that the tax imposed shall in no case be greater than fifty cents on any one call.

4. That Part V of the said Act be amended to provide that every purchaser of a ticket or right entitling the purchaser to transportation by railway, bus or aircraft to any place in or outside of Canada or by vessel between places in Canada or from a place in Canada and return thereto shall, in addition to the regular charge for the ticket or right, pay to the person selling such ticket or right, for the Consolidated Revenue Fund in addition to the price paid therefor, a tax equal to ten per cent of the said price, provided that such tax shall not apply on the charge for a ticket or right of transportation, if the regular one way charge for such ticket or right to any place in or outside of Canada is fifty cents or less.

5. That the excise tax on cigarette paper tubes be increased from five cents for each one hundred cigarette paper tubes or fraction thereof to ten cents.

6. That there shall be imposed, levied and collected an excise tax of three cents per Imperial gallon on gasoline imported, or produced or manufactured in Canada; and that where the gasoline is imported, such excise tax shall be paid by the importer or transferee who takes the gasoline out of bond for consumption at the time when the gasoline is imported or taken out of warehouse for consumption, and where the gasoline is manufactured or produced and sold in Canada, such excise tax shall be paid by the manufacturer or producer at the time of delivery of such gasoline to the purchaser thereof.

7. That the excise tax on playing cards be increased from ten cents per pack to fifteen cents per pack.

8. That the excise taxes on wines of all kinds, except sparkling wines, containing not more than forty per cent of proof spirit be increased from fifteen cents per gallon to forty cents per gallon, and that the excise tax on champagne and all other sparkling wines be increased from one dollar and fifty cents per gallon to two dollars per gallon.

9. That there shall be imposed, levied and collected an excise tax of twenty per cent on the admission price to a moving picture theatre, payable by the moving picture exhibitor and a like tax of twenty per cent on certain other forms of amusement, the said tax to come into effect on a date to be proclaimed by the Governor in Council.

10. That there shall be imposed, levied and collected an excise tax of five per cent of the total amount of bets made through the agency of a pari mutuel system on any horse race run at a lawful race meeting, such tax to be payable by the person conducting the race meeting.

11. That paragraphs (a) and (b) of Section one of Schedule I to the said Act be repealed and the following substituted therefor:—

"1. (a) Automobiles adapted or adaptable for passenger use, with seating capacity for not more than ten persons, each valued at $900 or less	25 per cent
Over $900 but not more than $1,200	25 per cent on $900 plus 40 per cent on the amount in excess of $900

OTTAWA, MONDAY, 26TH MAY, 1941

PRAYERS.

Mr. Macmillan, from the Select Committee on the Pension Act and the War Veterans' Allowance Act, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee, in accordance with order of reference dated March 6, 1941, has considered Bill No. 17, an Act to amend the Pension Act, and has agreed to report the said Bill with amendments.

Your Committee has ordered a reprint of this Bill as amended.

Mr. Howden, from the Standing Committee on Railways and Shipping owned, operated and controlled by the Government, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee views with satisfaction the purchase of a block of 4 per cent perpetual consolidated debenture stock of the former Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada by the Canadian National Railways Co. through the Canadian National Railway's Financing and Guarantee Act, 1940, and would respectfully suggest the acquirement of the balance of this outstanding perpetual issue. The Committee holds the same view with regard to purchase or refunding of the  $6\frac{1}{2}$  per cent Sinking Fund Debenture Bonds of the former Canadian Northern Railway.

In accordance with the recommendation of the duly appointed auditors, the Committee recommends the establishment at an early date of uniform accounting regulations of a mandatory character applicable to all Canadian railways under the Statutory authority of the Dominion.

Your Committee has enquired into the position of the Canadian National Railway with regard to the amount of Government or Government-controlled business it receives in comparison with its chief competitor, the Canadian Pacific Railway. It would appear that in relative strength the respective systems are as follows:-

Mileage C.N.R	21,790 miles of road
C.P.R	. 16.829 miles of road
Number of employees C.N.R	2. 75,000
C.P.R	. 53,000
Ratio of fixed charges C.N.R	. 53
C.P.R	. 26

The major differences in miles of track, number of employees and ratio of fixed charges would indicate the desirability for a rational division of Government-controlled business.

Your Committee, therefore, recommends that steps be taken to assure a division of Government-controlled business more in accord with the relative responsibility of the two roads.

A copy of the printed evidence taken is tabled herewith.

(For Copy of Evidence accompanying said Report see Appendix to the Journals No. 1)

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of an Ordinance of the Yukon Territory passed by the Yukon Council in the year 1941, and Tabled as required by Section 29 of Chapter 215, R.S.C. 1927.

Mr. MacKinnon (Edmonton West), a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,-Return to an Order of the House of May 21, 1941, for a copy of all correspondence, letters, telegrams, reports and other documents in the possession of the government with respect to the appointment of the Census Commissioner for the federal constituency of Weyburn, Saskatchewan.

Also a copy of all correspondence, letters, telegrams and other documents exchanged between the Minister of Trade and Commerce or any official of the government and the said census commissioner for Weyburn.

The following Questions on the Order Paper were passed by the House as Orders for Returns, under subsection 4 of Standing Order 44, and Orders of the House were issued to the proper officers accordingly, viz:-

By Mr. Pouliot:-1. Is there on file at the Department of National Defence, several statements from Jardine McKerlie to the effect that he was in the British Army Service from October, 1914, to June, 1916?

2. If so, what is the date of each one?

3. Was he asked by the Civil Service Commission to supply evidence to that effect, and, if so, how many times?

4. Did he give it, and, if so, when?5. Did he write to the Civil Service Commission on November 17, 1939, that "his original discharge certificate was destroyed by flood some years ago"?

6. Did he specify the locality of such flood?

7. Is there on file copy of a letter from him to the "Under Sec'y. of State, War Office, Records Section, Arnside St., London, S.E.", dated February 7, 1940, which contains the following paragraphs:

In view of the fact that the writer's Christian name and surname are both especially rare, it is felt that any reference that you can make to an alphabetical file of the enlistments either in the Royal Field Artillery or the Border Regt. during the period of the last war would quickly bring to light the writer's name and it is felt sure that no other person of the same name would be likely to be found in the said files....

It is regretted that further information cannot be supplied to you in view of the importance of receiving a copy of the discharge or some other proof of service, so that it may be furnished to the Canadian Govt. in connection with the writer's present employment as Inspector of Guns and Carriages in the Dept. of Nat. Defence?

8. Did he write to the Civil Service Commission on June 11, 1940, that the War Office had required an affidavit which he had completed on April 6 of that year, and forwarded to London?

9. Did the Civil Service Commission ask for that evidence on July 23, 1940?

10. Did he answer two or three days after that "everything possible is being done to complete the record"?

11. From September, 1939, to date, did Jardine McKerlie give to the Department of National Defence or the Civil Service Commission any evidence that he was in the British Army during the Great War?

12. If so, what was it, when was it given and to what department?

13. If not, why?

14. Is it on record that he has ever proved his British citizenship by an authentic certificate of birth or by naturalization papers?

15. If so, when and to whom?

By Mr. Pouliot:—1. On September 20, 1939, was one, Jardine McKerlie, taken in the Department of National Defence as Examiner, Mechanical Transport, at $200 per month?

2. On or about October 12, 1939, was he promoted as Transport Mechanical engineer (M.G.O. Branch, D.C.E. & M.E. Div., War Staff) at $2,820 per annum?

3. Was he re-assigned as Senior Electrical Engineer, effective June 1, 1940, at $3,720?

4. Did P.C. 32/1905 of May 10, 1940, have anything to do with him, and, if so, what was it?

5. Did the Treasury Board authorize his re-assignment as Senior Mechanical Engineer in August, 1940, without any recommendation from the Civil Service Commission?

6. On September 5, 1940, was he recommended by Brigadier Carr to the Civil Service Commission as Technical Assistant in Electrical and Mechanical Engineering to the M.G.O. Branch at a daily rate of $12 per week day in the year?

7. Did the Civil Service Commission reply that they could recommend no change at that time?

8. Was he appointed Director of Technical Training of Ordnance Training Center?

9. If so, when and at what salary?

10. Was he also employed as Inspector of guns and carriages?

11. If so, when, and at what salary?

12. Who was the Chief (a) of the Branch and (b) of the Division in which he was employed?

13. Did he ever receive any payment, advance or refund besides his salary?14. If so, how much and for what?

By Mr. Lacombe:—1. Did the Canada Packers, Limited, during the months of September, October, November and December, 1940, secure contracts for provisions from the Department of Munitions and Supply?

2. If so, did the said company, during the same period, sell a quantity of butter to the Department?

3. What price was paid per pound for butter purchased for the training camps at St. Jerome, Joliette and Sorel?

4. Did the department purchase butter from the same company during January, February, March and April, 1941?

5. If so, what price per pound was paid to the company for butter required at the training camps at St. Jerome, Joliette and Sorel?

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,-Return to the foregoing Order forthwith.

By Mr. Hazen:-1. What property or properties have been purchased at Penfield Bridge, Charlotte County, New Brunswick, for an Airport site?

2. What is the name of the person or persons from whom each property was purchased?

3. What is the acreage of each property that was purchased?

4. What amount did the Government pay for each property so purchased? 5. What amount has the Government expended to date for field development, lighting, water and buildings on the properties purchased?

6. To what use are the properties now being put to?

The following Orders of the House were issued to the proper officers:-

By Mr. Coldwell:-Order of the House for a copy of the letter from the Auditor General referred to by the Minister of Munitions and Supply in answer to questions 13 and 14 of Sessional Paper No. 84C. tabled on May 16, 1941.

By Mr. Roy:-Order of the House for a copy of all reports, bills, statements of accounts and other documents exchanged between Government Officials and merchants of the county of Matapedia-Matane, from 1936 to date in 1941, relative to the bonus paid by the Dominion Government to the fishermen of the said county.

The following Bills were respectively read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed, viz:-

Bill No. 75, An Act to amend The Excise Act, 1934.

Bill No. 76, An Act to amend the Customs Tariff.

Mr. Ilsley, by leave of the House, introduced a Bill, No. 79, An Act to authorize the levying of Duties in respect of Successions, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The Bill No. 78, An Act to amend The Excess Profits Tax Act, 1940, was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported with amendments, considered as amended, read the third time and passed.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Ilsley moved, That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply, and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to sit again at the next sitting of the House.

At eleven o'clock, p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put, pursuant to Standing Order 7, until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Golding, from the Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Pursuant to the Order of Reference of Tuesday, May 13th, 1941, your Committee has considered the suspension of Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (a) and (c) in relation to the following petitions, each praying for the passing of an Act to dissolve the marriage of the petitioner, viz:—

- 1. Elizabeth (Elspeth) Brown Rattray Selkirk Morphy—Petition presented May 7th, 1941.
- 2. Irene Coadic Murphy-Petition presented May 7th, 1941.

1. Elizabeth (Elspeth) Brown Rattray Selkirk Morphy.

The offence in this case was only committed on the 6th day of April, 1941, but as soon as the petitioner heard of it and obtained the evidence, proceedings were immediately instituted.

Your Committee having heard the Parliamentary Agent appearing on behalf of the petitioner and after having considered the facts of the case, recommends:—

1. That in relation to the said petition Standing Orders 92 and 93 (3) (c) be suspended, and that Standing Order 93 (3) (a) be suspended only in its application to the suspension of Standing Order 93 (3) (c). If adopted this recommendation would involve a penalty charge of 100.

2. That the said petition be read and received.

2. Irene Coadic Murphy.

The Parliamentary Agent appearing on behalf of the petitioner requested that the proceedings in this case be not further continued at the present time and your Committee so reports. Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of May 5, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. What is the total amount paid by various departments and agencies of the Dominion Government since October 23, 1935, to J. C. McRuer, K.C., for legal or other services rendered, including travelling expenses and living allowances?

2. What is the total amount paid by various departments and agencies of the Dominion Government since October 23, 1935, to Messrs. McRuer, Mason, Cameron and Brewin, for legal services?

And also,—Return to an Order of the House of May 15, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. By what companies, firms or individuals was coal delivered to military projects at Debert during the present season, up to and including March 31?

2. What was the tonnage delivered by each company, firm or individual and the amount paid or payable to same?

Mr. Howe, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Supplementary Return to an Address to His Excellency the Governor General of May 5, 1941, for a copy of the Order in Council which requires persons or firms erecting or extending building structures for industrial or commercial use to obtain a licence.

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King, it was resolved,—That on Wednesday the 28th day of May instant, and all subsequent Wednesdays until the end of session, the sittings shall in every respect be under the same rules as provided for other days.

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to consider Bill No. 17, An Act to amend the Pension Act, which was reported with amendments, considered as amended, and ordered for a third reading at the next sitting of the House.

The Bill No. 16, An Act to control the Export of Game, was again considered in Committee of the Whole, reported with amendments, considered as amended, read the third time and passed.

The Bill No. 24, An Act to amend the Indian Act, was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported with an amendment, considered as amended, read the third time and passed.

The House then adjourned at 10.15 o'clock, p.m., until to-morrow, at three o'clock, p.m.

Mr. Mulock, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,-Return to an Order of the House of May 5, 1941, for a copy of all correspondence, telegrams and other documents in the possession of the Post Office Department, regarding the recent change in the postmastership at Point-Fregate, Gaspé county, Quebec.

Mr. Chevrier, from the Standing Committee on Railways, Canals and Telegraph Lines, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:-

On May 21, 1941, your Committee was empowered to print from day to day 200 copies in English and 100 copies in French of the minutes of proceedings and evidence respecting Bill No. 27 (Letter B-2 of the Senate), An Act respecting British Columbia Telephone Company.

Your Committee recommends that the order of reference be enlarged to permit of the printing of 250 copies in English and that Standing Order 64 be suspended in relation thereto.

Mr. Chevrier, from the Standing Committee on Railways, Canals and Telegraph Lines, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:-

Your Committee has considered Bill No. 27 (Letter B-2 of the Senate), An Act respecting British Columbia Telephone Company and has agreed to report the said bill with amendments.

Your Committee has ordered a reprint of the said bill as amended.

A copy of the evidence taken is tabled herewith.

(For Copy of Evidence accompanying said Report see Appendix to the Journals No. 2)

On motion of Mr. Golding, the Fourth Report of the Standing Committee on Standing Orders, tabled on Tuesday, May 27th, in so far as it relates to the petition of Elizabeth (Elspeth) Brown Rattray Selkirk Morphy, praying for the passing of an Act to dissolve the marriage of the petitioner, was concurred in.

On motion of Mr. Chevrier, the Second Report of the Standing Committee on Railways, Canals and Telegraph Lines, presented this day, was concurred in.

The following Questions on the Order Paper were passed by the House as Orders for Return, under subsection 4 of Standing Order 44, and Orders of the House were issued to the proper officers accordingly, viz:-

By Mr. Church:-1. What has been done by the government to provide a supply of coal for Canada during next fall and winter, in view of the heavy demands for fuel for industry, brought about by the war?

2. Will the government make a study of the matter for the information of the House, after consulting labour and industry?

3. Was coal rationed by the government during the coal famine in 1917? If so, under what legislative action or rules and regulations?

4. Will further study and consideration be given to resolution adopted in the House in 1922-23, regarding a national coal supply, so that more coal can be used, mined and coked under the British flag, from Nova Scotia, Alberta and Wales?

5. What study is being made, or action taken, regarding the use of other forms of heating, as a substitute for coal?

Mr. McLarty, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to the foregoing Order forthwith.

By Mr. Pouliot:—1. Was it brought to the attention of the Department of Pensions and National Health that some distillers producing gin were not complying with the regulations under the Food and Drugs Act?

2. If so, on what dates, and what distillers were not complying with said regulations?

3. Did the above mentioned department issue several circulars to that effect?

4. If so, when and to whom?

5. Did the Department make a distinction as between gin and blend?

6. If so, what was it?

7. Were there specific instructions given by the department to distillers, manufacturers or companies?

8. If so, when and what were they?

9. Were there any extensions granted to distillers, manufacturers or companies to comply with departmental regulations?

10. If so, (a) what were they; (b) for what distillers, manufacturers or companies; (c) through the intervention of whom or what counsel; (d) for what reason were they granted?

11. Did the said distillers, manufacturers or companies finally comply with departmental regulations?

12. If so, when in each case?

The following Order of the House was issued to the proper officer:-

By Mr. Pouliot:—Order of the House for a copy of the account of Mr. L. A. Forsyth, K.C., for fees and expenses in the Bren Gun probe, as mentioned at page 3813 of Hansard of May 10, 1939, showing the said account, (a) as rendered amounting to $11,144.08; (b) taxed and paid at $8,644.68.

Mr. Ralston, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to the foregoing Order forthwith.

The Order being read for the third reading of Bill No. 17, An Act to amend the Pension Act;

Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), moved,—That the said Bill be now read the third time.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The said Bill was accordingly read the third time and passed.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill No. 79, An Act to authorize the levying of Duties in respect of Successions;

By Mr. Pouliot:—1. Referring to Sessional Paper No. 303 (a) of this session and to attached circulars until August 4, 1939, was it permitted under the regulations of any department to call "gin" anything else than "potable spirit sweetened or unsweetened prepared from grain spirit specially rectified and redistilled with juniper berries and flavouring herbs, etc.", as described by section 11 of the regulations under the Food and Drugs Act?

2. Why were the collectors of Customs and Excise and Excise Officers in charge of distilleries "required to ensure that no spirit other than spirit distilled from grain is used in the manufacture of gin, etc."?

3. When did it become permitted for the first time to label as "compound gin" a "beverage made by adding neutral spirits to a distillate obtained from a mixture of alcohol, juniper berries and other flavouring herbs, without subsequent redistillation of the whole, etc.", as described by section 11 (a) of the said regulations?

4. What was the reason of such a change in the said regulations?

5. At whose request and through what counsel, solicitor, agent or lobbyist was it made?

By Mr. Pouliot:—1. Referring to Sessional Paper No. 303 of this session, during the last six years, did any department analyse the beverage labelled "genuine Hollands-Geneva-John de Kuyper & Sons, etc."?

2. If so, how many times?

3. Each time, was it (a) "prepared from grain spirits specially rectified and re-distilled with juniper berries, etc.", or (b) "made by cold mixing molasses alcohol with malt wine, without being re-distilled, etc.", or (c) by first using spirits not made from grain mashes and secondly not re-distilling such mixture with juniper berries, etc."?

4. Was the beverage referred to in No. 1 permitted to be labelled as "gin"?

5. If so, when for the first time during the last six years?

The following Addresses were voted to His Excellency the Governor General and Orders of the House issued to the proper officers:—

By Mr. Ross (St. Paul's):—Address to His Excellency the Governor General for a copy of all correspondence, telegrams and other documents exchanged between the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and any department of Government; or any official thereof, and the Association of Technical Employees, and also copy of the ruling made by the Department of Justice with regard to the ability or inability of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to do business with the Trades Union.

Mr. Howe, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to the foregoing Address forthwith.

By Mr. Johnston (Bow River):—Address to His Excellency the Governor General for a copy of all letters, telegrams and other correspondence exchanged between the Dominion Government and the Dominion Bridge Company, and/or other interested parties, since the beginning of the present war to date, in connection with the Calgary Rolling Mills.

By Mr. Roy:—Address to His Excellency the Governor General for a copy of all reports, contracts, letters, telegrams and other documents exchanged between the Ministry of Health of the Province of Quebec and the Department of Mines and Resources (Indian Affairs Branch), and between the latter and Mr. Ludger Bastien of Loretteville, Quebec, relative to the purchase of a waterworks system on the Loretteville reserve.

By Mr. Pouliot:—Order of the House for a copy of all correspondence, memoranda, briefs, telegrams, and reports in relation to the enactment and application of sections 11 and 11 (a) of the regulations under the Food and Drugs Act.

Mr. Ilsley moved,—That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House to consider the following proposed Resolution:—

That it is expedient to bring in a measure to authorize the Canadian National Railway Company to issue securities not exceeding $29,414,206 in principal amount to provide the moneys necessary to meet capital expenditures made or capital indebtedness incurred during the calendar year 1941; to make provision for the purchase or refunding of capital obligations of the company or of any company comprised in the Canadian National Railways System and for the issue of substituted securities for such purposes; to authorize the Governor in Council to guarantee the principal, interest and sinking funds of securities issued by the company for the purpose aforesaid; to authorize the making of temporary loans to the said company secured by such securities and not exceeding $29,414,206 in principal amount to enable the said company to meet such expenditures and indebtedness; with authority to give financial aid and assistance to other companies of the said National System; to authorize the company to pay supplementary contributions to certain railway employees' provident funds; and to authorize the making of further temporary loans to the said company for interim deficits, said loans to be reimbursed from the annual revenues.

Whereupon, Mr. Ilsley, a Member of the King's Privy Council, informed the House, That His Excellency the Governor General having been informed of the subject-matter of the said proposed Resolution, recommends it to the House.

Resolved, That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the said proposed Resolution.

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was resolved,—That on and after Tuesday June 3, 1941, until adjournment on completion of current business, the House shall meet at 11 o'clock in the morning of each sitting day and that in addition to the usual intermission at 6 o'clock, p.m., there shall also be an intermission every day from one to three o'clock.

The Bill No. 88, An Act to amend the Special War Revenue Act, was again considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment;

Mr. Ilsley then moved,—That the said Bill be now read the third time.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The said Bill was accordingly read the third time and passed.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill No. 87, An Act to amend the Income War Tax Act;

Mr. Ilsley moved,-That the said Bill be now read the second time.

After Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The said Bill was accordingly read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to consider it again at the next sitting of the House.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Ilsley moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

The House then returned to Government Orders.

The House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to consider a certain proposed Resolution to amend The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

(In the Committee)

The following Resolution was adopted:-

Resolved, That it is expedient to introduce a bill to amend The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act by empowering the Minister, subject to the advice and representations of the Advisory Committees, to undertake certain minor rehabilitation projects and schemes and enter into agreements with respect thereto, provided that if the total amount to be expended under any such single project or scheme exceeds five thousand dollars in any fiscal year the approval of the Governor in Council shall be required; also to authorize the Minister to pay administrative expenses and travelling and living expenses of officials and employees.

Resolution to be reported.

The said Resolution was reported, read the second time and concurred in.

Mr. Gardiner then, by leave of the House, presented a Bill, No. 92, An Act to amend The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, which was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bill:--

Bill No. 91, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1942.

Also,—A Message informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bill without any amendment:—

Bill No. 77, An Act to amend The War Exchange Conservation Act, 1940.

Also,—A Message informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bills to which the concurrence of this House was desired:—

Bill No. 93 (Letter G-3 of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Dorrien Edson Weaver."—Mr. Hill.

Bill No. 94 (Letter H-3 of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of David MacDonald."—Mr. MacInnis.

And also,—A Message communicating to this House the evidence taken before the Standing Committee of the Senate on Divorce to whom were referred the petitions of Dorrien Edson Weaver and David MacDonald respectively, praying for Bills of Divorce; and the papers produced in evidence before them with a request that the same be returned to the Senate.

Pursuant to the Special Order made May 29, 1941, the above-mentioned Divorce Bills from the Senate, were respectively read the first time, on division, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

By leave, on motion of Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), the House reverted to Routine Proceedings.

Mr. Mackenzie (Vancouver Centre), a Member of the King's Privy Council, for Mr. Power, then laid before the House,—Copy of Report submitted to the Honourable the Minister of National Defence for Air by W. N. Tilley, Esq., K.C., concerning certain contracts awarded to Acadia Construction Company, Limited, at Eastern Passage Aerodrome, Dartmouth, N.S.

He also presented,-Return to an Order of the House of May 28, 1941, for a Return showing:-

1. Was it brought to the attention of the Department of Pensions and National Health that some distillers producing gin were not complying with the regulations under the Food and Drugs Act?

2. If so, on what dates, and what distillers were not complying with said regulations?

3. Did the above mentioned department issue several circulars to that effect?

4. If so, when and to whom?

5. Did the Department make a distinction as between gin and blend?

6. If so, what was it?

7. Were there specific instructions given by the department to distillers, manufacturers or companies?

8. If so, when and what were they?

9. Were there any extensions granted to distillers, manufacturers or companies to comply with departmental regulations?

10. If so, (a) what were they; (b) for what distillers, manufacturers or companies; (c) through the intervention of whom or what counsel; (d) for what reason were they granted?

11. Did the said distillers, manufacturers or companies finally comply with departmental regulations?

12. If so, when in each case?

The House then returned to Government Orders.

The Bill No. 64, An Act to amend The War Charities Act, 1939, was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again in Committee of Supply;

Mr. Gardiner moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

The Debate on the motion of Mr. Crerar,—That Bill No. 60, An Act to amend the Alberta Natural Resources Act, be now read the second time, was then resumed.

And after still further Debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The said Bill was accordingly read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

By leave, on motion of Mr. Michaud, the House reverted to Routine Proceedings.

Mr. Michaud then, from the Special Committee appointed to consider and review the Defence of Canada Regulations, presented the Fourth and Final Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee was appointed by a resolution of the House adopted on the fourth day of March, 1941.

It has held 24 meetings and, in addition thereto, numerous meetings of a Subcommittee appointed by your Committee have been held.

A number of persons have been heard and their representations considered.

Your Committee has received and considered a large number of submissions in writing; it has called and heard representatives of the departments concerned with the administration of the Regulations or matters associated therewith.

In order to preserve the confidential character of the material laid before it, your Committee decided at the outset that its meetings would be held in camera and that the proceedings (except in cases especially provided for) would not be taken down or printed.

In its Second Report on April 3rd, 1941, your Committee recommended that regulations 26A, 26B, and 37A be amended to the effect that persons who are nationals of and were born in Czechoslovakia be excluded from the category of enemy aliens in the said regulations. This report was concurred in by the House on April 7th and was implemented by the Governor in Council the same date by P.C. 2420. Your Committee recommended that it be given leave to sit while the House was sitting, and has found it necessary so to do.

In addition to the persons hereinbefore referred to as appearing before your Committee, it was fortunate in having appear before it Mr. Alexander Patterson, M.C., who is His Majesty's Commissioner of Prisons for Great Britain, and who has recently been in Canada for the purpose of rendering special service here to the British Government.

It is desired to express the appreciation of your Committee to Mr. Patterson for arranging to appear before your Committee and to give it the benefit of certain valuable facts and information within his knowledge.

Your Committee has considered and reviewed the Defence of Canada Regulations, and in respect thereof makes the following recommendations:

1. That the following provisions be added as paragraphs to Regulation 15:

- 15 (3) Any person against whom an order is made under this section may take objection to such order to a Committee appointed by the Minister of Justice to consist of a person who holds or has held high judicial office.
- 15 (4) When objection is taken, the functions of such Committee shall be to consider and make recommendations to the Secretary of State with respect to any objections against such order which are duly made to the Committee by the person to whom such order relates.

- 15 (5) Notice of objection shall be made to the Secretary of State within fourteen days from the date of service of the order in question, which order shall contain a provision notifying the person of his right to make objection and shall refer to the publication or publications in respect of which the order has been made.
- 15 (6) On receipt of any such notice of objection, the Secretary of State shall forthwith notify such Committee who shall make arrangements for the hearing of such objection.

2. That Regulation 22 be repealed and that the following Regulation, to be numbered 22, be substituted therefor:

22. (1) Any person aggrieved by the making of an order against him under the powers conferred by the last preceding Regulation may make his objection to an advisory committee as provided in this Regulation.

(2) For the purpose of this Regulation the Minister of Justice shall appoint one or more advisory committees, each to consist of three persons, to consider and make recommendations to him with respect to any objections against an order made under the last preceding Regulation. The number of committees appointed shall, in the opinion of the Minister of Justice, be adequate to deal promptly with the cases arising in the different parts of Canada.

(3) The chairman of each committee shall be nominated by the Minister of Justice and shall be a person who holds or has held judicial office.

(4) As soon as possible after detention under an order made under the provisions of the last preceding Regulations, the person against whom the order is made shall in every case be informed of the general grounds on which he is detained and notice of his detention shall, where possible and not contrary to the public interest, be given to his family or such person as he may request.

(5) It shall be the duty of the Minister of Justice to secure that every person detained as aforesaid is informed of his right to make an objection under this Regulation.

(6) A person desiring to make an objection shall deliver to the person having his custody a written notice of objection, signed by the objector, within thirty days from the date of such detention or such further time as the Minister of Justice in his discretion may allow, and a true copy of such notice shall forthwith be forwarded by the person aforesaid to the Minister of Justice for transmission to the chairman of a committee.

(7) The chairman on receipt of such notice of objection shall give such directions as may be convenient and necessary for the prompt and just disposition of the objection.

(8) It shall be the duty of the chairman to inform the objector within a reasonable time before the hearing of the grounds on which the order has been made against him, and, in order to enable him to present his case, to furnish him with as full particulars of the reasons for such order as in the opinion of the chairman the circumstances permit, and such particulars shall be further supplemented by the committee at the hearing by giving the objector all such further particulars as it shall deem necessary and advisable.

(9) The objector may be represented by counsel, solicitor or agent.

(10) The hearing may take place at any place and it may be adjourned from time to time as the committee shall determine. The Minister of Justice shall cause to be put before the committee all the information about such person available to the Minister except such as is not in the public interest to disclose. (11) Where the Minister of Justice has referred a recommendation of an advisory committee to the Commissioner of the R.C.M.P. in order that the latter may have an opportunity of putting such further material as he may desire before the Minister, the Commissioner shall submit such material within a delay of 15 days or such further time as the Minister may allow.

(12) The chairman or any member of a committee may administer oaths, and a committee may receive and accept such evidence and information on oath, affidavit or otherwise as in its discretion it may deem fit and proper.

(13) A committee shall have all the powers and authority of a Commissioner appointed under Part I of the Inquiries Act, Chap. 99 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927.

(14) The Minister of Justice may make further rules as to the manner in which objections against an order as aforesaid may be made and disposed of.

(15) The committee shall consider and make recommendations on any matter arising under these Regulations which may be referred to it by the Minister of Justice.

3. In Regulation 39 strike out the first line of each of paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) and substitute therefor, in each case, the following,

"act in any manner, spread reports, or make statements or utterances intended or likely."

4. That the word "Government" in Regulation 39B (2) be struck out and the following substituted therefor:—

"government."

5. In Regulation 39C, strike out paragraphs 2 and 3 and substitute therefor the following:—

(2) Every person who, is an officer or member of an illegal organization, or professes to be such, or who advocates or defends the acts, principles or policies of such illegal organization shall be guilty of an offence against this regulation.

(3) In any prosecution under this regulation for the defence of being a member of an illegal organization, if it be proved that the person charged has

(a) attended meetings of an illegal organization; or

- (b) spoken publicly in advocacy of an illegal organization; or
- (c) distributed literature of an illegal organization by circulation through the Post Office mails of Canada, or otherwise.

it shall be presumed, in the absence of proof to the contrary, that he is a member of such illegal organization.

6. That Regulation 58 be amended by striking out Paragraphs 3 and 4 thereof, and substituting therefor the following paragraphs:—

(3) For the purposes of paragraph one of this regulation every commissioned officer of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police shall be a justice of the peace.

(4) (a) A police or stipendiary magistrate or two justices of the peace may, with the consent of counsel representing the Attorney General of Canada or of the province, order that any article seized shall be forfeited to the Crown, to be disposed of as the Attorney General of the Province in which such forfeiture takes place may direct, or, if such article is not of a subversive nature, returned to the owner, notwithstanding that no person has been charged with, committed for trial for, or convicted of, an offence in connection with such article: Provided that where a claim has been made by the owner of any such article before an order of forfeiture has been made that article shall not be destroyed unless it is of a subversive nature.

(b) No order shall be made under the authority of this paragraph until three months have expired from the date the article was seized and if no claim has been made for the return to the owner of such article the magistrate or justices of the peace may make an order, with the consent as aforesaid, on the ex parte application of the seizing authorities.

7. Your Committee recommends that consideration be given to segregating in separate places of detention the different classifications of persons detained under Regulation 21.

8. Your Committee recommends that consideration be given by the authorities administering places of detention to improving for British subjects communication and visiting privileges subject, however, to proper censorship of communication and appropriate supervision of visitors.

9. Your Committee recommends that the Minister of Justice give consideration to the following procedure with respect to detention of persons under Regulation 21:—

That when the Minister of Justice makes an order for detention under Regulation 21 of the Defence of Canada Regulations he provide in such order, in those cases where in his opinion circumstances permit, that the person referred to therein when apprehended be detained at the nearest convenient gaol to his place of residence or the place where he may be apprehended as circumstances may require, and there be detained under similar conditions to that of a person held pending trial, until his objection has been heard and disposed of or until he has indicated that he does not propose to make an objection or the time for making an objection has expired, when, unless he is released, he shall be transferred to and detained in an internment camp or other appropriate place under conditions prevailing at such camp or place.

10. Your Committee recommends that the Minister of Justice give consideration to the advisability of recommending the making of a regulation whereby the sale of ammunition for pistols and revolvers be prohibited unless the purchaser first produces his registration certificate for his pistol or revolver to the vendor.

11. Your Committee recommends that for the duration of the war a Special Committee of the House should be appointed at each session to consider and review the Defence of Canada Regulations and matters incidental thereto.

12. Your Committee recommends that when such amendments as arise out of this Report are made in the Regulations, such Regulations as amended should be consolidated and re-printed.

13. Naturalization—Deportation.

Your Committee has received some evidence and has investigated these two important subjects in part only and, notwithstanding the fact that your Committee has held a great many meetings, including on occasions two meetings a day, the limited time at our command has made it impossible to devote the time to these subjects which they require in order to enable a proper report to be made to the House.

Your Committee therefore respectfully begs to recommend that at the next session of the House the law relating to Naturalization and Deportation and matters incidental thereto be the subject matter of a reference to a committee of the House.

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of May 22, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. Are government motor cars and chauffeurs available to members of the Ottawa staff of the Department of National Defence at all hours?

2. If so, (a) how many cars; (b) of what make; (c) when purchased or rented; (d) at what cost in each case; (e) what has been the total cost of upkeep, repairs and garage rent of such cars since the beginning of the present war; (f) to what particular members of the said Ottawa staff are they available?

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bill, without any amendment:—

Bill No. 24, An Act to amend the Indian Act.

And also,—A Message informing this House that the Senate had passed the Bill No. 16, An Act to control the Export of Game, with amendments, which are as follows:—

1. Page 2, line 41. Leave out the words "other person" and insert the words "game officer".

2. Page 3, lines 38 and 39. Leave out the words "Paragraph (b) of section three shall be in force throughout Canada".

3. Page 3, line 40. After the word "province" add the following words "paragraph (b) of section three shall be in force throughout Canada in respect of game killed in such province."

The Bill No. 92, An Act to amend The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported with an amendment, considered as amended, read the third time and passed.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again in Committee of Supply;

Mr. Gardiner moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply, and progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to sit again later this day.

By leave, on motion of Mr. Gardiner, the House reverted to Routine Proceedings.

Mr. Thorson then, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee was appointed by Order of the House on March 5, 1941, to examine the expenditure defrayed out of moneys provided by parliament for the defence services, and other services directly connected with the war, and to report what, if any, economies consistent with the execution of the policy decided by the government may be effected therein. Your Committee met for organization purposes on March 12th and has held 19 sessions of the main committee and 34 sessions of its subcommittees.

Your Committee has examined 8 witnesses before the main committee and 27 before its subcommittees.

Your Committee commenced its inquiries in open sessions, with a general review of the manner in which the Department of Munitions and Supply functions as a central purchasing agency for the three departments of National Defence, army, navy and air, from the time it receives a requisition or contract demand from one of such departments until such requisition is filled, of the various types of contracts which are entered into by the department and the bases upon which such contracts are let, of the various checks and controls in the matter of cost accounting that are exercised, of the manner in which the purchasing organization within the department is set up and functions and a general exploration of the existing checks, controls, care and supervision in the matter of procuring necessary munitions and supplies.

Your committee next made a general review of the subjects of inspection of and payment for munitions and supplies. The object of inspection of munitions and supplies is to ensure that the goods supplied are fit for His Majesty's service. It is essential therefore that this function should be performed by persons independent of either of the contracting parties. This function of independent inspection is now, subject to certain exceptions, performed by the Inspection Board of the United Kingdom and Canada which now co-ordinates the activities of the inspection services of His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom and those of the government of Canada with respect to the production, manufacture and assembly of munitions and supplies in Canada and the United States. Your Committee was informed by the Chairman and Inspector General of the Inspection Board that the articles sent from Canada to the United Kingdom for war purposes were most satisfactory, and that his officers had run across only one case of dishonest practice in the whole of his inspection experience with Canadian manufacturers.

Finally your Committee had the benefit of a general statement as to the controls exercised by the Comptroller of the Treasury and of the Treasury Board in the matter of war expenditures.

Your Committee greatly appreciates the assistance given by the officials who appeared before it in this necessary introductory review, for as the inquiry developed along these general lines specific subjects of inquiry outlined themselves and the fields of exploration of possible economies in the matter of war expenditures became more clearly defined. A statement of the specific heads of inquiry requiring the attention of the committee is to be found on pp. 218-222 of the evidence which is transmitted with this report. In the opinion of the committee these subjects require careful study.

At the last meeting of your Committee before the Easter recess, on April 8, 1941, the chairman was authorized to forward certain questionnaires to the three deputy ministers of National Defence and to deputy ministers and heads of commissions, the one set relating to Headquarters establishments at Ottawa and military districts, naval dockyards and air commands throughout Canada, and the other to civil servants who had obtained leave to enlist with the armed forces, with a request that replies be made by the time Parliament re-assembled.

When your Committee re-assembled on April 30, 1941, after the Easter recess, it seemed clear that it would be necessary for the committee to appoint subcommittees to inquire into specific matters. An agenda committee, representative of all parties, was appointed to prepare an agenda and report to the main committee. On May 5, 1941, the report of the agenda committee recommending the appointment of three subcommittees to inquire into specific matters was unanimously adopted as follows:

The Agenda Subcommittee of the Special Committee on War Expenditures recommends:

- (1) That a subcommittee be appointed to inquire into the following matters:---
  - (a) Contracts with civilian flying clubs, associations or companies;
  - (b) Airport, aerodrome and air force buildings construction, specifications and designs for such projects, and inspection thereof during construction; and that such subcommittee consist of Messrs. Cleaver, (Chairman), Black, Diefenbaker, Golding, Gray, McGeer, Pottier; and that the quorum be (3).

- (2) That a subcommittee be appointed to inquire into the following matters:—
  - (a) Medical, dental and hospitalization services in the army, navy and air force;
  - (b) Food supplies for the forces, inspection thereof, catering and salvage of waste;
  - (c) Army and navy buildings construction;

and that such subcommittee consist of Mesrs. Graham (Chairman), Gladstone, Harris, Marshall, Mayhew, Picard, Sissons; and that the quorum be (3).

- (3) That a subcommittee be appointed to inquire into the following matters:-
  - (a) Headquarters establishments and pay and allowances;

(b) Financial controls over army, navy and air force expenditures; and that such subcommittee consist of Messrs. Thorson (Chairman), Abbott, Bercovitch, Bradette, Chevrier, Fournier, Green, Macdonald, MacInnis, Ross; and that the quorum be (4).

- (4) That each of the subcommittees do report their findings and recommendations to the Committee;
- (5) That the Chairman, or in his absence the vice-chairman, be ex-officio a member of the first and second subcommittees above refered to.

On the same date your committee resolved that the sittings of its subcommittees be in camera except as the subcommittee may otherwise from time to time determine. It was the opinion of your committee that its members would obtain a freer expression of opinion from persons appearing before the subcommittee if the sittings were held in camera than if they were open sittings. Your committee was not, however, unanimous in this decision, the motion carrying on the following division: Yeas, 12; Nays, 3.

Since the said date the activities of your committee have been carried out by the said subcommittees which have all made their reports to the main committee.

The report of sub committee No. 1 as amended by the committee was adopted on the following division-Yeas 14. Navs 2, as follows:

REPORT OF SUBCOMMITEE No. 1 AS AMENDED

This subcommittee was appointed on May 5th. 1941, to inquire into the following matters:-

- (a) Contracts with civilian flying clubs, associations or companies:
- (b) Airports, aerodromes and air force building construction, specifications and designs for such projects and inspection thereof during construction

The subcommittee begs to give an interim report of their findings and recommendations to the special committee.

1. The subcommittee immediately upon appointment proceeded to examine the expenditures defraved out of moneys provided by parliament for the services named, holding twelve meetings and examining officials of the Department of National Defence for Air, Department of Munitions and Supply and Department of Transport, members and officials of companies in charge of elementary training schools and air observer schools, besides visiting one aerodrome.

CONTRACTS WITH CIVILIAN FLYING CLUBS. ASSOCIATIONS OF COMPANIES

2. The subcommittee found that under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan there are two types of flying training schools operated by civilian companies, namely, the elementary flying training schools and the air observer schools. The plan called for twenty-six elementary flying training schools and ten air observer schools. There are at this date in operation eighteen elementary flying training schools (of which one is a double school) and seven air observer schools. A study was made with respect to contracts entered into with civilian companies specially incorporated for the purpose of operating elementary flying training schools as complete as was possible in the time at our disposal, but our work in this regard is not fully completed.

ELEMENTARY FLYING TRAINING SCHOOLS

3. All elementary flying training schools (with only one exception, being the school at Cap de la Madeleine) are operated by companies especially incorporated for the purpose and sponsored by existing flying clubs. The subcommittee has been informed that these companies are organized on a non-profit sharing basis as to all common stock and that their preferred stock. which is limited to $35,000, is restricted to a 5 per cent dividend annually. The practice has been for public spirited citizens, service clubs and municipal bodies, to raise the $35,000 required, and in some instances the money has been made available for this purpose without interest. The intention of the plan is that after payment of 5 per cent on $35,000 of preferred stock all profits which accrue from the operation of the elementary flying training schools will be the property of the flying clubs to enable them to sponsor civilian flying and generally to give leadership to civilian aviation after the war.

4. In the short time at its disposal the subcommittee has not been able to check the capital set-up of each of the individual elementary flying training companies, and recommends that this should be carefully done.

5. Under the form of agreement between the operating companies and the Crown the latter provides buildings. aerodromes and all necessary equipment 14875-29 including aeroplanes and recompenses the company for their services under four heads, namely, management, operation and maintenance, flying hour costs and messing costs. Of these, management and messing costs are fixed, while operation and maintenance and flying hour costs are adjustable each 24 weeks, based upon experience. The flying hour costs include an estimated cost of gasoline and oil, plus 50 cents per flying hour as a reserve against crashes and plus 50 cents per flying hour profit to the company. Every 24 weeks the contract price of gas and oil as fixed by the contract is revised in the light of actual cost. The company is required to maintain the properties and equipment in a manner satisfactory to the Minister of National Defence for Air and to carry out training pursuant to a syllabus of training indicated by the R.C.A.F.

6. The sources of profit to the operating companies are in savings in the management allowance, 50 cents per flying hour, and 25 per cent of any residue that may exist in operation and maintenance and in allowance for flying hours (gas and oil) at the expiry of the contract. Crash reserve residue reverts to the Crown. The operating companies have voluntarily surrendered 50 per cent of the flying hour profits as from the time the intake of pupils was increased from 48 to 70. Increased intake of pupils naturally tends towards increased flying hours and an appreciable decrease in overhead costs per flying hour. The monthly profits of the said companies range from $318.32 to $942.54. The subcommittee recommends that there should be a reasonable limitation placed on the amount of profits which can accrue to flying clubs. We recommend that profit of these companies should be further carefully studied.

7. The subcommittee appreciates this commendable attitude on the part of the flying club school sponsoring the operating company's school, and recommends that the contracts be adjusted accordingly and that any further contracts entered into fix the flying hour profit at 25 cents as soon as the intake of the school reaches 70 pupils.

8. It is found that there is a check on the expenditures of all public moneys and in regard to the maintenance of all public properties. At the close of each four weeks a detailed statement or return, on forms provided, is made to the Department of National Defence for Air, of all expenditures, attached to which is a report of the company's auditors certifying in proper form both the statement submitted and the company's books for the period, and, in addition to this, a regular inspection is made by the financial adviser to the department.

9. The subcommittee finds that in no case is any disbursement of profit made over and above 5 per cent per annum of subscribed capital and that any surplus funds possessed at any time by any of the operating companies are held in special reserve accounts and are voluntarily invested in Dominion of Canada bonds, usually of the non-interest bearing type. We recommend that the contracts be amended to provide for this practice.

10. The Training Command of the R.C.A.F. express their complete satisfaction in the training results of the Elementary Flying Training Schools and the Air Observer Schools operated by civilian companies, and they stated any attempt to place the responsibility of this type of training upon schools operated by the service would place "an intolerable burden on the service," in which statement the committee concurs. The committee recommends that we should continue to take advantage of the services of these civilian flying companies, and that the services rendered by them be extended to their full capacity.

11. The subcommittee finds that the estimated cost of operating the Elementary Flying Training Schools based on a target price was $982.31 per pupil, while the actual cost to the Crown as of 31st March, 1941, was $864.35 per pupil.

AIR OBSERVER SCHOOLS

12. The subcommittee has not completed its inquiry as to operation costs and profits with respect to Air Observer Schools. A conference has been called of executive officers of all of these schools to discuss operating costs and profits and the subcommittee is not prepared to make any report in regard to these schools until its inquiry in this regard is completed.

AIRPORT, AERODROME AND AIR FORCE BUILDING, ETC.

13. The subcommittee has opened its inquiry in regard to the procedure for the acquiring of airport sites and in regard to the airport construction projects for training purposes, but is not ready to report in this regard.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The scope of our inquiry to date does not permit of any findings or recommendations other than above noted, and indicates the need for further inquiry.

The report of Subcommittee No. 2, as amended by the committee, was adopted as follows:---

REPORT OF SUBCOMMITTEE No. 2, AS AMENDED

The following subjects of inquiry were assigned to this subcommittee:-

- (a) Medical, dental and hospitalization services in the Army, Navy and Air Force;
- (b) Food supplies for the Forces, Inspection thereof, Catering and Salvage of Waste;
- (c) Army and Navy buildings construction.

The subcommittee wishes to make clear that in none of the above subjects has its inquiry been completed, and as a result it does not feel itself in a position as yet to make conclusive findings or important recommendations affecting any change.

(A) Medical, Dental and Hospitalization Services in the Army, Navy and Air Force.—The subcommittee was not able to open up this particular branch of its inquiry other than to have a preliminary discussion through its chairman with the Director General of Medical Services for the Army.

(C) Army and Navy Buildings Construction.—The subcommittee was not able to pursue its inquiry into the above subject other than to have the Quartermaster-General give to the committee an outline of the part which his branch of the Department of National Defence performs in this respect.

(B) Food Supplies for the Forces, Inspection Thereof, Catering and Salvage of Waste.—The work of the subcommittee was chiefly concerned with the above subject.

The plan of inquiry was to secure from the proper departmental officials the system of operation and control in regard to these matters and to inquire as to how these departmental rules and regulations were being applied and carried out in military establishments in or adjacent to Ottawa.

(1) The provision, receipting, custody, issue and accounting for supplies

The Quartermaster-General is responsible for the rationing of the Army and Air Force in Canada.

The present ration list is largely the result of recommendations made by a committee of expert advisers on nutrition, dietetics, hygiene, household science, agriculture, etc., under the National Research Council.

Specifications of each item have been carefully prepared in the Quartermaster-General branch and these are furnished to each firm or individual invited to tender.

R.C.A.S.C. Supply Depots are established at various centres throughout Canada where the localization of units make this advisable.

The officers in charge of supplies at these depots make their demands on contractors in accordance with their immediate requirements. Each food contract provides for this privilege in delivery.

Each Depot is responsible for the inspection of the foodstuffs furnished as to quality and quantity, the receipting for same, the custody of these while in the Depot, the issue to units being served by the Depot and the keeping of an accurate record of receipts and outgoings. Frequent inventories are made not only by the officers in charge of the Depot but by officers of the Store Audits Branch.

The subcommittee was informed that in portions of Ontario and Quebec the meat to be furnished our armed forces is inspected in the meat supply houses during the ordinary carrying out of their duties by Inspectors of the Department of Agriculture and that these carcasses approved as meeting the requirements of the specifications of the Department of National Defence are stamped with "D.N.D." to indicate inspection and approval. This practice is of recent origin.

The subcommittee noted subsequently that this is being done at the Supply Depot in Petawawa camp and believe it is a wise economy as it will result in the inspection being more thorough and obviate the necessity and expense of these inspectors visiting the Depots for this purpose. The Quartermaster-General informed the subcommittee that consideration is being given to the extension of this practice throughout Canada.

Underdrawn rations remain the property of the public while overdrawn rations are paid for quarterly by the unit so overdrawing.

Certain inspections and checks are made to guard against waste or pilferage in the units being issued the rations, but this subcommittee has not yet made sufficient investigation to certify as to their adequacy.

(2) Catering, and Messing

Since the outbreak of the war a Chief Inspector of Catering and Messing has been appointed working under the Director of Supplies and Transport. The work of this nature rapidly increased with the result that in each military district a district catering and messing officer has been appointed.

One decided improvement was noted by the subcommittee at Petawawa. The "orderly" system of messing is used there and in the opinion of the committee is a marked improvement over the "cafeteria" method. It permits of a much more inviting service of food and should assist in minimizing food waste from the tables.

The subcommittee understands that this method is used in most of the Army Camps throughout Canada but has not yet been adopted, generally, in the Air Force. If this is correct your subcommittee would recommend the use of the "orderly" system wherever possible.

Schools for cooking have been established at Camp Borden and Red Deer, Alberta. No attempt has as yet been made to create a "pool" of cooks to supply units requiring these. The subcommittee believes that this is a matter of sufficient importance to "kitchen" economy as to justify further inquiry, particularly as a shortage of trained and efficient cooks is anticipated.

The subcommittee was informed that the average cost of feeding the army and air force from coast to coast was 31 cents per man per day, for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1941.

In the Great War of 1914-18 the comparative cost figure was between 25 and 40 cents and in the United States in the neighbourhood of 50 cents.

(3) Salvage of Waste

The subcommittee, of necessity, confined its inquiry in the above matters to salvage of food waste and containers.

It found that certatin rules and regulations have been laid down for each depot and unit as to salvage of food waste and containers, and that at Lansdown Park and Petawawa an attempt was being made to carry these out.

The matter is made difficult by the absence in certain localities of a market for certain items of salvage.

The subcommittee is of the opinion that there is not sufficient emphasis or attention being paid to the whole matter of salvage and that the subject should be further inquired into with a view to systematizing the whole method of salvage throughout Canada.

It recommends that the general committee enlarge the subject matter of inquiry under this head to include all items of salvage including foodstuffs, oil, boots and leather goods, clothing, lumber, containers and other worn-out or cast off material.

(4) Purchase of Foodstuffs

This is all done by the Department of Munitions and Supply and is under the direct supervision of the Chief of the Commissary Division.

Prior to the war all supplies throughout Canada were purchased through the Ottawa office. This is now changed and branch purchasing offices are established at all the main centres throughout Canada.

Through an arrangement with the two Canadian railways, the chief purchasing officers of these are used at these points. A small honorarium of $100 a month in the large offices and $50 a month in the smaller is paid the railways to be divided as these see fit among the staff used for this work.

Formerly purchases were made for a period covering six months but the subcommittee was informed that it was found advisable to minimize this time period, as much as possible, and the result now is that purchase of all commodities except bread and sometimes milk is on a monthly basis.

The departmental officer appearing before the subcommittee indicated as the chief reason for this change the inclination of such large purchases to disturb the price levels of these commodities.

Some discussion took place in the subcommittee as to the merits of this decision and further inquiry is necessary before reaching any conclusion.

The subcommittee was furnished with the average price paid by the government for the principal items of foodstuffs during the last six months.

It was also furnished with a list of the firms in Military District No. 3 to whom invitations to tender are being sent.

This information and the implications therefrom are obviously of great importance to this phase of the inquiry. Prices, methods of calling for tenders, sources of supply, possible combinations to control or agree upon prices are all, of course, fundamental avenues of investigation.

The subcommittee did not find it possible to develop this branch of the Inquiry and recommends that it be proceeded with in due course.

The Report of subcommittee No. 3 was adopted as follows:-

REPORT OF SUBCOMMITTEE No. 3

This subcommittee was appointed to inquire into the following matters:-

(a) Headquarters establishments and pay and allowances.

(b) Financial controls over army, navy and air force expenditures.

The subcommittee has held nineteen (19) sessions and has heard representations from each of the three services, army, navy and air.

The subcommittee has largely confined itself to the all-embracing subject of financial controls over army, navy and air force expenditures in the belief that the proper application of controls over war expenditures will result in very substantial economies without in any manner lessening the effectiveness of the war effort. The subject is one of great magnitude and importance and the committee cannot go further at this stage than to make an interim report.

The subcommittee has sought to study fundamental principles with a view to recommending certain reforms that should result in a more careful review of proposed war expenditures. While it has not been able to complete its studies as it would wish to do, there are certain basic principles which may be stated.

It is the function of Parliament to grant the sums of money that are necessary in order that the armed forces may be able to carry on the duties, which are assigned to them, as effectively as possible.

It is essential that at all stages there should be adequate and proper controls of expenditures. The minister of the defence department in respect of which sums of money are appropriated by Parliament is responsible to Parliament for the proper expenditure of such moneys. This is a civilian responsibility.

On the other hand the financial requirements of the services cannot be properly determined without the special training and knowledge of the service personnel. To that extent they must exercise functions which affect control. The subcommittee has therefore embarked upon a study of the respective functions of the civilian authority and the service authority in each arm of the defence services in the matter of financial controls with the knowledge that each has its appropriate place.

Parliament deals with the matter of war expenditures for the first time when the war appropriations bill is before it. This bill is based upon the estimates which have been approved. It is essential that such estimates should be prepared with great care, for they mark the extent to which expenditures may be made. The final approval of estimates before they are presented to Parliament is a civilian function and Council and Treasury Board are entitled to rely upon as careful a scrutiny of the estimates as possible in each defence department itself before they are submitted. This is the minister's responsibility and he must be able to rely upon the permanent branch of the department, his deputy minister and the civilian officers under him, rather than upon the service personnel (who are subject to change according to the exigencies of the service). It is therefore the opinion of the committee that the final preparation and approval of estimates before they come to the minister should be under the jurisdiction of the deputy minister. This important function, involving great and intricate detail, warrants the most careful supervision. The subcommittee believes therefore that there should be a Financial Superintendent under the jurisdiction of the deputy minister, charged with the function, among others, of gathering together, classifying and finally preparing the estimates for presentation to the deputy minister. This Financial Superintendent should be a civilian, independent of the service personnel and responsible directly to the deputy minister. It is highly desirable that he should have a sound knowledge and sympathetic understanding of the needs of the service, for the compilation of the estimates is a matter of vital concern to the service officers who are responsible for the successful operations of our army, navy and air force. The subcommittee has noted that in the organization of the war office in the United Kingdom there is a director of finance responsible to the Permanent Under-Secretary of State for War, who is charged with the general preparation of army estimates. This person is a civilian, but is usually a person who has had previous experience in the service of the army. In the preparation of the estimates it is essential that there should be the utmost co-operation between the civilian and service personnel, with a clear knowledge on the part of each of the respective functions of the other with a view to their integration towards the maximum united action. The subcommittee believes that it would be desirable that the Financial Superintendent should have his representatives working in the branches or divisions of the service in liaison and co-operation with the important service officers who are concerned with adequate estimates for the particular objectives for which they are responsible.

It should be noted, however, that the estimates as finally settled are based upon approved establishments and the incidentals of such establishments and their operations. This was the case in the main at any rate for the estimates for the present fiscal year and represents an improvement over the manner in which the estimates were prepared for the previous year.

Since the estimates presented to Parliament are based upon approved establishments as indicated, it follows that the fields of exploration of possible economies are to be found in the establishments themselves and their incidentals. These involve in the main three main factors, expressed in civilian terms, namely, persons, plant and equipment. This is not a precise or completely accurate description but it will perhaps serve for the purposes of this interim report.

These three factors are the main cost factors in an establishment and its incidentals and deserve the most careful scrutiny before the establishment is approved, for after the establishment is approved and acted upon changes are not easy. A consideration of each of these factors opens up wide sources of enquiry as to possible economies in expenditures.

(1) Persons

A careful scrutiny of the personnel factors in a war establishment is therefore essential. In this regard two cardinal principles must be borne in mind. The establishment must be adequate so far as personnel is concerned for its war purposes. On the other hand personnel must not be wastefully dealt with. There are various ways in which waste may occur in the use of personnel.

Prior to the Easter recess the main committee addressed extensive questionnaires to each of the three services relating to Headquarters establishments of the army and its military districts, the navy and its dockyards and the air force and its commands. The replies to these questionnaires that have been received were carefully given and have already proved useful to the subcommittee. They have not yet been as fully studied as they should be. The replies do however indicate a need for a careful review of existing Headquarters establishments with a view to eliminating duplication of functions and accomplishing further co-ordination. The subcommittee is of the opinion that there is some duplication of functions and that further co-ordination can be accomplished with considerable economy in the matter of personnel and the expenditures connected therewith. The subcommittee is of the opinion that this subject requires further study before passing judgment in the matter.

One other personnel subject has received a considerable amount of study, namely, the use of service personnel both officers and other ranks, receiving pay and allowances according to rank, for functions of a purely routine or clerical nature, instead of civilian clerks, whose rates of pay would be in accordance with their grades as fixed by the Civil Service Commission. It has been stated to the committee that very large economies could be effected if such service personnel performing these functions of a routine and clerical nature were replaced by civilian clerks and that the efficiency of the service rendered would not be lessened. The replies to the questionnaires above referred to lend support to these statements and the subcommittee is definitely of the opinion that this subject requires most careful review by the services concerned. Two courses have been suggested—one, that trained clerks in other departments of the government service should be seconded to the defence departments for the duration of the war, and the other, that the Civil Service Commission be requested to supply the necessary civilian personnel. The extent to which this replacement is possible requires further and immediate study. It has been urged before the subcommittee that if this large economy is to be effected, it will be necessary to relax the present policy under which salary increases for civil servants are restricted for the duration of the war at least in the case of such civil servants as are loaned to or employed by the defence departments.

It is realized that it is not an easy matter to revise existing establishments downward once they have come into existence. It is therefore a matter of prime importance that all establishment proposals should be carefully reviewed in the defence department concerned before they come to Treasury Board and become the basis of an estimate. If economies in the matter of establishments are to be effected they should be made at the commencement rather than at a later date when the establishment has come into effect and has become difficult if not impossible of change. The subcommittee therefore strongly recommends the setting up of an establishments committee in any of the defence departments where such an institution does not already exist. Such an establishments committee should be charged with the duty of carefully reviewing all establishment proposals before they are sent to Treasury Board and become the basis of an estimate. The establishments committee should in each defence department consist of the service officers that are most familiar with the establishment requirements. In addition since an establishment proposal involves financial commitments the subcommittee is strongly of the opinion that the financial superintendent of the department or his representative should be a member of such establishments committee. This addition would in the opinion of the subcommittee constitute a very important additional financial control. The careful review of establishment proposals by such a committee consisting of the proper service personnel and a representative of the civilian authority should insure that every proposal has been thoroughly considered and that the financial commitments involved have been thoroughly appraised. The committee is of the opinion that its recommendations in this regard, if implemented and carried out in a spirit of understanding and co-operation between the civilian and service authorities, will result in very substantial economies.

(2) Plant

In this the committee includes the construction of all buildings, camps, aerodromes, airports and other construction projects for the use of the forces. Important questions such as the revision of specifications, the full use of the engineering services of other departments of the government and adequate supervision of construction come up for careful consideration. These important questions deserve the most careful study. Again in this field there is need for the proper appreciation of the respective functions of the civilian and service authorities. Construction projects must be adequate for the performance of the necessary service duties, but there is no field in which there can be greater waste if there is not due regard for the most economical use of the nation's financial resources. In this field therefore the civilian authority must be adequately and strongly represented particularly before large construction programs are set under way. One defence department has announced the appointment of a civilian director of construction projects in connection with the large program which it has in contemplation. This step is commended by the subcommittee which believes that similar action might well be taken by any of the other defence departments that have large construction programs still before them.

A.D. 1941

(3) Equipment

This third factor in an establishment is closely connected with the first, namely, that of personnel. Indeed a war establishment has been defined for the subcommittee from the army point of view as "a concise statement in tabular form giving the detailed composition of a unit of the army in personnel, weapons and mechanical transport required for the operational role and the administration of the unit". This definition, with necessary changes for the other services, illustrates the close connection above referred to. The same careful scrutiny of the equipment factor of a war establishment as has been recommended for the personnel factor before the establishment proposal is submitted from the department, is therefor desirable.

Related to the question of equipment is that of supplies required for the use of the forces.

The procurement of construction, subject to certain exceptions, and of equipment and supplies is the function of the Department of Munitions and Supply, the operation of which has been described very clearly in a general way to the main committee by the Deputy Minister of that department. This originates in that department by what is known as a contract demand or requisition emanating from one of the defence departments. Such a contract demand does not go forward to the Department of Munitions and Supply until after a certification by the Comptroller of the Treasury that there is an unencumbered balance available for the purposes of the contract demand. The completion of the contract demand by one of the defence departments therefore constitutes a financial encumbrance upon the appropriate vote of that department.

The raising of this contract demand or requisition with its implication of financial encumbrance affords the first review in the department of a proposed expenditure of moneys against the appropriation based upon the estimates. It is important, therefore, that it should be carefully done. This duty of review is placed upon the deputy minister and must be discharged by him or some person directly responsible to him. All proposed financial encumbrances must therefore come to the deputy minister's office before the contract demand that results therefrom leaves his department. As each financial encumbrance is made it should be properly recorded, so that the department may know at all times the state of the appropriation and the balance unexpended. The Comptroller of the Treasury must of course in his treasury branch in the department keep a careful account of all commitments so that he may be able to make the necessary certification of unencumbered balance available with accuracy but in the opinion of the subcommittee it is also necessary that the department itself should keep a record of all such commitments, for it must keep track of its own appropriations for the whole program of the department in order that if necessary the basis for supplementary estimates may be prepared in proper time. This function of recording expenditures and keeping proper commitment records should be performed in the deputy minister's branch of the department and it is the opinion of the subcommittee that this function should be assigned to the financial superintendent.

Indeed it is the view of the subcommittee that, generally speaking, all matters affecting financial expenditures should be centered in the deputy minister's office. It is not the function of the service personnel to make financial arrangements for the department. That is fundamentally a civilian function. There may of course be some exceptions to this general principle made necessary by the exigencies of the service such as pay and allowances for the armed forces in the field which are governed by financial regulations and instructions and other exceptions of a similar nature. It should also be noted that reliable statistical records are essential as a background for adequate financial control and the future policy and program of the department. It is therefore the opinion of the subcommittee that such essential statistical records should also be under the jurisdiction of the deputy minister.

The subcommittee has given some study to the subject of local purchasing authority. While the department of munitions and supply acts as a central purchasing agent for the defence departments in respect of their requirements as presented in the form of contract demands, it has been found necessary to decentralize purchasing to some extent and to delegate local purchasing authority to the defence departments themselves for certain purposes and within closely restricted limits as to amounts. Such local purchasing authority requires careful control in order that it may be properly exercised.

When supplies have been procured for any of the defence departments either as a result of central purchasing by the department of munitions and supply or under the delegated local purchasing authority the supplies become a charge of the defence department. In respect of such supplies the subcommittee has made some study of the subject of audit of service stores. Such stores represent money and it is essential that the same care should be used with regard to them as is necessary in the case of other matters involving The reception, distribution and accounting of stores must be expenditures. left in large measure as the responsibility of the service personnel, although civilian personnel in equipment depots could be used to considerable advantage. It is however essential that there should be an independent audit of such stores. This is a necessary and sound check. It cannot, in the opinion of the subcommittee, be made by service personnel who are subject to discipline, in the independent manner that is necessary to proper audit. The audit of service stores is therefore essentially a civilian function. The subcommittee is strongly of the opinion that apart from the audit that is imposed by statute on the auditor general, the audit of service stores if it is to be independent should be performed under the jurisdiction of the deputy minister.

The subcommittee has also given attention to certain other specific economies that are possible on a large scale. The expenditures of army, navy and air force on stationery, printing and advertising have reached exceedingly high levels, and serious efforts must be made by the services to reduce these expenditures. Committees have been set up in the services with this end in view. This is a step in the right direction but more remains to be done. The same remark applies to expenditures for telegrams and long-distance telephone calls, although in that respect there has been improvement. There can also, in the opinion of the subcommittee, be economies in some other matters such as transportation and freight, heating, gas and oil, and other supplies. All of these subjects deserve further exploration. The subcommittee does not at this stage feel able to state the amounts that can be saved but has no doubt that large economies are possible.

Financial controls over army, navy and air force expenditures in the hands of the civilian authorities do not involve any conception of superiority over the service personnel. Any such idea is erroneous and dangerous to the united effort that is essential. The basis is rather in the fact that the furnishing of financial resources for war purposes is a civilian responsibility of the nation at large and that there is a duty on the part of the minister of each defence department to see that the resources so furnished are used to the best possible advantage.

In the United Kingdom, as the result of long experience but after conflict of viewpoints, the respective functions of the civilian authorities in war departments, who are in control of financial matters and of the service authorities who are in charge of war operations and responsible for their success are well understood and accepted by one another as necessarily complementary and ancillary to one another. The subcommittee has felt that there has not yet been a similar acceptance in our defence departments of that fundamental principle, but notes that progress has been made in that direction and that action has been taken or is under consideration along some of the lines recommended by the subcommittee.

The subcommittee is strongly of the opinion that a further careful study of adequate controls of army, navy and air force expenditures should be made immediately in the belief that such controls will result in very large economies throughout the services, greater no doubt in some than in others.

It must be remembered that our forces have expanded with great rapidity and it was not to be expected that there should be the same cost consciousness during their rapid expansion as would be expected in peace times for the first prime consideration was to accomplish the expansion as rapidly as possible, but it is essential in the interests of a concerted and effective war effort that there should be the utmost use made of our financial resources in view of the strain made upon them. To that end sound controls over war expenditures at every stage are essential. These controls should be with the civilian authorities.

The subcommittee concludes its interim report with one further statement. The application of financial controls over war expenditures must not be of such a nature as to hamper or restrict our war effort but rather in aid and furtherance of it. Indeed it is in that light that the subcommittee sees the importance of proper controls. Proper controls do not lessen the effective power of our armed forces. On the contrary, they increase it, for the economic use of our financial resources makes possible greater increases in man power and the instruments of war and greater striking and defensive force.

The subject of war expenditures is an exceedingly broad one for it covers the whole field of our war effort. It has been necessary to do a great deal of preliminary exploration of the nature above referred to but your committee now believes that the study of specific subjects of inquiry is essential and should be continued notwithstanding the impending adjournment of the House.

In the study of such specific subjects of inquiry your committee does not intend to function as a Public Accounts Committee. While it is not precluded by the terms of reference from examining past expenditures its purpose in doing so is to ascertain what economies in war expenditures may be possible. It is a committee for the purpose of promoting economies, as far as it can, in our war expenditures consistent with the execution of the policy decided by the government. In the promotion of economies it must not in any way hamper or restrict the Canadian war effort but rather assist and promote it. Your committee has therefore adopted as its objective that there shall be a dollar's worth of war effort for every dollar contributed by the Canadian people.

Your committee has been informed and believes that its inquiries have already been a stimulating factor in promoting economy reforms and that it can give further substantial assistance in that regard.

Indeed it is the opinion of your committee that it would be very regrettable if the inquiry entrusted to your committee should at this stage be wholly suspended during the impending period of adjournment of the House.

Your committee transmits herewith the minutes of the proceedings and evidence of your committee as printed by the King's Printer.

This report of your committee was carried on the following division: Yeas, 14; Nays, 2.

(For Copy of Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying said Report see Appendix to the Journals No. 3.)

 $14875 - 30\frac{1}{2}$

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, also presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

Your Committee being of the opinion that the inquiry entrusted to it should be continued notwithstanding the impending adjournment of the House recommends:—

- 1. That the committee continue its inquiry notwithstanding such adjournment.
- 2. That the committee be empowered to sit notwithstanding any adjournment of the House and to adjourn from place to place; to sit in camera or otherwise as it may from time to time determine; to determine the manner and extent to which the evidence and proceedings should be printed or typed and to employ such secretarial, clerical and other assistance as it may deem necessary.
- 3. That six members of the committee constitute a quorum during the said adjournment and that Standing Order 65 (3) be suspended in relation thereto.
- 4. That any subcommittee appointed by the committee have power to sit notwithstanding any adjournment of the House and to adjourn from place to place.
- 5. That the minutes of proceedings and evidence of such meetings of Subcommittee No. 2, referred to in your committee's second report as were not held in camera, be printed, 500 copies in English and 200 copies in French and that Standing Order 64 be suspended in relation thereto.

This report was carried on the following division: Yeas, 15; Nays, 4.

The Order being read for the House to resolve itself again into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Gardiner moved,-That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair.

And the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, 5TH JUNE, 1941

11 o'clock, a.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of June 2, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. Referring to Sessional Paper No. 303 (a) of this session and to attached circulars until August 4, 1939, was it permitted under the regulations of any department to call "gin" anything else than "potable spirit sweetened or unsweetened prepared from grain spirit specially rectified and redistilled with juniper berries and flavouring herbs, etc.", as described by section 11 of the regulations under the Food and Drugs Act?

2. Why were the collectors of Customs and Excise and Excise Officers in charge of distilleries "required to ensure that no spirit other than spirit distilled from grain is used in the manufacture of gin, etc."?

3. When did it become permitted for the first time to label as "compound gin" a "beverage made by adding neutral spirits to a distillate obtained from a mixture of alcohol, juniper berries and other flavouring herbs, without subsequent redistillation of the whole, etc.", as described in section 11 (a) of the said regulations?

4. What was the reason of such a change in the said regulations?

5. At whose request and through what counsel, solicitor, agent or lobbyist was it made?

Also,-Return to an Order of the House of June 2, 1941, for a Return showing:-

1. Referring to Sessional Paper No. 303 of this session, during the last six years, did any department analyse the beverage labelled "genuine Hollands-Geneva-John de Kuyper & Sons, etc."?

2. If so, how many times?

3. Each time, was it (a) "prepared from grain spirits specially rectified and redistilled with juniper berries, etc.", or (b) "made by cold mixing molasses alcohol with malt wine, without being redistilled, etc.", or (c) by first using spirits not made from grain mashes and secondly not redistilling such mixture with juniper berries, etc."?

4. Was the beverage referred to in No. 1 permitted to be labelled as "gin"?5. If so, when for the first time during the last six years?

And also,—Supplementary Return to an Order of the House of May 28, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. What has been done by the government to provide a supply of coal for Canada during next fall and winter, in view of the heavy demands for fuel for industry, brought about by the war?

2. Will the government make a study of the matter for the information of the House, after consulting labour and industry?

3. Was coal rationed by the government during the coal famine in 1917? If so, under what legislative action or rules and regulations?

4. Will further study and consideration be given to resolution adopted in the House in 1922-23, regarding a national coal supply, so that more coal can be used, mined and coked under the British flag, from Nova Scotia, Alberta and Wales?

5. What study is being made, or action taken, regarding the use of other forms of heating, as a substitute for coal?

Mr. McLarty, by leave of the House, introduced a Bill, No. 96, An Act to amend the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, which was read the first time and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

The following Questions on the Order Paper were passed by the House as Orders for Return, under subsection 4 of Standing Order 44, and Orders of the House were issued to the proper officers accordingly, viz:—

By Mr. Church:—1. What are the details or break-down in sessional paper No. 281a, tabled recently, regarding the operation of the Toronto Post Office, showing a surplus over all expenses, maintenances, salaries and overhead of $1,531,551.66?

2. What becomes of this surplus for the last year of record, and will the price of drop letters be reduced from two to one cent in the city?

By Mr. Church:—1. How many soldiers at Camp Borden and Petawawa have been fined for a breach of a regulation issued under the authority of the officer commanding, preventing hitch-hiking?

2. How many from Toronto were fined $5 each from their weekly pay?

3. Who authorized this fine, and under what section of the Statutes of Canada, the Army Act, the Militia Act, the Air or the Navy Act was it imposed?

4. Was the scale of fines sanctioned by the Government, and on whose orders?

5. What becomes of these fines?

6. Who authorized such penalties and will an inquiry be held in the matter?

7. What fines were imposed on Air men or Navy herein?

Mr. McLarty moved,—That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the following proposed Resolution:—

That it is expedient to introduce a measure to amend the Labour Department Act to provide for the appointment of an Associate Deputy Minister of Labour.

A.D. 1941

Whereupon, Mr. McLarty, a Member of the King's Privy Council, informed the House, That His Excellency the Governor General, having been informed of the subject-matter of the said proposed Resolution, recommends it to the House.

Resolved, That the House do go into Committee of the Whole, at the next sitting of the House, to consider the said proposed Resolution:---

OF THE

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, 6TH JUNE, 1941

11 o'clock, a.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter which he had received:---

OTTAWA

4th June, 1941.

Hon. J. A. GLEN, Speaker of the House of Commons, Ottawa.

DEAR MR. GLEN:-

Victory Loan 1941

The Torch and Scroll being carried by Air Force bomber from Victoria to Halifax and thence to England to be presented to the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill will arrive in Ottawa on the 11th June. The Ottawa Torch Day Ceremony will take place on that day on Parliament Hill at 5 o'clock.

At the ceremony the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King will be the speaker and arrangements are being made for His Excellency the Governor General, the Rt. Hon. the Prime Minister, the Leader of the Opposition and myself to sign the Scroll.

On behalf of the Committee I have the honour to invite you to attend this ceremony. I beg to request also that you will extend an invitation to the members of the House of Commons to be present.

Sincerely yours,

(signed) J. E. S. LEWIS, Mayor.

Mr. Casgrain, a Member of the King's Privy Council, presented, Return to an Order of the House of May 7, 1941, for a Return showing:-

1. Does a notice posted at military and air force camps, making hitchhiking a military offence, apply to officers and non-commissioned officers as well as to privates?

2. Under what clauses of the Army or Militia and Defence or Air Force Acts is it issued, and who suggested it?

3. Will consideration be given to the revocation of this order?

Also,-Return to an Order of the House of May 26, 1941, for a Return showing:-

1. Is there on file at the Department of National Defence, several statements from Jardine McKerlie to the effect that he was in the British Army Service from October, 1914, to June, 1916?

2. If so, what is the date of each one?

3. Was he asked by the Civil Service Commission to supply evidence to that effect, and, if so, how many times?

4. Did he give it, and, if so, when?

5. Did he write to the Civil Service Commission on November 17, 1939, that "his original discharge certificate was destroyed by flood some years ago"?

6. Did he specify the locality of such flood?

7. Is there on file copy of a letter from him to the "Under Sec'y. of State, War Office, Records Section, Arnside St., London, S.E.", dated February 7, 1940, which contains the following paragraphs:-

In view of the fact that the writer's Christian name and surname are both especially rare, it is felt that any reference that you can make to an alphabetical file of the enlistments either in the Royal Field Artillery or the Border Regt. during the period of the last war would quickly bring to light the writer's name and it is felt sure that no other person of the same name would be likely to be found in the said files. . .

It is regretted that further information cannot be supplied to you in view of the importance of receiving a copy of the discharge or some other proof of service, so that it may be furnished to the Canadian Govt. in connection with the writer's present employment as Inspector of Guns and Carriages in the Dept. of Nat. Defence?

8. Did he write to the Civil Service Commission on June 11, 1940, that the War Office had required an affidavit which he had completed on April 6 of that year, and forwarded to London?

9. Did the Civil Service Commission ask for that evidence on July 23, 1940?

10. Did he answer two or three days after that "everything possible is being done to complete the record"?

11. From September, 1939, to date, did Jardine McKerlie give to the Department of National Defence or the Civil Service Commission any evidence that he was in the British Army during the Great War?

12. If so, what was it, when was it given and to what department?

13. If not, why?

14. Is it on record that he has ever proved his British citizenship by an authentic certificate of birth or by naturalization papers?

15. If so, when and to whom?

And also,—Return to an Order of the House of May 26, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. On September 20, 1939, was one, Jardine McKerlie, taken in the Department of National Defence as Examiner, Mechanical Transport, at $200 per month?

2. On or about October 12, 1939, was he promoted as Transport Mechanical engineer (M.G.O. Branch, D.C.E. & M.E. Div., War Staff) at $2,820 per annum?

3. Was he re-assigned as Senior Electrical Engineer, effective June 1, 1940, at $3,720?

4. Did P.C. 32/1905 of May 10, 1940, have anything to do with him, and, if so, what was it?

5. Did the Treasury Board authorize his re-assignment as Senior Mechanical Engineer in August, 1940, without any recommendation from the Civil Service Commission?

6. On September 5, 1940, was he recommended by Brigadier Carr to the Civil Service Commission as Technical Assistant in Electrical and Mechanical Engineering to the M.G.O. Branch at a daily rate of $12 per week day in the year?

7. Did the Civil Service Commission reply that they could recommend no change at that time?

8. Was he appointed Director of Technical Training of Ordnance Training Center?

9. If so, when and at what salary?

10. Was he also employed as Inspector of guns and carriages?

11. If so, when, and at what salary?

12. Who was the Chief (a) of the Branch and (b) of the Division in which he was employed

13. Did he ever receive any payment, advance or refund besides his salary?14. If so, how much and for what?

The following Bill from the Senate was read the first time, and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House, viz:—

Bill No. 99 (Letter N-2 of the Senate), intituled: "An Act to amend The Divorce Jurisdiction Act, 1930."—Mr. Black (Yukon).

The amendments made by the Senate to Bill No. 16, An Act to control the Export of Game, were taken into consideration, and severally agreed to.

Under Section 59 of the Civil Service Act, it is recommended that for purposes of appointments of present employees on the temporary staff of the House of Commons the positions now authorized on a permanent basis be exempt from the operation of Section 13 of the Act, which provides that no appointment shall be made at more than the minimum rate prescribed for a class.

5 GEORGE VI

It is recommended that appointments of temporary employees with five years of service be authorized at their present salary rate, or, if there is no rate in the range equal to their present salary then at the next higher rate, but not exceeding, however, the maximum rate of the class.

It is recommended that the foregoing be made effective from March 1st, 1941.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sgd.) C. H. BLAND, Chairman.

(Sgd.) AD. POTVIN, Commissioner.

(Sgd.) J. H. STITT, Commissioner.

4.3.41.

Mr. Thorson moved,—That the Third Report of the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented on June 4, 1941, be now concurred in.

And a Debate arising thereon;

8 P.M.

By leave, Mr. Kirk moved,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to go into Committee of the Whole on Private Bills (pursuant to Standing Order 110); which was agreed to, by unanimous consent.

The following Bills were then considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time, on division, and passed, viz:—

Bill No. 93 (Letter G-3 of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of Dorrien Edson Weaver".

Bill No. 94 (Letter H-3 of the Senate), intituled: "An Act for the relief of David MacDonald".

On motion of Mr. Kirk it was ordered, That a Message be sent to the Senate to return to that House the evidence, etc., taken before the Standing Committee of the Senate on Divorce, to whom were referred the Petitions on which the above-mentioned Divorce Bills were founded.

The Order of Private Bills having been disposed of;

By leave, Mr. Speaker informed the House that the Clerk had received the resignation of L. P. J. Desrosiers, Esquire, Assistant Chief of French Journals, House of Commons, which had been accepted subject to ratification by the House, and that he had directed the Clerk to lay upon the Table the correspondence and his recommendation in relation thereto, which are as follows:—

OTTAWA, CANADA,

6th June, 1941.

To the Honourable the House of Commons:

The Speaker has the honour to recommend that the acceptance of the resignation of L. P. J. Desrosiers, Esquire, Assistant Chief of French Journals, House of Commons, be ratified by the House.

J. ALLISON GLEN,

Speaker of the House of Commons.

OTTAWA, 10th June, 1941.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the letter of resignation of L. P. J. Desrosiers, Esquire, Assistant Chief of French Journals, House of Commons, and my answer thereto.

It is necessary that the acceptance of Mr. Desrosiers' resignation be ratified by the House of Commons, and I have the honour to request your recommendation for that purpose.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your humble servant,

ARTHUR BEAUCHESNE, Clerk of the House.

Hon. J. ALLISON GLEN, Speaker, House of Commons, Ottawa.

(Translation)

Оттаwa, May 22nd, 1941.

Mr. CLERK,—I have just accepted the position of Librarian of the City of Montreal; I therefore tender my resignation to be effective on May 31, 1941, as Assistant Chief of the French Journals, House of Commons. Rest assured that I will recall with regret the years I have passed on the staff of the House of Commons where I have received so much friendship and sympathy.

I remain, dear Mr. Beauchesne,

Yours very truly,

(Signed) LEO-PAUL DESROSIERS.

(Translation)

OTTAWA, May 23rd, 1941.

Mr. Leo-Paul Desnosiers. House of Commons, Ottawa.

Dear Mr. DESROSIERS,—I have received your letter tendering your resignation, and I desire to express my regrets for your departure. We were glad to have you on our staff. I wish you every success in your new position, and 14875-31<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> I will be happy to assist if in future you need any information about the House of Commons. I hope you will be able to keep up with your literary work and that you will not fail this time to be a candidate for membership to the Royal Society.

Receive the expression of my friendship and believe me, as always,

Yours very truly,

ARTHUR BEAUCHESNE,

Clerk of the House of Commons.

The House then resumed the Debate on the proposed motion of Mr. Thorson,—That the Third Report of the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented on June 4, 1941, be now concurred in.

Bill No. 87, An Act to amend the Income War Tax Act.

Bill No. 95, An Act to amend The Prairie Farm Assistance Act, 1939.

Bill No. 100, An Act to amend the Labour Department Act.

And also,—A Message informing this House that the Senate had passed the Bill No. 88, An Act to amend the Special War Revenue Act, with an amendment, which is as follows:—

1. Page 15, line 39. Add to the Bill, as section twenty-nine thereof, the following:---

"29. Sections three and four of this Act shall not come into effect until proclamation by the Governor in Council, and such proclamation shall not be issued until section four of this Act shall have been submitted to the Supreme Court of Canada for the purpose of having the judgment of the said Court on the constitutionality of said section four, and said judgment has been given"; and with the incorporation in the said Bill No. 88 of Bill No. 101 of the House of Commons, "An Act to amend the Special War Revenue Act," which is as follows:—

"Subsection three of section eighty of the Special War Revenue Act, chapter one hundred and seventy-nine of the Revised States of Canada, 1927, as enacted by section eight of Bill eighty-eight, is amended by adding thereto the following (being the proviso contained in Bill 101):—

Provided, however, that the foregoing exemption shall not extend to the goods mentioned in paragraph two of Schedule II to this Act when used in the manufacturing of the goods mentioned in paragraphs two and eight of Schedule I to this Act."

to which they desire the concurrence of this House.

Mr. Ilsley then moved,—That the said amendment be now read the second time and concurred in; but that this House, while disapproving of any infraction of its privileges or rights by the other House, in this case waives its claims to insist upon such rights and privileges but the waiver of said rights and privileges is not to be drawn into a precedent; and, further, that this House agrees to the incorporation in this Bill of Bill No. 101, An Act to amend the Special War Revenue Act.

And that a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint Their Honours therewith.

And the question being put on the said motion; it was agreed to.

The said amendment was accordingly read the second time and concurred in.

The House then adjourned at 12 o'clock (midnight), until to-morrow at 11 o'clock, a.m.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bills, without any amendment:—

Bill No. 98, An Act to authorize the provision of moneys to meet certain capital expenditures made and capital indebtedness incurred by the Canadian National Railways System during the calendar year 1941, to provide for the refunding of financial obligations and to authorize the guarantee by His Majesty of certain securities to be issued by the Canadian National Railway Company.

Bill No. 102, An Act to amend the Senate and House of Commons Act.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, 13TH JUNE, 1941

11 o'clock, a.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Macmillan, from the Select Committee on the Pension Act and the War Veterans' Allowance Act, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

1. Pursuant to the Orders of Reference dated March 6th and March 11th, your Committee has considered, amended and reported Bill No. 17, An Act to amend the Pension Act, and have considered numerous matters relating to ex-service men of the last and the present war, including the War Veterans' Allowance Act, provision for medical treatment, grants, gratuities and allowances upon or after discharge, and provision for their rehabilitation.

2. In so doing your Committee held thirty meetings and examined twentynine witnesses representing soldier organizations and Government administrative branches as follows:—

The Minister of Pensions and National Health.

- Brigadier-General H. F. McDonald, Chairman, Canadian Pension Commission, and Chairman, General Advisory Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation.
- Mr. Walter S. Woods, Associate Deputy Minister of Pensions and National Health, and Vice-Chairman of the General Advisory Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation.
- Mr. J. R. Bowler, General Secretary of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.
- Mr. Richard Hale, Tubercular Veterans' Association, and Chief Pension Adviser of the Canadian Legion.
- Mr. Alex Walker, President of the Canadian Legion.
- Lieut.-Col. Sidney E. Lambert, Dominion President War Amputations of Canada, and Honourary President of the Sir Arthur Pearson Club for Blinded Sailors and Soldiers.

Richard Myers, Esq., Honourary Secretary of the War Amputations of Canada.

- Lieut.-Col. Eddie Baker, O.B.E., Managing Director for the Canadian Institute for the Blind, and Secretary-Treasurer for the Sir Arthur Pearson Club for Blinded Sailors and Soldiers, and a Member of the Dominion Executive of the War Amputations of Canada.
- Mr. J. G. C. Herwig, Assistant General Secretary, Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L.

Colonel C. E. Reynolds, President of the Canadian Corps Association.

Dr. W. C. Givens, Secretary, Canadian Corps Association.

- Captain George Kermack, Representative Imperial Division, Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L.
- Colonel E. G. Davis, Deputy Director of Medical Services, Department of National Defence.
- Dr. Ross Millar, Director of Medical Services, Department of Pensions and National Health.
- Mr. C. H. Bland, Chairman, Civil Service Commission.
- Mr. A. W. Crawford, Member of the Interdepartmental Committee on Youth Training.

Mr. G. Murchison, Director of Soldier Settlement.

The information given to your Committee by the representatives of veteran organizations, by members of the Government services and by all who presented statements or gave evidence was of great value to your Committee and we wish to record our thanks for their assistance.

3. Your Committee had placed in evidence the minutes, proceedings and recommendations of the Central Advisory Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation, and noted the Orders in Council which have been passed since the 10th of September, 1939. The following summary indicates the subjects with which the more important Orders in Council relating to this subject deal:-

- P.C. 2584-7th of September, 1939, provides for return to public service employment "all civil servants who become members of the naval, military or air forces."
- P.C. 3004—5th October, 1939, provides for treatment of members of the forces by Department of Pensions and National Health Hospitals.
- P.C. 3005-5th October, 1939, Creation of Class 19 under P.C. 91.
- P.C. 40682-8th December, 1939, constitutes Cabinet Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation.
- P.C. 5421-8th October, 1940, constitutes General Advisory Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation.
- P.C. 204/6613-18th November, 1940, provides for remedial treatment after discharge and dependents' allowance while in hospital.
- P.C. 6282-27th November, 1940, authorizes the establishment of the Veterans' Welfare Division of the Department of Pensions and National Health.
- P.C. 1/7324-11th of December, 1940, amends and clarifies P.C. 204/6613.
- P.C. 7521-19th December, 1940, Rehabilitation grant in respect of members of the forces honourably discharged after 183 days' service.
- P.C. 7520-21st of December, 1940, Constitution of Committee to consider disposition of Canteen Funds.
- P.C. 1087—14th February, 1941, Amendment to P.C. 7520. P.C. 1218—17th February, 1941, Additional term of reference to P.C.  $4068\frac{1}{2}$ relative to post-war reconstruction.
- P.C. 2763-10th May, 1941, Creation of Class 20 under P.C. 91.

(a) It is noted that the above Orders in Council provide machinery for continuous study by the Cabinet Committee and by the Interdepartmental Committee and their subcommittees, of the various problems which will arise in connection with the rehabilitation of discharged and demobilized men of the present war, and that the subcommittees are meeting from time to time to consider such matters as post-discharge pay, employment, vocational training, retraining of special casualties, interrupted education, land settlement, administration of special funds and other aspects of the re-establishment of ex-service men.

(b) It is also noted that the administration has been strengthened by the appointment of an Associate Deputy Minister, Mr. Walter S. Woods, charged with the carrying out of the policies which may be adopted from time to time, and with the organization of the Veterans' Welfare Division.

(c) The Committee also note the arrangements which are being made to co-ordinate the work of the new Employment Service of Canada under the Unemployment Insurance Commission with that of the Veterans' Welfare Division, and to create a Dominion-wide administration which will be able to give special attention to the civil re-establishment of veterans both of the last and of the present war. We recommend that the Department of Labour instruct and require their placement or employment officers to co-operate with the Veterans' Welfare Division officers and to give preference in employment to ex-service men.

(d) The War Emergency Training Programme, operated by the Youth Training administration under the Department of Labour, gives preference to veterans of the last war and of the present war seeking enrolment as students.

(e) Orders in Council dealing with rehabilitation grant, Departmental treatment and allowances, and post-discharge active remedial treatment, now provide certain transitional benefits looking towards the physical reconditioning of ex-service men suffering from disease or injury. We recommend that further provision be made for all necessary physical reconditioning of ex-service men either for further service or for re-establishment.

5. It is clear that the above emergency measures which have received the consideration of the General Advisory Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation and have been embodied in Orders in Council, in regulations or in administrative arrangements, have in some measure coincided with the exigencies of the developing situation since the outbreak of the war. They do not, however, fully meet the immediate need of rehabilitating in civil life all those who are now being discharged; nor will they meet the larger national need which will arise at the conclusion of hostilities when the demobilization of large numbers of physically fit men will have to be undertaken.

6. The plans now being discussed by the subcommittees of the General Advisory Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation to meet the needs of the demobilization period in respect of vocational and technical training, the continuance of interrupted education or professional training, the retraining of special casualties, and land settlement should be brought to completion in definite schemes as soon as possible after the General Advisory Committee has been able to study and evaluate the results of the occupational history survey now being carried out in the armed forces. This statistical analysis will guide the Government in framing the necessary rehabilitation measures. Meanwhile we would emphasize the desirability and the necessity of the closest possible co-operation with industry and with all other classes of employment in order that the ex-service men may be re-instated in the posts from which they withdrew on enlistment or in some other form of gainful occupation. 7. In view of the above, your Committee therefore recommends that:—
(1) The General Advisory Committee on Demobilization and Rehabilitation continue its study of the larger questions involved and that the Government proceed either by Order in Council, in case of emergency, but preferably by legislation, to carry out constructive policies looking towards the civil re-establishment of discharged and demobilized men.

(2) That consideration be given to the retaining in the service for a period not exceeding six months after the date on which they would otherwise be discharged, non-pensionable and non-disability members of the forces with no assurance of immediate post-discharge employment, with the object of enabling such members of the forces to obtain employment and to be re-established in civil life.

(3) That the preference for veterans of the past war now requested by the Departments concerned, and generally observed in Government contracts in which the Departments of National Defence, Public Works and Munitions and Supply are interested, be given also to ex-service men of the present war and that it be likewise observed in all Government contracts and all Government employment when additional or replacement employees are required.

(4) That the statutory preference granted to certain categories of ex-service men, under Section 29, subsection 4 of the Civil Service Act (Chapter 22-1927) should be extended to ex-service men of the present war who were resident in Canada prior to such service.

(5) That the consultations which have already commenced with Provincial Governments and local rehabilitation committees be continued with a view to securing the utmost co-operation from all public and private bodies to assist in the civil re-establishment of ex-service men.

8. That the provisions of the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act be made applicable to men serving in the present war.

9. That the Government should give, at the earliest possible time, consideration to the following:—

- (a) Provision for the treatment of veterans of the Riel Rebellion in hospitals of the Department of Pensions and National Health, and granting to these veterans the benefits of the War Veterans' Allowance Act.
- (b) The supplementing of the long service pensions now awarded to a number of former members of the Militia under the Statutes of Canada, 1901, Chapter 17, Section (9).

10. That after further and more complete exploration of the problems involved, consideration be given to the advisability of extending the provisions of the War Veterans' Allowance Act to:—

- (a) Widows of disability pensioners not now provided for.
- (b) Widows of deceased recipients of War Veterans' Allowance.

11. That consideration be given to the desirability of extending the provisions of Orders in Council P.C. 3359 and 3492, 10th November, 1939, to Canadians serving on ships of other than Canadian registry operating from Canadian ports during the war with the German Reich.

12. That by appropriate measures, the Government make provision for compensation to the members of the Auxiliary Services who are serving the armed forces in an actual theatre of war, and their dependents, comparable to that provided for members of the armed forces. 13. That the government take appropriate action to provide adequate compensation to Canadian Government employees for disability or death suffered as a result of enemy action, and that such compensation be in addition to any superannuation to which the employee may be entitled by reason of his contributions.

14. That consideration be given to providing medical services for and payment of compensation to Air Raid Precaution personnel, and to other civilians who suffer disability or death by reason of enemy action or as a result of service with such organization as the A.R.P.

15. That Section 13 of the War Veterans' Allowance Act be amended to give the Board discretion to continue payment of a part of his allowance to a recipient without dependents while undergoing treatment in a hospital.

16. That the amount of War Veterans' Allowance which shall be charged to the accumulated unpaid instalments of retroactive pension shall not exceed the amount of the allowance paid during the period for which the retroactive pension was awarded.

A copy of the evidence taken before your Committee is tabled herewith.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Cardin, a Member of the King's Privy Council, for Mr. Casgrain, presented,—Return to an Order of the House of June 5, 1941, for a Return showing:—

1. What are the details or break-down in sessional paper No. 281a, tabled recently, regarding the operation of the Toronto Post Office, showing a surplus over all expenses, maintenances, salaries and overhead of $1,531,551.66?

2. What becomes of this surplus for the last year of record, and will the price of drop letters be reduced from two to one cent in the city?

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King it was ordered,—That the names of Messrs. Coldwell, Reid, O'Neill and McIlraith, be substituted for those of Messrs. MacInnis, Mayhew, McGeer and Gray on the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures.

On motion of Mr. Mackenzie King, the recommendation of the Honourable the Speaker with respect to the resignation of L. P. J. Desrosiers, Esquire, Assistant Chief of French Journals, House of Commons, laid on the Table of the House on the 10th June, 1941, was concurred in.

The House resolved itself again in Committee of Supply.

(In the Committee)

The following Resolution was adopted:-

Resolved, That towards making good the Supply granted to His Majesty on account of certain expenses of the Public Service for the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1942, the sums of $163,431,321.01, $35,000,000 and $48,453,183.14, respectively, be granted out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada.

Resolution to be reported.

By leave of the House, the said Resolution was reported, read the second time and concurred in, and the Committee of Ways and Means to sit again at the next sitting of the House.

Mr. Ilsley then obtained leave to present a Bill, No. 103, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1942, which was read the first time.

By leave of the House, the said Bill was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed the following Bill:—

Bill No. 103, An Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the public service of the financial year ending the 31st March, 1942.

Mr. Speaker communicated to the House the following letter which he had received:-

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War, Expenditures, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

By Order of the House of Commons dated June 10, 1941, your Committee was directed to continue its inquiry notwithstanding the pending adjournment of the House. The House having adjourned on June 14, the Committee resumed its sittings on July 7 when an agenda subcommittee representative of all parties was appointed to prepare an agenda and report to the main Committee. The Agenda subcommittee recommended:

- (1) That a subcommittee be appointed to inquire into the following matters:
  - (a) Contracts with civilian flying clubs, associations or companies;
  - (b) Army, navy and air force buildings construction, specifications and designs for such projects and the inspection thereof during construction; and that such subcommittee consist of Messrs. Cleaver (Chairman), Black, Diefenbaker, Golding, Pottier and Reid; and that the quorum be (3).
- (2) That a subcommittee be appointed to inquire into the following matters:
  - (a) Medical, dental and hospitalization services in the army, navy and air force;
  - (b) Food and other supplies including miscellaneous services for the forces, the inspection and distribution thereof and the salvage of waste; and that such subcommittee consist of Messrs. Graham (Chairman), Gladstone, Harris, Hansell, O'Neill, Picard and Sissons; and that the quorum be (3).
- (3) That a subcommittee be appointed to inquire into the following matters:
  - (a) Financial controls over army, navy and air force expenditures;
  - (b) Headquarters establishments in army, navy and air force; and that such subcommittee consist of Messrs Fournier (Chairman), Abbott, Bercovitch, Bradette, Chevrier, Coldwell, Green, Macdonald, McIlraith and Ross; and that the quorum be (4).
- (4) That each of the subcommittees do report their findings and recommendations to the committee;
- (5) That the Chairman or in his absence the Vice-Chairman be ex officio a member of all subcommittees.

The report of the Agenda subcommittee was adopted on July 8 and the committee adjourned to the call of the Chair. The subcommittees immediately proceeded with their respective inquiries and the following is a summary of the sittings held by each subcommittee and of the witnesses heard:

Subcommittee No. 1—29 sittings; 49 witness. Subcommittee No. 2—29 sittings; 15 witnesses. Subcommittee No. 3—25 sittings; 25 witnesses.

On August 20 your main Committee reconvened to receive the Reports of the subcommittees. These Reports were considered and adopted with amendments and are being submitted to the House in subsequent reports of your Committee.

In view of the importance and scope of the inquiry referred to your Committee, it recommended that the inquiry be continued and that, for the said purpose, a Committee be appointed at the next Session.

Your Committee desires to express its sincere appreciation of the cooperation and help it obtained from all officers of the three arms of His Majesty's Forces in Ottawa and outside of Ottawa, and the Department of Officials and other persons who were requested to appear before the subcommittees. It is also grateful for the assistance given by members of the Committee Branch, by the Committee Reporters and by the clerical and stenographic staff.

Your Committee transmits herewith the minutes of proceedings and evidence of your Committee as printed by the King's Printer.

(For Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying said Report, see Appendix to the Journals No. 5.)

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented the Fifth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:-

The Special Committee on War Exenditures has received from its subcommittee No. 1 the following report on "Contracts with civilian flying clubs, associations or companies," which it has considered and adopted with amendments as its Fifth Report to the House.

REPORT (No. 1) OF SUBCOMMITTEE NO. 1

This subcommittee was appointed on May 5, 1941, to inquire into the following matters:

- (a) Contracts with civilian flying clubs, associations or companies;
- (b) Airports, aerodromes and air force building construction, specifications and designs for such projects and inspection thereof during construction.

This subcommittee made an interim report to the main committee which was adopted as amended on June 3, 1941, and on the same day the subcommittee was dispensed with. This subcommittee was re-appointed with similar powers on June 4 and proceeded further with its work but made no further report before the adjournment of the House on June 14, 1941. The subcommittee, with some changes in personnel was, on July 8, 1941, directed to inquire into the following matters:

- (a) Contracts with civilian flying clubs, associations or companies;
- (b) Army, navy and air force building construction, specifications and designs for such projects and the inspection thereof during construction.

The subcommittee begs to report on findings and recommendations with respect to the contracts with certain flying clubs, associations or companies.

1. At the outbreak of war, in addition to the R.C.A.F. Canada had three different groups with some air experience:

- (a) Civilian flying clubs;
- (b) Privately owned civilian air transportation companies;
- (c) The group in the Department of Transport who had organized Trans-Canada Airways.

These different groups were assigned important tasks in connection with the expansion of R.C.A.F. facilities and the organization of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

A.D. 1941

Elementary Flying Training Schools

2. All Elementary Flying Training Schools (with only one exception, being the school at Cap-de-la-Madeleine) are operated by companies especially incorporated for the purpose by the then existing flying clubs. These flying clubs were organized in 1927 and 1928 under the inspiration of the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence and, subsequently, that branch was transferred to the Department of Transport. Germany was prohibited under the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles from organizing a military air force but in reality did this under the guise of civilian training schools. The flying club movement in Canada started after this action on the part of Germany. The magnitude of the civilian air training scheme in Germany can best be illustrated by the fact that for some years prior to the outbreak of war she was sustaining trainee casualties as high as one thousand in one year through flying training accidents. Under the Canadian scheme 26 clubs were organized of which 22 were still in existence at the outbreak of war.

3. Under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan there are 22 Elementary Flying Training Schools in Canada, of which four are double schools. These schools are operated by joint stock companies incorporated by federal charters. The plan was to raise $35,000 of capital by the sale of preferred stock restricted to a maximum dividend of 5 per cent annually and that the common stock would be held by the flying club sponsoring the school. In some instances the money was made available for this purpose without any dividends or interest by public-spirited citizens and companies. The intention of the plan was that after payment of 5 per cent on $35,000 of preferred stock any profits which should accrue from the operation of the elementary flying training schools would eventually be used by these flying clubs after the war to enable them to sponsor civilian flying and generally to give leadership to civil aviation.

4. The subcommittee has examined the letters patent, by-laws and minutes of shareholders' and directors' meetings of many of the flying clubs sponsoring the incorporation of elementary flying training companies, as well as the letters patent, by-laws and minutes of shareholders' and directors' meetings of elementary flying training companies. While there was a common practice followed in regard to the incorporation of the flying training companies the subcommittee finds considerable variation in the formation of flying clubs and in the functioning of flying training companies. The subcommittee finds that in every instance all of these clubs and companies are devoting their entire effort to the war training work. They are highly efficient and are carrying on their task without any thought of profits to the company or to private individuals; but the subcommittee also finds that under the great pressure of war work sufficient care has not been taken to safeguard the public interest as to what may happen in regard to profits after the war and when the war incentive will have ceased to exist.

5. The subcommittee has fully canvassed the problem as to what would be the best means of securing proper safeguards controlling future action with respect to future use of profits and recommends that all of the common stock of all elementary flying training companies should be held in trust for the flying clubs sponsoring the companies, and that in no instance should any individual be permitted to hold the beneficial interest of any common stock other than the qualifying shares of directors and that a declaration of trust should be taken with respect to these shares. The subcommittee further recommends that new federal charters should be taken out by all flying clubs sponsoring elementary flying training schools, and that these newly-formed clubs should take over all assets of the existing clubs, whether incorporated under provincial charters or not. The subcommittee recommends that these new charters incorporating flying clubs should be uniform and should contain provisions prohibiting any private individual from receiving any payment by way of directors' fees, dividends, distribution of assets in the event of winding up or otherwise and should further provide that in the event of the winding up of any flying club all its assets shall escheat to the Crown. The subcommittee further recommends that great care should be taken in respect to the internal management of the clubs with respect to voting rights of members and associate members. Attached as Appendix (i) to this report is a draft of a new part which the subcommittee recommends should be added to the Dominion Companies Act at the next session of the House to permit the incorporation of flying clubs by uniform federal charters implementing the above recommendations.

6. The companies operating Elementary Flying Training Schools are doing so under an agreement, the terms of which were negotiated after many conferences with the Canadian Flying Club Association. In the first instance tenders were called for, but the resulting tenders clearly indicated that the awarding of training contracts by competitive tender would be unsatisfactory. Under the present contract the Crown supplies the site of the school and all necessary buildings and equipment. The training company furnishes all management and operating personnel excepting a small supervisory Air Force personnel resident at the school to maintain proper discipline of the trainees and to see that the syllabus of training is adhered to. All of the instructors and the operating and flying personnel are under the direction of the manager of the company, who has full responsibility for the operation of the school. This is as it should be. The school company is paid on the following basis:

- (a) Management. This item includes the salary of the Manager, Secretary-Treasurer, office staff and all items of management. This payment is a fixed amount of $1,400.00 per lunar month. Any saving effected through the cost of management being less than $1,400.00 is profit to the company and should the management cost exceed $1,400.00 the loss must be borne by the company.
- (b) Operation and Maintenance. This item includes the salaries of all instructors, instructor pilots, engineers, electricians, mechanics, labourers, etc., and also includes cost of all spare parts and material used in connection with the maintenance of the aeroplanes. This item also includes heat, light, insurance, etc. The agreement calls for the payment of a monthly target price, which in the first agreement was $16,000.00. The agreement provides for the revision of the target price to compensate for any changes made from time to time in the training syllabus and further provides that every 24 weeks the target price will be revised in the light of existing costs. The agreement further provides that any balance on hand in this account at the conclusion of the contract will be divided, 75 per cent to the Crown and 25 per cent as profit to the company. The provision made for a revision of the target price is to empower the department to control at all times the size of the balance in this account. As an indication of the manner in which this power to revise the monthly target price is operating we find that already, as to some of the schools where surpluses have been built up in this account, the target price has been revised to an amount which has resulted in a reduction of surplus in some instances. The subcommittee finds that some misunderstanding has arisen in some of the companies with respect to this item and that some of them, in their financial balance sheets, have been showing 25 per cent surplus in this account as an earned profit, but believes that this error is no longer being made. The subcommittee considered making a recommendation that the profit feature of this item, at the conclusion of the contract, should be eliminated, but after hearing considerable evidence with respect to it does not recommend that any change should be made. The contract in its present form furnishes an incentive for thrift, and the presence of a surplus in this account is a measure of assurance or protection to the company against loss.

(c) Flying Hours. This item covers payments for three separate items. A monthly target price is set up to pay for cost of gas and oil. Any surplus earned as to gas and oil is the property of the Crown and there is no profit feature to the company in regard to this item in any way.

The next item is the payment of fifty cents per flying hour profit to the company for every training hour flown during the month. This item is definitely fixed per hour but fluctuates from month to month depending upon the number of training hours flown.

The third item under this heading is fifty cents per hour for crash reserve. Crash reserve is a fund set up to insure the company against loss arising under paragraph 9 of the agreement. Paragraph 9 of the agreement provides the various amounts which are to be paid by the company in the event of loss of aeroplanes and engines destroyed. The amount is greater when caused by the negligence of employees. Any balance on hand in the crash reserve account at the end of the contract reverts to the Crown.

Messing. The sum of 90 cents per man per day is paid to the training company for messing. As no provision is made elsewhere (d) Messing. in the contract for cost of the caretaking of quarters and for laundry, the training companies are paying for these services out of the amount allowed for messing, and in most instances the messing is sublet to a firm of reliable caterers. There is no profit feature in this item to the company, and at some of the schools a slight loss is incurred which is paid out of company profits. In visiting the different training schools the subcommittee has always made careful inspections of the kitchens and mess halls as well as careful inquiries as to the type of meals served. In every instance the kitchens were well equipped and scrupulously clean and the meals served are all that could be desired. The subcommittee checked the cost of meals furnished at these air training schools with the meals served in the army. The cost in the air training schools would appear at first glance to be higher, but when the fact is considered that in the army camps all kitchen help are on army pay there is not actually as great a difference in cost as the bare figures would indicate. As the standard of physical fitness in the air force should be maintained at the highest possible level and any decrease in the allowance for messing would undoubtedly be reflected in a reduction in the quality of the rations the subcommittee would not recommend that any change should be made in the amount fixed by the contracts for this item.

7. In regard to profits to be earned by the training companies under the agreement, the amount of profits which would accrue under the agreement was determined as accurately as was possible at the time but there was no previous experience on which to base an estimate. The subcommittee has carefully checked the profits which are being earned and found them to be excessive due to increased flying hours necessitated by increase in pupil intake. The 14875-36 companies operating Elementary Flying Training Schools voluntarily offered to reduce their flying hour profit from 50 cents per flying hour to 25 cents per flying hour. The subcommittee has already in its interim report recommended that this offer should be accepted and expressed its appreciation to the training companies for this commendable attitude on their part. The subcommittee has already recommended that all profits should be invested in non-interest bearing Dominion of Canada bonds so that all profits earned will be available for war purposes until the end of the war. Most of the companies are already following this practice. The subcommittee has already recommended that the agreement should be amended making this compulsory. If this is done and if all of the common stock of the training companies is held in trust for the flying clubs sponsoring the training company with federal charters in the terms recommended in this report then the question of profits is adequately protected.

8. The subcommittee finds that the Elementary Flying Training Schools are being very efficiently managed. The operating cost was originally estimated at $982.31 per pupil. Good management coupled with a marked degree of esprit de corps among the employees has reduced this amount to an average cost in all of these Elementary Flying Training Schools of $864.35 as of March 31, 1941. It is only fair to state that some schools are attaining a lower cost than others and that there is constant competition among the schools. Students in these schools receive their first pilot training, the training course at these schools is for a twelve-week period. With something over 20 million miles flown casualties in these schools are less than one student per million miles flown.

Air Observer Schools

9. All Air Observer Schools are operated by companies especially incorporated for the purpose and sponsored by existing companies carrying on civilian flying operations. In every instance they are either wholly owned subsidiaries of existing companies carrying on civil flying operations or if not wholly owned subsidiaries the capital of the new training companies is held by shareholders of existing civilian companies. These parent companies were pioneers in civil aviation in Canada. For years they have been operating branch lines in Northern Canada to serve the mining industry in localities where rail transportation is not available. Operating with limited financial backing and under all types of weather conditions and from the very nature of their work compelled to use hazardous terminal locations these companies through the years built up flying experience which is now of almost invaluable service to the branch of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan which has been assigned to them.

Under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan there are ten Air Observer Schools. The Training Companies especially organized for the purpose of operating Air Observer Schools are required to raise $50,000.00. The stock issued for this capital is restricted to a maximum dividend of 5 per cent annually and all other profits, if any, must be held undistributed until the termination of the contract.

10. The companies operating the Air Observer Schools are doing so under an agreement, the terms of which were arrived at by negotiation and not by tender, the reason for this having been already discussed fully in paragraph 6 of this report. Contracts with all of the companies are similar in their terms and provide that the Crown is to furnish the site of the school and all necessary buildings and equipment. The training company furnishes all management and operating personnel excepting a supervisory Air Force personnel resident at the school to maintain proper discipline of the trainees, to provide the major part of the instruction work for the trainees and to see that the syllabus of training is adhered to. The main function of the school management in this instance is to maintain the serviceability of the planes and to fly them. At these schools the trainees are taught to navigate the planes, not to fly them. The training flights cover a large area of territory. The pilot flies the plane on the different courses indicated by the student navigators and when the student loses his way, through errors in plotting his various courses the school pilot must be able to at all times know his location and be able to bring the plane home. All of the ground maintenance crew and the pilots as well as the general management of the schools are under the direction of the management of the company. All of the instructors are Air Force personnel.

11. The school company is paid on the following basis:-

- (a) Management. This item includes the salary of the manager, secretarytreasurer, office staff and all items of management. This payment is a fixed amount of $2,700 per month. Any saving effected through the cost of management being less than this amount is profit to the company and should the management cost in any month exceed this amount the loss must be borne by the company.
- (b) Operation and Maintenance. This item includes the salaries of all pilots, engineers, electricians, mechanics, labourers, etc., and also includes cost of all spare parts and material used in connection with the maintenance of the planes. This item also includes heat, light, insurance, etc. The agreement calls for the payment of a monthly target price which in the first agreements was $17,500. The agreement provides for the revision of the target price to compensate for any changes made from time to time in the training syllabus and further provides that every 24 weeks the target price will be revised in the light of existing costs. The agreement further provides that any balance on hand in this account at the conclusion of the contract will be divided, 75 per cent to the Crown and 25 per cent as profit to the company. The provision made for a revision of the target price is to empower the department to control at all times the size of the balance in this account. As an indication of the manner in which this power to revise the monthly target price is operating we find that already as to some of the schools, where surpluses have been built up in this account, the target price has been revised to an amount which has resulted in a reduction of surplus in some instances. The subcommittee finds that some misunderstanding has arisen in some of the companies with respect to this item and that some of them in their financial balance sheets have been showing 25 per cent of the surplus in this account as an earned profit but believes that this error is no longer being made. The subcommittee considered making a recommendation that the profit feature of this item, at the conclusion of the contract, should be eliminated, but after hearing considerable evidence with respect to it does not recommend that any change should be made. The contract in its present form furnishes an incentive for thrift and the presence of a surplus in this account is a measure of assurance of protection to the company against loss.
- (c) Flying Hours. This item covers payments for three separate items. A monthly target price is set up to pay for cost of gas and oil. Any surplus earned as to gas and oil is the property of the Crown and there is no profit feature to the company in regard to this item in any way. The next time is the payment of $1.00 per hour to the company for every training hour flown during the month. This item is definitely fixed per hour but fluctuates from month to month, depending upon the number of training hours flown. The third item under this heading is 50 cents per hour for crash reserve. Crash reserve is a fund set up to insure the company against the loss arising under paragraph 9 of the agreement. Paragraph 9 of the agreement provides the various amounts which are to be paid by the company in the event of the loss of planes and engines. The amount is greater when caused by the negligence of employees. Any balance on hand in the crash reserve account at the end of the contract reverts to the Crown.

(d) Messing. The amount paid for messing is the same as in Elementary Flying Training Schools. Comments already made in this report under that heading when dealing with Elementary Flying Training Schools apply with equal force to the Air Observer Schools.

12. The subcommittee has carefully considered the question of profits which will be earned by the operating companies. Partly on account of highly efficient management and partly on account of the pupil intake as fixed by the contract being increased without proportionate increase in management costs it was found that substantial profits were being earned. The following examples of lunar monthly profits from one of the schools show an average profit of $1,112.00:

Example	No.	1		 				• •		 											$1	,176.00
"	No.	2			 •			•		 			•								$1	,340.00
"	No.	3	•			•	•	•	• •		•						•				$	819.00

This would indicate a yearly profit from that school under favourable conditions of $14,456.00. In this instance the profit is being earned by private individuals and while the contract restricts the declaration of dividends to 5% annually yet at the conclusion of the contracts there would then be a distribution of accumulated profits. The subcommittee fully appreciates the fact that the Air Observer Schools are being very efficiently managed and that these schools are performing an important war task and also appreciates the fact that measures of economy should not be permitted to slow up our war effort but as the actual circumstances have altered sharply since the contract was first entered into the subcommittee decided that a conference should be called of executive officers representing all of the schools, that the facts should be frankly placed before them and their cooperation invited. The conference was held on June 4 and as a result the operating companies have all voluntarily offered to agree to a reduction of what is described in the agreement as flying hour profits from $1.00 per flying hour to 35c per flying hour. The subcommittee recommends that the contracts should be amended accordingly and expresses its appreciation for this com-mendable attitude on their part. The subcommittee fully appreciates the fact that even after this reduction in profits is made, efficiently operated training companies will still earn net profits of approximately $5,000.00 annually after payment of taxes at existing rates, but believes that under the special circumstances surrounding these training agreements the recognized yardstick of measuring profits by their relation to capital employed is not an accurate system to use. In this instance the department is not purchasing goods or commodities but, on the contrary, is purchasing skill and experience. As to all existing professions, tariffs of fees have been established by practice but there are no tariffs available to guide your subcommittee in reaching a correct decision with respect to the present problem. In the light of all of the surrounding circumstances the proposed change will satisfactorily meet this problem.

13. The subcommittee finds that the Air Observer Training Schools are being very efficiently managed. The operating cost was originally estimated at $1,653.57 per pupil. The actual operating cost as of March 31, 1941, is $1,001.27 per pupil. With something over ten million miles flown to date these schools have had no casualties of either trainees or operating personnel.

ELEMENTARY FLYING TRAINING SCHOOLS AND AIR OBSERVER SCHOOLS

14. Spare Parts

The shortage of spare parts and repair material has been a very acute problem. While substantial improvement has occurred this problem is still an important one and has been carefully studied by the subcommittee.

For the purpose of the supply of spare parts to Air Training Schools operated by civilian companies, as well as the service schools, supply depots have been established in each of the four Air Training Commands. Each of these supply depots requires to carry a stock of something over one-half million different parts. As each school is opened it is presumed to be furnished with its full quota of spare parts for planes, engines, etc., something over 2,000 parts in number. As replacements become necessary under paragraph 8 of the contract the training companies must procure the required parts from the Crown. This is accomplished by the training school forwarding a requisition to the nearest supply depot. If in stock the order is filled and the school receiving the shipment is billed for its value. The supply depots simply receive and distribute parts. They do not handle any money.

In addition to the supply depots operated in each of the Commands a master control depot is operated at Montreal to pro rate among the different Commands a proper distribution of parts coming from Great Britain.

Under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan Great Britan's contribution was the supply of a considerable number of planes and spare partsto provide material rather than funds. As a consequence of events in Europe which occurred subsequently to the agreement-the fall of France-the heavy air attacks on British industries and the Battle of the Atlantic deliveries from England were temporarily curtailed thus compelling our supply depots to find other sources of supply and further the problem was accentuated by the speeding up of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan which resulted in more than double the planned number of training schools being opened in the last six months of 1940. These two sets of circumstances created a very serious bottleneck for our supply depots and resulted in a temporary shortage of repair parts in every training school in Canada. Steps were immediately taken to meet the problem and alternate sources of supply were arranged for as quickly as possible. As a result of our investigations the subcommittee finds that while many spare parts of both planes and engines must be obtained from plane and engine manufacturers on account of the need for exact accuracy in both design and strength there are many plane and engine parts which could be obtained locally from the many small machine shops in existence across Canada and finds that as to these parts a substantial saving can be effected through the use of this secondary source of supply. The subcommittee also finds that some of the schools are making this type of spare parts in the machine shops located at the schools. The subcommittee recommends that the possibilities of both of these sources of secondary supply should be carefully studied and that these sources of secondary supply should be expanded as far as is practical. The subcommittee also finds that many of the individual schools have perfected various improved methods in repair and maintenance work, which if shared with other schools would be of advantage to the whole plan. In order to secure a pooling of air engineering experience among the different schools and for the purpose of improving the problem of shortage of spare parts the subcommittee further recommends that a supervisory air engineer should be appointed to have general supervision of all of the civilian operated air training schools. The intention is that this supervisory officer would periodically visit all the schools to study improved methods and make these methods available to all schools and this supervisory engineer would also act in a liaison capacity between the Air Member for Supply and the schools. The subcommittee believes he should be a civilian.

The subcommittee recommends that when a requisition is received for parts which the supply depot is unable to fill immediately the requisitioning school should be at once advised of the approximate date the parts can be made available by the depot and if the delay is serious to the operation of the school its management should then have the right to purchase from any other available source.

15. Overhaul of Aeroplanes

Under the present set up when a plane has been in use a given number of hours, which varies in time depending upon the type of plane, the plane is sent by the school to the manufacturer or to a repair depot for a major overhaul. This system results in serious delays in some instances. The subcommittee finds that the civilian companies operating Air Observer Schools have had years of experience in this type of work and have qualified mechanical personnel capable of doing the work. Some tests have already been made and as a result it has been found that these companies are capable of performing such work at a greatly reduced cost compared with cost under the existing practice. The subcommittee recommends that sufficient building and machine shop accommodation should be furnished at all of the Air Observer Schools to permit the continuous overhauling of its planes. Attached as appendix (ii) to this report is a detailed submission giving complete particulars furnished by Dominion Skyways Training, Limited.

16. Property Maintenance

Under the contract property, buildings and equipment of an approximate value of $800,000.00 are handed over to the care of the training companies operating Elementary Flying Training Schools and of the approximate value of $1,600,000.00 to training companies operating Air Observer Schools and under paragraph 4 of the agreement the company agrees that it will, at the expiration of the contract return all of this property, buildings and equipment to the Crown in a condition satisfactory to the Minister (meaning thereby the Minister of National Defence for Air) and further agrees to make good any loss occasioned by other than "reasonable wear and tear." Company executives have expressed grave concern with respect to the potential liability incurred by this section which might mean serious loss to the company particularly arising out of the construction which might be placed by the Minister on the meaning of the words "reasonable wear and tear." It has been suggested that an inspection should be made periodically so that the training companies would at all times know the extent of their liability under paragraph 4 of the contract and so that a guiding precedent would be established for the interpretation which will be given by the Minister to the words "reasonable wear and tear" would be definitely established. The subcommittee recommends that this should be done.

17. Transportation

Owing to the fact that some of the training schools are located a considerable distance from the nearest urban centre from which a substantial part of the school employees are secured, the cost of transportation to these civilian employees is creating an unfair inequality as between schools and this requires special treatment. The subcommittee recommends that in every instance where a training school is located more than five miles from the nearest urban centre provision should be made in the contract permitting payment of actual daily transportation costs to employees, but not to exceed five cents per mile.

18. Insurance

All of the companies operating Elementary Flying Training Schools and Air Observer Schools carry accident insurance for the protection of all their civilian pilots and employees. Efforts were made to obtain Workmen's Compensation coverage of this risk, but as Workmen's Compensation Boards would accept the risk of ground employees only, and as lower rates were offered by insurance companies, policies were taken out with these companies. The cost of these policies is running about $1,000.00 per month per school.

On account of the diversified nature of the risk and in view of the fact that the Dominion of Canada is now, in almost every instance, assuming its own insurable risks, the subcommittee recommends that the present insurance policies should be discontinued and that a fund should be established by payments into the fund of an adequate amount per flying hour, and that in the event of accidents occurring losses should be paid out of this fund at the same rate as the present losses are now paid. The subcommittee believes that the various Provincial Workmen's Compensation Boards would, at nominal cost, supply such adjusting services as would be necessary in each province to determine the amount of loss which should be paid. Past experience would indicate that this proposed change should effect an annual saving of at least a quarter of a million dollars.

19. Gasoline and Oil

In regard to gasoline and oil, the training companies are buying aviation gasoline at  $2\frac{1}{2}$  cents per gallon less than the price being charged to any purchaser other than the Government. Engine oil is being purchased at 9 cents per gallon less than the price being paid by any purchaser other than the Government. But if the gasoline and oil used at the Elementary Flying Training Schools and the Air Observer Schools could be purchased by the Department of Munitions and Supply instead of being purchased by the training companies a further saving of one cent per gallon on gasoline and three cents per gallon on oil or a total saving of about \$125,000 annually would be effected so long as this system could be inaugurated without any additional accounting. The subcommittee recommends that this should be done.

APPENDIX (i) TO REPORT (No. 1) OF SUBCOMMITTEE No. 1

PART V

204. In this part,

- (a) "flying club" means a corporation incorporated by letters patent under this part without share capital;
- (b) "member" means every person who has paid an entrance fee of $25 and has been accepted by the directors as a member of the club and who is not in arrears with respect to the payment of such annual dues as may be fixed from time to time by the directors. A member shall have full voting power;
- (c) "flying member" means every person who has been accepted as a flying member of the club by the directors and who has paid such entrance fee as may be fixed from time to time by the directors and who is not in arrears with respect to the payment of such fees as may be fixed from time to time by the directors. A "flying member" shall have all of the privileges of the club, including that of flying instruction and the use of aircraft but shall not have any voting power;

(d) "life member" means every person who has made a grant of at least $100 to the club and who has been appointed by the directors as a life member or who has been appointed a life member by the Board of Directors for services rendered to the club. Life members shall not exceed five in number and shall have full voting power.

205. (1) The Secretary of State may by letters patent under his seal of office grant a charter to any number of persons, not less than three, who apply therefor, constituting such persons and others, who have become subscribers to the memorandum of agreement, hereinafter mentioned, and who thereafter become members of the corporation thereby created, a body corporate and politic, without share capital, called a flying club, for the purpose of carrying on in the Province of ..... and in any or all of the Provinces of Canada, without pecuniary gain to its members, the giving of all forms of flying training both ground and air and the providing of facilities for flying training in lighter-than-air aircraft and heavier-than-air aircraft, including gliders.

(2) Nothing in this part shall be construed to authorize the corporation to issue any note payable to the bearer thereof or any promissory note intended to be circulated as money or as the note of a bank, or to engage in the business of banking or insurance. R.S., c. 27, s. 5 (3).

206.(1) The applicants for such letters patent, who must be of the full age of twenty-one years, shall file in the Department of the Secretary of State, an application in accordance as nearly as may be with Form three in the schedule to this Act, setting forth the following particulars:—

- (a) the proposed name of the corporation;
- (b) the purposes for which its incorporation is sought;
- (c) the place within Canada where the head office of the corporation is to be situate;
- (d) the names in full and the address and calling of each of the applicants;
- (e) the names of the applicants, not less than three, who are to be the first directors of the corporation.

(2) The application shall be accompanied by a memorandum of agreement in duplicate in accordance as nearly as may be with Form four in the schedule to this Act, signed and sealed by the applicants, setting forth the by-laws of the proposed corporation, and more particularly setting forth by-laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this Part upon the following matters:—

- (a) conditions of membership;
- (b) mode of holding meetings, provision for quorum, rights of voting and of enacting by-laws;
- (c) mode of repealing or amending by-laws with special provision that the repeal or amendment of by-laws not embodied in the letters patent shall not be enforced or acted upon until the approval of the Minister of National Defence for Air and of the Secretary of State has been obtained;
- (d) appointment and removal of directors, trustees, committees and officers, and their respective powers;

- (e) audit of accounts and appointment of auditors;
- (f) whether or how members may withdraw from the corporation;
- (g) custody of the corporate seal and certifying of documents issued by the corporation.

(3) The applicants may ask to have embodied in the letters patent any provision which could under this Part be contained in any by-law of the corporation. R.S., c. 27, s. 8, am.

207. No director shall receive any payment by way of director's fees but directors may be paid actual out of pocket expenses.

208. (1) The following provisions of Part I of this Act shall apply to corporations to which this Part applies, namely, sections 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14 except paragraph (t) of subsection one, subsections one, three, four and five of section 17, sections 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 40, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 91, 95, 96, 97, 100, paragraphs (a) to (d), both inclusive, of subsection one of section 103, sections 106, 107, 109, 110, 111, 119, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137 and 138. R.S., c. 27, s. 8 (6), am.

(2) The Secretary of State may appoint one or more competent inspectors to investigate the affairs of the flying club and to report thereon as he may direct upon the application of such proportion of the members as in the opinion of the Secretary of State warrants the application and thereupon subsections two to eight inclusive of section 108 of Part I of this Act shall apply.

(3) Section 121 of Part I of this Act shall be applicable mutatis mutandis to corporations to which this Part applies with respect to a summary setting out the particulars referred to in paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (d), (n), (o), (p), and (r) of subsection one of said section and to directors, managers, trustees and other officers of such corporations. R.S., c. 27, s. 137 (13), am.

(4) In construing the sections of Part I of this Act made applicable to corporations under this Part,

- (a) the words "the company" or "a company" mean a corporation to which this Part applies;
- (b) the word "shareholder" means a member and a life member of such corporation but shall not mean a flying member. R.S., c. 27, s. 8 (7), am.

209. In the event of the winding up of the company or in the event of the club ceasing its activities the Secretary of State shall have the right to take possession of all of the assets of the flying club, both real and personal, and the same shall become the property of the Crown subject only to the payment of any existing debts or liabilities of the flying club but this liability shall not exceed the actual value of the assets received by the Minister.

Appendix (ii) to Report No. 1 of Subcommittee No. 1

Suggestions for shop to be erected at No. 1 Air Observer School, Malton, for continuous overhaul of 24 Anson aircraft at present supplied to No. 1 Air Observer School.

The shop should be of benefit to the Department of National Defence and the operators of No. 1 Air Observer School as apart from the general shortage of aircraft overhaul facilities, Dominion Skyways (Training) Limited would be enabled to anticipate overhaul requirements at all times being familiar with the history and present condition of their aircraft. It is also considered that aircraft could be returned to service in a shorter time than would otherwise be possible.

The suggestion covers the continuous overhaul, apart from aircraft requiring repairs necessitated by a major crash, of the 24 Anson aircraft at present supplied to No. 1 Air Observer School, these aircraft to remain at the school for the duration of the operation contract (3 years, in which time approximately 45,000 hours will be flown).

The suggestion is based on an average annular flying time of 15,000 hours and should 1,080 flying hours be maintained as maximum overhaul time for Anson aircraft it would be necessary to overhaul one aircraft each 26 days, or 14 aircraft per annum.

The following suggestions are put forward for consideration: —

1. The work could be carried out on a non-profit basis by an organization completely separate from Dominion Skyways (Training) Limited (say Dominion Skyways Limited).

2. Parts for replacement during overhaul would have to be made available and held as stock.

3. A complete set of Anson aircraft drawings would be required.

4. Light, heat and air could be obtained at cost from Dominion Skyways (Training) Limited.

BUILDING

One shop would be required for this work, approximate size being 60 feet by 70 feet with an opening at one end of at least 58 feet and a 17-foot ceiling.

This building would house one Anson aircraft and the various tradesmen, along with their equipment.

It is felt that a small office and stores could be built into the rear section of this building. This stores would be for miscellaneous items only as all major items would be drawn from Dominion Skyways (Training) Limited main stores.

This building should be located a reasonable distance from main hangar.

PERSONNEL

Part time of Maintenance Superintendent of Dominion Skyways (Training) Limited to act in a supervisory capacity.

Clerk to look after all accounts and the issuance of all Storehouse orders and keeping of a complete set of records of all work carried out.

One Aircraft Foreman. One Woodworker (Patternmaker). One Metal Worker. One Dope and Fabric Man. Four Helpers. One Machinist.

Payroll of the above would be in the neighbourhood of $1,750 per month. The only expense additional to the above would be depreciation charges and a small amount for maintenance of shop equipment.

INSPECTION AND TYPE OF WORK TO BE CARRIED OUT

The aircraft should have the regular R.C.A.F.-A.I.D. inspection after aircraft is suitably stripped.

A work order made out prior to this inspection showing work which we deemed necessary should be signed by the inspecting officer.

The aircraft should again be inspected at completion, at which time the inspecting officer would sign that the work had been satisfactorily carried out.

We would suggest that the overhauls be broken down into two or three different types, i.e., one machine might require complete stripping of covering, re-priming of fuselage, etc., while another might only need the fabric rejuvenated.

The removal of gas and oil tanks for test and repair.

The replacement of all instruments with complete set of re-conditioned ones.

The repair and replacement of all necessary cowling.

Complete overhaul of undercarriage.

Replacement of all necessary gas and oil lines.

Replacement of necessary control cables and testing of control chains.

Replacement of main and Tachometer generators and cut-outs with overhauled units.

Replacing all necessary plywood on wings and tail planes. Carry out necessary modifications.

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented the Sixth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:-

The Special Committee on War Expenditures has received from its subcommittee No. 1 the following report on "Airports, aerodromes and air force buildings construction, specifications and designs for such projects and inspection thereof during construction," which it has considered and adopted with amendments as its Sixth Report to the House.

REPORT (No. 2) OF SUBCOMMITTEE No. 1

This subcommittee was appointed on May 5th and was directed, inter alia, to inquire into airports, aerodromes and air force buildings construction, specifications and designs for such projects and inspection thereof during construction. On July 8th the subcommittee was re-appointed with some change in personnel and its scope of inquiry was extended to Army and Navy buildings.

The subcommittee begs to give its first report of findings and recommendations with respect to these subjects.

Airports, Aerodromes, etc.

1. The task of locating and purchasing sites for 150 projects and that of building aerodromes and airport runways was assigned to the Department of Transport. By Order in Council dated November 9th, 1939, the Minister of Transport was directed to undertake:

- (a) The selection of suitable aerodrome sites, subject to approval of suitability by the technical officers of the Department of National Defence.
- (b) The survey of the sites to verify suitability for economical development.
- (c) The preparation of development plans and specifications subject to approval of the technical officers of the Department of National Defence.
- (d) The acquisition of the necessary properties involved.
- (e) The development and construction of the said aerodromes, excepting the construction of buildings and hangars.

The procedure followed in regard to the acquisition of aerodrome sites is that the Department of National Defence for Air sends a requisition to the Department of Transport indicating the type of site required, the approximate size and the Air Command in which it is to be located. The Department of Transport then proceeds with surveys, unless the need for the proposed site has already been anticipated and the necessary information compiled. A report is made by the Department of Transport to the Aerodrome Committee of the Department of National Defence for Air giving complete particulars of several alternate sites, usually at least three. The report includes information as to the value of the land, the grade of the site, the nature of the soil and the subsoil, the nature of timber if the site is wooden, proposed water supply, proposed sewage disposal, apparent drainage requirements, nearest location of crushed rock or gravel and sand supplies, electricity, telephone, telegraph, transportation facilities and other necessary information. This report is studied by the Aerodrome Committee in the Department of National Defence for Air. The decision of the site to be used rests with this committee. As to Bombing and Gunnery Schools the amount of acreage required for firing ranges for the use of these schools is so large that the schools are usually located near a lake or a large area of waste land and as to these schools many of the requirements above mentioned as to water supply, electrical power and the like are only of secondary importance, and in some instances substantial expenditures have been necessary to make these services available for sites chosen on account of their proximity to lakes.

Some idea of the magnitude of the programme and of Canada's good fortune in that it had recently organized the Trans-Canada Airways will be gained from a description of the work which was accomplished by the officials of this department assisted by engineers of provincial departments and C.N.R. staff. During the year 1940 this group made surveys of hundreds of suitable sites, out of which 150 were chosen. In the acquisition of these sites they negotiated with and purchased land from over five hundred individual owners across Canada. All of these sites were cleared and graded. This involved the moving of 20,000,000 yards of earth. Then hard surface runways had to be built. These if converted into terms of a twenty foot highway represent over 850 miles in length. From the spring break-up in 1940 down to the fall of France and the Low Countries the work was proceeded with and all recognized safeguards taken such as calling for tenders, etc., but when the emergency came in late May all routine which would cause any loss of time was brushed aside and the contracts were let by negotiation instead of by tender. Contractors worked night and day with the result that before the end of 1940 more than double the number of air fields were ready for use than were originally planned.

Army, Navy and Air Force Buildings

2. All buildings required for the three armed forces Army, Navy and Air are designed by officials in the Department of National Defence and by the Department of Public Works. The procedure followed when any one of the three defence departments requires buildings is that the department in question sends a requisition to the Department of Munitions and Supply. This requisi-tion has attached to it complete specifications of what is desired. The building construction department of Munitions and Supply then takes the necessary steps to award a contract for the performance of the work. The subcommittee finds that care is taken to protect the public interest in regard to the awarding of contracts. Tenders are called for where the work involves an expenditure of over $5,000. In calling for tenders there is not only full publicity but where necessary contracts for individual projects are divided into a sufficient number of parts in order that the lowest price will be obtained for each class of work and further options are given as to the use of different types of building materials. In a country the size of Canada freight rates have an important bearing on costs and, consequently, it often happens that the optional use of different types of materials will achieve distinct savings. One illustration will suffice. In some parts of Canada steel is cheaper for some types of structural construction than lumber and, of course, in other parts the converse will be true.

The subcommittee finds that great care is exercised to assure secrecy of bids and assure competitive bidding. The subcommittee finds contracts are let on a lump sum basis or on a unit basis depending upon the nature of the work to be done. The subcommittee also finds that where all of the tenders are considered to be too high the contract is not awarded until tenders are again called for. In every instance the contract is awarded to the lowest bidder. Before the contracts are awarded the whole project is checked by the Timber Controller's office and the tenders are also submitted to the defence department interested for its approval. The subcommittee finds that the construction branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply is very efficiently managed and that precautions are taken to protect the public interest. During the year 1940 something over 92 million dollars worth of buildings were constructed.

Timber Controller

3. When it became apparent that the requirements of the Defence Department were of such a size as to cause an inflationary effect on the lumber trade unless controlled and that shortages might develop, a Timber Controller was appointed by order in council dated June 24, 1940. The lumber price for all departmental purchases was set immediately. The wholesale price was also set for British Columbia but no action was deemed necessary at that time with respect to civilian prices for the rest of Canada. The whole problem was carefully studied and changes in grade of material to be used were made by a lowering of grades wherever possible. This was done in order to reduce costs and also to insure that all grades of our lumber stocks would be utilized.

The task assumed by the Timber Controller's office of supplying Canada's war needs in 1940 without disturbing the retail market was so carried out that our requirements were fully met without any serious shortages developing. During these few months over 340 million of feet of lumber were purchased on government account. This represents seventeen thousand car loads. Deliveries ran as high as 400 car loads daily. The estimated saving to the country on this single item was placed by the Timber Controller at well over eight hundred thousand dollars. In addition to this problem of raw material supply a study was made with reference to all types of planing mill supplies including frames, sash, doors, tables, forms, etc. Frames for something over sixty thousand openings were changed from special to stock designs at a saving of over seventy-five thousand dollars. Glass sizes were standardized and forty car loads of glass of stock sizes were made available for use on government projects. As to lumber purchases the policy was to purchase direct from the manufacturer and at a point nearest to the place where it was wanted. Over 95 per cent of all purchases of lumber were made from manufacturers. The Timber Controller assured the subcommittee that he had been given complete authority in the purchase of supplies without interference of any sort.

The subcommittee was informed by the Timber Controller that in May of 1941 signs became evident of what he termed a "runaway" market for lumber and on May 26 a Timber Control Order was passed to control the wholesale and retail prices in all Canada excepting the wholesale in the Maritimes where existing conditions indicated that for the time being price control would be inadvisable. The problem was a very difficult one on account of the wide fluctuations in prices and grades which exist in different parts of Canada. The means adopted was to "freeze" all existing prices in all branches of the trade (manufacturing-wholesale-retail) at the price in effect April 1, 1941. To police such an order would appear to raise almost insuperable difficulties, however, a solution was found. Representative committees, thirteen in number, representing all three branches of the trade were set up covering the entire These committees act in an advisory capacity and in addition Dominion. investigate all complaints of infractions of the Timber Controller's Order. To date no prosecutions have been necessary. The Timber Controller estimates that this price control will save the buying public twenty million dollars annually.

As to building specifications and inspection during construction the subcommittee inquired fully into this problem. This work is done within the Defence

A.D. 1941

Department interested and before any buildings are constructed the office of the Timber Controller is consulted as to availability of material and also as to the design of buildings. The Timber Controller has no authority to see that his suggestions are carried out but he informs us that in the light of past experience no such authority is necessary as an agreement is always reached by conferences. His only recommendation to the subcommittee is that all purchases of lumber planing mill products and of articles which could be made of wood should be referred to his office before purchases are made. The subcommittee recommends that this should be done.

As to designs of buildings the subcommittee finds that great care has been taken and that so far as is practical buildings have been standardized to effect substantial savings.

Hangars

4. In the flying training schools the subcommittee finds that in schools requiring a number of hangars the school management has found that better results can be obtained by concentrating all of the major repair and servicing work in one hangar and simply using the other hangars for plane storage. This practice has greatly increased the efficiency of plane maintenance and has lowered costs, but the subcommittee finds that when all of the repair and maintenance equipment is concentrated in the one hangar as well as the maintenance personnel the shop annexes to the hangar in question are inadequate and that the shop annexes to the hangars which are simply used for storage are twice as large as they need be. The subcommittee recommends that in all schools equipped with more than two hangars additional shop annexes should be built to the hangar used for maintenance and repair purposes and further recommends that in future construction work changes should be made in the hangar plans to increase the workshop facilities for one hangar and to cut at least in half the workshop facilities of hangars used for storage purposes only.

Heating

5. The hangars and buildings immediately adjoining the hangars are, in the main, heated by a steam central heating plant. This type of heating has proven to be economical and highly satisfactory. The other buildings, including sleeping quarters, mess halls, etc., are usually heated by individual hot air furnaces operated by mechanical stokers. Partly owing to the fact that during the first season these automatic stokers were operated by unskilled workmen and partly on account of mechanical defects which existed in some makes of stokers considerable discomfort and some hardship was caused to the men during last winter. The subcommittee was informed that all of the operating personnel have now been given special training which fits them for their work and that all of the mechanical defects are being remedied so that during the coming winter all of the buildings will be efficiently heated. In view of the fact that this construction work was done so hurriedly and in view of the fact that heating equipment had to be obtained in so short a time and on an exceptionally large scale the subcommittee does not believe that anyone should be censured but cannot urge too strongly that conditions which existed last winter should not be permitted to occur again.

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented the Seventh Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

The Special Committee on War Expenditures has received from its subcommittee No. 2 the following Report on "Medical, Dental and Hospital Services", which it has considered and adopted with amendments as its Seventh Report to the House.

REPORT No. 1 OF SUBCOMMITTEE No. 2

Subcommittee No. 2 begs leave to submit the following report on:

Medical, Dental and Hospital Services

For the purpose of clarity your subcommittee purposes to deal with Dental Services first and to combine its report so far as it relates to Medical and Hospital Services, as these so closely interlock.

Dental Services.—The Director of Dental Services appeared before the subcommittee and gave to it an outline of the organization and work of the Canadian Dental Corps. Prior to the outbreak of war no such organization existed and the Canadian Dental Corps is, therefore, a new creation. The subcommittee was much impressed with the efficiency with which the organization has been set up and with the emphasis placed on economy by those in charge of this particular Corps.

Medical and Hospital Services.—During the period following the war of 1914-18 the Canadian Army Medical Corps, as it was then known, was very greatly reduced in personnel.

Since the outbreak of the present war the staff of medical officers has been increased from 40 to 1,024 and of nursing sisters from 12 to 673. Of these 94 medical officers are engaged in taking care of the Navy personnel and some 306 are overseas.

In addition a separate medical branch of the Royal Canadian Air Force has been set up. The personnel of this branch consists of 319 medical officers and 75 nursing sisters.

It is apparent from the above that a very great expansion has occurred in the work of the medical branch of the Department of National Defence since the outbreak of the present war.

The subcommittee laid considerable emphasis on its inquiry into the question of duplication of medical services and hospitals suggested by the creation of a separate medical branch for air.

Evidence was submitted to the subcommittee by the Director of Medical Services for Air to show that little if any duplication occurred in the setting up of this particular branch. The personnel would be required in any event. The Air Medical Branch use the same consultants as does the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps. Army medical stores serve the Air Medical Branch and Air uses Army and Department of Pensions and National Health hospitals, except where local conditions make necessary the building of hospitals for Air requirements.

It was further argued before the subcommittee that even in the matter of administrative staff no increase was made necessary inasmuch as the staff at present employed in administration would be necessary in any event. If the Air Medical Services came under the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps the branch of the R.C.A.M.C. dealing with Air would have to be under a separate director and a certain amount of administrative staff required.

The most weighty argument advanced before the subcommittee to justify the creation of a separate Air Medical Branch was that the nature of the work requires a specialized type of training of the medical officers and a degree of intimacy with the airmen and their duties, thus making the task a distinctive one from the R.C.A.M.C. Considerable research work is being done in co-operation with the National Research Council dealing with disabilities peculiar to the air. For example, a close study has been made of the cause of blackout, and the subcommittee was pleased to hear that very real progress has been made to find a remedy for this particular handicap in operational flying.

It has been found that the peculiar strain under which air work is carried on requires close medical attention of the men engaged therein for the purpose of noting any change in physical or mental attitude, which might endanger the life of the airman and incidentally the costly equipment with which he is furnished. A certain proportion of the medical officers of the Air Branch are assigned to this particular task, and the subcommittee is in agreement that valuable work is being accomplished as a result in reducing casualties, and in addition preserving the effectiveness of those engaged in such operations.

It must be kept in mind that the initial cost of training an individual to become a pilot, observer, navigator or operational airman is very considerable, approximately $20,000 or more, and that in addition the plane which is entrusted to the care of these men constitutes a very substantial investment of money, and that purely from a pecuniary standpoint it is extremely wise and proper that extreme care should be exercised in keeping the men fit and effective to perform the all-important task which they have to do on behalf of the State.

For these reasons the subcommittee is of the opinion that the establishment of a separate air branch of medical services was justified.

There is a marked relationship between the work of the different medical branches and hospitalization, and it is for this reason that we touch upon the medical staff of the Department of Pensions and National Health. At the outbreak of the war, as has already been pointed out, the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps had a small personnel and practically no hospital accommodation. It was necessary, therefore, to call upon the facilities of the Department of Pensions and National Health to take care of the immediate needs of the occasion. As a result since the outbreak of the war the Department of Pensions and National Health have medically taken care of 65,506 soldiers of the present war with total patient days of 1,454,649. For the purpose of comparison it is interesting to note that this number of soldiers of the present war treated and hospitalized by the Department of Pensions and National Health is out of a total of 81,435 patients treated by this department since the outbreak of war. This indicates that a very substantial proportion of the work of the Department of Pensions and National Health has been devoted to the care of soldiers of the present war. This has, of course, resulted in an increase in the medical staff and other personnel of the Department of Pensions and National Health, and in addition a substantial increase in its hospital facilities.

The Department of Pensions and National Health was set up as such in 1928 and took over the work of the Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment Department. The duties of the treatment branch of the Department of Pensions and National Health consisted of the taking of medical and hospital care of soldiers discharged from the armed services and the rehabilitation of these to fit them for civil life. Since the outbreak of the present war it will be noted that they have become engaged in the medical care and hospitalization of active members of the armed services.

At present the practice is that men of categories A to D placed in the Department of Pensions and National Health hospitals are medically taken care of by officers of that department until their discharge or return to their unit. If, however, a soldier is placed in category E he is then transferred to the care of the Department of Pensions and National Health for the purpose of hospitalization or rehabilitation, as the case may require. Army or air medical officers have the right to inspect their patients in Department of Pensions and National Health hospitals but by the very nature of things the question of duration of stay in the hospitals is a matter to be decided by the medical officer of the Department of Pensions and National Health in charge of each particular case. So much so is this the case, as the subcommittee was informed, that the privilege of inspecting their patients while in the Department of Pensions and National Health hospitals is not frequently exercised by army or air medical officers.

This division of the duty of taking medical care of men in the armed services as between the Department of Pensions and National Health and the Department of National Defence has been given very serious thought by the subcommittee.

In the present war effort, where the whole national machinery has to be mobilized in a common effort for a common purpose, the subcommittee would urge that the executive and administrative heads of the different departments and branches of government recognize the supreme importance of co-operation and co-ordination so that the purpose of the state can be best achieved in the most economical manner.

The present dual control of medical services being rendered to the armed forces naturally leads to an examination of the record of what happened during the last war of 1914-18 in this regard.

Briefly, this is as follows: When the war broke out in 1914 all medical services of the Army and military hospitals were under the Canadian Army Medical Corps. In June, 1915, there was set up the Military Hospitals Commission. In 1918 this Commission was abolished or merged into the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment, and to complete the story in 1928 this department became the present Department of Pensions and National Health.

The Military Hospitals Commission formed on June 30, 1915, by Order in Council was set up to deal with all soldiers invalided from overseas. Then in October of 1915 the powers of this Commission were enlarged to deal with all soldiers invalided whether from overseas, while on active service in Canada or elsewhere. The Commission had control of all invalided soldiers, whether discharged from the army or not.

In 1916 considerable difficulty arose between the then Department of Militia and Defence and the Commission as to the treatment of these cases, and it emerged that there was lack of co-operation between the two.

In November of 1917 a further Order in Council was passed placing all medical services in these hospitals under the control of the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

This new situation also proved unsatisfactory and consequently after numerous conferences an Order in Council dated February 1, 1918, was passed by which certain institutions equipped and operated by the Commission were passed to the control of the Department of Militia and Defence. Under this Order in Council,

- (a) all officers and soldiers who had not been discharged from the military forces of Canada remained under the jurisdiction and control and were treated in the hospitals operated by the Department of Militia and Defence;
- (b) all officers and soldiers discharged from the service as invalids and requiring medical treatment passed to the control of the Military Hospitals Commission.

It is therefore clear from the above that there is the experience arising out of the great war of 1914-18 to act as a guide to the best policy to be employed during the present war. More than one school of thought has developed with regard to this general question.

One is of the opinion that the Army should only treat patients with minor troubles in small hospitals or first aid stations erected in the camps. It is a necessary corollary of this that in cases suffering from other than minor ailments these should be transferred to the Department of Pensions and National Health for medical care and hospitalization in hospitals under the control of the Department and its medical staff.

Another school of though suggests that a great deal more use should be made of our civilian hospitals already in existence, and that these should be assisted to increase their bed capacity in order to serve the war requirements. It is pointed out by those holding this particular opinion that in this way the permanent hospital problems of Canada could be assisted and that such a policy would prevent duplication of hospital services, particularly having in mind that a great many of the temporary military hospitals will have to be abandoned after the war.

With regard to the above, two things should be noted. The average cost of a temporary military hospital is from $500.00 to $800.00 a bed while the average cost of a permanent civilian hospital is said to be in the neighbourhood of $2,000.00 a bed. In addition time is an essential factor and it is easily apparent that the temporary type of hospital can be erected and put in operation much more quickly than the permanent type.

Again there is a school of though which emphasizes the necessity of men who are in a category above category E being under the care and control of the medical officers of the Department of National Defence.

The experience of the last war would seem to support the contention of the last-mentioned school of thought, that is to say, that there should be a clear-cut division of duties between the Department of National Defence and the Department of Pensions and National Health. All Army, Air and Navy personnel should be treated by the Department of National Defence until such time as they are placed in category E, that is until they are considered no longer physically or mentally fit for active service.

In support of the above contention it is argued that war demands the most effective Army, Air Force and Navy that it is possible to create. The civilian who enlists in any of the armed forces must of necessity give up many civilian rights and become subject to military law in order that the most effective use can be made of man-power for the specific purpose of winning the war. Discipline and morale are two very important factors in the maintenance of an effective military force. It follows, therefore, that the duty of the military forces is to keep their men effective, that is to say, fit mentally and physically, and on active duty, in order that the full strength of our armed forces may be developed and available in case of need.

The Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps is but a part of the whole military system of achieving this end. An enlisted man must live in an atmosphere that will make of him and continue to make of him the most effective unit in the Army, Air Force or Navy. To do this it appears to follow that he must at all times, either sick or well, be under the direct control and care of officers of the armed forces who alone are trained and equipped for this duty.

During the last war of 1914-18 very considerable controversy arose over this very matter, and it is difficult for one who reviews the course pursued in the last war not to recognize the failure of dual control to accomplish the desired result.

The subcommittee in considering the matter has not failed to note that the Department of Pensions and National Health has been long established and its experience in the field of medical care and hospitalization is much greater than that of the Military Hospitals Commission in the last war.

In attempting to arrive at the proper conclusion in this matter, the subcommittee has sought to determine the basic principle that should govern.

In the opinion of the subcommittee this basic principle is that the medical services of the Department of National Defence should discharge, and be made responsible for, the duty, for which they were created, of taking medical and hospital care of all men in our military forces until such men are placed in category E.

The subcommittee therefore recommends that this principle be recognized.

The subcommittee fully realizes the importance of the conclusion it has reached in this matter and because of this recommends that the whole problem be referred to the Inter-departmental Committee hereafter referred to for immediate further study and report.

It should be noted that substantial hospital building programmes are under way and that the earlier a decision is reached, the less dislocation will occur.

The subcommittee is of opinion that no arrangement should be so rigidly adhered to as not to take into account special circumstances and conditions at specific points.

It follows that if the above principle is recognized and adopted there will have to be a redistribution of existing hospitals and the control thereof as between the Department of National Defence and the Department of Pensions and National Health.

There could, and should be, quite consistently with this principle, the maximum utilization of the facilities of the Department of Pensions and National Health and civilian hospitals.

It is pointed out that while casualties have been comparatively low so far in this war, provision must be made for any reasonable emergency, particularly in exposed areas, and the medical treatment branch of the Department of Pensions and National Health will have a very large and important task in discharging the duties which that branch was originally meant to discharge, to wit;

- (1) The care and hospitalization, if necessary, of veterans of the last war;
- (2) The care and hospitalization of enlisted men in this war when these have been placed in category E, and
- (3) The rehabilitation of all of these for re-entry into civil life.

Auxiliary Hospital Services

The subcommittee recommends that the greatest possible use should be made of any existing auxiliary services of the Department of Pensions and National Health and civilian hospitals. X-ray and laboratory equipment, operating rooms, etc., could well be made use of wherever possible. At centres where it is found necessary to erect temporary hospital accommodation it would be wise to explore the possibility of erecting these close to existing hospitals, with a means of communication so that advantage may be taken of these technical and general services.

In certain points where there is only a small unit of our armed forces stationed it might be wise and proper wherever possible to make use of existing civilian hospitals by agreement with that hospital rather than to build any new hospital accommodation.

Inter-departmental Committee

By letter dated December 5, 1940, the Minister of National Defence for Air indicated his desire that the whole question of medical and hospital services be thoroughly explored "with a view to ensuring that there is the closest co-operation and co-ordination of the three defence services and the treatment branch of the department of national health." He instructed that a committee consisting of the Director of Medical Services of the Department of National Defence, the Director of Medical Services of the Department of Pensions and National Health, the Director of the Air Medical Branch and the Surgeon-Commander of the Medical Services for the Navy, be assembled to render a report to him on certain points having to do with the medical and hospital services.

At one of the meetings of this committee the president of the Canadian Hospital Council attended for the purpose of discussing the general principles that should govern the utilization of hospital facilities in Canada.

As a result of this meeting the committee unanimously reported an agreement to the general principle of utilizing civilian hospital facilities where conditions warrant, but were of the opinion that each case where additional hospital accommodation was required should be judged as an entity taking into due consideration the following factors:—

- (1) Primary cost of construction;
- (2) Subsequent cost of operation;
- (3) Distance from concentration of troops;
- (4) Speed of construction;

(5) Type of cases the forces have to treat (venereal and mild infectious).

The above committee has met infrequently since and from the evidence adduced before the subcommittee we are of the opinion that the greatest possible use is not being made of this inter-departmental committee.

The subcommittee recommends that such inter-departmental committee be made permanent and its authority and purpose more clearly defined and its personnel enlarged to include a representative of Treasury and a recognized civilian authority on hospitalization. In order to give direction to such a committee your subcommittee recommends that the Deputy Minister of the Department of National Defence be the chairman and a member of the said committee.

Because of the added representation on the inter-departmental committee a change in the name of this committee would be necessary.

Meetings should be held regularly and at least the following matters referred to it:

(1) The careful survey of the present system of medical and hospital care of men in our armed forces;

(2) In the event that the recommendation of the subcommittee as to the medical care and hospitalization of our service men is adopted, the redistribution of existing hospital facilities between the Department of Pensions and National Health and National Defence;

(3) Consideration of all new public hospitals to be erected in Canada or elsewhere;

(4) Generally the most efficient and economical use that can be made of our hospitals and auxiliary services.

Preventive Treatment

The subcommittee was interested in a submission made to it having to do with the application of preventive medical treatment in the care of the men enlisting in our armed forces. At present every recruit is inoculated against certain diseases and is vaccinated for the prevention of small-pox. This preventive system does not, however, embrace the giving of serum to every recruit to guard against diphtheria, nor the taking of a Wassermann test.

The subcommittee points out that the experience of the past clearly indicates the saving in manpower and the cost of treatment and hospitalization that can be made by the minimizing of venereal diseases among the men of our armed forces.

All of the medical men who appeared before the subcommittee were in agreement from the standpoint of national economy, both during and after the war, that the taking of the Wassermann or other like test would be valuable. They are in agreement that syphilis is curable and a portion of the very great expense which is now assumed by the provinces or by the dominion in taking care of individuals in advanced stages of syphilis could be prevented.

The subcommittee is of the opinion that the mobilization of our young men presents an opportunity for performing a worthwhile service in this regard, and that a Wassermann or other effective test should be made after a man has enlisted. If it is found that the disease is in its infectious stage the individual should be segregated and the proper treatment given. If, on the other hand, the disease is not in the infectious stage, the subcommittee is advised there is a specific cure that can be applied over a comparatively short period of time, and that this can be given without danger to the recruit or to the men associating with him.

The President of the Canadian Hospital Council appeared before the subcommittee and strongly recommended the building up in Canada of a "blood bank". The subcommittee is aware that the Canadian Red Cross Society has done much in this particular field but the future demands may require much further to be done.

He pointed out that great numbers of our citizens are engaged in somewhat dangerous vocations, i.e. munitions and explosives plants, and that it would be wise to be well prepared for any emergency.

The Department of Pensions and National Health would appear to be the branch of government that could best undertake this task.

This witness made a further suggestion to the subcommittee that every recruit be tested for blood type and that his blood category be tatooed on his person (or his identification disk) so that little delay would occur in treating him if wounded.

The subcommittee recommends that this suggestion be given careful consideration by the proper officers of the Department of National Defence.

Incidentally, it should be noted that the typing of the blood of each recruit or enlisted man would involve a Wassermann test and that two objectives could be achieved at the same time.

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented the Eighth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

The Special Committee on War Expenditures has received from its subcommittee No. 2 the following Report on "Supplies," which it has considered and adopted with amendments as its Eighth Report to the House.

REPORT NO. 2 OF SUBCOMMITTEE No. 2

Subcommittee No. 2 begs leave to submit the following report on:

Supplies:

Your subcommittee was unable during the inquiry to open up generally the important question of supplies. It did, however, open up an inquiry into certain specific items of supply, namely, (1) medical supplies, (2) meat suplies, and (3) rations to air force.

(1) Medical supplies.

At present all supplies required by the Army, Air Force and Navy are furnished by the Army Medical Stores Branch which prepares a requisition together with the specifications, forwards same to the Department of Munitions and Supply which, as required by statute, purchases all such supplies.

The Department of Pensions and National Health on the other hand purchases its own requirements direct, and a decided conflict of opinion appeared before the subcommittee as to the most efficient agency to use for this purpose.

The subcommittee proposed to have before it officials of the Department of Munitions and Supply for the purpose of securing information as to the price and quality of medical supplies purchased by this department, and to compare these with like medical supplies purchased by the Department of Pensions and National Health. Time, however, did not permit of this being done. This would afford a concrete method of comparing the comparative efficiency of the two methods of purchase. The subcommittee recommends that later in the committee's work this comparison be made.

The subcommittee had before it the officer attached to the directorate of medical services in charge of medical stores, and in addition the subcommittee visited the manufacturing laboratory of both the Department of National Defence and the Department of Pensions and National Health.

It should be kept in mind in dealing with this particular subject that the army medical stores branch was faced with a rapidly expanding task. This is illustrated by the fact that in the years prior to the war the stores purchased annually amounted to approximately $10,000, while in the peak year since the outbreak of war these had amounted to approximately $2,500,000.

The subcommittee was somewhat concerned with the apparently large quantity of certain drugs and items of equipment purchased. However, it was pointed out by the director of medical services that Canada has armed forces distributed at many points, some overseas, some in Canada, and that even in Canada units are stationed at greatly separated points and in varying numbers. Loss of supplies occurs at sea and during engagement in the field, and army authorities must base their requirements on all possible emergencies.

The subcommittee, therefore, feels that it has not sufficient evidence to properly pass judgment on the quantity of purchases above referred to.

The subcommittee was concerned with evidence which indicated that the medical stores branch had not been able to keep its bookkeeping records up to date, and that no complete system of audit would therefore be possible.

The officers of the branch concerned gave as an explanation:-

- (1) the very great expansion in the work of the stores branch,
- (2) the lack of sufficient and experienced personnel to do the work assigned to it, and
- (3) the fact that the stores are housed in four separate buildings, thus adding to the difficulties of control and record keeping.

The subcommittee is of the opinion that since it has not been able to go fully into this matter, an accountant from the treasury branch, carefully selected for the task, should be assigned to make a survey of the medical stores branch, its personnel, its system of keeping records and the matter of proper audit and inventory taking, and thereafter make a report to the Minister of National Defence as to the whole matter.

The subcommittee is of the opinion that where a branch of the government is dealing in such large quantities involving so much money, the keeping of proper records and the periodical complete audit and inventory check are necessary and essential in order to prevent carelessness and possible pilferage by those having access to the stores wherever located. It is for this reason that the subcommittee makes the above recommendation.

The subcommittee recommends that later on in the committee's work a further inquiry should be made into this matter for the purpose of ascertaining the facts, and to ascertain if any changes that have been found necessary are made.

The subcommittee recognizes fully the very great task imposed upon certain branches of government by the mushroom growth of our war effort, and the very great likelihood that existing staffs will be overworked and unable to keep up completely with the work assigned to them. The above recommendation is, therefore, made with this in view and with the desire to help this particular branch solve its own problems.

Certain drugs such as cough medicines, liniments, etc., are manufactured by the Department of National Defence and also by the Department of Pensions and National Health.

The suggestion has been made to the subcommittee, because of the longer experience and better equipment of the Department of Pensions and National Health, that this work could be properly concentrated in that Department, and purchases made of these drugs and preparations by the Department of Munitions and Supply on behalf of the Department of National Defence.

Your subcommittee has not been able to pursue its inquiry into this matter to a sufficient degree to pass judgment on this suggestion.

The subcommittee is of the opinion that some of the criticism directed at the Army Medical Stores Branch in the purchase of obsolete drug supplies, gauze and equipment occurred as a result of the official army list of these being a relic of the last war. The use of this list continued up until recently when the whole list was revised and the subcommittee is pleased to note that this change has taken place and that purchases of such supplies will be in conformity with progress and modern development.

(2) Meat Supplies.

The subcommittee visited Toronto during the course of its inquiry, and while there had the opportunity of meeting with the officers of Canada Packers and the Swift Canadian Company, both of which firms supply considerable of the meat requirements of the armed services.

The subcommittee's attention was drawn to suggestions made by the packers to the effect that substantial economy could be achieved by a change in the specifications for meat requirements in both beef and pork. These were:—

(1) The trimming of fat from beef before shipment to the camps;

(2) Supply pork meat in the form of cuts instead of, as at present, in carcasses.

Beef:

The average military beef carcass carries about 20 pounds of fat, which in the main is not salvaged in the form of edible fats at the camps. An estimate of the average price received in all camps for this fat would not exceed 1 to 2 cents per pound. The packer suggests that if trimmed at the packing plant the value of this would be at least 4 cents per pound and that the difference could be saved to the government.

In addition it was pointed out to the committee that there is at present a shortage of edible fats in Canada and that this shortage will likely become more acute. The subcommittee recommends, therefore, this be kept in mind in the consideration of these suggestions.

Pork:

Careful tests made by the packers according to present military specifications indicate that 42 per cent of the carcass could more profitably be retained at the packing plant. This 42 per cent is made up as follows:—

Per cent
Spare ribs Tail
Fat and skin
Hocks
Bones 3.13
Scrap
Belly

All of this product could be used at the packing plant at a much higher value than could be realized at the camp. The packers, therefore, recommend that there be shipped only the trimmed hams, trimmed loins and trimmed shoulders, totalling 58 per cent of the carcass.

The packers furnished a memorandum setting out the above suggestions and supplying a computation of the saving estimated to result therefrom, based upon present beef and pork prices.

The subcommittee asked the Director of Supplies in the Quartermaster General's Branch and Mr. Pearsall of the Department of Agriculture who, on request, advises the Department of National Defence in these matters, to consider these suggestions made by the packers. These officers indicated their full appreciation of Army-requirements being fitted into the national economy and, offhand, were of the opinion that the suggestions made by the packers had merit and should be carefully analysed and considered.

The Director of Supplies pointed out that when it is recalled that 200,000 be weighed in the light of two essentials:

- (a) That the meat furnished would meet the requirements of the Dietetic Advisers to the Department of National Defence as to the necessary ration content,
- (b) That the change would not result in an increased cost in rations.

The Director of Supplies pointed out that when it is recalled that 200,000 rations are issued daily, an increase of even a fraction of a cent is a very important matter and should be considered very carefully.

It was further pointed out that another thing which must be considered is that our forces are not necessarily concentrated in large camps such as Camp Borden, but are spread out throughout the length and breadth of Canada, and the Department must see to it that the meats furnished are furnished in such a condition that they will reach the point of consumption in the best possible condition. The breaking down of the carcass into cuts must be considered from this particular viewpoint.

The question of Government inspection is also a matter that must be carefully considered. At present all carcasses are inspected by Government Inspectors at the packing plant under the Pure Food Act, and in addition in the case of beef, inspected as to compliance with military specifications.

Some system would, therefore, have to be devised whereby the quality of the meat furnished could be passed upon by the Government Inspectors prior to the carcass being cut up.

The subcommittee impressed upon the officers appearing before it its opinion that the suggestions made should be carefully and sympathetically examined, and this the officers agreed to do. The subcommittee recommends that this should be kept in mind and that at a later date inquiry be made as to what has been accomplished as a result.

(3) Rations to Air Force

The subcommittee visited the Manning Pool in the city of Toronto and had some confirmation of the opinion expressed before the subcommittee by the Director of Medical Services for Air, that the ration being supplied to the Air Force was too heavy in its content to be satisfactory. Men in the Air Force who are engaged in actual flying would be classed in an occupation such that the Director of Medical Services for Air suggested, therefore, that they require a different diet from that of the ground crews and men in the army.

At the Manning Pool it was found that the supply officer indented for less than his authorized number of rations and in addition showed a very considerable underdrawing in each month. The Manning Pool implemented its ration list by the purchase out of funds supplied by the canteen of vegetables and other food to make the diet list more satisfactory.

The subcommittee was pleased to note that this matter is being considered by the proper officers and by the Advisory Board on Dietetics and is of opinion that the inquiry should be proceeded with and, if necessary, a change made in the matter of rations supplied to those in the Air Force engaged in flying operations.

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented the Ninth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:---

The Special Committee on War Expenditures has received from its subcommittee No. 2 the following Report on "Salvage", which it has considered and adopted with amendments as its Ninth Report to the House.

REPORT NO. 3 OF SUBCOMMITTEE NO. 2

Subcommittee No. 2 begs leave to submit the following report on:

Salvage

The subcommittee is of the opinion that the above is one of the most important subjects assigned to it and its inquiry is by no means completed.

In this, as well as in the matter of medical services, lessons can be drawn from the course pursued during and after the last war.

It is apparent, however, that if the problem was an important one in the last war, it is many times more so during this war because of the staggering increase in mechanization and the resultant purchase of costly equipment.

Until recently the practice followed was that the Master General of Ordnance in the Army, the Air Member for Supply and the Director of Stores in the Navy, decided which stores had become obsolete or worn out and furnished a list of these to the Chief Salvage Officer under the Treasury Branch, whose duty it then was,

- (a) to see if any other department of Government could make use of the material, and
- (b) in the event that this could not be done, to dispose of same by sale.

The Chief Salvage Officer performed this task not only for the military branches of the Government but for all civilian departments as well, and his list of salvage items embraced everything from buildings, vessels, scrap steel and automobiles to clothing, boots and shoes, etc.

Quite recently, under an Order in Council, there has been set up in the Army under the Master General of Ordnance the Army Salvage and Disposal Board, the duties of which were as follow:-

- "(a) Examine and condition all stores returned to Ordnance Depots by Army units.
  - (b) Repair in conjunction with Ordnance Workshops, all stores that can be repaired economically.
  - (c) Manufacture within Ordnance Services stores salvaged from good material from unserviceable stores.
  - (d) By education and publicity prevent waste of general army stores.
  - (e) Stores returned from army units not worth repairing will be sorted and sold as produce-produce meaning scrap metal and rags."

The Order in Council, P.C. No. 4649, of date the 25th June, 1941, creating the Board, provides before disposal by this Board of any "produce" that the Chief Salvage Officer, before referred to, must be notified to permit him to inquire as to whether such could be used by any other department, in which case the necessary transfer would be made.

The Chairman of this new Board appeared before the subcommittee. His former experience in the business world and during the last war as a Salvage Officer for the British Government gave him very considerable experience in the matter of merchandising and salvage. As explained to the subcommittee, the Board's duties will be to make every individual in the army salvage-conscious and by a process of education to stress the point that every item in stores or issued as equipment is bought and paid for by themselves and the "people back home", and that every citizen either in the armed services or in civilian life should recognize his personal responsibility to assist in salvage and the elimination of waste.

The officer above referred to stressed the point that salvage is not chiefly a matter of disposal of waste goods, but in the better sense is a saving of these goods by repair for further use.

The Board has only recently come into existence and its work has just commenced and, therefore, the committee was not able to pass any final judgment on the work being done by this Board, but is of the opinion that if the programme as outlined is carried out it should result in very substantial economies.

It was indicated to the subcommittee that this Board will function solely in the Army, that it is somewhat of an experiment, and that should it prove successful, its programme would be extended to include the Air Force and Navy or a like organization set up in these services. At present salvage in these two branches of our armed forces still continues to work through the Chief Salvage Officer in the Treasury Department. 14875-371

There is one point in this arrangement to which the subcommittee believes attention should be drawn. The subcommittee believes that the same principle as recognized in the matter of medical services and hospitalization should be recognized in the matter of salvage, that is to say, that the branches of the armed services should perform duties military in their nature, and that civilian duties should be left to civilian control.

It is noted the management of stores and the condemnation of such as are obsolete or of no longer any use to the particular branch of the service, is strictly a military matter and these duties should, therefore, rest on the military branch. On the other hand, the disposal by way of sale of obsolete or cast off material is civilian in its nature, and this duty should be under the direction and control of civilians.

This point is of added importance because of the recognition of the immense task that will confront Canada at the conclusion of hostilities in the matter of the use or sale and disposal of military equipment.

The subcommittee is of the opinion that Canada should now be building up an organization capable of advantageously disposing of materials that should be disposed of during wartime, and having in mind the requirements of the post-war period in this regard.

The subcommittee recommends that this work of disposal be assigned to a civilian branch of government. The directing head or heads of such a branch would have to be carefully chosen inasmuch as the task will be such a considerable one. The subcommittee is convinced that if this task is discharged efficiently and well it will mean substantial return to the public Treasury

One point stressed in which the subcommittee wholly concurs is that, since in wartime price levels are high, the disposal of articles of all descriptions found to be no longer of use to any branch of our armed services should be completed as quickly as possible, thus securing the best price and in addition lessening the load that would be placed on such a branch at the expiration of the war

Having in mind the above principle to be recognized in the division of duties embraced in the word "salvage", the subcommittee recommends that each branch of the service place the responsibility of salvage upon one officer or board of officers whose duty it would be to see to it that to the greatest possible extent all equipment of every kind is saved for further use, wherever this may be done. The subcommittee further recommends that by means of lectures and an educational programme the whole personnel of our armed forces be made salvage-conscious, and particularly officers discharging the duties of Quartermasters and Supply Officers.

Periodic and regular inspection of all stores should be made by the responsible officer of each service to determine if any stores are obsolete or no longer of use. Should this be the case, prompt action should be taken to salvage or dispose of these stores.

In the event of any material having been condemned as no longer of use to any branch of the service, such articles should be turned over to the civilian board for the purpose of disposal and, in the opinion of the subcommittee, the above arrangement recognizes the principle of leaving to the military the task which it can best discharge, and to the civilian the task which in its very nature belongs to the civilian, particularly having in mind the necessity of setting up a nucleus of a post-war salvage board equipped in personnel and experience for the task.

Salvage of Waste Oils:-

The subcommittee received suggestions from outside sources that real economy could be exercised in the matter of salvage of waste oils in the Air Force. The suggestion most frequently made was to the effect that the Air Force instead of discarding its waste oil should have this re-refined and used again.

Most of the suggestions made to the subcommittee were based on the assumption that the average use of lubricating oil in airplanes was for a certain duration in the air and that the price of fresh lubricating oil was in the neighbourhood of $1.05 per gallon.

The subcommittee was very much interested in the suggestion and made due inquiry into the matter. It found that by the improvement that has taken place in airplane engines and the equipment attached thereto the life of oil has been very greatly increased. In addition it found that the Air Force is paying only 45 cents a gallon in Eastern Canada and 55 cents in Western Canada for lubricating oils.

The subcommittee found that the technicians attached to the Air Force have advised on technical grounds against the re-refining of this oil for further use by the Air Force, being uncertain of the results and being unwilling to increase the danger to the airman or the airplane of which he is in charge.

The subcommittee having in mind the safety of the airman and in addition the very costly equipment which is placed in his charge, does not find itself able to disagree with the technicians in this regard.

However, the subcommittee was pleased to find that another solution of the problem has been found. The Army is a large user of mechanical transport, including tanks, trucks, automobiles, etc., and of lubricating oils, and an arrangement has, therefore, been entered into between the Air Force and the Army whereby the Air Force is to turn over to the Army, where freight rates and other factors permit, all of its waste lubricating oil. When this is done the Army proposes to reclaim and dilute this oil to a sufficient degree to be serviceable in army transport vehicles and thus make use of the waste oil arising in the Air Force.

The arrangement has not yet been put into effect and at present the waste oils are being sold through the office of the Chief Salvage Officer to private purchasers. The subcommittee is informed, however, that the arrangement will be put into operation as quickly as possible, and if this is done the subcommittee commend the initiative as shown by the officers of the two services concerned in finding a solution to this problem.

Mr. Thorson, from the Select Committee appointed to examine into War Expenditures, presented the Tenth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:—

The Special Committee on War Expenditures has received from its subcommittee No. 3 the following Report on "Financial controls over army, navy and air force expenditures and Headquarters establishments in army, navy and air force", which it has considered and adopted with amendments as its Tenth Report to the House.

INTRODUCTION

Pursuant to the Order of Reference of the House of Commons, dated 10th June, 1941, to the effect that the Special Committee on War Expenditures "continue its enquiry notwithstanding the pending adjournment of the House", subcommittee No. 3 was formed as a result of the adoption by said Committee, on 8th July, of a report by its Agenda subcommittee, which read in part as follows:

(Section) 3. That a subcommittee be appointed to enquire into the following matters, viz.:

(a) Financial controls over army, navy and air force expenditures;

and

(b) Headquarters establishments in army, navy and air force.

Your subcommittee, therefore, was entrusted with the continuation of the enquiry pursued by former subcommittee No. 3 which held meetings while the House was in session, and whose interim report was incorporated in the SECOND REPORT of the Committee, presented to the House on the 4th June, 1941.

Your subcommittee has, since 8th July, held 25 meetings. It has heard lengthy evidence from a large number of witnesses, including high ranking officers from the navy, army and air force; officials of the Department of National Defence for navy, army and air force; the Department of Finance; the Treasury Board; the Comptroller of the Treasury; and the Civil Service Commission. Submissions were received from the Inspection Board of the United Kingdom and Canada; the Department of Munitions and Supply and the Department of the Auditor General of Canada. A review was made of the evidence and exhibits secured by the former subcommittee, and a study was made of their findings contained in the interim report.

Your subcommittee visited the naval stores, R.C.N, at Halifax, N.S., No. 4 Repair Depot of the R.C.A.F., at Dartmouth, N.S. It also visited the construction project at Newfoundland. The findings made in the course of this inspection tour are reflected in the recommendations contained in Part II of this Report.

After careful consideration of all such evidence before it your subcommittee begs leave to present a further report.

In presenting this further report your subcommittee has deemed it advisable, for purpose of clarity, to divide it into three distinctive parts, namely:

PART I

Part One deals with the recommendations and principles enunicated in the interim report of former subcommittee No. 3.

PART II

Part Two deals with the recommendations by your subcommittee in the light of the evidence submitted to it.

PART III

Part Three deals with the evidence before the present subcommittee. It is an insight of the financial controls and checks operating within the Department of National Defence. While controls and checks exist in the navy, army and air force, the three divisions of the National Defence Department have had a different historical development; and, therefore, in the light of expediency, the routine of administration has varied. The three arms of the service are grouped within one department, but actually they have had a rather independent development, having at the present time a separate minister and a distinctive administrative organization. Where Part Three becomes specific, the conclusions refer to the Army, because its establishment extends over a longer period of experience than the younger arms of the service in Canada, the Navy and Air Force. As Part Three proceeds a picture is given of the financial controls operating by organizations independent of the National Defence Departments. These outside controls are described under the following headings:

> Civil Service Commission Treasury Board Comptroller of the Treasury

Inspection Board of the United Kingdom and Canada Department of Munitions and Supply Department of the Auditor General of Canada

Certain remarks pertaining to organization at Headquarters establishment of the Army; Pay and Allowances conclude Part Three of the Report.

There is evidence that many of the recommendations made in the interim report of the subcommittee have been placed in effect with resultant economies.

PART I.

Recommendations and Principles Enunciated in Interim Report of Former Subcommittee No. 3

Your subcommittee desires at the outset to reaffirm its belief in the soundness of the recommendations and principles promulgated in the interim report of former subcommittee No. 3. In the light of the evidence heard by your subcommittee the measures recommended appeared so pertinent that your present subcommittee deems it advisable to reiterate them:—

The Ministers of Defence Departments, as all ministers of the Crown are responsible to Parliament for the proper expenditure of moneys at their disposal appropriated by Parliament. The final preparation and approval of estimates should be under the jurisdiction of the Deputy Minister. There should be a Financial Superintendent under the jurisdiction of the Deputy Minister. His function, among others, would be to gather together, classify and finally prepare the estimates for presentation to the Deputy Minister. The Financial Superintendent should be a civilian, independent of the service personnel and responsible directly to the Deputy Minister. The Financial Superintendent and his staff should cooperate to the utmost with the service staff in the preparation of the estimates. Both staffs should have a clear knowledge of each of the respective functions of the other. This knowledge will help them obtain maximum united action in the course of their work.

The fields of exploration of possible economies are to be found in the war establishments and their incidentals. The moneys are spent on persons, plant and equipment. As to personnel, it must be adequate for its war purposes but not wastefully dealt with. The Committee should continue its inquiry in this field with the following object in mind.

Economies are to be made, if possible, but without impairing the efficiency of the service.

As to plants, the civilian authority must be adequately and strongly represented, particularly before large construction programmes are set under way.

As to equipment, the same careful scrutiny should be given as that recommended for the personnel before the war establishment proposal is submitted for approval.

Proper records of each financial encumbrance should be kept, so that the Department may know at all times the state of the appropriation and the balance unexpended. These records should be compared with the records of the Comptroller of the Treasury, who keeps a careful account of all commitments so that he may be able to make the necessary certification of unencumbered balances available with accuracy. It is not the function of the service personnel to make financial arrangements for the department. This is fundamentally a civilian function. Therefore, all essential statistical records should be under the jurisdiction of the Deputy Minister. The reception, distribution and accounting of stores must be left in large measure as the responsibility of the service personnel, although civilian personnel in equipment depots could be used. It is essential that there should be an independent audit of these stores by civilian personnel under the jurisdiction of the Deputy Minister.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE PRESENT SUBCOMMITTEE

1. The recommendations of your subcommittee in its interim report, concerning the appointment and functions of a Financial Superintendent under the jurisdiction of a Deputy Minister should be implemented in the Defence departments where this has not yet been done.

2. A war establishment committee should be set up in all of the three Defence departments.

3. The Financial Superintendent should be a member of the war establishment committee in all Defence departments with the authority to delegate his powers to his civilian representatives. This has not been carried out in all Defence departments.

4. A staff of highly trained civil servants with expert background should be appointed to assist the Financial Superintendent in the carrying out of his duties. These civilians should study and discuss the estimates with the service personnel, and through the Financial Superintendent, advise the Deputy Minister.

5. The long and complicated procedures concerning war establishments should be simplified and shortened without weakening the financial and constitutional controls of the civil power.

6. Each Defence Deputy Minister should be assisted by a civilian Director of civil personnel, responsible to him, who will supervise the civilian staff of the Department.

7. Civil servants transferred from other departments to National Defence Departments should be paid the compensation commensurate with the work they are performing.

8. Civil servants enlisting or being commissioned in the future should not be continued in their ordinary duties unless it is in the public interest and such action increased the efficiency of the service.

9. A committee consisting of representatives of the Deputy Minister's office, the Civil Service Commission, and the service staffs and of Treasury Board should be appointed in each Defence department to determine which positions should be occupied by civilians or by service personnel. This committee should be empowered to create procedure under which clear distinctions will be drawn between civil positions and service positions in the service departments.

10. Consideration should be given to the afterwar use and/or disposal of all property, real or personal, acquired by the Crown for war purposes.

11. The Committee appointed to obtain coordinated action respecting amendments to the financial regulations for the three fighting forces should be enlarged and have two representatives of the Treasury Board. Furthermore, it should, instead of being a purely informative body, have power to initiate changes, suggest, determine or approve policy to financial regulations. It would serve as an advisory body to the Treasury Board on amendments to Pay and Allowances.

12. Regarding war expenditures in connection with transportation, freight, express and telegraph service the departments concerned should carefully consider possible economies by the more extended use of the government-owned-and-controlled railway system.

13. The new system of stock control in operation in naval stores should be given careful consideration in the army and the air force with the view of having the same system set up in their own stores.

PART III

INSIGHT OF THE EVIDENCE BEFORE SUBCOMMITTEE NO. 3

SUMMARY OF CONTROLS OVER WAR EXPENDITURES AND THE VARIOUS PROCEDURES FOLLOWED IN THAT CONNECTION BY THE NATIONAL DEFENCE DEPARTMENT (ARMY)

Estimates

The annual estimates are compiled prior to the beginning of each fiscal year and are based upon an appreciation of the probably military contingencies which the country should be prepared to meet. It is an attempt to forecast a cost of the armed forces, to enable the general staff to carry out its plans for the ensuing year.

These original annular estimates undergo interim revision, from time to time, during the year to which they pertain owing to changes or developments in the military programme, affecting establishments, organization, equipment scales and priorities training, supply and movement, etc.

War Establishments—Basis of Estimates

War establishments bear a close relationship to estimates of war expenditure and to the control of costs. They provide an exact schedule of personnel in every rank and position for each unit of the organization, together with details such as motor transport and weapons.

Estimates, based upon those establishments which enter into the General Staff's plan for the forthcoming year, are therefore initiated within the General Staff and are compiled and co-ordinated in Directorate of Staff Duties, before being submitted for careful financial scrutiny and approval to both higher military and civil authorities.

Classification of Estimates

The classification of estimates is carried out in two ways: first, by "Objects of Expenditures" to fulfill accounting requirements; and secondly, by "Functions" to fulfill governmental and military requirements. "Object of Expenditure" represents vote primaries such as "Construction and Repairs," "Pay and Allowances," "Travel and Transportation," etc. "Functions" represent specific formations such as "1st Canadian Division."

This dual classification of estimates enables both the General Staff and officials of the Treasury Board, to whom the estimates are passed for review, to exercise detailed scrutiny from the point of view of financial economy. Although the functional structure of the estimates is not required for Army accounting it enables General Staff to maintain a close and continual check on projects in relationships to war establishments and organization. This supervision within General Staff is exercised in addition to that subsequently carried out by the finance officials in the Branch of the Deputy Minister. As a result of experience in the co-ordination of estimates the Directorate of Staff Duties within the General Staff has created a system of procedure records and control able to cope with the financial aspects of any emergency and to ensure maximum supervision and accuracy in Army expenditures prior to the submission of estimates to higher civil authorities.

Estimate Procedure

Once compiled, either on the annual basis or upon request, as in the case of interim estimates, the completed estimates are passed by the Directorate of Staff Duties, through the Assistant Chief of General Staff or Vice Chief of General Staff, to the Chief of the General Staff, then to the Deputy Minister, and finally to the Minister. At every stage additional scrutiny from the point of view of economy in expenditure is brought to bear. Civilian supervision and control is exercised by the Branch of the Deputy Minister through the Chief Clerk of the Estimates and the Financial Superintendent. From the Minister the estimate is passed to Treasury Board for further detailed scrutiny and then to the War Committee of the Cabinet for approval, before it proceeds to the Privy Council for authorization. Parliament votes a lump sum, without detailed printed estimates, and Treasury Board then allots to various war spending departments the approved funds based on the detailed estimates previously submitted to the War Committee of the Cabinet, Treasury Board.

The Civil Control and Responsibility

Within the Department of National Defence civil financial control over expenditure is exercised in various phases by the Deputy Minister through the heads of Divisions of the Civil Branch. These include the Chief Clerk of the Estimates, the Financial Superintendent, the Director of Civilian Personnel, the Real Estate Division, the Contracts Division, the Auditor of Stores, the Printing and Stationery Division, and the Director of Public Relations. All of these are directly concerned with various phases of expenditures; and each Division is headed by a civilian responsible directly to the Deputy Minister. In addition, the Deputy Minister examines the financial aspects of every financial encumbrance, and contract demand, which involves expenditures from all votes administered by the Department of National Defence.

The civil jurisdiction of the Deputy Minister is made effective, both by his scrutiny of the financial details of every submission, and his representation on the War Establishment Committee in the person of the Financial Superintendent.

The annual estimates, and interim estimates, of the Department of National Defence are assembled by the General Staff under the direct supervision of the Financial Superintendent who carries out the final consolidation of military and civil annual estimates.

At all times and at every stage in the procedure of estimates there is a close collaboration between the military authority as represented by General Staff, and the civil authority as exercised by the Deputy Minister through the Chief Clerk of the Estimates and the Financial Superintendent.

In Army a further control is provided by the presence in the Directorate of Staff Duties (Estimates Section) of three Grade IV civil clerks, two of whom are employees of, and liaison officers for, the Financial Superintendent. There are also, in the same capacity, one Grade IV civil clerk in the Branch of the Master General of the Ordnance.

Control of War Establishment Changes

As the basis of estimates are war establishments, it is important that all proposed establishments or amendments be carefully scrutinized before approval is granted, in particular by the civil authority. To this end there is a War Establishment Committee upon which the Deputy Minister is represented, and which includes also the Director of Staff Duties, the Director of Military Operations and Intelligence, and the Director of Organization. This Committee must review and approve all establishment changes, and the estimates therefor, and consists of the most experienced and qualified Military Personnel in addition to the civil representative. Since most Canadian War Establishments are patterned upon those prepared and recommended by the War Office, there is the additional assurance of War Office scrutiny before adoption for the Canadian Army.

The procedures above described are followed in National Defence (Army) and should be applied in all Defence departments.

Civil Service Commission

Under Sections 9, 10, and 12 of the Civil Service Act (Chap. 22 R.S.C. 1927, as amended), the Civil Service Commission is required to investigate and report upon the organization, classification and compensation of those sections of the Public Service which fall within the jurisdiction of the Act.

One of the functions of the Commission in this connection is to prepare, in consultation with the several deputy heads, heads of branches and other chief officers, plans for the organization of each department and of each branch or portion of the Civil Service. Such plans of organization, together with any changes that may become desirable in them, are then submitted by the Commission to His Excellency the Governor General in Council for approval, and the Act provides that no change shall be made in the organization of any department until it has been so reported upon by the Civil Service Commission.

Similarly the commission is required to establish new classes or grades of positions and to divide, combine, alter or abolish existing classes or grades.

A third responsibility laid upon the commission is to recommend rates of compensation for any new classes that may be established or for any changes in existing classes. Such proposed rates of compensation become operative only upon their approval by the Governor in Council and the recommendation of the commission is required before this approval be given.

The Civil Service Commission is given a further function in connection with expenditure for civilian staff in the war departments.

By Order in Council P.C. 1/1569 of the 19th April, 1940, it is required to investigate and report to the Treasury Board on the need for additional positions requested by the various war units, and on the rates of pay which should be allowed. When additional positions have been authorized by the Treasury Board, the commission is then required to make the necessary appointments after such tests of qualifications as the commission considers practicable and in the public interest.

The commission also makes a practice of assisting departments generally and war departments particularly, in connection with their methods and procedure, and maintains a staff of trained investigators who are in constant touch with the departments, for the purpose of carrying out the functions which have been described.

The commission also, under the provisions of the Civil Service Act, selects and supplies the civilian staff required for the various departments, and supervises such matters as promotion, transfer, leave of absence, and general working conditions.

These functions obviously constitute an important phase of the procedure of financial control over civil personnel expenditures.

TREASURY BOARD

One of the most important bodies having to do with financial controls and checks over war expenditures is the Treasury Board. The statutory authority is contained in Chapter 71 of the Revised Statutes, sections 9 to 13. The Board consists of the Minister of Finance and five other Ministers of the Crown.

 $14875 - 38\frac{1}{2}$

The functions of the board include classes of submissions placed under its jurisdiction by statute, by Order in Council and by practice. Many classes by statute are included in a number of acts. The classes referred to by Order in Council are all matters affecting the public service of Canada. Classes of submissions referred to the board in practice cover a very large field. In addition the board considers in detail the estimates of expenditure for the normal government services and for war.

The procedure in respect of normal services is approval of the estimates in detail by the Treasury Board before submission to Council and House of Commons. The estimates of the public service are classified on a functional basis and supported by over 200 pages of detailed information. This procedure cannot be followed in providing for war requirements, because it is impossible to estimate accurately in advance the needs of the war services. So war estimates are presented in the form of a bill with such details by departments and functions as may be available. It is understood and made clear to Parliament that changes will take place during the year, as justified by circumstances. To control these war estimates through Treasury Board it became necessary to adopt a new procedure which provided for the control of estimates, allotments and commitments.

The estimates referred to are the details approved by the government at the time the Appropriation Bill is submitted to the House of Commons. These estimates always exceed the amount of the bill because it is impossible to obtain deliveries and make payments during the fiscal year. Additions to estimates approved are authorized by Treasury Board after approval in principle by Council or the Cabinet War Committee, if new major policy involved, otherwise without such approval.

In normal government services, when estimates have been approved by the House of Commons and the Senate and assented to by the Governor General, an Order in Council releases the totals voted to the departments. The war estimates are released in the form of allotments covering requirements for two or three months. This control by shorter terms enables more accurate estimates to be made. The sums approved are recommended by Treasury Board after detailed consideration. These allotments never exceed the total provided by Parliament in the War Appropriation Act unless further amounts are authorized by Governor General's warrant. The sums used under authority of such warrant are submitted for parliamentary approval in the supplementary War Appropriation Bill. It may appear that estimates approved by the Treasury Board exceed the sum authorized by Parliament, but the actual cash allotments to which administrative officers are restricted, never exceed this sum.

The Treasury Board also controls commitments which may be made by departmental officers. It is absolutely necessary to order equipment and supplies sometimes months, and even years in advance. On this account some procedure for control of such commitments is required. The authority for the exercise of these controls is section 5 (1) (e) of the War Appropriation Act which provides that the Governor in Council may by order or regulation prescribe administrative practices with respect to making of financial commitments. Under this authority, on the 19th of November, 1940, Order in Council P.C. 6695 prescribed regulations as follows:—

- (a) Estimates of requirements for war expenditures shall show as nearly as possible, the amount of the proposed expenditures which will come for payment in the current fiscal year and in subsequent fiscal years;
- (b) When estimates have been approved by the Treasury Board, financial encumbrances may be issued to the amounts so approved;

(c) In the event of such urgency that Treasury Board approval cannot be obtained, the Minister of Finance may authorize the issue of commitments, subject to later approval by the Board of such authority.

All salaries, rates of pay and allowances have to be authorized by the Treasury Board.

Inspection Board of the United Kingdom and Canada

At the outbreak of the war in September, 1939, the inspection of all stores purchased for the use of His Majesty's service was done by the Inspection Branch of the National Defence Department. The Government of the United Kingdom, in the early days of the war, sent an inspector whose duty was to organize a body of inspectors to inspect stores purchased by the British authorities. As the time went by, and the inspection work increased, the two governments thought best to put up a Joint Inspection Board.

This was done to co-ordinate the activities of the inspection service of His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and of the Government of Canada with respect to the production, manufacture or assembly of munitions of war and supplies in the Dominion of Canada and the United States.

The Board was constituted as follows:-

- (a) Two members appointed by the United Kingdom government;
- (b) Two members appointed by the Canadian government.

The Chairman to be appointed from among the above members after consultation between the two governments.

The duties of the Board are to inspect and certify such classes of munitions and supplies as directed by either or both governments, and to act as agents of the governments in the performance of such duties. The Board was empowered to make regulations required for carrying out its duties. The inspections are to be made promptly and efficiently and provide the governments with all information and reports required. The Board has access to the records of the various departments of the two governments. Its officers communicate direct with the officers of the departments. All the facilities of the Department of Munitions and Supply are available to the Board.

The respective governments assist the Board and place at its disposal, without charge all the necessary lands, buildings, inspection tools, gauges, apparatus, drawings, specifications and equipment; also such armaments, arms and ammunition as may be required. The personnel is composed of officers, clerks and employees from both governments.

Excepting permanent officials, clerks, etc., all others are employed for periods not exceeding six months; but their employment may be renewed from time to time.

The cost of Inspection services and of salaries of personnel shall be apportioned between the two governments according to the services performed on behalf of the said governments.

The object of inspection is to ensure that all stores that are purchased are fit for the use of His Majesty's service. This covers a very large amount of material. It ensures that the quality is correct; that the arms, munitions, parts, etc., are of correct pattern and size. Though the inspection is not concerned in the prices or values of stores, it establishes that the quality, the model, and the size are exactly what the war department require. As a consequenc it guarantees that public monies are spent for the right things. Furthermore, it assures our armed forces that everything they use is up to requirements. Comptroller of the Treasury's Office.

The duties and responsibilities of the Comptroller of the Treasury in connection with war estimates and expenditures are those prescribed by the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, 1931, together with the supplementary responsibilities placed on this officer by Order in Council P.C. 6695 of November 19th, 1940.

These duties commence when the estimates for the year have been voted by Parliament when applied to the regular appropriations for government services, but for war estimates and expenditures, the duties commence following the approval of the war estimates by Treasury Board. These are based on the war programme of expenditures, as approved by the War Committee of the Cabinet or the Governor in Council. It is the duties pertaining to control of war commitments and expenditures that are of concern and are described herein.

They may be divided into two categories:

- (1) Control of departmental commitments to ensure that they are kept within the amounts of the estimates authorized by Treasury Board for a particular service; and
- (2) Control of the appropriation granted by Parliament and allotted to the different war services by Treasury Board, to ensure that payments are not made in excess of the amount allotted to a particular service, that the expenditures have been authorized by competent authority and come within the provisions and amount of the particular allotment to be charged.

The War Estimates and Commitments.

The authorization of estimates by Treasury Board and the control over commitments are carried out thus: Following the approval of the proposed programme of expenditures by the War Committee of the Cabinet or the Governor in Council, the department prepares the estimates of funds required to meet this programme and submits them to the Treasury Board for approval. The submission is made in accordance with the details prescribed by the Board under the authority of Order in Council P.C. 6695 and the details provide the basis for establishing the allotments of the estimates that are necessary to control commitments.

When the Board has approved the estimates, a copy is forwarded to the Treasury Officer concerned who opens an account for the amount of each allotment of the amount authorized. This breakdown by allotments is arranged to enable Treasury to control and limit commitments to the amount authorized for each of the services or functions of the department. When the amount of an approved estimate is found to be inadequate, it is the duty of the department to obtain supplementary approval of the Cabinet and/or Treasury Board. In addition to the breakdown to allotments for Treasury control, arrangements are made to maintain such additional divisions in allotments as may be required to meet departmental needs.

The Department, having obtained the necessary estimates authority, proceeds to raise what is described as a contract demand for the construction of works or the purchase of equipment and supplies. The contract demand sets out details of the proposed purchase and the estimated amount involved. It is forwarded by the initiating director of the department to the Treasury officer for certification that the amount involved is within the amount of the approved estimate. After certification, the contract demand is signed by the deputy minister or minister, as required, and forwarded to the Department of Munitions and Supply for action. Each contract entered into or order placed by Munitions and Supply is confirmed to the Treasury officer by a copy of the acceptance of tender which sets out the quantities, prices and certain essential conditions of the purchase. In addition, where it involves a formal contract containing detailed conditions beyond what is usually set out in the acceptance of tender, a copy of the contract accompanies the acceptance of tender, and when the amount involved is $5,000 or over, a copy of the approving Order in Council must be available.

On receipt of the acceptance of tender by Treasury, the amount is entered against the contract demand, and, where it is at variance with the original estimate, the necessary adjustment is made in the original commitment on authorization of the department concerned.

Acceptance of tenders are then filed, to be held for verification on the invoices and other accounts received from the contractor.

Naturally, many large contracts for construction and equipment extend beyond the fiscal year in which they are placed. The allocation is made by the estimates to the year in which the payments will come in accordance with the requirements of P.C. 6695. This facilitates estimating for the annual cash requirements on which the war appropriation is based.

It is impractical to control commitments for pay and allowances and other personal expenses of the forces, as well as salaries and wages, in the same detail as applied to orders and contracts. Instead the control is obtained by establishing such liabilities at the commencement of the fiscal year, based on the personnel strength at that time. This is subject to revision each month to give effect to the necessary adjustments.

There is also the control exercised by Treasury Board and the Governor in Council over both Civil and Service establishments. The Civil establishment is submitted in detail, both as to numbers and rates of pay, for authorization and actual payment by Treasury is limited to these authorizations.

This completes the procedure followed in controlling and accounting for commitments chargeable to the war estimates of National Defence Services.

The War Appropriation and Expenditures

Next comes the accounting and controlling operations in connection with expenditures arising out of these commitments. All such expenditures are chargeable to the war appropriation voted each year by Parliament.

For obvious reasons the war appropriation, unlike the usual practice of providing separate detailed appropriations for ordinary government services, is voted in one lump sum. In order to maintain a closer administrative control, the responsibility for allotting the war appropriation to the different war services has been placed on Treasury Board as required by paragraph (7) or Order in Council P.C. 6695. The Board has followed a plan of allotting funds from the war appropriation to provide for two or three months' requirements at one time. The allotments are authorized on formal application of the department concerned and are restricted as far as possible to the amounts necessary to meet the estimated cash expenditures in the period to be covered.

The breakdown of allotments follows along the same general line as that used in the authorized estimates and it is to these allotments that expenditures are charged when the accounts are received for payment. Upon advice of the appropriation allotments being authorized, Treasury sets up an account for each allotment, but before any payment is made the accounts are subject to a detailed audit by Treasury. For convenience, accounts may be considered under the following classifications:

- (1) Invoices for materials, supplies and equipment;
- (2) Progress and final estimates for work performed on construction and other similar contracts;

- (3) Pay and allowances, travel, transportation and other personal expenses of the forces;
- (4) Salaries and wages of personnel engaged to carry out work under the direction of the Defence Services, office and other administrative expenses.

All of the foregoing are audited and accounted for according to the prescribed procedure.

When the orders are for stores, equipment and other supplies, the contractor forwards all invoices to the Department of Munitions and Supply at Ottawa (except for local purchases, etc.). These invoices are passed by the Department to the proper officers in National Defence where they are linked up and reconciled with the inspection receipt voucher. The latter is the form completed by the inspection and receiving officers, and it must be available in all cases to check against invoices, otherwise the accounts cannot be certified and passed for payment. When this reconciliation has been made, the accounts are certified by the authorized officers of the Department of National Defence and passed to Treasury for payment.

The Treasury audit consists of:

- (1) Checking all additions and extensions and examining the accounts to see that they have been certified as to inspection and receipt by the authorized officers of the department;
- (2) Verifying that the invoices are in agreement with the acceptance of tender, both as to price and quantity. The account will not be passed for payment without an acceptance of tender;
- (3) Verifying that an Order in Council has been obtained where the acceptance of tender is for more than $5,000;
- (4) Where the account is for the full amount of the order, the acceptance of tender is marked "paid" and transferred to the "paid" file;
- (5) Where the account covers only part of the order, the quantities delivered and value thereof are endorsed on the acceptance of tender and the latter is retained in the current file to await further accounts;
- (6) The account is then entered on the contract demand as a liquidation of the authorized commitment, entered in the accounts of the relative vote and allotment and then passed to the paying section, where a cheque is drawn on the Receiver General, signed by two duly authorized officers of the Treasury, and mailed to the payee.

Another class of accounts arising out of contracts made by the Department of Munitions and Supply is that for construction contracts where the work is large and involves considerable time to complete. The contract usually provides for progress payments, and, as a rule the department has a resident engineer on such works. He certifies the progress estimates as to the value of work performed to date. The account is then forwarded to the administrative engineers of the department for approval before it is passed to Treasury, where it is audited, recorded and paid as described above.

There is another war service that is deserving of special mention. It is the Department of Munitions and Supply — the procurement agency for the Department of National Defence and the co-ordinator of Canada's industrial production for war purposes.

In the capacity of procurement agency, the Department of Munitions and Supply places all orders and contracts for supplies and services requisitioned by the defence services. While the majority of these present no special problem as they are placed on a firm price basis, many contracts must be placed involving production on which there is no prior record of costs to serve as a guide in establishing a firm price. These, together with certain construction contracts are very often rush projects lacking definite plans and specifications or in isolated locations, are usually placed on some form of cost plus basis.

To meet the needs of the procurement officers in the matter of establishing costs and, at the same time, to fulfil the responsibilities placed on the treasury by this form of contract, a treasury cost accounting division has been established. It is the duty of the officers of this division to check costs of production or construction, as the case may be, to determine the actual cost. This is carried out in accordance with cost memorandum MS433 and supplementary instructions which define the classes of expenditure that may be allowed as items of cost and prescribe the cost audit procedure to be followed.

The facts as disclosed by such audits are reported to the procurement officers of the Department of Munitions and Supply, and it is the duty of these officers to decide the price to be allowed under the contract. In arriving at the price, these officers may use their own discretion, except where the contract provides for a percentage or other fixed allowances as profit. For such contracts, the procurement officers must establish a price of cost, as determined by the treasury accounts, plus the authorized allowance for profit. In the case of certain large construction and production contracts, it is necessary to have resident cost accountants at the plant. They carry out a continuous check of financial operations, certify the progress claims and other financial reports and. in general, endeavour to protect against waste of public funds.

RECOVERABLE EXPENDITURES

From the expenditure operations, there arise, even under normal conditions, a number of recoverable items but, under present conditions, these reach substantial amounts. They include amounts repayable by United Kingdom, Commonwealth and Allied Governments for supplies issued from Canadian military stores, repairs and other services. Copies of the issue vouchers and service invoices are forwarded to the treasury where the charges are brought to account against the respective governments. Statements of these claims, with supporting vouchers, are rendered to the governments concerned at regular intervals and there is a close check to ensure that the accounts are kept, as far as possible, on a current repayment basis.

The foregoing describes the controlling accounting activities as applied to national defence services.

CHECKS AND CONTROLS OVER PURCHASING IN THE DEPARTMENT OF MUNITIONS AND SUPPLY

(1) Control of Contract Demands

- (a) All contract demands received from the three armed services of the Department of National Defence are scrutinized immediately upon arrival by the purchase investigation division in order to verify proper signatures and dates. If it is indicated that any contract demand is incorrectly signed, and therefore not properly authorized, it is returned to the Department of Nationl Defence for proper authorization.
- (b) Whilst the Department of Munitions and Supply purchases only on requisition from the Department of National Defence, it is, nevertheless, the duty of the officials of the Department, through the Deputy Minister, to refer back to the officers of the Department of National Defence any contract demands which appear to be extravagant or obviously in error. Also, when a specific product is requested on a contract demand which the officers of the Department of Munitions and Supply know is not obtainable, or which, by substitution, can be replaced by a less costly substitute, such contract demand is referred back to the Department of National Defence by the Purchasing Branch concerned for reconsideration and possible amendment.

(c) A master control of Contract Demands is maintained by the Progress Division which is maintained as a section of the Deputy Minister's office, but it is also the duty of each Purchasing Branch to ensure that there is no unnecessary delay in handling Contract Demands. This ensures that no Contract Demand or Requisition will be lost. The dual control also helps to solve the problem of time lag and consequent delay in purchase.

(2) Control of Available Sources of Supply

In order that all available sources of supply may be used by the Department, and that the total industry of Canada may be harnessed for war effort, and to insure that Government business is made available to all maunfacturers and suppliers who can qualify, the following agencies are employed by the Purchasing Branches:

- (a) Constant reference to trade index books;
- (b) Consulation with the Plant Survey Division of M. and S.;
- (c) Information gained by the survey made jointly by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Canadian Chambers of Commerce;
- (d) Consulation with Departmental Controllers, of which there are now ten in number;
- (e) List of suppliers as purged or added to in the light of experience.

(3) Control of Tenders

Each Purchasing Division from which invitations to tender are being sent out, provides itself with a supply of tender envelopes and blue tender stickers. In all cases where the tenders which are to be sent in by the tenderers can be placed in the tender envelope, the said envelope is sent out to the prospective tenderer with the invitation to tender.

Immediately tenders are received by the Department, they are delivered unopened to the Secretary. The Secretary causes the envelopes containing these tenders to be stamped with the hour and date of receipt by him, and they are placed unopened, in locked metal boxes, one of which is provided for each day of the week, Monday to Friday, both inclusive, and bears the calendar date next to one corresponding to that day of the week. Tenders are sorted into these boxes in accordance with the "closing date" shown on each tender. A sixth locked box is provided in which are placed all tenders which reach the Department more than one week before the "closing date" set for the same. If any tenders reach the Department after the "closing hour" set for them, they are returned, unopened, accompanied by an explanatory letter from the Secretary's office. If it is necessary to open the envelope to ascertain the name and address of the tenderer, this may be done, but in such case the accompanying letter referred to states clearly that this is the only reason the envelope has been opened. One copy of each such letter is attached to the copy of the list of tenderers, which, as hereinafter noted, remains in the office of the Secretary, and one copy is sent to the Division Purchasing Agent concerned to be attached to the file.

In some cases it is necessary to open late tenders in order to extract drawings, etc., sent out with the invitation to tender and which are to be used over again. The Division Purchasing Agents concerned give the Secretary special advance notice in such cases so that this may be done. The letter which accompanies the returned tender in any such case advises that this is the reason this envelope was opened.

The locked metal boxes above mentioned are locked with two keys. The Secretary designates two employees in his department to have possession of these two keys and they act as openers of tenders.

At 5 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time on each day, Monday to Friday, both inclusive, the two tender openers above mentioned proceed to the vault in which the aforesaid locked metal boxes are retained, and they draw and open the box which bears the date of the day in question. They sort out, by tender number, all tenders contained therein, open the tenders and stamp them with the hour and date of opening, and both of them initial this stamp. They then prepare lists in duplicate of all the tenders, making a separate list for each tender number. These lists are not tabulations or schedules of the tenders, but merely lists of the companies who have sent in tenders under each tender number. When these lists are completed, the box, empty, is replaced in the vault and the date on it is changed to one week later. The tenders which have been sorted and listed are then placed in a further locked container in the vault. This box is equipped with but one lock and key.

The sorting and listing of all tenders contained in the locked metal box bearing the date of the current day must be completed by the tender openers and the tenders, accompanied by proper lists, in duplicate, must be relocked in the vault by them before they leave the building.

The last operation of each night, Monday to Friday, both inclusive, for the tender openers is to open the sixth locked box, previously mentioned, and transfer from it to the box which they have just emptied and tenders which, as of the coming morning, should properly be placed in such box under its changed dating.

In cases of tenders which are called to be accompanied by Deposits, the tender openers prepare the lists above mentioned in triplicate and show clearly on all copies of these lists the amount of the deposit sent in by each tenderer and the nature of same, i.e. whether certified cheque, Dominion of Canada Bonds, or Bonds of the Canadian National Railway fully guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada. If any tenderer has failed to send in a deposit, or has sent in an insufficient deposit, or a deposit of a nature other than listed above, this fact is clearly stated opposite the name of each tenderer on the list in question. The name of the tenderer is not left off the list for this reason. The deposits are then detached from the tenders and attached, in order of listing, to the third copy of the list which is then locked up for the night with the other copies and the tenders.

All copies of both the duplicate and triplicate lists above mentioned are signed by both of the tender openers.

There may, from time to time, be cases where the "closing date" of a tender may be extended by the Division Purchasing Agent. In any such case the Division Purchasing Agent advises the Secretary of such extension quoting the tender number, the original "closing date", and the new "closing date". This advice is submitted in duplicate on Form No. M & S 517. The Secretary acknowledges receipt of the advice by having one copy stamped and initialled in the Tender Room and returned to the Division Purchasing Agent. The closing date is not considered to be extended until this acknowledgment is received by the said Purchasing Agent. When advice in regard to the new "closing date" is acknowledged, the Secretary arranges to have the locked metal box bearing the original "closing date" opened and if any tenders bearing this tender number have already been placed in this box, they are removed at once to the box bearing the new "closing date" or to the sixth box above mentioned if the new "closing date" is more than a week later than the date on which such action is being taken. Not later than 9 a.m. on the following morning, one of the tender openers opens the single-lock compartment in which the listed tenders were placed the night before and arranges for their distribution without delay to the Division Purchasing Agents concerned. The said purchasing agents check the list or lists of their respective tenders with the tender opener and sign one copy of each such list (two copies in the case of tenders which are accompanied by deposits) as evidence that they have checked the same (and the deposits, if any) and have found them accurate and that they have received the tenders in question. The date and hour of this signature is clearly shown on these lists. The tender opener then returns the copy of each such list which the Division Purchasing Agents have thus signed (two copies and the deposits in the case of tenders accompanied by deposits) to the Secretary.

(4) Control of the Award and Conduct of a Purchase

(a) A tabulation sheet is prepared showing the list of tenders, the amount of each and the promised delivery. It is required that this tabulation sheet be made up within twenty-four hours of receipt of the tenders by the Division Purchasing Agent from the tender opener.

(b) If the amount of the contract to be awarded is not more than $2,000 and the award is to the lowest tenderer, the Division Purchasing Agent is authorized to make such award without further authority or signature.

(c) If the award is to be made to other than the lowest tenderer, and is under $2,000 the Division Purchasing Agent places his recommendation to this effect on the tabulation sheet and such award must carry the signature of his senior officer, the Head of the Purchasing Branch.

(d) If the amount of the contract to be awarded is between $2,000 and $5,000, and the award is to the lowest tenderer, it must carry the signature of the Head of the Purchasing Branch.

(e) If the amount of the contract is between $2,000 and $5,000, and it is recommended that it be awarded to other than the lowest tenderer, the award must carry the signature of the Head of the Purchasing Branch and that of the executive assistant to the Deputy Minister.

The foregoing awards must be consistent with the contractor's ability to supply within the required delivery time, and according to the specifications of the purchased article.

(f) All purchases over $5,000 require Privy Council approval. On all such, the Division Purchasing Agent is required to prepare a special form (D.M.S. 12) which recites the receipt of a contract demand from the Department of National Defence, by whom it is signed, that money is available, the quantities and the articles required, the number of firms invited to tender, the number of tenders received, the listing of the six lowest (or less), the recommendation for the proposed award, and the reasons for it. The D.M.S. 12 is used as a summary for submission for Order in Council. The D.M.S. 12, attached to the purchase file, must bear the signatures of the Division Purchasing Agent, the Branch Purchasing Head, General Purchasing Agent or the Director General of Purchases. When so signed, the file proceeds to the Purchase Investigation Division.

(g) It is the duty of the purchase investigation division to review all submissions for Privy Council authority for purchase contracts over $5,000; to check such submissions and see that the statements contained therein are in accordance with the facts and that the necessary supporting documents are on the file. The files are scrutinized to ensure that the following factors have governed the purchase: where tenders have been received, to see that, all things being equal, the low tenderer is recommended for acceptance. When two or more firms quote equally low prices among those tendering, and there is no evidence of a cartel, it is the duty of the purchase investigator to see that a fair distribution consistent with ability to supply within the required time is made. In the event of the low tenderer not being recommended it is the duty of the purchase investigator to see that there is a good and valid reason for placing the contract with other than the low tenderer. When there is competition, to see that all avenues of supply have been investigated. Where, for military urgency or other satisfactory reason, a repeat order is recommended, investigation is made to see if there had been competition on the previous order, and if the previous order was placed within a reasonable time of the repeat order recommended; also, in case of a repeat order that negotiations have been carried out by the division or branch purchasing agent with the company concerned in an effort to secure a reduction in price.

(h) Where it is recommended that contracts be placed where there is no competition, or to other than the lowest tenderer, or where only two firms have been asked to quote and have quoted, the recommendations are required to be approved by an executive assistant to the minister. In such instances it is the duty of the purchase investigator to appear before a committee composed of the executive assistants to the minister, of which one is chairman, and certain of the directors-general of the department, to give or to secure whatever information is considered necessary by the committee before such submissions are approved by the chairman and his signature attached. This committee meets daily at 11:30 a.m. All D.M.S. 12's must bear the initials, on original and duplicate, of the purchase investigator or his assistant before submission to the secretary's branch of M. & S. for preparation of submission to Privy Council.

(i) The D.M.S. 12, accompanied by the file, then proceeds to the secretary's branch of M. & S., which prepares a submission to Privy Council. From thence it is sent to the deputy minister for his signature on the D.M.S. 12, or reference back for further consideration, and to the minister for signature on the Privy Council submission, or reference back for further consideration.

(5) Control of Contracts

Contracts are written up on acceptances of tender of which there are two-M.S. 2 and M.S. 8. M.S. 2 is used for all general awards; M.S. 8 is used where unit price contracts are made covering supply of items over an extended period of time.

Where, in the opinion of the negotiating officer, the terms and conditions on the invitations to tender form and acceptance of tender form are not adequate to cover a particular purchase by acceptance of tender, the acceptance of tender will contain the following clause:—

"A formal contract with respect to this acceptance of tender will be drawn later in a form satisfactory to the government containing the usual termination clause and such other terms and conditions (not inconsistent with the terms and conditions of this acceptance of tender) as the department may require."

The contractor is required to send in his signed acknowledgement copy, showing that he accepts the terms shown on the Acceptance of Tender—terms, time of delivery, etc. Various controls are exercised by the distribution of copies of the Acceptance of Tender. The copy of the Treasury Department gives them a signed document against which they can check supplier's invoices. Copies to the Department of National Defence and to M. & S. Follow-up Section ensure a check on delivery. A copy of the Traffic Controller provides for carrying facilities.

(6) Contracts Placed by Other Than the Tender System

Approximately 95 per cent in number of all contracts awarded is by the tender system, but there are some purchases made where the tender system cannot be used. The latter fall into the following categories:—

- (a) Where extreme military urgency requires immediate delivery.
- (b) Where the requirement is so large that the productive capacity of the entire industry must be harnessed.
- (c) Where the technical nature of the article required narrows the field of supply to one or two sources.
- (d) Where, in interests of military secrecy, it is considered unwise to give plans and specifications to more than one or two firms, such to be chosen because of their aptitude in this particular type of manufacture.

In the foregoing, the Department incorporates into the contract one of four audit clauses in order that there may be a rigid control on profit made by the contractor.

(7) Local Purchasing in Military Districts

The controls and safeguards exercised in the central buying department at Ottawa are imposed on local Purchasing Offices wherever practical. The receipt and handling of a contract demand, calling for tenders, receipt and tabulation of tenders, and selection of successful tenderer, are standardized and conform to the rules laid down by the Department for department buying. Close supervision is maintained over the Local Offices and periodical inspections made by officials of the Department.

(8) Control of Capital Assistance

Capital Assistance is granted to a contractor when the article required has not previously been made in Canada, or perhaps a very small quantity only has been made, and it is desired to greatly expand the production. It is then found necessary to extend assistance to contractors for purchase of machinery, machine tools, jigs, dies, remodelling buildings, construction of new buildings or other projects. The Department has laid down strict rules for dealing with matters of this nature, the intention being to safeguard as much as possible the interests of the Crown and to see that the Department does not extend capital assistance to a contractor if another contractor can be secured who can do the job for less. Careful scrutiny is made of all companies to whom capital assistance is granted. The companies' profit and loss statements and balance sheets are very carefully examined.

The purchasing officers of the Department immediately contact the Plant Survey Division to get a list of the contractors competent to supply the article. The purchasing officers then consult these contractors to see if they can produce the required article and what deliveries they can make. The contractors submit details of additional machinery and equipment, and extension or alteration to buildings These proposals are submitted in detail with cost estimates. A contractor is then chosen on the basis of his ability to do the work and to give delivery, with a minimum of capital assistance. The purchasing officer then makes a recommendation, four copies of which go directly to the Deputy Minister. The recommendation recites all the facts of the case, the amount of capital assistance required by the contractor and why; the nature of it—whether for machines, machine tools, buildings, etc.; the delivery promise; the fact that title to the machinery, etc., is to vest in His Majesty the King; the title of the buildings, and the total amount of the capital assistance required. This recommendation must bear the authorization and signature of the purchasing officer concerned, and of the Executive Assistant to the Minister. When approved by the Deputy Minister, one copy goes to the Order in Council Branch of the Secretary's Division, where the proper officers prepare the submission to Privy Council. Another copy goes to the Comptroller's Branch, who makes application to Treasury Board to secure the necessary funds. Another copy goes to the Legal Branch for the preparation of the "Go-Ahead Letter." The fourth copy goes back to the originating branch. All four copies are required to be signed by the Deputy Minister.

(9) Record of Government Property

The Central Inventory Records Division of Munitions and Supply maintains a careful inspection and keeps accurate records of all machine tools and other equipment owned by the Crown in contractor's plants, in order that such may at any time be identified.

(10) Control of Supply-Government-Owned Companies

In order that essential commodities might be procurable, eleven Government-owned companies were formed which function in one or more of the following channels as

- (a) Supervising Companies
- (b) Manufacturing or Construction Companies
- (c) Commodity Procurement Companies
- (d) Purchasing Companies.

They are

Allied War Supplies Corporation Federal Aircraft Limited Research Enterprises Limited Small Arms Limited Wartime Housing Limited Fairmont Company Limited Melbourne Merchandising Limited Plateau Company Limited Citadel Merchandising Company Limited Wartime Merchant Shipping Limited War Supplies Limited

There is the same degree of supervision over Government-owned companies as over the branches of the Department, except that in the case of the companies a Board of Directors assist the Department in the control of the enterprise.

(11) Control of Essential Commodities, Industries, and Services

In order that there might be an adequate supply of essential commodities and services, ten controllers were appointed to have control over the following commodities and industries: timber, machine tools, metals, motor vehicles, oil, power, steel, ship construction and repair, transit, and chemicals. The foregoing controllers form the Wartime Industries Control Board, holding formal meetings twice monthly. Each controller reports on his particular functions and problems, and what he proposes to do or has done to carry out his duties. Closely allied with the work of the Wartime Industries Control Board is the work of the Priorities Branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply. This Branch, under its Director General, deals with matters of priority for all essential raw materials and components.

(12) Control Over Travel of Staff

A rigid control is kept over travelling expenses. All expense vouchers dealing with the administration of the Department pass under the scrutiny of the Comptroller's Branch. It is required of officials who travel on departmental business that they fill out a form known as "Notice of Intention to Travel". This form must show where he is going, when he proposes to leave, when he will return, the estimated cost of the trip, where he can be reached at any time during the trip, and the method of travel, and must be approved by an official of the Deputy's Office.

(13) Control of Secret Correspondence in the Department

All mail received by any office or officer of the Department which is marked "secret" or "confidential" is forwarded at once to the officer in charge of Central Registry.

It is the duty of this officer to open and index all such correspondence and to create special "secret" files for same. He keeps a special record of such files. He sees that the file is then forwarded, under sealed cover, to the proper officer of the Department authorized to deal with it.

A special green cover is used for all such secret files. These files are retained in a special cabinet in Central Registry's office and are released only on the authority of those designated by the Minister or Deputy Minister as competent to deal with such matters. When thus released, they must at all times be passed in a sealed envelope between those authorized to deal with them and Central Registry.

A list of officers of the Department to whom authority is given to draw secret files is maintained by the officers in charge of Central Registry.

(14) Insurance and Fire Prevention Control

The Department has created a division known as the Insurance and Fire Prevention Division, which handles matters relating to insurance, and is at present engaged in the inspection of plants from the point of view of protection against fire.

(15) Control of Labour

The Departmental Labour Division maintains liaison with the Department of Labour and is reported at meetings of the Inter-departmental Committee on Labour Coordination. The division also maintains liaison with the Chairman of the National Labour Supply Council and the Department of National War Services.

In order to assist contractors in avoiding labour difficulties, the Division conducts many interviews with contractors relating to labour matters, and has had successful interviews with labour leaders for the same purpose. The Division receives and secures all invoices relating to reimbursements to contractors for additional labour costs. All invitations to tender state as a term of the contract that the contractor must conform to the labour laws and conditions as required by the Department of Labour, and further declaration is required from the contractor regarding the rates of wages, hours of labour, number of male and female employees under 18 years of age, hours of overtime, and rates of overtime, etc.

Auditor General's Office

Section 39 of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act, 1931, provides that "for the more complete examination of the accounts of Canada," an Auditor General be appointed. Section 44 directs that he shall examine, periodically, the accounts of all branches of the public service, and take such further steps as he deems necessary to satisfy himself that such accounts are faithfully and properly kept and that moneys were expended for purposes for which the grant was intended to provide, while section 46 gives directions as to the accounts which shall be certified and reported to the House of Commons. The war has not changed the audit duties of the Audit Office, but it has materially increased the volume of transactions to be audited. These duties are:

- 1. An accountancy audit, which is an investigation of the smaller details to see that blunders are not made in arithmetic and that the proper youchers and certificates have been obtained to support the payments.
- 2. An appropriation audit, the object of which is to make certain that the expenditure is charged to the proper parliamentary grant, so as to ensure parliamentary control.
- 3. An administrative audit, to make certain that the payment is not in conflict with a statutory or executive direction, contract or agreement.

Audit Office staffs work in close contact with the war departments and the Treasury and have access to all working records and files. The auditors do not participate in administrative decisions which lead to expenditures.

The pre-war custom of pre-auditing salary payrolls is not followed, but post-audits have not disclosed that the public interest has suffered by reason of the change.

Payrolls on works projects are subjected, where practicable, to local examinations. Such examinations are made, generally, by officers of the Treasury, the Audit Office periodically testing the efficiency.

Service pay and allowances are subjected to internal check by the Pay Corps and the Treasury. The Audit Office makes tests to ascertain if paymasters have carried out their duties and if the District Paymaster and the Treasury have adequate internal audit practices.

A copy of each order for goods is sent to the Audit Office. After payment is made, the Audit Office audits for authority, then verifies that the quantities listed are properly certified as having been delivered and that they conform to the requirements of the contracts. The accuracy of the arithmetical calculations is tested and, finally, it is seen that the cost has been charged to the proper allotment. In the case of a works contract, various other steps have to be taken, such as checking the security deposit, the reports of the engineers, etc., and local audits are sometimes made. Some contracts provide a maximum price which is subject to downward revision after examination of costs of production. The determination of what is fair and reasonable is by the department. The Audit Office takes no part in the decision. The cost audit is performed by the Treasury, but in the drafting of Treasury directions to cost auditors, the Audit Office participates. The phrase "fair and reasonable" has not resulted in any uniform standard of measurement being devised whereby reasonableness may be automatically determined.

With respect to the audit of payments arising out of "target" and "cost-plus" contracts, the Treasury assigns field auditors, and Audit Officers periodically make spot examinations to ascertain if the resident accountant is efficiently carrying out his duties.

Thirteen companies have been incorporated under the authority of the Munitions and Supply Act. A monthly examination of the accounts is made in the offices of the companies by the Audit Office. A copy of the annual reports is filed with the Minister of Munitions and Supply. The cost of audit is charged to the companies.

The Audit Office audits the accounts of the Joint Inspection Board, acting for both the Canadian and United Kingdom governments. The practices followed are similar to those applicable to other expenditures.

Overseas, an audit staff deals with Canadian Government expenditures in the United Kingdom. It also makes such direct examination of the records of the United Kingdom Government as is considered necessary to establish that its claims have been properly compiled.

The cost of audit of United Kingdom accounts in Canada is refunded by that Government.

ORGANIZATION AT NATIONAL DEFENCE HEADQUARTERS

CIVILIAN PERSONNEL

The Deputy Minister is the permanent head of the department. His duties are comparable to those of the Assistant Financial Secretary of the War Office. The Deputy Minister, subject to the general departmental duties prescribed for him by statute, is charged with the general control of the administration of the Department of National Defence, and of the conduct of official business. He attends to all financial matters pertaining to the department. The receipt, registration and distribution of all official correspondence are received in his department. He controls the civil, clerical and subordinate staffs. All parliamentary and legal business, including proposals for legislation and submission to the Governor in Council, are under his jurisdiction. Formal communications to the Department of State, public offices and the outside public are made from his office. He also controls printing and stationery. In the absence of the Minister, the Deputy will act for him in all matters of ordinary business.

His office consists of the following divisions:-

(1) His own immediate staff.

(2) The Assistant Deputy Minister.

- (3) The Financial Superintendent.
- (4) The Secretary and Director of Civilian Personnel.
- (5) The Judge Advocate General.
- (6) The Stores Audit Branch.
- (7) The Printing and Stationery Branch.
- (8) The Library.
- (9) Central Registry.
- (10) Stenographic Pool.

These branches are staffed by civilian personnel and perform the functions of each.

Since the outbreak of war large numbers of new personnel were taken on who were unfamiliar with the departmental procedure and the task of training them was the responsibility of a comparatively few highly trained permanent officers of the department. The classification and rates of pay of the civilian personnel are determined by the Civil Service Commission and approved by the Treasury Board.

SERVICE PERSONNEL

Introduction

Here is a brief description of the basis of organization of National Defence Headquarters. This organization has been evolved gradually over a long period in the light of experience and of British War Office practice. It is believed that the organization is sound though it has necessarily been expanded in the course of the past year and a half to meet rapidly changing conditions. Appropriate steps have been and will continue to be taken, not only to discover weaknesses, but also to devise improvements so that the entire organization will continue to function economically and efficiently.

Functional Organization of National Defence Headquarters

National Defence Headquarters is the planning, controlling and directing centre of the Canadian Army. Although, as a matter of principle, responsibility and authority are delegated to subordinate headquarters to the greatest extent consistent with efficient administration, any increases in the size or activity of the Army are reflected in the demands upon its headquarters.

During a period of organization and development such as has existed since the beginning of the war, and because of changes resulting from experience gained during the war, these demands have been, and are, disproportionately great. They would in fact impose a strain on any organization in similar circumstances.

The evidence submitted to the committee with reference to the organization, duties and personnel at headquarters show that only a nucleus of permanent force personnel remains, and that the organization consists largely of personnel from units of the active army, and civilians. Although carefully selected for their administrative and professional skill, in addition to their military knowledge, it takes time to become familar with headquarters procedure and conditions. This is inevitable in an organization working under high pressure with personnel constantly changing and increasing.

General Plan of Organization

The organization of headquarters as the planning, directing and controlling centre of the Canadian army reflects all the functions and activities of the army. It may be briefly described in the following general terms:-

(a) The General Staff Branch:

Employment of the Army

- (1) The coordination, and determination of polcy, regarding war organization, estimates and finance, communications, establishments and orders of battle, wastage and reinforcements, armament, ammunition, transport, and other equipment.
- (2) Selection and administration of general staff, selection of officers for appointment to commands, coordination of selection of officers for staff appointments.
- (3) The direction of military operations and intelligence.
- (4) The planning and organization of military training.(5) The use, in combination, of the personnel, materials and facilities provided and maintained by other branches in order that the army serves the purposes for which it exists.
- (b) The Branch of the Adjutant-General:

Personnel

The provision of personnel of the numbers and kinds, and at the places and times required, and the maintenance of their welfare as individuals, including medical and dental services, recreation, educational and spiritual welfare, pay, promotion and other awards, conduct and discipline.

(c) The Branch of the Quartermaster-General:

Quarters, Supply and Transport

The provision and maintenance of buildings, lands, fortifications and other permanent installations, the provision of food and other supplies and the furnishing of transportation services, including the provision and upkeep of the means of furnishing them.

(d) The Branch of the Master-General of the Ordnance:

Equipment

The research, development, procurement, distribution and maintenance of armament, ammunition, technical stores and general stores, not. provided by the quartermaster-general.

This form of organization and division of functions is the result of long experience both in Canada and in the United Kingdom. It groups under each branch, activities which demand similar technique, skill and experience; and functions whose responsibility must be closely related for efficient performance.

The Chief of the General Staff, from the nature of his functions, as well as explicitly, acts as the "general manager" of the army. He determines what the army is to do, in accordance with government policy and tactical requirements, and how it will do it. He makes known his requirements and plans to the head of the other branches, and they plan and direct the functions for which they are responsible in accordance with those plans and requirements.

Organization of Branches

The Branches are organized in "Directorates", each of which is responsible to the head of the Branch for certain functions. The allotment of functions to Directorates is similar in principle to that among the Branches. They are so grouped that related subjects, or duties which require specialized knowledge or skill, are brought under common direction. This is best demonstrated by the following references to the present distribution of functions by Directorates.

The General Staff Branch

As the source of the Army's military policy, the General Staff Branch is required to assemble and collate continually all current data on matters requiring decision. It is organized as follows:

(a) Military Operations and Intelligence

Home defence, internal security, troop movements, operations at home and abroad, censorship, liaison, maps and surveys, foreign intelligence, codes and ciphers, field security, etc. In brief the collection and collation of current information, the determining of strategy and the planning of military operations.

(b) Military Training

The training of individuals and of units and formations for the duties to be assigned to them; basic and specialized training, training areas, manuals and libraries, instructional cadres, translation, qualifications, trade schools and courses, training finance.

(c) Staff Duties

The performance of staff work which is necessitated by the responsibilities assigned to the Chief of the General Staff includes co-ordination of the functions of other branches and of General Staff Directorates, within the training and operational plans and requirements of the Chief of the General Staff. These coordinating duties involve preparation, amendment, development and issue of war establishments and orders of battle, organization of Army units, special establishments, general policy and priority of distribution as regards weapons, ammunition and equipment, inspection and progress reports, liaison duties, estimates, finance, signals and intercommunication.

The Branch of the Adjutant-General

(a) Organization

The organization, recruitment and reinforcement of units and formations required by the plans of the General Staff, conduct and discipline of other ranks, and related administrative matters.

(b) Personal Services

Appointment, promotion, retirement and transfer of officers and the maintenance of personnel records.

(c) Paymaster-General

Payment of pay and allowances, dependents allowances, pay documentation, war savings certificates. (d) Director General of Medical Services

Supervision and coordination of medical services, medical training, hospitalization, medical boards, medical equipment, nursing service, hygiene, sanitation.

(e) Director of Dental Services

The provision of dental services, dental documentation, dental stores, supplies, training.

(f) Chaplain Services

Provision of religious services and ministration to the spiritual welfare of Army personnel.

The Branch of the Quartermaster-General

(a) Engineer Services

The design and construction, equipment and maintenance of military buildings, lands and fortifications, armouries, arsenals, internment camps, magazines, ranges, engineering equipment and specifications, drafting.

(b) Supplies and Transport

General policy and supervision of all supply and accommodation, food, fuel, rations, by-products, quarters, messes, waste, transportation and travelling.

(c) Movement Control

Sea transport, unit movements in Canada, accommodation on transports, transport liaison and schedules.

The Branch of the Master-General of the Ordnance

(a) .Technical Research

Research and development, not including actual design, of signal equipment, weapons, instruments and other warlike equipment, not including vehicles.

(b) Technical Stores

Provision and distribution of signal equipment, weapons, instruments, ammunition and other technical equipment.

(c) General Stores

Provision and distribution of clothing and personal, barrack and other equipment not of a "warlike" nature.

(d) Mechanization

Development, procurement and distribution of all vehicles and spare parts, except R.C.A.S.C.

(e) Mechanical Engineering

Repair and maintenance of all types of military equipment, except R.C.A.S.C. vehicles.

(f) Administration

Compilation of Scales of Issue and Mobilization Store Tables, in accordance with authorized War Establishments and the plans of the General Staff, and the administrative coordination of ordnance services.

(g) Accounting

Maintenance of records of receipt, issue, recovery and disposal of all ordnance stores.

The Branch of the Judge Advocate-General

Army legal and judicial matters, courts of inquiry and courts-martial, legal opinions, the administration of discipline.

Absence of Overlapping

The functions of each Directorate are a part of the functions of the Branch and indicate no overlapping either within the Branch or between Branches. In every case there is a clear definition of functions and responsibilities to facilitate Army administration.

Recent Changes

16. When the present Chief of the General Staff was appointed in July, 1940, he was explicitly authorized by the Minister, in connection with his functions of coordinating the duties performed by all four branches, to investigate and make recommendations regarding organization and allotment of duties. Under his direction a thorough review of the entire organization was made.

New Directorate of Staff Duties

Foremost amongst the major changes of the past year was the creation of the Directorate of Staff Duties in the General Staff Branch on 11th September, 1940. Previously both the Director of Military Operations and Intelligence and the Director of Military Training and Staff Duties had incidentally performed detailed work in connection with the responsibility of the Chief of the General Staff for conducting business affecting more than one branch. The formation of the Directorate of Staff Duties provided specifically for this most important work and in this respect and others freed the Directors of Military Training and of Military Operations and Intelligence for their principal and vital functions. Perhaps no other single change in the headquarters organization could have been as well calculated to further the coordination of the efforts of the several branches.

Command and Staff Appointments

In addition to organizational improvements, steps have been taken to ensure that the most qualified and suitable officers are selected for command and staff appointments. Since the 15th October, 1940, a Senior Selection Board and a Junior Selection Board have been constituted at National Defence Headquarters, and, in addition, there is a District Selection Board in each Military District.

The Chief of General Staff is assisted by a Vice-Chief and an Assistant Chief of the General Staff. In general terms they are assistants and advisers to the C.G.S. and in his absence, or by mutual understanding, they act for him. The functions of the Army with which each is concerned are clearly defined so that all matters which must be referred to the C.G.S. or on which he initiates action come within the province of one or the other of them.

Thus the personal duties of the Chief of General Staff are performed, in a sense, by a three-man combination. The mobility and availability of the C.G.S. are increased, the study and consultation which his duties involve are extended, prompt attention to current matters involving his approval is facilitated, and continuity of policy is assured.

Conclusion

The active, organic nature of General Staff Organization, under continual supervision and control, permits ready adaptation to quickly developing needs; and also avoids duplication in the efficient performance of staff duties by highly trained, qualified, experienced and appropriate personnel.

It is considered that the foregoing description will afford a general view of staff organization.

Pay and Allowances

The only recommendation your subcommittee thought fit to make concerning Pay and Allowances was the enlargement of the Committee appointed to obtain coordinated action respecting amendments to financial regulations. Downward changes to pay and allowances would not be fair to those enlisted or commissioned. They rely on the tacit understanding between the country and themselves that they will receive the pay and allowances existing at the time of their enlistment. It was also believed that decreases of pay and allowances for those enlisting or commissioned in the future would do more harm than good. Anything that could create dissatisfaction in the Armed Forces should be avoided.

Pay and allowances of the Armed Forces are at the rates prescribed in the Financial Regulations and Instructions, as approved by the Governor in Council. The Daily Orders, Part II, published each day by the Unit Officer commanding are the authority to place each member of the Forces on or to strike him off pay. The Orders also prescribe the rank within the limits of the Unit's authorized establishment and entitlements to tradesmen's or other special rates of pay and allowances. These Orders, when interpreted according to the rates laid down in the Financial Regulations and Instructions, provide the complete authority for the pay and allowances of each member of the Force. Each Unit has a paymaster or accounting officer who is charged with the duty of compiling the pay and paying the Forces. The paymaster is supplied with accountable cash advances obtained from the District Treasury officer for this purpose. The amount advanced at any one time approximates the requirements for two weeks' pay. Pay is distributed twice a month from acquitance rolls, prepared by the Unit paymaster; each member signing opposite his name for the amount of pay received. Acquittance rolls, accompanied by Daily Orders, Part II are forwarded by the Unit paymaster to the District Treasury officer as an accounting for advances previously made and are followed by the month-end detailed paylist, which sets out the details of how each man's pay was computed.

In the District Treasury office, a pay ledger account is kept for each member of the Force to which the paylist is audited when received. Observations are raised on all errors found in the course of the audit and those are sent on to the Unit paymaster so that the necessary adjustment may be made in the next pay period. The ledger account goes with the man when he is transferred from one district to another, or overseas.

While members of the Forces receive their pay in cash, any assignments of pay to dependents or for other authorized purposes are paid from the Treasury office for the Dependents' Allowance Board in Ottawa. Each applicant for dependents' allowances must assign, at least, 15 but not more than 20 days' pay, otherwise an allowance may not be granted.

Applications for dependents' allowances and assigned pay documents are received by the Unit paymaster. Marriage and birth certificates are also submitted by the applicant so that the paymaster may verify the information given on each application. They are then forwarded to the District Treasury officer, where they are entered in the pay account of the applicant and forwarded to the Treasury Branch, Ottawa. Here, the applications for wives and dependent children are placed in payment immediately and those for other . dependents are forwarded to the Dependents' Allowance Board for award before payment may be made. While all necessary precautions are taken to protect against payments to persons not entitled to an allowance, an equally important check is to see that the assignment from pay is deducted by the Unit paymaster and that payment is stopped when a man is struck off strength. While overpayments do occur, every effort is made to recover and the procedure laid down to protect against overpayments appears to accomplish all that can be expected.

The employment and rates of pay of civil staffs are controlled by the special regulations made by Treasury Board when the war started. The Treasury officers check to see that the necessary authority has been obtained and pay the salaries and wages, except where it is not convenient to pay from Treasury points, the engineers in charge are supplied with cash advances to pay the men. Accounting must be submitted in detail for all such payments and a Treasury officer makes occasional checks in the field to establish that there is no payroll padding.

Mr. Ilsley, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,— Copy of Order in Council passed under the provisions of the War Measures Act, as follows:—

Mr. Mackenzie King, a Member of the King's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of a Statement concerning an Agreement between the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Canada respecting the establishment of Canada-United States Joint Defence Production Committee, (English and French editions), as follows:—

November 5, 1941.

Establishment of Canada-United States Joint Defence Production Committee

The Prime Minister of Canada and the President of the United States have accepted a recommendation of the Joint Economic Committees of Canada and the United States that a Joint Defence Production Committee be established for the purpose of co-ordinating most effectively the capacities of the two countries for the production of defence material.

The Resolution of the Joint Economic Committees is as follows:-

WHEREAS:

(A) At Hyde Park on April 20, 1941, the Prime Minister of Canada and the President of the United States agreed "as a general principle that in mobilizing the resources of this continent, each country should provide the other with the defence articles which it is best able to produce, and above all, produce quickly, and that production programs should be co-ordinated to this end"; and

(B) The two Governments have established joint bodies in the field of military strategy (the Permanent Joint Board on Defence), in the field of primary materials (the Joint Materials Co-ordinating Committee), and in the field of general economic relations (the Joint Economic Committees); but

(C) No machinery has been established for the specific purpose of most effectively co-ordinating capacities of the two countries for the production of defence material;

14875-40

THEREFORE, the Joint Economic Committees

RECOMMEND:

(1) That the Government of Canada and of the United States establish a joint committee on defence production to survey the capacity and potential capacity for the production of defence material in each country to the end that in mobilizing the resources of the two countries each country should provide for the common defence effort the defence articles which it is best able to produce, taking into consideration the desirability of so arranging production for defence purposes as to minimize, as far as possible and consistent with the maximum defence effort, maladjustments in the post-defence period.

(2) That the said joint committee be directed to report from time to time to the Prime Minister of Canada and to the President of the United States, with such recommendations as are found to be necessary to secure the purposes set forth above, as well as reports on progress made under their recommendations.

(3) That the said joint committee be furnished with such studies as have already been initiated in this field by the Joint Economic Committees and the Joint Materials Co-ordinating Committee; that the said joint committee be directed currently to furnish to the Joint Economic Committee copies of its surveys, findings and recommendations and reports, and to take appropriate steps to insure a continuing liaison between its secretariat and members and the secretariat and members of the Joint Economic Committees; and that the said joint committee be invited to consult with the Joint Economic Committees through joint meetings or otherwise, as occasion may indicate to be desirable, particularly with regard to the objective of minimizing post-defence economic maladjustments.

The following persons have been appointed as members of the Joint Committee on Defence Production:—

Canadian Committee

G. K. Sheils, Chairman, Deputy Minister of Munitions and Supply.

- Harry J. Carmichael, Director General of Gun and Tank Production Branch, Department of Munitions and Supply.
- J. R. Donald, Director General of Explosives and Chemicals Branch, Department of Munitions and Supply.
- R. P. Bell, Director General, Aircraft Production Branch, Department of Munitions and Supply.

H. R. MacMillan, President of Wartime Merchant Shipping, Limited.

W. Gordon, Special Assistant to the Deputy Minister of Finance.

Lesslie R. Thomson, Secretary, Associate Economics Adviser, Department of Munitions and Supply.

United States Committee

Milo Perkin, Chairman, Executive Director, Economic Defence Board. James Forrestal, Under-Secretary of the Navy.

W. H. Harrison, Director, Production Division, Office of Production Management.

Robert Creig Davidson,

Respondent.

On March 26, 1940, the Respondent, Robert Creig Davidson, Liberal, of North Hatley, was declared elected member for the electoral division of Stanstead, by a majority of 306 votes over his opponent, Alphonse Girard, of Magog, Independent Liberal.

There were in the riding 15,826 men and women electors of whom 10,045, that is slightly less than two-thirds, distributed among 64 polling booths, cast their votes. The bad condition of the roads explains perhaps the apathy of the electorate, and the fact that the proportion of votes cast is greater in Magog and Coaticook where the population is larger than in the lesser important localities, most of which comprise an English majority, and where the respondent secured large majorities.

The respondent was the outgoing member. He had the official backing of his party and the support of the Liberal Association of the County of Stanstead one of whose presidents, Wilfrid Clément, of Coaticook, resigned to accept appointment as returning officer. He was replaced at the head of the Liberal Association by Noé Jubinville, manager of the Liquor Commission's store at Coaticook.

Officers of the association, other than the presidents, seem to have played rather small parts. As for Jubinville's associate, Wilkinson, he is the one who distributed the funds the source of which was not stated, and the amount of which was rather vaguely determined. According to Wilkinson, a sum running from twenty-five hundred to three thousand dollars is supposed to have passed through his hands and most of this money was purportedly divided equally between Magog and Coaticook, Wilkinson having seen fit to allocate very little to the English centres of which he felt certain and the abstention of which must have disappointed him. The bulk of the money was distributed in equal portions in Magog and Coaticook. Magog which has twice the population of Coaticook, and which is the home of candidate Girard, would seem to have appeared more worthy of attention than Coaticook, but difficulties were apprehended in Coaticook, and the funds seem to have been divided equally between the two municipalities.

The respondent secured majorities in four polls out of nineteen in Magog and its suburb, and in four polls out of ten in Coaticook. He also secured majorities in St.-Hermenégilde, Barnston and Dixville, of which Jubinville had charge and where he rented halls.

The preliminary cross-examination of the respondent scarcely establishes any participation on his part in the organization of the election. Here are a few of his answers:-

Q. Is it to your knowledge that Noé Jubinville, Adrien Maurice, Jos. Laroche, in Coaticook did canvassing for you either on the day of the election, or before the election?—A. I don't know. Further on:—

Q. Would you say under oath that Noé Jubinville was not in charge of the organization of your election in the town of Coaticook?-A. I could not say.

Q. You could not say that he was not doing more than the others to secure your election?-A. No, I could not say that he was doing more.

Q. And that applies to Adrien Maurice and Jos. Laroche?-A. It applies to them all . . ."

Further on:-

Q. You were totally ignorant of the fact that there was this organization in the town of Coaticook?-A. Oh yes, I could not say.

Q. Totally ignorant of what?-A. Totally ignorant of who or what about organizers.

Q. All the votes you secured in Coaticook were the result of a spontaneous movement of the electors?-A. I would say so. From what I viewed there, I would say that.

As for the smoker that took place on March 23 at Magog, the respondent speaks of it in a similarly detached manner.

Q. I understand your meeting at the Battles' House took place in the dining room?—A. Yes, the large dining room.

Q. Was there any drinks served there to your knowledge?-A. I did not see any, because I was the first speaker and as soon as I finished speaking I went to the curling club.

Q. You swear there were no alcoholic beverages served?-A. I saw no liquor served and I saw no liquor in the room when I was there.

Q. Who organized the meeting?-A. I think Patch and Robert and Bill McKenna and several, the people.

Q. Patch and Robert are the ones you mentioned as being members of the Liberal organization?-A. Yes.

By Mr. Landry:

Q. You presume that?-A. Yes.

As for the declaration of the official agent of the respondent, Mr. Roger Bouchard, it relates clearly what he knows of the organization of his candidate's campaign.

He says:-

To my knowledge, the Liberal Association of the county was taking a very active part in the election of the official candidate, Mr. Davidson.

By Liberal Association, I understand the active members of the Liberal Association, and such active members of the Liberal Association included among others those already mentioned above,-(It is useless to enumerate them), and most of whom were officers of this Association.

He even contradicts the respondent on one important point:-

According to the conversations I had with Mr. Davidson, the latter was aware that Noé Jubinville, Azarias Boivin, Léon Dubé, Joseph Laroche, were actively engaged in the election campaign in his favour.

Mr. Bouchard does not mention Adrien Maurice or Charles Emile Audet.

The depositions of Jubinville and Maurice are complementary to one another, Maurice making up in a certain measure, by his frankness, for Jubinville's reticence and lack of memory. Both of them, moreover, are old hands at elections, and take the hint.

The evidence did not reveal other sources of revenue than Wilkinson, president, with Jubinville, of the Liberal Association of the county, who claims to have had at his disposal between twenty-five hundred and three thousand dollars. Twelve hundred dollars went to Magog where Patch shared this sum with his associate, Robert. As for Jubinville, he seems to have had a similar sum, though he does not admit it.

The liquor which was proof alcohol was received by Maurice from Jubinville, or purchased by Maurice at the Liquor Commission, which comes to the same thing. Maurice, as a hotelkeeper engaged in political battles for twenty-five years, was charged with the task of diluting it, two to one, and distributing it. This was done before the nomination, so that the liquor was to be used for election purposes not matter who was the candidate. Distribution was made not only by Maurice, but by the other leaders of the polls: Jubinville, Laroche and Azarias Boivin. Maurice said he had received between twenty and thirty quarts, but it is not known if this quantity represents all that he diluted, or only what he received from Jubinville.

The latter claims that this liquor was only to be used after the voting. Maurice is more frank than he. But Jubinville admits having handed three bottles of proof alcohol to one Ernest Vaillancourt, in the employ of the Dominion Government as a Customs inspector, for the organizers at Dixville. Those of Stanhope also got some. Was it from the three bottles, and did those three bottles pass through the hands of Maurice? It seems not. Jubinville also admits that prior to the election, a distillery agent distributed liquor in a committee to advertise his concern. This cannot be invoked against the respondent.

Maurce, therefore, distributed his liquor, and on election day, he received at his place, at the hotel, the electors and served them drinks, whether they had voted or not. He even offered some to the opponents.

Laroche lives close to a polling booth which is known as "Laroche poll". He seems to have served liquor on voting day, but as he is not very frank, one cannot find out exactly how much he gave and to whom. One of the chauffeurs who worked for the respondent got tipsy to his knowledge. Among those to whom Laroche gave drinks was one Primeau. The latter distributed whiskey, considerably diluted, he claims, to the employees of the Kilgour Chair Company, before they went to vote.

Charles Emile Trudeau swears that one Akhurst, who seemed to be working under Jubinville's orders, went, between four and five o'clock, to get voters at the Belding Corticelli factory. He had a bottle of strong liquor and gave drinks to the people he brought to vote. Trudeau refused to drink, but five or six of his companions accepted.

Charles Emile Audet, Coaticook merchant, is in a distinct class. He received forty dollars for his election expenses and forty ounces of diluted alcohol. He distributed some at the convention at Ayer's Cliff, as well as gin which he had purchased himself. He also distributed some the night of a meeting scheduled to take place at the college in Coaticook, because he had been told that the opponents had planned to raise a rumpus. On voting day he handed a bottle of liquor to the chauffeur he was using. Davidson had no knowledge of Audet's acts. (Section 49 of the Act.)

Furthermore, Audet paid people for their vote. He must have bought three persons, including one Tremblay, at two dollars per head. In addition, he caused a Miss Lareau who had already voted elsewhere to vote at his polling booth.

Finally, he cancelled for one Thomas Handy a debt of ten dollars which the latter owed him; he gave him liquor; four or five ten-ounce bottles of diluted liquor, and Handy brought people in his automobile to the polling booth. Handy still had one bottle of liquor left at the close of the day. The other liquor had been given to the electors, prior or subsequent to the voting, the witness does not dare state.

Arthur Leclerc was in charge of the poll at North Coaticook. He received fifty dollars the greater part of which came from Jubinville. He gave one dollar to three poor voters and sent them to vote in an automobile. He also received two or three quarts of proof alcohol, a few days prior to the election, and sent it to the committee rented by his son-in-law and paid for by his son.

This constitutes, we believe, what evidence revealed as the most important with reference to Coaticook and neighbouring territory. Smoking concerts were held at some places, but the only one mentioned particularly was that held at Magog, on March 23, that is the Saturday preceding the election. Moreover, that is the only fact established in respect of the Magog voters.

In England, judges hold up their hands in horror at mention of smoking concerts which they consider an opportunity to indulge in treating. (Rochester, Day's Election Cases, 101; MacPherson, Election Law of Canada, p. 443.) We are more tolerant on that point.

Thus, cards of invitation to a smoker at the Battles House, Magog, on Saturday, March 23, at 8.45 o'clock at night, were distributed. The invited speakers were: R. C. Davidson, candidate, Raymond Frégeau, M.L.A., Dalma Landry, K.C., and Senator Charles Howard. The speeches, according to Mr. Landry, were very short,—they lasted twenty minutes all-told, it seems. There was a free distribution of cigars throughout the evening, which seems a rather harmless thing. The candidate was the first speaker and left immediately afterwards to attend another meeting. He did not notice anything as regards liquor. The meeting was held in the large dining-room of the hotel, about one hundred feet long. One can, it seems, accept the description of witness Boisvert, a Girard follower, who remained in the room from eight o'clock until ten-thirty. There was at the rear of the room on a table, very much in evidence, four or five bottles of strong liquor which was distributed freely without reference to the election or to the vote to be cast. The witness did not notice if there was beer also. That is all.

The charges directed against the respondent are very detailed in the petition of contestation and the particulars given in support of such petition. The inquiry did not bear on most of them, and most of the names enumerated therein were not mentioned by the witnesses. As for the other allegations, the evidence does not go as far as the text of the petition.

Section 54 of the Dominion Controverted Elections Act (Revised Statutes of 1927, c. 50) contains the following provision:-

54. Where, upon the trial of an election petition, the trial judges report that a candidate at such election was guilty by his agent or agents of any offence that would render his election void, and further find

(a) that no corrupt or illegal practice was committed at such election by the candidate personally or by his official agent and that the offences mentioned in the said report were committed contrary to the order and without the sanction or connivance of such candidate or his official agent; and

- (b) that such candidate and his official agent took all reasonable means for preventing the commission of corrupt and illegal practices at such election; and
- (c) that the offences were of a trivial, unimportant, and limited character; and

(d) that in all other respects the election was free from any corrupt or illegal practice on the part of such candidate and of his agents; then the election of such candidate shall not, by reason of the offences mentioned, be void, nor shall the candidate be subject to any incapacity therefor.

As one can judge, the law is human and the legislator understood that, according to the historic utterance of the organizer of an election that changed the political orientation of this country, "elections are not conducted with prayers."

In elections, there are legitimate expenses and others that are less so. The rental of halls for meetings and committees, the payment of speakers, the preparation of voters' lists, action taken in approaching them to ascertain their opinion, constitute legitimate, if not necessary, expenses for a candidate.

As for treating, that fact would be more reprehensible if it were the act of the candidate himself rather than that of his workers. "Corrupt treating is an expression which applies rather to that sort of treating which exists when a superior treats an inferior, which gives the former an influence upon the latter and secures his good will." (Halsbury's Laws of England, 2e Ed. T. XII. p. 268, No. 593.)

In the matter of Pendler (O'Malley and Harcastle Election cases, P. 19) Justice Blackburn said, (p. 20):—

In considering what is corrupt treating and what is not, we must look broadly to the common sense of the thing. There is an old legal maxim—"Inter apices juris summa injuria." To go by the strict letter of the law often would produce very grave wrong. If we were to say that an election was void upon a single case of that sort, we would be going to the apices juris and the result would be "summa injuria." Therefore the inquiry must be as to the extent and amount of such cases.

The law is also tolerant in the matter of small gifts. "Bona fide charity when impartial, has always been allowed. . . . While colourable charity is a specious and subtle form of bribery, it is no crime for a man simply to bestow gifts on his constituents." (Halsbury, loc. cit. p. 264-319.)

On the whole, we are disposed to believe that the respondent only played a small part in this election and that his official agent did not commit or encourage any reprehensible act. As for the unofficial agents, one may say with witness Leclerc, who seems to have seen many others, that, "as elections go," this one was quite proper.

Therefore, the petition in contestation is dismissed.

In respect of the costs, it is admitted that the costs of all postponements, especially that of the month of June, are payable by the respondent. The costs of the actual contestation are to be borne by the petitioners.

A Message was received from the Right Honourable Sir Lyman P. Duff, G.C.M.G., acting as Deputy of His Excellency the Governor General, desiring the immediate attendance of the House in the Senate Chamber.

Accordingly Mr. Speaker with the House went to the Senate Chamber; where the Right Honourable the Deputy Governor General was pleased to close the Second Session of the Nineteenth Parliament of the Dominion of Canada, with the following Speech:—

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

Since the present session opened, we have witnessed the extension of war until, to-day, it encompasses the globe. As aggression has succeeded aggression, the active resistance of free peoples everywhere has risen to meet it. The myth of national isolation has vanished from the earth. It is now recognized that the freedom of each nation is bound up in the freedom of all.

A little more than a year ago, the countries of the British Commonwealth stood virtually alone, except for China, in armed resistance to the forces seeking domination of the world. In the front line of freedom were the brave people of Britain. Most of the countries of Europe lay at the feet of the conqueror. The heroic resistance of the peoples of Yugoslavia and Greece, the entry as an ally into the war of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the determination and military might of the armed forces of the Soviet Union, and the achievements of the British and allied forces in Africa have materially changed the outlook in Europe. A new and very critical situation has been created by Japanese aggression in the Far East and by the declaration of war by Japan against the United States, the British Commonwealth and the Netherlands. Germany and Italy have joined Japan in declaring war against the United States. In assessing the possible consequences of Japan's action, full account should be taken of the significance of the entry of the United States into war against the combined Axis Powers.

In Canada, within recent weeks, the world aspect of the conflict has been reflected by formal declarations of the existence of a state of war between Canada and Japan, and shortly before, by similar declarations against Hungary, Roumania, and Finland, whose governments had passed completely under Nazi domination. Canada's action in this respect was a part of the solidarity which now embraces the war effort of all the allies.

In Britain, in the Far East, in the skies over Europe and over Africa, and on all the seven seas, Canada's fighting men are upholding freedom. Hostilities in the Pacific have added to our problems and responsibilities. Already by their heroic participation in the defence of the island fortress of Hong Kong, Canadian troops have written an immortal chapter of Canadian valour.

The whole economy of Canada has been increasingly directed to meet the needs of war. There has been a steady and orderly mobilization of material resources and of men and women for the widely varied tasks of modern total war.

Additional precautions have been taken for civil defence.

Further provision has been made for the dependents of members of the armed forces.

Reciprocity in the war production of Canada and the United States was established as a result of the agreement reached at Hyde Park in April last. The war production of the two countries has been further increased by subsequent joint agreements.

Comprehensive and drastic measures have been taken to control the cost of living and to prevent inflation.

My government has maintained close association with His Majesty's Governments in Britain, and other parts of the British Commonwealth, and with those of the allied powers. My Prime Minister and several of my Ministers have visited the United Kingdom for consultation and conference. The Prime Minister of Great Britain, the Prime Ministers of Australia and New Zealand, other Ministers from different parts of the Commonwealth, and distinguished representatives of the Allied Governments have also visited Canada. These personal exchanges have heartened and strengthened our common effort.

Of particular significance have been the meeting at sea and the conferences held at Washington between the Prime Minister of Great Britain and the President of the United States, and the visit to Canada of the Prime Minister of Great Britain. In these conferences, my Prime Minister and other of my Ministers have been both directly and indirectly associated. The Atlantic Charter agreed upon between the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain has been approved by all the allied nations. It sets forth underlying principles of a new world order upon which all are agreed. An outcome of the conferences at Washington was the important declaration, signed at Washington, at the beginning of the present year by the representatives of twenty-six nations. It binds each of the several countries to employ all of its resources against the Axis Powers, and not to conclude a separate armistice or peace. In the course of the present session, the people of Canada learned with regret of the death of two former Governors General. The names of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and the Marquess of Willingdon will remain outstanding among those of the distinguished representatives, in Canada, of His Majesty the King.

Members of the House of Commons:

I thank you for the financial appropriations you have made. Their unprecedented magnitude is but one of many evidences of the determination of the Canadian people to put forth their utmost effort in the winning of the war.

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I devoutly join with you in invoking the aid of Divine Providence in the preservation of our Christian civilization.

His Honour the SPEAKER OF THE SENATE then said :--

Honourable Members of the Senate: Members of the House of Commons:

It is the Right Honourable the Deputy Governor General's will and pleasure that this Parliament be prorogued until to-morrow, the twenty-second day of January, to be here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued until to-morrow.

Speaker's Rulings:

- 1. Interpretation of Standing Order 37-40 minute rule; not to apply to certain Ministers of War Departments, etc., 22.
- 2. Proposed amendment of Mr. Coldwell to the motion for Mr. Speaker to leave the Chair for House to go into Committee on Resolution to provide $1,300,000,000 for National Defence and Security; ruled out of order on the ground that the question before the House was a motion that he leave the Chair and that, at this stage, it was not permissible to amend the terms of the proposed Resolution, 126.
- 3. Interpretation of Standing Order 41—Tabling of private letters, etc., by Private Members from which quotations have been made during speeches, etc., 171.
- 4. Sub-amendment of Mr. Quelch on third reading of Bill No. 19, An Act for granting to His Majesty aid for National Defence and Security, ruled out of order on the ground that the bill was a loan bill which was adopted in principal on the second reading, while the amendment to the amendment made it partly a loan measure and partly a taxation measure, 215.
- 5. Amendment of Mr. Senn to motion for Supply: Ruling that withdrawal of the amendment would not prevent Mr. Senn from moving it again at a later date, 260.
- 6. Proposed motion of Mr. MacInnis to adjourn House under Standing Order 31; ruled out of order on the ground that the question of urgency did not arise, 270.
- Proposed amendment of Mr. Douglas (Weyburn) in Committee of the Whole during consideration of Excise Tax on gasoline, ruled out of order by the Chairman on the ground that it increased the proposed tax and was not moved by a Minister of the Crown, 383. Ruling of the Chairman confirmed (yeas, 112; nays, 48), 383.
- 8. Proposed motion of Mr. MacInnis to adjourn House under Standing Order 31; ruled out of order on the ground that it did not deal with a matter of urgency, 623.
